a Figures for December 1907 approximate only.

As far as the movements of the principal staples are concerned, while there was more or less irregularity between different roads and different districts, the volume of traffic from such sources on the whole was not very greatly reduced from December in the previous year. This applies to both the grain movement in the West and the cotton movement in the South. Wheat and oats receipts were larger in the West, but, on the other hand, deliveries of corn and other cereals were smaller. Taking all the different cereals together, the receipts for the four weeks ending Dec. 28 1907 at 58,099,917 bushels were about the same as in the corresponding four weeks of 1906, when the footing was 58,444,310 bushels. The grain movement in detail in our usual form is shown in the following.

As to the cotton movement in the South, the falling off was mainly in the shipments overland. At the Southern ports the decreases were confined to particular points. In the aggregate the port movement in December ran a little heavier than in the previous year, the receipts in December 1907 being 1,578,775 bales, against 1,566,258 bales in December 1906. The shipments overland were only 164,525 bales, against 347,523 bales, and it is evident that the roads in the Southwest particularly must have suffered from a shrinkage in their cotton traffic. The following gives the port receipts in detail.

We need hardly say that, treating the roads as a whole, the comparison is with earnings which had shown successive increases for a long term of years back. In truth, the present is the first decrease recorded by any December compilation of ours since 1896. The tables we now subjoin furnish a summary of the totals back to that year.

—The New York Clearing House on Monday took definite action toward providing for the admission of trust companies to full membership in the association. It adopted an amendment to its constitution permitting such admission, provided the companies maintain a cash reserve in their own vaults of 25% of deposits. Consideration was also given at Monday's meeting to the proposal to admit as associate members companies with a reserve of 15%, but action on this matter has been postponed for three months. The following is the amendment which has been ratified:

Section 28. Trust companies organized under the laws of the State of New York may be admitted as members of this Association in the same manner and to the same extent as banks may be admitted, and when so admitted shall be entitled to all the rights and benefits and subject to all the conditions and obligations to which bank members are or shall be entitled or subject under the provisions of the Constitution.

Trust companies, however, becoming members of the Association shall be required to keep a cash reserve in their own vaults of not less than 25% of their deposits. A failure to keep such reserve shall be sufficient ground for action under Section 20 of the Constitution.

The proposition calling for a 15% cash reserve by associate members, on which action is deferred, is embodied in the following paragraph:

Trust companies may be admitted to the privileges of the Clearing House as Associate Members upon consenting to be governed by the Constitution and regulations of the Clearing House and upon an agreement to keep and maintain at all times in their own vaults a cash reserve equal to 15% of their deposits. Such Associate Members shall not, however, be entitled to vote, or to hold office or be members of Clearing-House committees or to act as redemption agents for other institutions. No bank or trust company shall hereafter be admitted to full or associate membership having a capital and surplus of less than $550,000. Associate Members shall pay $1,000 per annum to the Clearing House, but shall not be liable for any initiation fee.

As far as is known, only two trust companies have signified a desire to join the association under the new 25% clause. At present two companies in Manhattan Borough enjoy Clearing House privileges as non-member institutions. The two institutions are the Van Norden Trust and the Manhattan Trust. In addition, the Flatbush, the Hamilton and the Nassau trust companies of Brooklyn Borough and the Mechanics' Trust Company of Bayonne are also connected with the Clearing House as non-members.

—The Kansas Legislature convened in special session on the 16th inst in response to the call issued by Governor Hoch on the 7th inst. It is understood that one of the chief reasons for the Governor's action in deciding to call the Legislature together is the demand for the enactment of a guaranty deposit law similar to that lately passed in Oklahoma, and referred to at length in this department Dec. 28. Governor Hoch states that he strenuously urged this measure upon the last Legislature, and he contends that the events of the last three months have given emphasis to the necessity for such legislation. The enactment of the law in Oklahoma, he points out, has added a new and urgent reason for prompt action on the part of Kansas. The chief opposition to the proposition, he states, has come from the national bankers on the assumption that they would not be permitted to participate in the benefits of the law. The Governor notes, however, that he has been in correspondence with the Comptroller, and also with the Governor of Oklahoma, and now has assurance that the national banks of Oklahoma can participate in the benefits of the law if they wish to, and as the proposition has only involved the voluntary participation, this ought to settle the question and remove most of the objections to such a course in Kansas.

—According to the Boston papers of the 15th inst., about $8,000,000 of the $11,995,000 Clearing-House certificates had been retired up to that date, leaving only about $4,000,000 still outstanding.

—The Chicago Clearing-House Association at a special meeting on Monday, the 13th inst., voted to resume business on a cash basis. No more Clearing-House certificates, it was decided, would thereafter be used in the settlement of exchange debits between banks. The Chicago "Inter-Ocean" on the 9th inst. stated that while exact figures were not available, there was reliable information to the effect that the amount of certificates outstanding at one time during the currency stringency was between $35,000,000 and $40,000,000; all but a relatively small amount is reported to have been retired.

—The Columbus (Ga.) Clearing-House Association, which is reported to have already retired one-fourth of its issue of certificates, decided at a meeting on the 13th inst. to cancel on the 21st inst. 33 1-3% of the remainder. The total issue is said to have been but $320,000.

—Both Savannah, Ga., and Montgomery, Ala., are among the cities which have recently taken action toward redeeming the clearing-house certificates. In Montgomery, it is stated, 90% of the issue has been retired. The amount put out by the Savannah association is said to have been only $265,000.

—The Tacoma Clearing House is also retiring the certificates recently called in use. It is stated that while altogether $500,000 of the certificates were issued, there was at no time more than $200,000 outstanding.

—At the annual meeting of the Buffalo Clearing House Association on the 8th inst., Stephen M. Clement, Chairman, drew attention to the fact that Buffalo, during the recent financial disturbances, continued to conduct business on a currency basis, having issued neither Clearing House certificates nor checks for general circulation. Mr. Clement also stated that during the panic period the deposits in the Buffalo banks decreased only 9%.

—The Currency Commission of the American Bankers' Association will meet to-day (the 18th inst) at Chicago in the directors' room of the Commercial National Bank to discuss the national currency question thoroughly. The views of its several members will probably be crystallized in a series of resolutions, and sent by committee to Washington to impress upon Congress and the Administration

The meeting of the Commission was called by the Chairman, A. B. Hepburn, President of the Chase National Bank of New York, who, however, will not attend the conference, having sailed for Europe this week.

—The hearing in the case of the American Bankers' Association against the American Express Co., which had been assigned for Jan.20, has been postponed by the Commission, at the request of the complainants, to a date to be hereafter fixed.

—In the current issue of the "American Review of Reviews," Robert E. Ireton, Associate Editor of the "Wall Street Summary," has an article dealing with "Currency Reform," in which he argues in favor of the establishment of a central bank, and declares clearing-house certificates inadequate to meet the demands of currency stringency.

—The failure of the New York Stock Exchange firm of Robert Maclay & Co., of 71 Broadway, was announced on the Exchange on Monday. Its obligations, it is reported, aggregate about $1,200,000, secured by slow collateral, which includes securities of the Western Ice Co. The firm acted as fiscal agents for the latter, and its suspension, it is under, stood, is due largely to the depreciation in the market prices of its securities. E. R. and O. F. Thomas were the organizers of the Western Ice Co. In a statement issued by Charles I. McBurney, attorney for Maclay & Co., the belief is expressed that the firm will be able to resume business-and it is stated that resort to an assignee will not be made unless such action is forced. The firm is composed of Robert Maclay, son of Alfred Maclay, at one time President of the Knickerbocker Trust Co., Harold H. Weekes, the board member, and Alfred B. Maclay, special partner. It was formed last April as successor to Thomas, Maclay & Co., in which Herbert F. Thomas, son of O. F. Thomas, was a partner.

—The Stock Exchange house of Whitney & Kitchen, at 1 Nassau St., made an assignment on Thursday to Bayard L. Peck. The firm, Mr. Peck says, is temporarily embarrassed, owing to its inability to collect some of its outstanding accounts. He states that it has large assets and declares that there is good reason to believe that all creditors will be paid in full and that the firm will resume business. The members of the firm are Girard N. Whitney, the Exchange member, and James V. Geraghty. Cyrus B. Kitchen, who with Mr. Whitney established the firm in 1903, retired some time ago.

—The Boston Stock Exchange firm of Dane, Smith & Co. of 53 State St. announced its suspension on Tuesday. The firm is composed of Chester L. Dane, the Exchange member, and Dexter M. Smith. Robert G. Dodge has been appointed receiver.

—The private bank of George E. Yost of Theresa, N. Y., closed its doors on the 11th inst. Its closing is said to have resulted from the failure to collect on investments. The institution was established in 1872.

—The People's National Bank of Franklinville, N. Y., failed to open for business on the 14th inst., having been closed by order of the Comptroller of the Currency. National Bank Examiner Charles Chapman is in charge. The institution has a capital of $25,000.

—The Ohio Trust Company of Norwalk, Ohio, closed its doors on Wednesday, having made a voluntary assignment. H. L. Smith and H. E. Barnes have been appointed receivers. The bank was organized in 1903 and had a capital of $30,200. Its last statement is said to have shown deposits of over $400,000.

—Under the presidency of William O. Allison, sound principles of banking are being pursued in the conduct of the affairs of the Consolidated National Bank of this city. Having discovered that certain losses had been incurred under the old management, these losses were promptly charged off. The following circular letter to the stockholders explaining the situation of the bank was evidently meant to be confidential, but as it has found its way into print, we give it here:

New York, January 10 1908.

It seems to me that I, as the largest stockholder in the Consolidated National Bank, and now its President, not from choice, but necessity, should make a brief but frank statement of its affairs to you. Without giving reasons in detail I feel that the bank has never had a fair trial. I believe that I could make it a successful institution, but I am not yet prepared to say that I am willing to give such untiring devotion as would be necessary to build it up.

It is not a boast when I assert that during the past two and a half months I have done more good than my two predecessors did in their five years of official holding, though my labor has been to save its assets rather than increase its business. Your bank has made losses through its late management, and by the advice of the United States Comptroller has charged off $245,000. Deposits have diminished considerably, but, barring a few hundred thousand dollars, we are now in a liquid condition, and this has been brought about during an extreme panic without aid from any outside source.

The paying of a dividend under these circumstances might reasonably be criticised, and I consented to it only after conferring with officers of two of the prominent Clearing-House banks, who advised doing so.

WILLIAM O. ALLISON.

—The stockholders of the Hamilton Bank of this city elected the following board of directors on Tuesday: George F. Brown, Charles A. O'Donohue, Martin D. Fink, Frank L. Grant, Frederick E. Grant, Frederick D. Kilburn, William H. Birkmire, William A. Martin, Edward M. Morgan, Adolph Riesenberg, Theodore Haebler, Anthony Stumpf, William L. Ward, William P. Youngs and Charles B. Hobbs. Of the foregoing, Messrs. Brown, Fink, Martin and Riesenberg are re-elected members. Frank L. Grant, who was elected President on the 1st inst., is continued in that office. Former President W. R. Montgomery was indicted on Wednesday by the Special Grand Jury on two counts charging misdemeanor in connection with alleged overdrafts. Mr. Montgomery pleaded not guilty to the accusations, and bail, fixed at $2,500 on each indictment, was furnished by William H. Birkmire, one of the bank's directors. An examination of the bank made by State Bank Examiner M. W. Hutchins has been forwarded to the Banking Department. It is stated that after charging off all uncollectible assets and many doubtful assets, Mr. Hutchins found the capital unimpaired and a surplus remaining. President Grant announced on Thursday that the bank will reopen an Monday next, the 20th inst.

—The changes of moment made this week at the annual meetings of the local banks in the main concern chiefly the institutions with which the Heinze, Morse or Thomas interests had been formerly identified. In the Mercantile National Bank, where control reverted last week to Edwin Gould, new directors have been elected in the persons of Mr. Gould, his counsel, William Nelson Cromwell, and William H. Taylor, the last named being Vice-President of the Bowling Green Trust Co. The new members take the place of Samuel Bowne, James E. Nichols and F. W. Woolworth, who were elected at the time of the bank's reorganization in October, and who retire voluntarily. It is understood that action toward electing a successor to President Milliken, who is anxious to be relieved of the duties of that office, will be taken at the postponed stockholders' meeting, to be held Feb. 14.

Stephen H. P. Pell and George Ramsey have been chosen to the board of the National Bank of North America to succeed A. H. Curtis and M. D. Thatcher, resigned. Mr. Curtis's resignation as President of the bank occurred during the financial troubles of last October, and followed the severance of C. W. Morse's connection with the institution. Mr. Curtis has now withdrawn entirely from the management.

In the New Amsterdam National, where the purchase of Mr. Morse's interest by F. M. Peet of Philadelphia was reported last week, it was expected that representation to the new interests would be given. The management, however, elected its ticket as follows, reducing the board from twelve to ten members: Louis Stern, Warren M. Healey, J. Romaine Brown, R. V. Lewis, Joseph D. Carroll, George W. Wilder, Frank W. Kinsman Jr., John F. Carroll, John G. Hemerich and Frederick G. Kinsman. The following officers were chosen: Frank W. Attorney-General Robert H. McCarter and Henry S. Redmond have retired from the board of the Fidelity Trust Company of Newark. A. Barton Hepburn has been chosen to replace one of the retiring members.

—On Thursday last the Seaboard National Bank of this city celebrated its silver anniversary, marking a period of a quarter of a century since its incorporation in 1883. The bank was originally chartered as a State institution, but in 1885 entered the national system, retaining its original capital of $500,000. In 1905 the national charter was renewed and the capital increased to $1,000,000. The last published statement for Dec. 3 1907 showed an earned surplus of $1,533,093, which, together with $800,000 paid out in dividends, and $500,000 stock dividend, makes the total earnings $2,833,083. The deposits at the time of the last official call were $27,116,990. Samuel G. Bayne is President; Stuart G. Nelson, Vice-President; C. C. Thompson, Cashier; and W. K. Cleverley, L. N. De Vausney, J. C. Emory and O. M. Jeffords, Assistant Cashiers.

—The plan to increase the capital of the Lincoln National Bank of this city from $500,000 to $1,000,000, heretofore referred to, was ratified by the stockholders on Tuesday. The directors have declared an extra dividend of 100%, in addition to the quarterly payment of 4%, which will enable the shareholders to subscribe for the new stock at par. After thus providing for the additional capital the bank will still have a surplus of $1,000,000 and undivided profits of $200,000. The total resources of the institution are now $25,000,000. During the past few weeks the bank has added over 600 new accounts, representing $3,000,000 additional deposits. The present increase in capital is the second in a year; last January the amount was raised from $300,000 to $500,000, this also having been effected through a stock dividend.

—The stockholders of the Beaver National Bank of this city at their annual meeting on Tuesday decided to voluntarily liquidate the institution. George D. Mercer and W. E. Reynolds have been appointed liquidating trustees. The bank has been in existence less than a year, having commenced business on April 6 last. It was organized with $200,000 capital, and the stock was subscribed for at $150 per $100 share, giving a surplus of $100,000.

—The proposition to increase the capital of the Lincoln Trust Company of this city from $1,000,000 to $1,500,000 is to be submitted for the ratification of the stockholders on Jan. 30. The directors have unanimously approved the proposal and have agreed to take over any portion of the proposed issue which the general body of stockholders may fail to subscribe for, thus insuring the successful placing of the new capital.

—The Jan. 1st statement of the Twelfth Ward Bank, 125th St. and Lexington Ave., this city, shows a gain of $428,000 in deposits since Nov. 20 1907, the date of resumption of business, or an average gain of $12,500 for each of the 34 business days since re-opening. Its deposits are $2,534,282; it has $403,742 capital, surplus and profits and $767,392 cash in bank and vault, or 30% reserve. The bank was established in 1886; it operates a branch at 106th St. and 3rd Ave. and another at 173 East 116th St., near Third Ave. The executives are: Thomas Simpson, President; Arthur King Wood and William T. Purdy, Vice-Presidents. At this week's annual meeting, William A. Lockwood, Lawrence Atterbury and E. I. Averly were chosen to the bank's board to replace T. Dieterlein, J. H. Duffy and L. H. Perlman.

—The International Banking Corporation, 60 Wall St., this city, has recently published a booklet on "Japan," which contains much useful and enlightening information. The facts about this wonderful country are concisely arranged, some of the particulars having been drawn from the "Financial and Economic Annual of Japan." Population has risen from 33 millions in 1872 to 48 million in 1907. The foreign population, exclusive of Chinese, is about 6,000 of whom about one-third are British and one-third American. Separate paragraphs are devoted to a treatment of Japan's revenue and expenditure, national debt, transportation, balance of trade, exports, imports, minerals, coinage, gold, silver, weights and measures, industries and colonies. A map of Japan is included within the brochure, which contains no advertising whatever. Copies can be obtained free by writing the International Banking Corporation.

—At the annual meeting of the Jenkins Trust Co. of Brooklyn on Wednesday, James Moffett was elected President in place of John G. Jenkins Jr. and H. R. Ferguson was chosen Secretary. No change was made in the board, except that John G. Jenkins Sr. and John G. Jenkins Jr., whose terms as directors expired this week, were not re-elected. The question of continuing the receivership is to come up for hearing to-day. In the event of the discharge of the receiver, and the rehabilitation of the company, it is stated that one of the first steps will be to change the name of the institution.

—The stockholders of the Williamsburgh Trust Company of Brooklyn Borough have re-elected as directors Joseph Liebmann, Gustav J. L. Doerschuck, Frederick G. Lemmermann, John H. Scheidt, Joseph Huber and Willard P. Reid; Louis Beer and Frank Mann have been chosen to succeed Frank Jenkins and John W. Jenkins Sr., while John F. Schmadeke and Dr. George H. Smith have been elected to serve on the directorate for two years in place of John Dohse and W. Addison Field, resigned. It is understood that there is no relaxation in the efforts to reorganize the institution, which is in charge of Frank L. Bapst and Augustus Van Wyck, as receivers.

—Solomon Rubin was this week elected President of the Homestead Bank of Brooklyn Borough to succeed William F. Wyckoff, who retired because of the pressure of his other business interests. Mr. Wyckoff, however, consented to accept the office of First Vice-President, previously held by the new President. The bank began business in July last.

—At Tuesday's annual meeting of the National Shawmut Bank of Boston, it was voted to amend the articles of association so as to provide for a board of thirty members, instead of twenty-five, as heretofore. The old board was re-elected, and the following four new directors added, making the present number on the board, twenty-nine: Timothy E. Byrnes, Edwin F. Greene, C. Minot Weld and Horatio Newhall.

—Royal C. Taft, for over forty years head of the Merchants' National Bank of Providence, R. I., has retired from active participation in the bank's management, having declined re-election to the presidency on Tuesday. Resolutions commending Mr. Taft's administration of the institution's affairs were adopted by the directors. The retiring President, who has been re-elected to the board, was formerly Governor of Rhode Island. He is succeeded as President by Edward D. Pearce. An amendment to the articles of association increasing the membership of the board from nine to thirteen has been adopted.

—The stockholders of the Providence National Bank of Providence, R. I., this week ratified a proposition to amend the articles of association, changing the par value of the stock from $400 to $100 per share. The capital remains at $500,000.

—A continuance for three weeks of the temporary receivership of the Union Trust Company of Providence was granted by Justice Sweetland of the State Superior Court on Saturday, the 4th inst. In the meantime the assent of a sufficient number of the stockholders, depositors and creditors to insure the adoption of the plan formulated by the advisory committee of the receivers for the rehabilitation of the company will be sought. This plan, which is subject to modification in its details, provides that upon resumption all deposits of $100 or less, and 50% of the trust accounts, are to be subject to payment on demand; for the remaining 50% of the trust accounts negotiable certificates of deposit are to be issued. The claims of the other creditors and depositors are to become payable as follows: 10% on demand on date of resumption; 70% in negotiable certificates of deposit, bearing 3% interest, payable in 7 installments of 10% each in from six months to three and a half years, and 20% in contingent certificates. The contingent certificates are also to bear 3% and are to be paid in installments at the discretion of the directors whenever in their opinion the company shall have on hand sufficient funds, after providing for payments upon the negotiable certificates of deposit, and while maintaining the capital and surplus unimpaired, to justify such payments. It is also provided that the present capital of $500,000 is to be surrendered, new capital to the extent of $1,000,000 being issued and sold at $150 per $100 share, thus giving a surplus of $500,000. This stock is to be subscribed by the depositors, payable out of the 70% for which they would otherwise be entitled to negotiable certificates of deposit. Dividends on the stock sufficient to give the stockholders 4% upon their investment—or at the rate of 6% on the par value of the stock—may be declared and paid out of the company's net earnings, after the payment therefrom of interest upon the negotiable certificates of deposit and before the payment of any interest on the contingent certificates or the deferred certificates, the latter to go to holders of present stock. The holders of all stock now outstanding are to surrender such stock and receive therefor the deferred certificates just mentioned in an amount equal to the par value of their present holdings. After all negotiable certificates of deposit and contingent certificates shall have been paid in full, dividends in liquidation to the holders of the deferred certificates may be declared by the directors in their discretion; provided, however, that no such dividend shall be declared which would in any degree impair the capital and the surplus. In case of any future liquidation of the company, payment of the deferred certificates is to be postponed until the payment of all other claims against the company. The deferred certificates will bear 2% interest, payable only out of the earnings, after the payment in full of interest upon the negotiable and contingent certificates, and dividends on the capital, and shall be cumulative. All the new stock is to be transferred to Arthur L. Brown, Rathbone Gardner, Arthur L. Kelley, Henry D. Sharpe and Herbert J. Wells, as voting trustees, under a voting trust agreement which shall continue until all the negotiable certificates of deposit, contingent certificates and deferred certificates are paid in full. The plan is to become operative whenever, in the judgment of a majority of the depositors' committee, the present stockholders, depositors and creditors, in an amount sufficient to secure the success of the plan, shall have given their consent thereto.

—Charles S. Calwell, Cashier of the Corn Exchange National Bank of Philadelphia, has been elected a director of the institution, succeeding J. Horace Harding, resigned.

—According to a statement showing the clearances of the members of the Pittsburgh Clearing-House Association for 1907, the Mellon National Bank heads the list with $508,178,982 and the Bank of Pittsburgh, N. A., stands second with $346,337,852.

—January 14th was election day in many of the Chicago banks. The old boards of directors were generally re-chosen. The following are some of the changes which have come to our notice.

Lucius Teter was advanced from the vice-presidency to the presidency of the Chicago Savings Bank, taking the place of Ralph C. Otis, who retires on account of ill-health. Mr. Teter was Cashier of this bank from its organization until a year ago, when elected Vice-President. He is President of the Savings Bank Section of the American Bankers' Association.

Frederick Weyerhaeuser, the St. Paul lumberman, retires from the directorate of the Continental National Bank, but his son, F. E. Weyerhaeuser, has been chosen in his place.

Wm. P. Rend retired from the board of the Fort Dearborn National, Raymond W. Stevens succeeding him. The name of C. A. Bickett was added to the Fort Dearborn directory.

In the Western Trust & Savings Bank, William Butterworth, President of the Deere Plow Co. of Moline, succeeds the late Charles H. Deere; and James W. Stevens, of the Illinois Life Insurance Co., succeeds F. C. Ball, of Muncie, Ind. Two vacancies in this directory have not been filled.

In the Lake View Trust & Savings Bank, H. E. Otte withdrew as President, as he is Cashier of the National City Bank, the duties of which position quite fully occupy his time. Charles Johnsen was elected President in his stead. Honore Palmer withdrew as a director, and William T. Bruckner was added to the board, Mr. Otte also remaining a member.

James M. Hurst and William D. Lavina were added to the corps of assistant cashiers at the National Bank of the Republic.

—In lieu of the National Live Stock Bank of Chicago, whose charter expires on Feb. 8, will be organized The Live Stock Exchange National Bank, to take over its business of that date. The new bank will have a capitalization of $1,250,000, issued at 120, an increase of 2,500 shares. This capital stock, together with the stock released by several estates with large holdings, will enable the bank to take care of a number of customers who wish an interest. Stockholders in the old bank expect to realize $250 a share in the process of liquidation.

—James G. Wakefield has been elected Assistant Cashier of the Corn Exchange National Bank of Chicago. For the last two years Mr. Wakefield has been auditor and traveling representative of the bank. He was a member of the Clearing House sub-committee which recently had charge of the distribution of Clearing House checks among the banks of Chicago.

—Two new Assistant Cashiers were added to the managerial force of the Third National Bank of St. Louis on Tuesday. They are H. Haill, formerly Auditor of the bank, and J. F. Farrell. There are now five Assistant Cashiers, one of whom, J. R. Cooke, has been elected a director to take the place of F. Weyerhaeuser.

—A change in the personnel of the Third National Bank of Louisville, Ky., recently occurred. John J. McHenry has succeeded Owen Tyler as President and G. S. Bridges replaces C. W. Dieruf as, Cashier. The other officers are J. D. Powers and A. G. Langham, Vice-Presidents, and Fred. G. Miller, Assistant Cashier.

—The First Federal Trust Co. of San Francisco, which is an off-shoot of the First National Bank of that city, commenced business on the 6th inst. The trust company has a paid-up capital of $1,500,000 in shares of $50 each. There is no surplus. The company's affairs are in the hands of Rudolph Spreckels as President; James K. Lynch and Clinton E. Worden, Vice-Presidents; J. K. Moffitt, Cashier; J. H. Skinner, Assistant Cashier; and J. G. Hooper, Manager. The institution (which was referred to in this department last August) was organized by the First National Bank from a portion of the latter's surplus, and the stock of the new company is held in trust by the President, Vice-President and Cashier of the bank. Each certificate of stock of the First National bears an endorsement stating that it carries with it the same number of shares of the First Federal Trust Co.

Monetary and Commercial English News

London, Saturday, January 4 1908.

Considering all the circumstances, the time of year and the condition of so many foreign countries, business upon the Stock Exchange during the present week has been surprisingly good. Indeed, during the first two days of the week it was better than even the most optimistic members of the Stock Exchange ventured to think possible. Monday was pay-day on the Stock Exchange. It was the last day of the last settlement of the year. It involved a considerable amount of work, and money was in strong demand. Yet prices generally advanced, and particularly and most notable was the advance in consols and in British railway stocks, especially the ordinary stocks. Tuesday was the last day of the year, the day on which the joint-stock banks make up their semi-annual reports, and on which, likewise, they call in very large amounts of money and are very unwilling to lend on a considerable scale. Nevertheless business on the Stock Exchange on Tuesday was even better than on Monday. Wednesday was a Stock Exchange holiday, and on Thursday morning when the members met they were not quite so optimistic as on the first two days of the week.

Suddenly, however, they were agreeably surprised by the announcement that the directors of the Bank of England had reduced their rate of discount from 7 to 6%. Most people were prepared for an early reduction of the rate; but the generality anticipated that no change would be made until the New York banks resumed cash payments. It was, therefore, a very agreeable surprise to the Stock Exchange, for the reduction intimated that, according to the best opinion obtainable in London, the danger of further trouble abroad is over, and especially the danger of large withdrawals of gold from the Bank of England is at an end. It is not likely of course that money will become actually easy for some time yet. A 7% rate is a heavy tax upon trade, and the directors of the Bank of England were naturally anxious to reduce the tax at the earliest possible moment. If the 6% rate is kept fairly effective, and if large demands for gold do not arise, we may soon hope to see a reduction to 5%. But if a strong demand for gold arises, then the Bank of England will, in the first place, do whatever may be necessary to make the 6% rate effective, and if that does not prove sufficient, it may possibly raise the rate once more to 7%. Still, undoubtedly the best opinion all over London is that after a short while it will be possible to put down the rate to 5%. Few venture to look for a further reduction before the end of the financial year; that is, the last day of March. The doubt upon this point is occasioned, firstly, by the fact that three millions sterling will have to be repaid to the Bank of France in February; and, secondly, that nobody can well foresee how soon some of the gold recently shipped to New York will come back again.

Meantime the reduction in the rate will not only prove a great relief to all traders, but will have an encouraging effect upon investors. All through December investment has been on a considerable scale, and everything points to the conclusion that investment will grow rather than shrink. Business on the Stock Exchange has been exceedingly bad for some years past, and now that a favorable turn has come and that everything leads to the hope that we have at last entered upon a prosperous year, the opinion is almost universal that investment will be on a very large scale. It is for the moment chiefly directing itself to British Government securities and British railway stocks. But there is a quiet investment in good American railway stocks, and as soon as cash payments are resumed, and the investing public here can reasonably conclude that the crisis is really at an end, we expect to see a large increase in the purchases of American securities. It seems probable, moreover, that the Continent will invest largely. Of course if there were to be a sudden and very sharp rise, the investment might be choked off. But as long as prices remain at their present low level they are exceedingly attractive, and the investment is likely to be large and long continued.

Money continues in fair demand and rates are fairly well maintained. But on Monday the interest upon the national debt will be paid, and that will add very largely to the supplies in the open market. From Monday on the tendency will be for money to become comparatively plentiful and cheap. Money taken away during the holidays will return from the interior. The distribution of dividends will also make money plentiful. For a day or two now and then the collection of money to pay the dividends may have a contrary effect, but the general tendency will be for money to rule comparatively easy during the remainder of January and the greater part of February.

The India Council offered for tender on Wednesday 50 lacs, and the applications amounted to nearly 298 lacs, at prices ranging from 1s. 3 29-32d. to 1s. 3 31-32d. per rupee. Applicants for bills at 1s. 3 29-32d. and for telegraphic transfers at 1s. 3 15-16d. per rupee were allotted about 14% of the amounts applied for.

New York City, Boston and Philadelphia Banks.—The New York City Clearing House has since the panic discontinued issuing its detailed statement showing the weekly averages of condition of the separate banks, both the member and the "non-member" institutions. The last statement issued, that for Oct. 26 1907, will be found in the "Chronicle" of Nov. 2, on page 1124.

The Philadelphia and Boston Clearing Houses have also adopted the course of not making public the returns of the individual banks.

Below is a summary of the weekly totals of the Clearing-House banks of New York City, Boston and Philadelphia. The New York figures do not include results for non-member banks.

The Money Market and Financial Situation.—The volume of business at the Stock Exchange continues relatively large when compared with that of recent months, and notwithstanding a reactionary tendency which began on Thursday, and continued early to-day, there has been a further recovery of prices within the week. A steadily increasing business in the bond department is no doubt due to an awakening of the investment demand, and prominent bond houses regard the outlook for the future as very favorable. It is reported that a large proportion of stock transactions is the result of operations by professional traders. However that may be, the larger business in both departments is facilitated by easier money market conditions, as was the case last week. The bank statement then made showed a reserve of over $6,000,000 in excess of the legal requirements and the movement of currency this week indicates that this surplus has been considerably enlarged. The Bank of England has also increased its reserve to over 50% of its liabilities and reduced its discount rate from 6 to 5%.

The open market rates for call loans on the Stock Exchange during the week on stock and bond collaterals have ranged from 2½% to 6%. To-day's rates on call were 2½@3¾%. Prime commercial paper quoted at 6½@7% for endorsements and 6½@7% for best single names, but all transactions subject to special agreement.

The Bank of England's weekly statement on Thursday showed an increase in bullion of £1,020,018, and the percentage of reserve to liabilities was 52.69 against 48.15 last week.

The discount rate was reduced from 6%, as fixed Jan. 2, to 5% Jan. 16. The Bank of France shows a decrease of 175,000 francs gold and an increase of 725,000 francs silver.

State and Railroad Bonds.—Sales of State bonds at the Board $26,000 Virginia 6s def. tr. receipts at 24 to 25½.

The more active market for railway and industrial bonds at advancing prices suggests, as noted above, a larger investment demand. The daily transactions have increased in volume and are now the largest in many months.

Among the exceptional features Brooklyn Rapid Transit is conspicuous for an advance of 4 points and American Tobacco, Central Leather and Atchison issues are a point or more higher. Several issues have been notably active, including Union Pacific, Rock Island, Interboro and U. S. Steel

United States Bonds.—Sales of Government bonds at the Board include $10,000 4s reg. 1925 at 118½ and $10,000 2s reg. 1930 at 104½. The following are the daily closing quotations; for yearly range see third page following.

Railroad and Miscellaneous Stocks.—Activity in the stock market has increased, and, with more or less irregularity, the advance in prices which has been in progress for two or three weeks has continued. This week's advance amounts to from 2 to 7 points in the active list and is quite evenly distributed. There has been almost no change in the general characteristics of the market from day to day, and there are few exceptional features.

Among the latter is Delaware & Hudson, which has covered a range of four points, and closes with a net loss of 1; Canadian Pacific which sold ex-dividend on Monday and closes nearly 7 points lower than last week; Missouri Kansas & Texas, which has declined on its traffic statement, and Erie which is only fractionally higher. New York Central has been strong on the success of its short-term bond offering, showing, when at the highest, near which it closes, an advance of 8½ points.

American Smelting & Refining has shown a tendency to weakness; otherwise the industrial list has generally followed the railway list. New York Air Brake has covered a range of 15 points, closing with a net gain of 9. Sugar Refining is up over 5 points, and Steel, both common and preferred, is 2½ points higher than last week.

Outside Market.—Spirited trading in the copper shares at rising prices was the feature of the market for unlisted securities this week, while many of the smaller mining issues also showed increased activity and strength. Nevada Consolidated Copper was heavily traded in, the price moving up from 9½ to 12½, the close to-day being at 12¼. Nevada-Utah at times monopolized the attention, the stock registering an advance from 4⅜ to 6⅜. It reacted subsequently to 5⅞. Greene Cananea sold between 7⅛ and 7½, and to-day jumped to 9. Boston Consolidated Copper rose from 13⅝ to 15½, fell to 14¾ and closed to-day at 15⅛. Butte Coalition gained about 2 points to 18, and to-day sold up to 19¼. Cumberland Ely from 7½ went up to 9 and back finally to 8. Douglas Copper gained a point to 7½. Trinity from 17½ advanced to 19, but fell back to 17⅛. United Copper common was an exception to the rule, dropping from 7⅝ to 6⅞. Later it recovered to 7⅛. Nipissing fluctuated between 6⅞ and 7¼ and closed to-day at 7. Giroux ran up from 3⅛ to 4½, easing off to 4¼. Micmac advanced from 3⅞ to 4¼, and Goldfield Consolidated from 4 15-16 to 5⅝, with the close at 5⅜. Trading in the specialties was quiet, though prices were higher. American Tobacco broke from 258½ to 250, but sold up to 260, and to-day at 259½. Standard Oil was strong, moving up from 475 to 494, then back to 485, with the close to-day at 486. International Salt sold up from 10½ to 11 and Havana Commercial from 27 to 29. Chicago Subway was more active, and higher than for some time, moving up from 17¾ to 20½, with the final quotation 19⅛. ## RAILROAD GROSS EARNINGS.

The following table shows the gross earnings of every STEAM railroad from which regular weekly or monthly returns can be obtained. The first two columns of figures give the gross earnings for the latest week or month, and the last two columns the earnings for the period from July 1 to and including such latest week or month. We add a supplementary statement to show the fiscal year totals of those roads whose fiscal year does not begin with July, but covers some other period. The returns of the street railways are brought together separately on a subsequent page.

ANNUAL REPORTS.

Annual Reports.—The following is an index to all annual reports of steam railroads, street railways and miscellaneous companies which have been published since Jan. 1. Reports published during the last half of 1907 may be found by reference to the general index of the "Chronicle," pages viii. to xi., the annual reports being indicated by heavy-faced type.

This index does not include reports in to-day's "Chronicle."

(H. B.) Claflin Company, New York.

(Report for the season ending Dec. 31 1907.)

President John Claflin says in substance:

Our net profits for the six months were $504,999, against $409,119 for the corresponding period in 1906. For the year 1907 net profits were $959,274 as against $761,377 for the year 1905. During July, Aug. and Sept. our business was very large and very profitable. The panic of Oct. and Nov. paralyzed trade and reduced collections to the smallest average of our experience. Collections and trade are improving and it seems likely that normal conditions will soon be re established.

In view of the fact that we have inventoried our merchandise at prices lower than those announced by manufacturers for the spring of 1908, we may reasonably expect fair returns from the business of the season now opening.

Harrison Bros. & Co., Inc., Philadelphia.

President and General Manager Robert S. Perry, under date of Philadelphia, Jan. 8 1908, says:

During the previous year the net profits of the business, as shown in the annual report for 1906, were $160,859. During the year just closed the net profits were $130,107. This is a gratifying increase, especially in view of the fact that we had to pay extraordinarily high prices for raw materials and labor without corresponding increase in the prices of our finished products.

The sum of $57,280 has been expended for maintenance and repairs, which has been charged directly to operating expenses. In addition, the sum of $30,654 has been expended for additions and betterments to the plant and apparatus, and this has also been charged off against the earnings of the year.

After deducting interest on our bonds and the $30,654 expended for new construction work, we have a net surplus of $34,452 for the year.

The $350,000 3-year notes issued Dec. 2 1904 matured on Dec. 2 1907. The amount of these outstanding Oct. 31 1907 was $280,000; $30,000 of these have since been paid off, and the balance, $250,000, have been renewed for another year, with the privilege to the company of paying them off in whole or in part, before maturity. It is the aim of the management to pay these notes off as rapidly as possible during the coming year.

O'Gara Coal Co., Marquette Bldg., Chicago.

(Report for Fiscal Year ending Oct. 31 1907.)

President T. J. O'Gara in the report presented to the stockholders at the annual meeting held Nov. 16 in New York, said:

In the year ending Oct. 31 1907 we mined 1,718,126 tons as against 781,547 in previous year, which is an increase of 936,579 tons, or 120%.

We have at the present time 13 mines in operation in Saline County, Ill. When we took these mines over a couple of years ago, they were not, with a few exceptions, fitted for a big output. Since then the plants have all been modernized, new machinery has been installed, 300 miners' houses have been built, satisfactory contracts have been secured for the sale of the product, and at the present time the company is in a very healthy condition.

The Treasurer's report showed that we had on Nov. 1 1907 available for dividend approximately $30,000. This overcomes a deficit of about $70,000 of a year ago, and shows a net gain for the year of substantially $100,000, after payment of all expenses and bond interest.

In explaining the deficit of a year ago, we would call attention to the fact that from the beginning interest on the bonds sold became a fixed charge, while, owing to delays in acquiring titles, the mines were only taken over from time to time as titles were perfected, the last one being acquired as late as July 1906. We also had a shut-down during the general strike of April, May and first half of June 1906. The cost of maintenance of the mines added to the bond interest during this period accumulated a heavy loss. Also for about a year after the formation of the company the railroad facilities for handling coal were much hampered, as the line from Harrisburg to Danville, Ill., was undergoing practical re-construction, and this condition materially interfered with prompt deliveries. The railroad is now, and has been for some time, in excellent shape, and is handling our business with entire satisfaction. The mines are all in good condition and their tonnage will continue to increase until they reach their full capacity, which will almost double our present production, and the cost per ton will be lowered correspondingly.

We have a good market for the coal and the outlook for the future of your company is certainly very encouraging. Compare V. 81, p. 512.

Standard Cordage Co., New York.

This company was incorporated April 11 1906 as successor of the Standard Rope & Twine Co., foreclosed per plan in V. 81, p. 1726. Under date of New York, Jan. 7 1908, President Charles Wilson, referring to the following statement of assets and liabilities, compiled by public accountants, covering the first eleven months of the company's existence, to March 31 1907, says in substance:

General Results.—By reference to the financial statement, it will be seen that after paying interest on $2,806,000 first mortgage 5% bonds (amounting to $140,300) and allowing for a credit of $50,000 received from the Cannabis Manufacturing Co., there was a deficit of $104,597 as a result of eleven months' business. Our predecessor company was in the hands of receivers for a prolonged period; and pending reorganization the mills were idle eleven months, consequently your company was obliged to enter the field of competition and secure what trade it could from its rivals. This has been slow work and our business is still far from being on a paying basis. For the six months, ending Sept. 30 1907 there was a further deficit of $87,830 after providing $70,150 for the half-yearly interest on the first mortgage bonds and $9,638 for taxes. The actual result from operations showed a loss of $8,042.

Idle Properties—Plan Suggested.—It cannot be disguised that the problem of maintaining a number of idle properties and paying heavy fixed interest charges is one not easily solved. It is calculated that the cost of maintaining these idle plants, covering merely such items as taxes, insurance, watchmen, &c., amounts approximately to $30,000 per annum; and of course to this must be added the greater part of the interest paid on the issue of first mortgage bonds, as the only mill operated by your company at present is the Sewell & Day at Boston. This is your best plant, and as it has a capacity of more than double the company's output, it would seem wise to dispose of the idle plants covered by the mortgages and retire bonds with the proceeds of sale. Coming under this head are the Pearson Mill, Boston, Mass.; the Waterbury Mill, Brooklyn, N. Y.; the Morgan Avenue Mill, also in Brooklyn. This would apply equally to a large parcel of land at Elizabethport, N. J., upon which was formerly situated a plant which was destroyed by fire a number of years ago. This matter has been frequently under discussion by your board of directors, and it is hoped with the advent of good times something tangible may result

A suggestion has recently been made by some of the bondholders (not directors of this company) regarding a sale of the Waterbury property. The proposition, briefly stated, is that the property in question be appraised and sold to a syndicate of bondholders who would pay therefor in the company's first mortgage bonds, valuing the latter for such purpose at 50 cents on the dollar, all holders of such bonds to be given an opportunity of joining in the syndicate and receiving in exchange for their bonds an interest in the real property; the idea being to divide the latter into city lots, which it is believed would find a more ready sale than in bulk as now constituted. If some such plan could be carried through, a large quantity of bonds could be retired, thereby cutting down appreciably the company's annual fixed charges. It is a question, of course, whether a sufficient number of bondholders would join in such an undertaking to make it feasible; and besides, the consent of the trustees of the mortgages would first have to be obtained However, the suggestion is worthy of careful consideration. The views of bondholders and stockholders alike on this or any other proposition will be given respectful attention, if submitted to the management.

With the idle plants disposed of, and fixed charges reduced to a minimum as a result thereof, your officers feel that they would then be in a position to do business on equal terms with their competitors. There are also several idle properties not covered by the mortgages, which are owned by the Cannabis Manufacturing Co., the stock of which is included in our statement of assets. This stock was turned over to us by the reorganization committee as additional working capital and was originally entered on our books at its par value of $50,000, although the several pieces of property owned by it are easily worth, taken altogether, $200,000. They consist of the Chelsea plant, valued at $125,000; the South Boston plant, valued at $40,000, and 12 lots in Brooklyn, valued at $45,000. A portion of the Chelsea mill was recently damaged by fire and $20,000 insurance was collected. In order to provide for the deficit of $104,597 shown in the first year's operations, the value of the Cannabis stock, as an asset on our books was increased to $154,597, which your directors felt justified in doing in view of its real market value. As soon as suitable offers are received for these properties, they will be accepted, and the cash proceeds covered into our treasury as additional working capital. Their sale has been given diligent attention by your directors in the past, and it is hoped that success will attend their efforts in the near future.

Outlook.—With respect to the immediate future state of business, the slowing-down process which has manifested itself in all lines of trade is likely to be felt a short time longer; but it is generally believed that the turning point will soon be reached. Recent inquiries from several important cordage dealers lead to the assumption that, with the revival of business, a number of new connections will be made for the distribution of the company's output. An increase in this direction would naturally tend to decrease the mill cost, which every manufacturer strives for.

The fact that several members of the board are the largest holders of the company's securities (both bonds and stock) should of itself be convincing proof that nothing will be left undone to better the company's condition and to protect its interests in every way possible.

Atlantic Quebec & Western Ry.—Proposed Change in Securities.—Murphy & Berard of Montreal, the company's solicitors, give notice that application will be made to the Parliament of Canada at its present session—

To repeal section 7 of Chapter 63 of the Statutes of 1907, and to revive section 10 of the Act of 1903 relating to the issue of bonds, debentures and other securities, to amend section 8 of Chapter 63 of the Statutes of 1907 by repealing sections 10*a* and 10*b* thereby added after section 10, and

(1) to authorize the company to issue other bonds, debentures and securities in respect of the railways authorized by section 10 of the Act of 1903, and subject to the like conditions, to the extent of $20,000 per mile, but only in proportion to the length constructed or under contract to be constructed, such bonds, debentures or other securities to be secured by mortgage;

Chicago & Alton RR.—Suit.—William S. Miller of Chicago, the owner of 500 shares of the common stock of the old Chicago & Alton RR., which was consolidated in March 1906 with the former railway company, has brought suit in the United States Circuit Court asking for an accounting of the earnings of the old company.

No importance is attached to the litigation by the company's officials, as all except 75 shares of preferred and 4,095 shares of common stock of the old company were, it is said, turned in for exchange at the time of consolidation. The complainant has refused to exchange his shares for new prior lien and common stock under the plan (V. 82, p. 455), and he demands that separate accounts be kept of the earnings and disbursements of the old road, which, it is alleged, is "practically bearing the financial burdens of the new corporation." —V. 85, p. 1517

Chicago Burlington & Quincy RR.—Called Bonds.—Burlington & Missouri River RR. in Nebraska non-exempt 6% bonds due July 1 1918 drawn for payment, viz.: $201,000 bonds for $1,000 each and $22,200 bonds for $600 each, were due and payable at the New England Trust Co., Boston, on Jan. 1 1908.

Proposed Merger.—The shareholders of a number of subsidiary leased lines have voted recently to sell their roads and franchises to the Chicago Burlington & Quincy RR. (V. 85, p. 721), among them, it is understood, the following:

Kansas City & Omaha Ry., Stromsburg, Neb., to Alma, Neb. (150 miles), and McCool Jct., Neb., to K. C. & O. Jct., Neb. (44 miles).
(Road bought by C. B. & Q. from the bondholders in 1900 and in 1903-04 transferred by that company from "investment in controlled bonds" to cost of road at $1,144,362 on account of purchase. Compare V. 70 p. 1095; V. 71, p. 135, 698.)

Chicago Great Western Ry.—Outstanding Five-Year 5% Notes.—The company's short-term indebtedness aggregating $10,653,414, to which reference was made last week, includes, it is stated, $8,511,818 5-year 5% notes maturing as follows: In 1908, $3,342,545, of which $1,500,000 have matured, or will mature, this month; 1909, $4,089,030 56; 1910, $56,727 27; 1911, $999,272 70; 1912, $24,242 42 Compare V. 86, p. 107.

Chicago Lake Shore & South Bend (Electric) Ry.—Construction.—"Cleveland Finance" of Jan. 11 said:

The work of constructing the Chicago Lake Shore & South Bend Ry. Co., which is being built by a syndicate of Cleveland capitalists, is progressing at a very satisfactory rate. Altogether a total of 48 miles of track has been laid, and grading is so far advanced that rails will be laid on an additional 13 miles within thirty days. This will complete a total of 61 miles of the 71 miles embraced in the entire system. The turbine engines for the power house are now on the ground and will be erected as fast as possible. Local managers of the syndicate believe that the road will be in operation by June or July. A mortgage for $6,000,000 on the road has been filed, of which $3,500,000 will be outstanding when the road is finished, leaving $2,500,000 for future extensions and improvements. Compare V. 86, p. 51.

Cleveland Short Line Ry.—Description.—The "Railway Age" of Chicago on Dec. 20 published an illustrated article regarding this enterprise, which is described in part as follows, from information given by Secretary B. F. Hopkins:

The belt line is built on a 0.3% compensated grade through forbidding territory at a cost for construction of $355,000 per mile for the 10 miles so far opened out and under construction. The starting point is Lorain, a lake harbour about 20 miles northwest of Cleveland, which is now rapidly growing in importance. The located line crosses the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern at West Park, seven miles west of Cleveland, and swings southeasterly just outside of the boundary of Cleveland on a tangent of eight miles, then swings east until it reaches the settled portion of the suburbs of Cleveland, then turns northeastward toward Collinwood.

In southeast Cleveland the line passes under busy main streets, under permanent industrial improvements and under the main tracks of the Pennsylvania lines, the Wheeling & Lake Erie and the Erie, by twin double track tunnels, with the grade of the tracks 40 feet underground. The Cuyahoga River is crossed by a viaduct 1,980 feet long and 167 feet in height above water; the cost of this structure alone being estimated at $800,000. Through the southeast portion of Cleveland dozens of blocks of thickly-built up land have been cleared of residences to furnish right of way.

When completed the line will afford facilities for an interchange movement between eight railroads by tracks remote from the heart of Cleveland, free from any grade crossing and constructed so that eventually four tracks can be used throughout except over the Cuyahoga River viaduct, which is a double-track structure. Portions of the line are to be 6-track, and the bulk of the masonry so far built is designed for this number of tracks.

Construction started in May 1906, and it is expected to have the 10 miles now under way in readiness for operation at the close of 1908. The entire cost of the line will be about $10,000,000. The officers are: M. A. Fanning, President; W. R. Hopkins, Vice-President, and B. F. Hopkins, Secretary, all of Cleveland. (The company, we are informed, was financed by private subscription to the stock, no bonds having been issued.—Ed.) —V. 83, p. 271; V. 82, p. 1322; V. 81, p. 613, 668.

Chicago Railways.—Deposits Under Plan.—Announcement is made by advertisement on a preceding page of this issue that "more than 92% of bonds, &c., as an entirety, and in the case of underlying issues more than 97% of the bonds" of the old companies, have already been deposited with the Harris Trust & Savings Bank of Chicago or the Farmers' Loan & Trust Co., New York, as depositaries under the plan (V. 85, p. 1269, 1576). The time for receiving deposits has expired, but in certain cases, for good cause shown, the committee has authorized the acceptance of additional deposits. "By the terms of the ordinance, no further deposits of any character may be received after Jan. 20 1908." —V. 86, p. 51.

Dayton & Michigan RR.—Provision for Refunding Consols.—See circular under heading of Cincinnati Hamilton & Dayton in last week's "Chronicle," page 108.—V. 48, p. 127.

Denver Northwestern & Pacific Ry.—Construction Contract.—The Denver Steamboat Construction Co. was incorporated in Colorado on Jan. 10 with $1,500,000 capital stock, to extend the line of the Denver Northwestern & Pacific Ry., of which David H. Moffat is President, from its terminus at Yarmony, through the extensive coal-fields of the Oak Hills district in Routt County, to Steamboat Springs, a distance of 68 miles. Col. D. C. Dodge, President of the construction company, made the following statement, which is of interest as disclosing in part the identity of the new interests with which Mr. Moffat has associated himself:

There was filed yesterday afternoon with the Secretary of State articles of incorporation of the Denver Steamboat Construction Co., with a capital stock of $1,500,000. The directors are Col. D. C. Dodge, Henry M. Porter, Lawrence C. Phipps, Thomas F. Walsh, John F. Campion, Charles Boettcher, Charles J. Hughes Jr., William Byrd Page and Samuel M. Perry. The officers of this new construction company are D. C. Dodge, President; Thomas F. Walsh, Vice-President; John F. Campion, Treasurer; and Samuel M. Perry, Secretary.

The company was organized to construct railroads and to acquire and own securities. The immediate purpose of its organization was to take a contract to build the Moffat road from its present terminus at Yarmony through the extensive coal fields of the Oak Hills district in Routt County to Steamboat Springs, a distance of 68 miles. The contract for this work has been agreed upon and executed between the new company and the Denver Northwestern & Pacific Ry. Co. Before the filing of the articles of incorporation of the Denver Steamboat Construction Co., the directors of that company had each subscribed important amounts to its capital stock, and subscriptions of other prominent men had also been secured, and a sufficient amount of money thus provided to insure the completion of the railroad.

The substantial Denver capitalists, mining men, cattle men, beet-sugar men, coal operators and financiers who constitute the board of directors of the new company have joined Mr. David H. Moffat in his great Denver Northwestern & Pacific Ry. enterprise. Acting together with Mr. Moffat, the Denver and Utah men who have now joined him in the enterprise are financially able to construct the railroad through Salt Lake City, without applying to any Eastern capitalists for funds or to any other railroad organization for assistance.

For more than a year the Moffat road, even in its uncompleted condition, has been earning the interest upon all its bonds which have been sold, in addition to earning its operating and maintenance expenses Its completion through the Routt County coal fields to Steamboat Springs will give it such an extensive added traffic in coal, cattle, metals, agricultural products and lumber as will, we believe make it the most profitable railroad enterprise in the Western States.—V. 85, p. 1143.

Denver Utah & Pacific RR.—Further Facts.—All the securities of the company were purchased by the C. B. & Q. RR. Co. in 1887, and the road has been operated by the C. B. & Q. since Sept. 1 1889. The line of road is from Denver to Lyons, Col., and the mileage is included with that of lines west of the Missouri River. (Compare C. B. & Q. in V. 85, p. 721).—V. 85, p. 1518.

Great Northern Ry.—Application to List.—The New York Stock Exchange has been requested to list $2,000,000 St. Paul Minneapolis & Manitoba RR. Co. consolidated mortgage 4½% bonds due in 1933, making the total 4½s listed $21,250,000.—V. 85, p. 1273, 1265.

Great Northern Ry.—Purchase Completed.—A deed was filed at Helena, Mont., on Jan. 11 transferring to the Great Northern Railway Co., for a consideration stated as $6,135,454, the Montana Central RR., one of the subsidiary lines of the system.—V. 85, p. 1273.

Guatemala Ry.—Completion of Line.—The through line between Puerto Barrios, Guatemala, on the Atlantic coast, and Guatemala City, the capital of the republic, about 200 miles, has been completed, and it is announced will be put in operation on Feb. 1.

At Guatemala connection will be made with the Guatemala Central Ry, which runs to San Jose, on the Pacific coast, the total distance of the road across Guatemala being 270 miles. The United Fruit Co. has announced a new fortnightly service between New York and Puerto Barrios. See full statement of enterprise in V 79, p 902.

Guayaquil & Quito Railway.—Payment of Coupons on Special Series Bonds.—The council of foreign bondholders early in December last gave notice in London that they were prepared to pay the coupon due July 2 1907 on the bonds of the special series outstanding. This payment only applied to bonds which have the sheet of special conditions attached.

The "special series" first mortgage 6% bonds, amounting to $1,014,000 (at last accounts $993,000 had been issued and $468,000 were outstanding), were given in exchange for bonds of the external debt of Ecuador at the rate of £175 for £100. Under agreement of July 22 1903 the company under took to set aside from the sinking fund of its general bond issue, amounting to about $185,000 per annum, the sum of $90,500 yearly for the redemption of the special series, the bonds to be drawn at par and interest if not purchasable at a lower figure. Of the bonds redeemed, part were canceled and the remainder were returned to the company. On payment of the entire amount of special series bonds, $250,000 general issue bonds deposited as security therefor will be released to the railroad company.

The coupons of July 1907 on all other bonds, also the coupons of January 1908, remain unpaid pending an adjustment of the dispute with the Government of Ecuador because of failure to complete the road.—V. 85, p. 221.

Iowa Central Ry.—Application to List.—The New York Stock Exchange has been requested to list $1,320,000 additional first and refunding mortgage 4% bonds due 1951, making the total listed $3,320,000.—V. 85, p. 1216, 1203.

Kansas City Mexico & Orient Railway.—Coupon Payment.—President Stilwell announces that the February coupons of the 4% first mortgage gold bonds will be paid upon presentation on or after Feb. 1st, 1908 at the American Exchange National Bank, New York City.

Extension Completed.—The company announces the opening of the extension from Dill City, Okla., south to the Red River, 61 miles, affording a through line from Wichita, Kan., to the Red River of 273 miles, Kansas City being reached by temporary trackage aver the Missouri Pacific between Wichita and Kansas City.—V. 85, p. 1339.

Kansas City & Omaha Ry.—Sale.—See Chicago Burlington & Quincy RR. above.—V. 75, p. 29.

Louisville (Ky.) Traction Co.—Stock of Holding Co. Not Taxable.—The Court of Appeals of Kentucky on Dec. 18 affirmed the decision of the lower courts in an action brought against a holder of Traction company stock, which held that the stock of the holding company, a New Jersey corporation, is not taxable because the property it is sought to tax has been already assessed against the Louisville Ry., the latter having paid the taxes thereon.

The Court says it was not shown that the Traction Company owned any property, tangible or intangible, other than Louisville Ry. stock, and that "the certificates are but the representatives of Louisville Ry. stock and are no more subject to taxation in the hands of their owners than the shares of Louisville Ry. stock were in the hands of their owners prior to the organization of the 'holding company.' "—V. 85, p. 1518.

Lynchburg (Va.) Traction & Light Co.—Bonds, &c.—Bioren & Co., Philadelphia, in their recent circular offering at par $200,000 of the authorized issue of $250,000 general mortgage convertible 6% gold bonds, say:

The company is incorporated under the laws of Virginia, and has acquired by a merger all the rights, property and franchises of the Lynchburg Railway & Light Co., the Lynchburg & Rivermont Street Ry. Co., the Lynchburg Gas Co. and the Lynchburg Water Power Co., giving the company complete control of all the railway, lighting, gas and electric power business in the city of Lynchburg, serving a population of over 35,000 people.

The company operates about 20 miles of street railway trackage (laid with heavy tee and girder rails), about 40 cars, mostly of the new semi and full convertible type. The hydraulic water power plant, with a present capacity of 3,500 horse-power, is located on the James River, about 3 miles from Lynchburg. The sub-station, steam plant and the gas plant are located on Buckwalter St., Lynchburg, Va. The car barns, shops, office building, &c., are centrally located on a valuable piece of real estate in the heart of the business section. The company owns the Rivermont Park, consisting of about 35 acres, located about 2½ miles from the centre of the city, situated on Rivermont Ave., adjacent to the most attractive resident section of the city. The water power plant, sub-station, auxiliary steam plant, car barns, shops, store-rooms, &c., are built of brick and concrete, and are equipped with the most modern and up-to-date machinery and appliances for the economical handling of the business.

The charter and municipal rights owned by the company are in every way liberal, and the company enjoys the confidence and hearty support of the community which it serves.

Missouri & North Arkansas RR.—New Construction.—Press reports have the following:

The Missouri & North Arkansas will be opened for traffic between Joplin, Mo., and Leslie, Ark., 170 miles, by Jan. 15, and by next June, it is expected, the road will be in operation as far as Searcy, 100 miles southeast of Leslie. It is expected that within the next year through service will be established to Helena, Ark. This new line will penetrate rich agricultural sections. It will traverse also the lumber regions of Arkansas and the mining region in the northern part of that State. Temporarily trains will be run over the Kansas City Southern tracks from Neosho to Joplin, 20 miles. The road is about to begin the construction of terminals in Joplin on a site for which $150,000 already has been spent.—V. 85, p. 99.

Montreal Street Railway.—New Stock and Debentures.—An advertisement dated Jan. 13 says in substance:

A special general meeting of the shareholders will be held at the company's offices, Montreal, at noon on Wednesday, Jan. 29, for the purpose of authorizing the directors to make an issue of debenture bonds, and also to authorize the increase of the company's capital stock by the issue of new shares at a premium.

The board of directors will ask the shareholders to authorize the issue and approve the sale of £460,000 sterling of 4½% 14-year debenture bonds; also to authorize the issue of shares of a par value of $1,000,000 at a premium of 25% over their par value

By order of the board. Patrick Dubee, Secretary.

The "Montreal Gazette" of Jan. 14 said:

It is proposed to issue the new stock at 125 and the stock will be allotted pro rata to shareholders of record at a date to be hereafter decided. The authorized capital is now $18,000,000, of which $9,000,000 has been issued, so that, including the new issue, the paid-up capital will be $10,000,000.

It is also announced that the directors have sold in London $2,300,000 (£460,000) 4½% debenture bonds, due in 1922, at 92⅞. It is the intention to use the proceeds to take up $300,000 ($292,000) bonds due on March 1, $1,000,000 (£208,000) notes sold in England last June and $500,000 owing the Bank of Montreal. A balance of some $500,000 will be available for the improvement and extension of the system.—V. 85, p. 1210, 1207

New Orleans Railway & Light Co.—Important Improvements.—The "Engineering Record" of New York for Dec. 7 contains an illustrated article regarding the practically new power station which has been established at Market and South Peters streets, on the Mississippi River, about two miles from the business centre of the city, forming part of the improvements carried out under the direction of Sanderson & Porter, the New York consulting engineers. This station contains equipment for generating 17,800 kw., with provision for an ultimate capacity of 50,000 kw. The "Record" says:

When this corporation took over its various properties a few years ago, it was seen that some of the smaller power stations could be abandoned to advantage and two of the plants greatly enlarged. A single central station was not desirable, because its construction would have made it necessary to abandon two modern generating stations, and because in some areas the distribution of the railway load made it more economical to generate direct current near the points of heavy consumption.

The system as reconstructed comprises one direct-current commercial lighting station and one direct-current railway station in the congested districts, and one large alternating-current station to feed the balance of the territory and the outlying districts. This station also contains 6,000 k. w. of direct-current generators for feeding the railway lines in its vicinity The three stations have an aggregate capacity of 25,000 k. w. Sub-stations have been built preparatory to abandoning the small generating plants, over 100 miles of underground conduits have been constructed and a complete new street lighting system, with 3,000 series alternating arc lamps has been installed. As the load increases and the system is extended, additional sub-stations are to be built, and the capacity of the main or alternating-current power station is to be increased up to 50,000 k. w. It is not necessary that new generating stations be built until this capacity is reached.—V. 85, p. 1518.

New York City Ry.—Authority of Federal Courts Upheld.—The United States Supreme Court on Monday, by a unanimous decision, dismissed the application of one Konrad and two other creditors for writs of mandamus compelling Judge Lacombe to vacate his order appointing Adrian H. Joline and Douglas Robinson receivers of the New York City Ry. and Metropolitan Street Ry. Compare V. 85, p. 1462.

The decision is important in that it maintains the jurisdiction of the Federal courts, and further because the opinion rendered by Justice Peckham states that "there is not the slightest evidence of any fraud practiced for the purpose of thereby creating a case to give jurisdiction to the Federal court." The motive for bringing the suit in the Federal court is held to be unimportant so long as no improper act was done by which the jurisdiction of the Federal court attached. There was, it is stated, an unsatisfied demand for the payment of debts due and a justifiable claim, although undisputed, by citizens of one State against those of another, constituting a controversy within the meaning of the statute. It was also held that the facts showed that the Metropolitan Street Ry. was so tied up with the New York City Ry. that a receivership of the latter ought to be extended to the former.

The ruling of the court, it would seem, makes extremely improbable the ultimate success of the efforts of Attorney-General Jackson to have the receivers appointed by the State courts replace of those named by Judge Lacombe.—V. 86, p. 108, 53.

New York New Haven & Hartford RR.—Decision.—See New York & Port Chester RR. below.—V. 86, p. 108.

New York & Port Chester RR.—Decision Affirmed.—The decision of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, First Department, rendered on Friday of last week by a divided vote of 3 to 2, affirms the decision of the lower court in the action brought by Robert E. Robinson, which restrains the company, pending trial of the action, from using part of the located line of the New York Westchester & Boston Ry., and the Board of Estimate from granting the application to do so. The contrary report given out last week was due to a misapprehension of the facts.

The New York Westchester & Boston has already done several million dollars worth of work within the city limits, while the New York & Port Chester, beyond perfecting preliminary arrangements at considerable expense, has, it is claimed, done nothing towards actual construction. See status of project under caption of New York New Haven & Hartford RR. in last week's "Chronicle," page 109.—V. 86, p. 109

Nevada Central RR.—Payment of Interest.—The directors have directed a payment out of the net earnings on hand Jan. 1 1908 of 2½% interest on the 750 first mortgage income bonds, to be paid on demand on and after Jan. 16.

Payment will be made through the New Jersey Title Guarantee & Trust Co., 83 Montgomery St., Jersey City, N. J. The bonds will have to be presented to the above trust company to have the payment of the interest stamped upon the back thereof

The last previous distribution on these bonds was 4% in July 1906.—V. 83, p. 1291.

Northern Electric Ry., California.—Bond Issue.—This company, incorporated in California on Sept. 19 1907 with $25,000,000 of authorized capital stock, in shares of $100 each, of which $10,000,000 is 5% non-cumulative preferred, recently acquired the entire properties of the Northern Electric Co. (V. 85, p. 654), operating an electric railway from Chico to Sacramento, Cal., by way of Oroville, Yuba City and Marysville, and the Shasta Southern Railway Co., operating between Chico and Hamilton. To cover these properties and future acquisitions the new company has made a "first and consolidated mortgage" to the Mercantile Trust Co. of San Francisco, as trustee, to secure not exceeding $25,000,000 5% gold bonds, dated Dec. 1 1907 and due Dec. 1 1947, but subject to call on 60 days' notice at 110. Interest payable June 1 and Dec. 1 at office of trustee. None of these bonds is as yet outstanding, but $3,787,000 are reserved to take up at or before maturity a like amount of 5% gold bonds of the Northern Electric Co. Annual sinking fund for new issue, 1918 to 1927, ¾ of 1% of issued bonds; 1928 to 1937, 1%; 1938 to 1947, 1¼%. Of the preferred stock $5,000,000 has been issued.

Officers and directors:

President, Henry A. Butters; Sec. and Treas., Norman Logan. Directors Henry A. Butters, Louis Sloss, B. J. Lilienthal, E. J. deSabla Jr., W. P. Hammon, Leon Sloss and David S. Edwards.

Secretary Logan confirms as generally correct the following statement attributed to him by the "San Francisco Chronicle" of Dec. 22:

The road is already operating 136 miles of track, including passenger service and commercial spurs. In forming the new company it was our desire to construct at least 339 miles of track (compare V. 85, p. 865), and under the provisions of the original bond issue we were limited as to building. Prior to the present financial trouble we contemplated extending the road to Redding. Ultimately we will do so. Just now we are not doing any construction work. On Dec. 1 we laid off 3,000 men and were unable even to finish some small construction work on branch lines.

The filing of the mortgage for the new bond issue was consummated at this time, so that when conditions look brighter in the business world our company may be in readiness to resume work of construction from Chico to Red Bluff, a distance of 41 miles. The company has absolutely no connection with either the Western Pacific or Southern Pacific railroads. As a matter of fact, this company is a strong competitor of both roads.

At present the road connects at Sacramento with steamers of the California Transportation Co., and most of the passengers and freight of the road for San Francisco are handled by the latter company.—V. 85, p. 865.

Northern Pacific Terminal Co.—Called Bonds.—Thirty-three ($33,000) first mortgage bonds of 1883 have been drawn and will be redeemed by the Farmers' Loan & Trust Co. on Feb. 4 1908 at 110 and accrued interest.—V. 85, p. 160.

Omaha & Council Bluffs Street Ry.—Dividends.—This company, which on July 1 1907 paid the first dividend on common stock, being 2%, covering the first half of the year, distributed on Jan. 2 1908 a second dividend, also 2%, covering the latter half of 1907.

New President.—G. W. Wattles, Vice-President of the United States National Bank of Omaha, has been elected President of this Street Ry., succeeding Guy Barton of the American Smelting & Refining Co.—V. 80, p. 1175.

Passenger Fares.—No Reduction in Texas.—Press dispatches state that the Texas RR. Commission on Jan. 16 after numerous hearings dismissed the application for a reduction of passenger rates from 3 cents to 2½ cents per mile.

Formal notice, it is stated, was given that the order issued more than a year ago establishing a 2½-cent rate on the Houston & Texas Central and the Southern Pacific will be canceled. In return for these voluntary concessions by the Commission, the attorneys for 16 roads which are plaintiffs in a suit pending in the Federal court to enjoin freight rates made by the Commission notified the latter that they would move for the dismissal of that case.

General Compromise.—See Southern Ry.—V. 86, p. 109.

Peoria & Bureau Valley RR.—Extra Dividend.—This company, whose road is leased to the Chicago Rock Island & Pacific RR., has, it is stated, declared with the regular semi-annual dividend of 4% an extra dividend of 1%, both payable Feb. 10 to holders of record Jan. 31.

Pittsburgh Shawmut & Northern RR.—Offering of Receiver's Certificates.—Chas. H. Jones Jr., 20 Broad St., New York, is offering for sale by advertisement on another page $295,000 of an issue of $592,000 5% car trust gold bonds of the receiver of the Pittsburgh Shawmut & Northern RR. Co., Shawmut Mining Co. and The Kersey Mining Co., dated Nov. 1 1907 and due one-seventh annually on Nov. 1 from 1908 to 1914. Interest payable May 1 and Nov. 1. The advertisement says:

These bonds are specifically secured by a mortgage or deed of trust to the Guardian Trust Co. of New York on 3 locomotives and 500 steel under frame coal cars, 100,000 lbs. capacity. The cost of this equipment is $658,750, on which 10% in cash has been paid, $66,750, the remainder, $592,000, being represented by these equipment bonds

These bonds, besides being in the usual form of an equipment trust, and possessing the advantages and security of such, are a lien prior to existing mortgages on the properties of the Pittsburgh Shawmut & Northern RR., which operates 188 miles of railroad and owns 31 locomotives and 3,113 cars (exclusive of the locomotives and cars covered by this issue), and on the mortgaged properties of the Shawmut Mining Co. and The Kersey Mining Co., which together own over 25,030 acres of coal lands, producing upwards of 1,500,000 tons of coal per annum. The receiver estimates that the total net earnings of the entire property are at the rate of over $400,000 per annum, equivalent to 5% on say, $8,000,000

The income yield of the certificates at the prices named is 7% for each series, excepting the first, and that yields 6½% income.—V. 85, p. 601.

Rochester Albany & Syracuse RR.—Alleged Misleading Prospectus.—John W. Hollenbach and H. H. Hervey of Wilkesbarre, Pa., who purchased securities of the company through the Transit Finance Co., have brought suits for damages alleged to have been incurred by misrepresentations in the prospectus. Similar actions by other parties have, it is stated, been brought in Hartford, Conn.

Sedalia (Mo.) Light & Traction Co. Bonds Offered.—E. H. Gay & Co., Chicago, Boston, New York, &c., are offering at 90 and interest the unsold portion of a block of $600,000 first mortgage 5% 20-year gold bonds. An advertisement says:

Secured by first mortgage upon the street railway, electric light and gas properties of the city. Preferred stock (non-cumulative), $400,000; common stock, $600,000; first mortgage bonds offered herein, $600,000. Earnings for 4 months ending Oct. 31 1907: Gross, $44,025; net, $19,677; interest on bonds during this period, $8,333; balance, $11,344. The above statement covers the first four months' operation of the merged companies after completion of improvements and consolidation of generating stations. On this basis the results for the year ending July 1 1908, it is estimated, will be as follows: Gross earnings, $132,076; operating expenses, $73,045; net earnings, being double interest charge, $59,031. A consolidation of the six public utility corporations of the city formerly operated independently. Their original cost, plus that of improvements, approximates $1,000,000, against which have been issued the present $600,000 first mortgage bonds.—V. 83, p. 1591.

Southern Ry.—Passenger Rates.—President Finley this week stated that he regards the matter of passenger rates in Southern States as progressing satisfactorily.

The compromises contemplate advances in some and reductions in other cases, and that while they may involve some financial sacrifice by the company, Mr. Finley says it is not unlikely that the elasticity of the arrangements proposed will be productive of traffic. Furthermore, the company has reserved its rights to all proper remedies if, after 12 months' trial, the rates are found to be unremunerative or confiscatory. He says he is convinced that the result will be the establishment of cordial relations between the State authorities and the railroads from which much good should result to both the States and the roads. Compare V. 85, p. 1578, 1083, and "Passenger Rates," V. 86, p. 109.

Third Avenue RR.—Receiver in Possession.—Receiver Frederick W. Whitridge took possession at midnight, Jan. 11.—V. 86, p. 109.

Toledo (O.) Railways & Light Co.—New Directors.—At the annual meeting on Jan. 17 the board was increased from seven to nine members as follows:

New directors: William E. Hutton of Cincinnati; Dr. Joseph F. Demers of Levis, Que.; S. D Carr, Herman S. Swift and J. K. Secor of Toledo, O.
Re-elected: L. E. Beilstein of Toledo; H. A. Everett and E. W. Moore of Cleveland; R. B. Van Cortlandt of New York
Retired: Albion E. Lang (Chairman), John F. Collins and Chas. W. Wasson.—V. 85, p. 1006.

Toledo Terminal RR.—Officers of Reorganized Company.—At a meeting of representatives of the seven railroads now owning the terminal, held Dec. 31, on which day the receivership ended, the following officers and directors were elected:

President, H. B. Ledyard, Chairman of the Michigan Central; Vice-President, William Cotter, President of the Pere Marquette; Temporary Secretary, F. W. Reorganization—New Securities.—The reorganization plan of the Toledo Railway & Terminal Co., described in V. 85, p. 1402, 1463, has been assented to by holders of 3,160 bonds out of 3,500, bonds and declared operative by the bondholders' committee, of which Andrew T. Sullivan is Chairman and D. S. Mills Secretary. The successor company, the Toledo Terminal RR., has exchanged the necessary agreements with the Pere Marquette RR. Co., the new mortgage has been executed, and a temporary bond of $3,850,000, secured by the mortgage, issued and placed with the Columbia Trust Co. to be exchanged for coupon and registered bonds when engraved.—V. 85, p. 1578.

Union Pacific RR.—Directed to Answer.—Judge Hough in the United States Circuit Court on Thursday held that President E. H. Harriman and Otto H. Kahn must answer the questions put to them last year by the Inter-State Commerce Commission touching the purchases of stocks of other roads by the Union Pacific. Mr. Harriman is, however, excused from replying to questions as to purchases of Union and Southern Pacific stock by himself and other directors in anticipation of the increase in dividend rate declared in Aug. 1906. Compare V. 85, p. 406.

United Railways Investment Co.—New Director—Edward B. Smith of Philadelphia has been elected a director.—V. 85, p. 223, 100.

Apalachicola Northern RR.—Sale No Longer Enjoined.—Judge Wright at Danville, Ill., on Jan. 14 dissolved the temporary restraining order granted Dec. 17 on application of David Somers and others to prevent the sale.—V. 85, p.1645.

Wabash RR.—Favorable Decision of United States Supreme Court.—The United States Supreme Court on Jan. 6, reversing the Ohio Supreme Court, held that the State courts, by reason of the receivership proceedings brought in the Federal courts, had no jurisdiction to determine the question of the lien claimed for the $600,000 Toledo & Wabash RR. equipment bonds dated May 1 1862. The Ohio Supreme Court held that the bonds had a prior lien on the road extending from Toledo to the Indiana State line, about 80 miles, which with interest, it is reported, would have amounted to over $3,000,000. Compare V. 82, p. 988.—V. 86, p. 53.

INDUSTRIAL, GAS AND MISCELLANEOUS.

Albion (Mich.) Gas Light Co.—New Bonds.—The company recently filed a mortgage to the Michigan Trust Co. of Grand Rapids, as trustee, to secure $150,000 12-year 5% bonds, of which $100,000 will be used to meet present debts and $50,000 for improvements.

A first mortgage for $75,000 due in 1917 was made in 1902 to the same trustee. Dividends at the rate of 5% per annum have been (or are being) paid on the $60,000 capital stock. (Authorized issue, $75,000.) Charles B. Kelsey is President, Albion, Mich.—V. 77, p. 452.

Amalgamated Copper Co.—Dividend Further Reduced from 4% to 2% Basis.—The directors on Jan. 16 declared a quarterly dividend of ½ of 1%, payable Feb. 24 1908 to stockholders of record Jan. 23, thus reducing the annual rate from 4% at the last distribution and 8% (2% quarterly) during the first nine months of 1907, to 2%, contrasting with—(controlled), which from Feb. 1906 to Aug. 1907 paid every three months $2 a share (8%) and $10 a share (40%) extra, but in Nov. last gave an extra dividend of only $4 a share, with the quarterly dividend of $2, has continued the further quarterly dividend of $2,but has further reduced the extra distribution to $1.—V. 86, p. 54.

American Oil & Refining Co. of Beaumont.—Receivership.—This company, incorporated with $5,000,000 capital stock during the time of the Texas oil boom, has been placed by Judge Hightower of the 60th District Court of Texas in the hands of J. D. Martin as receiver. "Houston Post" says:

The company has land holdings at Spindle Top and vicinity in excess of 4,000 acres, and its assets are valued at from $80,000 to $100,000. The company has no oil producing wells at this time, its lands being chiefly adapted for rice.

American Steel Foundries.—Financial Plan.—A circular, signed by Sec. F. E. Patterson under date of Jan. 4, announces that a special meeting of the stockholders will be held in Jersey City on Feb. 8 1908 to act upon the proposition to reduce the authorized capital stock from $37,650,000, divided into 376,500 shares of the par value of $100 each, and consisting of $19,540,000 preferred stock (of which $17,184,000 is held by public) and $18,110,000 common stock (of which $15,809,280 is held by public.—Ed.), to $17,184,000, divided into 171,840 shares of the par value of $100 each, all of one class and kind.

It is proposed to accomplish such reduction by cancellation of the present outstanding stock and by issuing (1) in consideration for each $100 present preferred stock surrendered (a) $77 par value of the proposed issue of stock; (b) $20 in the debentures of the company, to be dated Feb. 1 1908, payable as to principal fifteen years from such date, bearing interest at 4% per annum, payable semi-annually; and (c) $3 in cash; and (2) by delivering to the holders of the common stock, in consideration of the surrender, cancellation and retirement of their shares of stock, $25 par value of the proposed shares of stock, for each $100 of the present common stock. In other words, the plan is as follows:

Terms of Exchange for Present Outstanding Stock.

A directors' committee, consisting of Elbert H. Gary, Charles Miller, Edward F. Goltra, George B. Leighton, Edward Shearson and Richard H. Swartwout, in a circular dated Jan. 3 1908, says in substance:

After consideration of a number of plans suggested, the board has determined upon the proposition here outlined.

This plan is based upon a reduction of the stock (to an amount) upon which, it is hoped, dividends can be continuously earned and distributed. It is expected that the value of the proportions of the reduced stock it is proposed to issue to the holders of the present stock will be greater than the present holding, and will have an increased value as collateral security, and therefore that the plan will be highly advantageous to both the preferred and the common stockholder.

Up to Aug. 1 1907 there have been accumulated and unpaid, upon the outstanding preferred stock, dividends amounting to approximately $3,440,000, equal to 20% of the par value. Under the proposed plan here submitted these accumulations will be discharged, and any possible recurrence of such accumulations avoided. The holders of the preferred stock, under the plan, will have the acquiescence of the holders of the common stock to an issue of debentures aggregating, approximately, $3,440,000, which will be equal to the amount of dividends now accrued, which dividends otherwise could not be distributed at this time, and perhaps not for many years to come; as well as a probability of regular dividends in the future besides a cash consideration for the surrender of present holdings.

While the common stockholder will have a reduced aggregate par value of stock, it will be stock in a total capitalization of about one-half of the present issue; the preferred stock, with the accumulated dividends, will be wiped out and the common stockholders will be entitled to share in any future distribution of earnings in proportion to their holdings in the reduced issue, and will also have a proportionate interest in the assets instead of only an equity above the preferred stock, as heretofore.

This plan, to become effective, must receive the assent of the stockholders, and if carried out, it will be operative as of Aug. 1 1907, in so far as it concerns the use and application of earnings since that date, to the payment of dividends, thereby giving to the holders of the reduced stock the benefit of any earnings since Aug. 1 1907 for dividend purposes, if, or as declared by the board.

For equities of less than the par value of $100 there will be issued scrip which will not be entitled to interest or dividends, but may be exchanged in amounts of $100 or multiples thereof as provided in such scrip.

The proposed debentures will be a direct obligation of the company, payable to bearer, and will contain a stipulation that not less than 10% of the entire issue shall be paid and canceled each year, commencing Feb. 1 1913 at not exceeding par and interest. They will also provide that all or any part of the company's accumulated earnings or surplus may be used at any time to retire any or all of them, at not exceeding par and interest. Bonds for retirement to be, if possible, purchased in the open market, otherwise they will be chosen by lot in the usual manner.

To insure the prompt carrying out of the plan upon approval by the stockholders, it is necessary that assenting stock be put in trust pending action by the stockholders, and for this purpose arrangements have been made with the Guaranty Trust Co. of New York to act as depositary and exchange agent and to issue receipts for all such stock, properly indorsed in blank, and duly witnessed, as may be delivered to it, such receipts to carry all the rights and privileges of the stock they represent, except the voting power, which, by the deposit of the stock will be vested in a voting committee, consisting of Elbert H. Gary, Charles Miller, Edward F. Goltra, George B. Leighton, Edward Shearson and Richard H. Swartwout, or a majority of them, who shall have power in their discretion to determine the time, manner or method of carrying out the plan herein set forth, or abandoning the same, if found impracticable by reason of the failure of the stockholders to approve, or otherwise.

If the plan is not adopted and carried out, the depositing stockholders will be entitled to the stock deposited without charge or expense.—V. 85, p. 1648.

American Sugar Refining Co.—New Director.—The shareholders having voted to increase the board from 7 to 9, Henry E. Niese, long connected with the company and now in charge of its refining department, has been elected a director. —V. 86, p. 110.

American (Bell) Telephone & Telegraph Co.—Earnings.—For 11 months ending Nov. 30, as confirmed for "Chronicle":

Earnings for 11 Months ending Nov. 30 (Dividends for 12 Mos. in '07 approx.)

| 11 mos. | Net earns. | Interest. | Bal. for Divs. | Divs. (12 mos.) | Bal., sur. |

The $21,925,200 new stock was not full paid until Oct. 25 1907; consequently it was only for the last three months of 1907 that the entire amount of stock now outstanding, $153,476,600, participated in dividends.

Final Call on Syndicate.—The members of the syndicate which underwrote the $100,000,000 convertible 4% bonds received a call for the payment of the final installment of 10% on subscriptions on Jan. 15. (Compare V. 85, p. 923; V. 84, p. 750; V. 83, p. 438; V. 82, p. 571, 394.)

Bonds.—To complete the statement in our issue of Nov. 30 (p. 1398) we have compiled the following table to show outstanding bonds of the allied and controlled properties, of which amounts aggregating $3,665,000 (see foot-note "c") are owned by the American Telephone & Telegraph Co.:

American Writing Paper Co., Holyoke, Mass.—Proposed Cancellation of Stock in Treasury and Unissued.—The shareholders will vote at the annual meeting on Feb. 11 to limit the issue of common stock to the $9,500,000 heretofore sold and now outstanding, by rescinding the right to put out the $1,000,000 never issued and the $2,000,000 issued to the treasury but never sold. Treasurer G. B. Holbrook, contradicting recent newspaper stories, says:

There has been no purchases of the common stock of this company by the company since its organization; $1,000,000 was never issued and $2,000,000 has been in the treasury since organization of the company.—V. 84, p. 933.

Avery Company, Agricultural Machinery, Peoria, Ill.—Re-incorporation—Stock Offered.—This company was recently incorporated under the laws of Illinois, with an authorized capitalization of $2,500,000 in shares of $100 each. It is the present intention to offer enough of this stock on the market to make a paid-up capitalization of $2,000,000, "$1,400,000 of which has already been subscribed and paid in by the stockholders of the Avery Manufacturing Co., which this company is to succeed." The balance of $600,000 is offered at par to the present stockholders of the old company and investors generally. A circular says in part:

Organized as a partnership by R. H. Avery and C. M. Avery in Galesburg, Ill., in the early 70s, under the style of "R. H. & C. M. Avery, and removed to Peoria in 1882. In 1883 the Avery Planter Co. was incorporated, with a capitalization of $200,000, which was increased to $300,000 in 1893 and in 1900 to $1,000,000, when the name was changed to the Avery Manufacturing Co. The increase in capital stock from $200,000 to $1,000,000 was largely taken by the stockholders or employees, and no treasury stock was ever sold at less than par. In the Avery Company, by unanimous agreement, the present stockholders not only take $1,000,000 of the stock but $400,000 in addition thereto, and there will doubtless be a large additional amount of stock taken by the present stockholders and employees. The original founders of the business are now dead, but their heirs retain their holdings of stock, which are represented in the board by G. L. Avery, son of C. M. Avery, who died a little over two years ago.

The business has been prosperous continuously, and has shown an average net yearly earning for 24 years of 14% on the actual paid-in capital The annual sale at the close of the present year is equal to more than the average of the ten leading competitors.

The plant covers a total of 23.41 acres, which real estate stands on the books of the company at its original cost value, while adjacent real estate has advanced from 200 to 400%. The main factory buildings, with warehouses, &c., have a total floor space of 6½ acres. A new steam plant is now in process of erection, which will cost from $40,000 to $50,000, providing the factory with 1,000 horse-power, which is an increase of over 100%. An improved type of trolley system greatly facilitates the rapid handling of both finished and unfinished goods. A sprinkler system, hose houses &c., protect the principal factory buildings. Labor troubles are unknown.

The product includes a large line of traction engines, threshing machinery and all its various attachments, mounted steel water tanks, farm wagons, corn planters and check rowers, riding and walking cultivators, single and double row stalk cutters; in addition, steam plows, traction steam shovels, traction engine dump wagons and heavy hauling wagons have lately been added to the line, and the additional capital is, in the main, to take care of improvements and facilities for the manufacture of these very promising new lines.

The company has branch houses located at Omaha, Des Moines, Kansas City, Minneapolis, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Grand Forks, Fargo and Oklahoma City; favorable connections at Winnipeg, handling the Canadian Northwestern trade; a nice foreign business with Old Mexico, Argentine Republic and Brazil, and an increasing inquiry from such countries as Russia, Hungary, the Philippines, Spain, Turkey and Egypt.

Grand Rapids-Muskegon Power Co., Michigan.—Bonds Offered.—Perry, Coffin & Burr, 60 State St., Boston, are offering for sale a block of first mortgage 5% gold bonds dated March 1 1906 and due March 1 1931, without option of prior payment. Coupons payable March 1 and Sept. 1 in New York or Chicago. First Trust & Savings Bank, Chicago, trustee. A circular says in substance:

These bonds are secured, in opinion of counsel, by a first mortgage on all the property and franchises of the Grand Rapids-Muskegon Power Co., which controls the entire commercial electric lighting and power business in Grand Rapids, the second largest city in Michigan, and supplies electrical energy in Muskegon, Big Rapids and vicinity. Population served, about 140,000.

Capitalization.—Preferred 6% stock, authorized, $1,500,000; issued, $927,000. Common stock, authorized and issued, $1,500,000. Bonds, first mortgage 5s outstanding, $1,810,000.

|---|---|---|---|
| Gross earnings | $246,903 | * Accrued bond interest | $68,693 |
| Net earnings after operating expenses | 186,112 | | $117,419 |

* Annual interest on $1,810,000 bonds now outstandng is $90,500.

The above earnings include the income received by the company through its ownership of stock in the Grand Rapids Edison Co.

These net earnings were more than double the annual interest charge on the present bonded debt, although very little income has been received from the new water power plant of 6,000 kilowatts at Croton, which has only recently been placed in operation. The operation of this new water power increased the hydro-electric capacity of the company by about 200%, and a material increase in earnings should result the coming year

The company was organized in 1904, and has acquired extensive water rights on the Muskegon River within 60 miles of Grand Rapds, permitting of an ultimate machinery installation of about 60,000 horse power, thereby placing the company in a strong stategical position with regard to the territory it serves. The Muskegon River, with a drainage area of over 250 square miles, has its source in a chain of lakes and the flow of the river is remarkably constant. The company's first water power station of 3,000 kilowatts capacity was completed at Rogers, 55 miles from Grand Rapids, in the spring of 1906. Late in the summer of 1907 a second station, of 6,000 kilowatts capacity, was placed in operation at Croton Both of these plants are of a first-class character of construction and are equipped with direct connected water wheels and electrical machinery. Power is transmitted over high tension transmission lines located on private right of way. The undeveloped water rights of the company are constantly becoming more valuable, as the company has a market which should ultimately absorb all of the power it can develop.

The company also controls the Grand Rapids Edison Co. (which does th entire commercial electric lighting and power business in Grand Rapids) through the ownership of its common stock issue—which alone has voting power—and a majority of its preferred stock. The Grand Rapids Edison Co. has generated heretofore a large part of its electricity from steam stations, which from now on will be used as a reserve only, in view of the low cost power now received from the Grand Rapids-Muskegon Power Co. (See Grand Rapids Edison Co. above and compare V. 80, p. 1114; V. 85, p. 43, 407.—Ed.)

Besides serving Grand Rapids, an important manufacturing city of over 100,000, Muskegon, which, including Muskegon Heights, is a rapidly growing city of 25,000 people, and Big Rapids, a prosperous city of 5,000, there are a number of smaller towns which the company will now be in a position to serve, owing to the completion of its second water power plant. The company already supplies power to the interurban railways centering in Grand Rapids, and to a number of large manufacturing plants in the different cities served.

The first mortgage 5% bonds are secured by a first lien on all property, rights and franchises now owned or hereafter acquired. Of the authorized issue of $7,500,000 bonds, $1,810,000 have been issued partly to pay for developing two water powers of 9,000 kilowatts capacity, transmission lines, rights of way, &c., and for the purchase of the stocks of the Grand Rapids Edison Co. We are officially advised that, in addition to the proceeds derived from the sale of these bonds, the stockholders have expended over $1,000,000 cash on the property, which is juniorto the lien of the first mortgage bond issue. The remaining $5,690,000 bonds are held in escrow and can be issued only for 75% of the actual and reasonable cash expenditures for permanent extensions and additions, or, with the consent of the bankers, for expenditures in acquiring, at not exceeding par and interest, bonds of controlled corporations issued under mortgage; but in no event, unless the net earnings of the company for the preceding year, after paying all operating expenses, taxes and proper and reasonable charges for maintenance and renewals, shall have been at least equal to twice the annual charge on all bonds outstanding, including those to be issued. Annual sinking fund, beginning March 1 1910, cash equivalent to 2% of the par value of the bonds outstanding at the date of the respective payments, to be applied to the purchase and redemption of the first mortgage bonds if obtainable at a price not exceeding a 4% interest basis, and otherwise to be invested in other first mortgage bonds approved by the company and the trustee. The bonded debt will thus be steadly reduced.

The franchises, in opinion of counsel, are ample and satisfactory (Compare V. 85, p. 407), and extend well beyond the maturity of the first mortgage bonds. The management is in the hands of prominent local men, some of whom have for a long time been identified with the electric lighting and power business.—V. 85, p. 407.

Great Northern Portland Cement Co.—Sale March 3.—The company's property is advertised to be sold under foreclosure at Baldwin, Mich., on March 3. Upset price, $85,000.

Green Bay (Wis.) Gas & Electric Co.—Bonds, &c.—McDonald, McCoy & Co., Chicago, and the Milwaukee Trust Co., Milwaukee, are offering a block of "first and refunding mortgage 5% gold bonds," dated May 1 1905 (V. 80, p. 2624), issued to reimburse the company for additions and extensions to the property. An advertisement says:

Capital stock, $750,000; bonds authorized, $750,000; in hands of trustee to retire first mortgage, $34,000; in hands of trustee for the acquisition of additional property or for future betterments or extensions on the basis of 90% of the actual cost, $249,000; outstanding, $467,000. The net earnings for the year ending Aug. 31 1907 are twice the interest on the bonds outstanding. (A circular issued a year ago showed for the year ending Aug.31 1906: Gross earnings, $98,434; operating expenses, $58,195; net earnings, $40,239, being, as compared with 1900, an increase of 95% in gross earnings and an increase of 115% in net earnings—Ed.) A circular says:

During the current fiscal year it is expected that only a small proportion of this stock will need to be issued, but the growth of the company will probably require its entire issue within three years, and it is deemed wise to confer power of issue of the whole upon the directors at this time. (The authorized capital stock is $10,000,000, of which on June 30 1907 $7,106,800 was outstanding, $2,189,900 of this being owned by the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. —Moffat & White, bankers, members of New York Stock Exchange, 5 Nassau St., this city, make a very interesting offering of railroad bonds in their advertisement which appears to-day opposite our first page of reading matter. The features of this sale are: $200,000 of Cincinnati Indianapolis St. Louis & Chicago general first mortgage gold 4s, due 1936, at 98½ and interest, yielding 4⅛%; $100,000 New York Central Lines Equipment Trust gold 5s due Nov. 1 1917 at 98½ and interest, yielding 5.20%; and $100,000 Chicago Rock Island & Pacific Ry. Co.'s first and refunding mortgage gold 4s, due 1934, at market price, yielding about 5.05%. Principal and interest of the New York Central Line Equipment Trust 5s are guaranteed jointly and severally by N. Y. C. & H. R. RR. Co., the L. S. & M. S. Ry. Co., the M. C. RR. Co., the C. C. C. & St. L. Ry. Co. and the C. I. & S. RR. Co. The firm also includes seven other issues of bonds yielding from 4.10% to 5.05%. A detailed description of all these securities is given in the advertisement.

—The Hand-Book of Securities, compiled by the publishers of the "Commercial & Financial Chronicle," is now ready. The book contains in a small compass very full information concerning the various railroads and the leading industrials whose securities are dealt in on the New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago Stock Exchanges. It shows their earnings, dividends, &c., for a series of years, present fixed charges, and also the amounts of the different issues of bonds outstanding, their rates of interest, &c. There is also given the monthly range of stocks and bonds for 1906 and 1907, together with a yearly range for four years. Price, a dollar, or seventy-five cents to "Chronicle" subscribers.

—The Home Insurance Co., 56 Cedar St., annual statement will be found in our advertising columns. The assets on Jan. 1 were $20,862,697 and the surplus $6,703,211. The latter figure would have been $7,203,211 were it not that in 1907 a conflagration reserve of $500,000 was created. Dividends calling for $600,000 were paid in 1907. Had the market value of securities at the close of the year 1907 remained the same as at the close of the year 1906, the statement would show assets of $23,352,671 and surplus $9,193,185.

—W. J. MacDonald, President of MacDonald, McCoy & Co., Chicago, desiring to retire from the active management of the business, has sold a large part of his interest to Homer W. McCoy and associates. He retires from the presidency but still holds some of the stock and will continue as a director and in an advisory capacity. Mr. McCoy succeeds him as President and Joseph H. Roy, associated with the company since its incorporation as Secretary, becomes Vice-President and Treasurer.

—The annual statement of the New York Life Insurance Co. published in our advertising pages is interesting reading. President Kingsley points out some of the laws which have been enacted which are a menace to life insurance interests, and calls upon policy-holders to assert themselves through public opinion against such legislation as they did against evils in management in 1905.

—While Tracy & Co. have removed their main Chicago office from the ground floor of the First National Bank Building to the rotunda of "The Rookery," they have established a branch office on the fourth floor (Nos. 454 and 455) of the First National Bank Building, under the management of G. C. Morgan, late Manager of E. H. Gay & Co.'s Chicago office.

—The New York Stock Exchange house of Wrenn Bros. & Co., 24 Broad St., announces that John W. James Jr. has this week assumed personal management of their bond department. Mr. James has had a very extended experience in all branches of the bond business, and was associated with the well-known firm of F. J. Lisman & Co. for the past twelve years.

—"Stock Fluctuations" for 1907, compiled by Frank A. Ruggles, 53 State St., Boston, is now ready. Price, 50 cents.

—H. T. Holtz & Co., Chicago, have issued a general circular on the advantages of gas bonds as investments.

COMMERCIAL EPITOME.

Friday Night, Jan. 17 1908.

The tone of business is more confident even if actual transactions have not greatly increased. The financial situation is evidently on the mend, lower rates for money ruling here, while the Bank of England has reduced its rate of discount to 5%. Prices of commodities have, on the whole, been pretty well maintained. Recent exports of wheat and cotton have been very large.

LARD on the spot has been easier, owing to extreme dulness of trade and a liberal movement of live hogs to market. The receipts of hogs at Chicago of late have been the largest for a number of years past. City 7¾c. and Western 7.95@8.05c. Refined lard has also been weaker and dull. Refined Continent 8.50c., South America 9.15c. and Brazil in kegs 10.35c. Speculation in lard futures at the West has been moderately active with narrow changes in prices. The large movement of hogs has had a depressing effect at times; so has the dulness of the cash trade. Stocks are increasing; but there has been more or less commission house buying and packers have given some support.

DAILY CLOSING PRICES OF LARD FUTURES IN CHICAGO.

| | Sat. | Mon. | Tues. | Wed. | Thurs. | Fri. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| January delivery | 7.80 | 7.72½ | 7.87½ | 7.75 | 7.80 | 7.77½ |
| May delivery | 8.05 | 7.97½ | 8.12½ | 8.02½ | 8.05 | 8.02½ |

PORK on the spot has ruled steady. There has been a fairly active demand, partly for export. Offerings have been light. Mess $14 50@$16, clear $15 50@$16 75 and family $17 50@$18. Beef has been quiet and firm. Supplies are said to be well sold up. Export business has been dull. Mess $10 50@$11, packet $12 50@$13 50, flank $11 50@$12, family $14@$15 and extra India mess $21@$22. Cut meats have been quiet and steady. Pickled shoulders 7@7½c., pickled hams 8¾@9½c. and pickled bellies, 14@10 lbs., 8@8¼c. Tallow has been dull and steady; City 5 7-16@5½c. Stearines have been moderately active and steady; oleo 7⅝c. and lard 9¼c. Butter has been fairly active and firmer; creamery extras 31c. Cheese has been quiet and steady; State, small, colored or white, fine, 15¾c. Eggs quiet and steady; Western firsts 26@27c.

OIL.—Cottonseed has been active and firmer on a rise in the raw material; prime summer yellow 41c. Linseed has been steady, with the buying still limited to small lots. Cocoanut has been quiet and easier; Cochin 8@8½c. and Ceylon 6½@7½c. Olive has been quiet and steady; yellow 65@75c. Peanut has been quiet and steady; yellow 65@80c. Cod fairly active and steady; domestic 42@43c. and Newfoundland 44@45c.

COFFEE on the spot has been dull. Rio No. 7, 6⅛c.@6¼c. and Santos No. 4, 8¼@8⅜c. West India growths have been in moderate demand and steady. Fair to good Cucuta 9⅛@10¼c. Speculation in future contracts has continued on a small scale with narrow fluctuations of prices. There have been no striking developments during the week. Everybody is awaiting developments. The receipts continue light, but this fact has no effect. Uncertainty as to the outcome of the valorization plan keeps the market in a rut.

The closing prices were as follows:

| | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| January | 5.80c. | May | 6.10c. | September | 6.35c. |

Receipts have been light. Rosin has been in fair demand and firm; common to good strained $3 25.

TOBACCO.—Trade in domestic leaf has been somewhat more active of late, owing to the easier money conditions. The purchases, in the main, however, have been confined to small lots to fill immediate needs. As a rule prices have been firm, though some sales have been reported at concessions. Manufacturers of cigars are believed to hold very small stocks of leaf. Havana and Sumatra have been quiet and firm.

COPPER has been quiet and firm; lake 13¾@14c., and electrolytic 13⅝@13⅞c. Lead has been dull and steady at 3.70c. Spelter has been quiet and firmer at 4.45@4.55c. Speculation in cotton for future delivery has perceptibly increased, largely owing to the re-entrance of the speculative leader of four years ago as the representative, according to common report, of a large "bull" pool. Prices, owing in great part to his buying and to small receipts both at the ports and the interior towns, have advanced sharply during the week, though there was some reaction at one time to-day. However an increase in the speculation may be regarded by conservative interests in the trade, it is impossible to disguise the fact that the sudden reappearance of the old-time speculative leader has created a widespread impression, and whether for good or ill has had no small influence in popularizing the "bull" side. In other words, the outside public has shown more disposition to purchase for a rise, evidently hoping for spectacular fluctuations. At the same time other large interests in Wall Street and uptown have apparently also been buying for a rise, and some well-known operators who were recently bearish appear to have retired their short obligations and taken the bull side, at least for a turn. The greater popularity of "bull' speculation rests, however, not merely upon the fact that certain large operators are identified with it, but is also to be traced to the persistent smallness of the receipts at the interior and seaboard markets at the South, some recent increase in spinners' takings, large exports—4,000 bales for export were sold here on Thursday—reports of some improvement in the dry goods trade, and the better financial situation as reflected both in rising values for securities and in lower rates for money both at home and abroad. The Bank of England rate of discount was reduced on Thursday to 5%, and it is also worthy of remark that the prolonged downward drift of quotations for silver seems to have been arrested, the tendency of late indeed apparently being towards some advance, a not unimportant circumstance in its relation to Lancashire's trade with East India. Another factor remains to be mentioned on which the believers in better prices lay considerable stress. This is the firmness of the Southern spot markets. The South endured the strain of the panic remarkably well, and now that things are on the mend its holders of cotton seem more disposed than ever to maintain prices at the highest possible level. It is true, on the other hand, that the spot sales at Liverpool have fallen off sharply, and that failures have been reported of houses directly or indirectly allied with the cotton trade at Birmingham, Selma and Pittsburgh. In this city, however, the financial situation in the dry goods trade is regarded as generally sound, particularly since measures were recently taken to put some large and perfectly solvent department stores on a still more assured basis. To-day prices were irregular, declining at times, owing to profit-taking by bull operators, including, it is supposed, some of the most prominent, but renewed buying later on led to a small net advance for the day. Receipts continued small and spot markets firm. Spot cotton has been more active at rising prices. Middling uplands closed at 12.25c

BREADSTUFFS.

Prices for wheat flour in the local market have shown no important changes during the week as a rule, despite the depression in wheat and the continued dulness of trade. Some grades are slightly higher than they were a week ago. The buying has been confined to small lots, notwithstanding the fact that money conditions are much better. Some of the larger mills at the Northwest have reported an improved demand at times, partly for export; but trade in all sections of the country in the main continues to be reported extremely dull. Rye flour has been dull and easier. Corn meal has been quiet and steady.

Wheat has declined, owing largely to the fact that Europe no longer feels the uneasiness in regard to future supplies that it did a while ago. Argentine, indeed, has been offering its wheat very freely in Liverpool and other European markets at falling prices. In such circumstances the export trade in this country has been on a moderate scale, though within a couple of days it has increased somewhat. The outlook for the winter-wheat crop in Europe is not described as very favorable, but for the time being at least this is ignored. Argentine, with its large offerings, has in fact overshadowed the world's markets. Moreover, beneficial rains have occurred in India, and the condition of growing wheat in this country is reported to be better, owing to snows in various parts of the West. A considerable liquidation of "long" wheat has had a more or less depressing effect at Chicago and elsewhere, and there is an impression that large and concentrated holdings by speculative interests still exist at the West, an idea which makes a good many traders timid about buying. World's exports last week were large, amounting indeed to no less than 8,848,000 bushels, against 7,926,000 in the previous week and 8,672,000 for the same week last year. The receipts at the West have been heavier of late, and foreign markets, as already intimated, have been declining. Broomhall takes the ground that the United States and Canada both reaped very poor crops—crops far below an average, both as regards quantity and quality—though they shipped, it is true, in the first 21 weeks of the season almost as much as some authorities believed would be the total for the entire season. He thinks, however, that there is a likelihood of an expanding demand throughout the world and of diminishing shipments from the United States and Canada, and very small supplies during the rest of the season from Russia, the Balkan States, India and Australia. That would leave Argentina as the only big exporter, and it is beginning to be questioned in some quarters whether it is wise for Europe to rely too much on that one country. That is something for the future to determine. To-day prices opened lower on bearish cables and large Argentine shipments, but advanced later on reports that the green bug has been damaging wheat in Kansas, and general buying.

Indian corn futures have shown no great change. Prices have moved within a narrow range. At times they have felt the effects of the depression in wheat and larger receipts. The weather has been favorable in the main, being cold and clear much of the time. But the crop continues to dry very slowly, and there has been buying at times by strong Chicago interests. Cash houses have also bought, and there has been more or less commission-house buying. Reports are still persistent that much of the crop is of unmerchantable quality. To-day prices advanced with wheat. Bulls gave support and shorts covered.

Oats for future delivery in the Western market have been irregular within narrow limits. Depressing factors have been the weakness of wheat and larger receipts. The cash demand, too, has been light, and there has been scattered liquidation at times, together with more or less short selling. But, on the other hand, the receipts of late have again fallen off, and some prominent Chicago people have been buying. Elevator interests have also bought to some extent and shorts have covered. To-day prices advanced on the strength of wheat, commission-house buying and covering of shorts.

THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

New York, Friday Night, Jan. 17 1908.

Further price revisions have been made in the cotton goods trade during the past week and the market is now getting down to a level where buyers will be expected to operate on a reasonably large scale. Some of the reductions are regarded as drastic, but it is believed that agents have adopted a wise policy in making prices at once as low as they can with raw material at its present level rather than gradually reduce same and thereby cause hesitation in the minds of buyers. New business during the week has not been of large volume, but this is partly accounted for by the fact that jobbers are waiting for reports from their men on the road before seriously entering the market. Requests for the forwarding of delayed shipments are increasing, however, and some surprise is being expressed that these cannot be made more quickly, the extent to which curtailment of production has been carried out not being fully realized by buyers. While this tends to give steadiness to the market, it is stated that cancellations are being freely indulged in by converters and others on technical grounds, and that goods which would have been accepted last year are now being refused. Apart from the fact that prices of goods are now more reasonable, the two most favorable features of the situation are the improvement in collections and in the commercial paper market generally. The advance of practically a cent a pound in the price of cotton has so far been without important influence, but the raw material situation is being carefully watched. Further sales for export to China were made during the latter part of last week, but the export market has since been inactive. The woolen and worsted goods market is still quiet, with the course of prices irregular.

DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS.—The exports of cotton goods from this port for the week ending Jan. 11 were 1,389 packages, valued at $98,816, their destination being to the points specified in the tables below:

| Total | 1,389 | 3,618 | 3,321 | 5,648 |

The value of these New York exports since Jan. 1 has been 232,535 in 1908, against $479,202 in 1907.

Some surprise was expressed at the announcement during the week of a reduction in the price of staple ginghams to 6c., but the market was more or less re-assured when it was learned that dress ginghams for spring would not be affected and that the latter were well booked ahead. Staple ginghams are now on the same level as prints, but the revisions so far have not resulted in any material improvement in business, although a fair buying movement is expected shortly. Kid-finished cambrics have been marked down to 4¾c. to 5c., but so far buyers have shown little interest in these. Wide sheetings have been reduced 7½% and sheets and pillow-cases are also lower, but it is understood that these are well under order and are difficult to obtain for anything like early delivery. There has been little activity in heavy brown drills and sheetings, which remain unchanged at last week's quotations. Some moderate buying has been reported in medium and light-weight sheetings. Last week's export sales to China, which are understood to have amounted to about 4,000 bales, included 3.25 and 4.50 drills and 4-yard sheetings. Coarse colored goods are steadily held but are quiet. Price changes are expected to be announced in prominent lines of bleached goods during the course of the coming week. Print cloths are firmer in sympathy with cotton, but business is inactive.

WOOLEN GOODS.—Some satisfaction has been derived by men's wear woolen and worsted goods agents from the fact that the business in overcoatings has materially improved of late. In fact, to such an extent that if purchasing keeps up at the present rate the total business may be much nearer normal than at one time seemed probable. It is believed that a similar course will be adopted by buyers in the case of suitings and that when they do commence to actively place orders, they will do so in sufficient volume to make up, at least in part, for the time that has already been lost. It must be said, however, that there are no present indications of this for the season to date has been most disappointing. Some comfort is derived from the fact that a number of large Western buyers are due in the market next week and their attitude will be watched with interest. Complaints are heard on all sides that prices are too high, but there seems to be little disposition to make reductions until it is more definitely known what buyers will or will not do. There has been some small duplicate ordering of dress goods for spring, but this has been confined almost entirely to worsteds and manufacturers, of woolen goods regard the season as practically closed. There has so far been little interest shown in fall goods but a noticeable feature has been the showing of some lines of staple worsteds at slight advances over last year's quotations. Woolen goods, however, are expected to be lower.

FOREIGN DRY GOODS.—There has been an improved demand for imported broadcloths and further favorable developments are expected in the foreign woolen and worsted dress goods market shortly. Silk piece-goods and ribbons are slightly easier. Linens are more active and hold steady. Burlaps are quiet with prices unchanged.

CHICAGO STOCK EXCHANGE RECORD OF PRICES FOR 1907.

On page 205 to-day will be found a record of the range of prices on the Chicago Stock Exchange for each month of the calendar year 1907.

"RAILWAY AND INDUSTRIAL SECTION."

A new number of our "Railway and Industrial" Section, revised to date, is sent to our subscribers to-day. The editorial discussions in the same embrace the following topics: "Reducing Operating Costs" and "Railroad Construction and Betterments in 1907."

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

There have been several setbacks adverse to business revival the past week. We do not undertake to determine the extent of depression any of them have possessed. They are simply incidents that have checked affairs more or less. One lot of these might be called political derangements. The chief among them was Bryanism versus the organization of conservative Democracy; another was Governor Hughes's announcement entering the body of Presidential contestants; this was interpreted at first as having a bearing upon the campaign of Secretary Taft, and, as for that, of all other Republican aspirants, even of Senator Knox. These political incidents raise the issue, on the one hand, in a marked way of Socialism and its allied dogmas, and on the other, as was supposed, of Government interference; but Secretary Taft has very cleverly killed the rumor of "Government interference," while opening the gates wide to every State favorite, and thereby removing all friction of that kind.

A further adverse influence has been the declining tendency of trade. This is obvious to all in manufacturing districts; and likewise especially evident in the large classes of miscellaneous enterprises, by a general shut-down and a shortening of time. Another feature which makes that condition highly conspicuous is the large declines in railroad earnings. A fair illustration is the Baltimore & Ohio report for December, showing a loss of $1,065,000 in gross earnings and $165,000 increase in expenses, making the net decline for the month 1¼ million dollars. Nothing could speak more emphatically than that of idle machinery and idle hands and idle merchants—the change which has occurred in 12 months being from the acme of progress to the hush of sleep. We might give another well-known instance of immigration, so active in August, and the reverse movement in recent weeks and months. In a word, everything has turned tail; instead of going ahead there being every where a disposition to back.

Other than the foregoing, the more active influences all appear to have arranged themselves on the side of a more buoyant stock market. This idea finds chief support in the extreme cheapness of money. It is a drug everywhere; at all the New World centres of trade and at all centres in the Old World, and this is not only the outlook as to the present, but likewise the outlook as to the future. It has been urged, however, that there is a factor of weakness in money. It is claimed that the slightest advance towards higher rates in Europe would introduce a feature of confusion in monetary conditions in New York and cause a big outflow of gold to Europe. The basis of this theory is the claim that the $100,000,000 in gold we secured at the time of the panic was borrowed, and the syllogism is perfected by stating that what is borrowed must be returned. There is, however, no evidence whatever of the gold we received having been borrowed, or that it is going to be called back or can be called back on short notice.

It is possible that a moderate amount of gold may be shipped to Europe in the next few months. That is a perfectly natural movement almost every season in the first six months of any fiscal year. After the body of our surpluses of merchandise has been shipped, considerable amounts of gold are very often withdrawn for London or Paris or Berlin, according to which centre shows the largest need or makes the loudest call. This well-known condition and turn of things seems to make it very convenient at this precise juncture to call the gold arrivals in past weeks a loan, and the shipments which may possibly follow the coming six months a return of the loan. There is, however, no truth in the claim that the gold we got was borrowed; the trade conditions gave the tendency to an inflow of gold to America, and the premium on our currency made it possible and profitable. Europe, instead of attacking this movement and seeking to arrest it, permitted it, knowing the state of international trade and knowing Europe's need to hasten our merchandise shipments.

The reader should be careful to recall that our crops were late last summer and the export movement was consequently backward. At the same time, Europe not only wanted the ordinary amount of our breadstuffs, but wanted it forwarded faster; it was also hastening the movement of cotton, Great Britain spinners being especially urgent; they wanted more cotton than the receipts of the previous year to keep their spindles active, as the cotton goods industry was materially larger. While, therefore, gold was flowing to America, the shipping merchants were hastening the movement of the raw material—cotton, wheat, &c.—to supply current and near-by needs. In other words, the gold inflow to America from Europe, although stimulated by our urgent want for currency and incited by our currency premium, the whole affair was nevertheless a natural movement—the want of each party dove-tailing into the need of the other. Corroborating the above statements as to the conditions of our international trade at the period of our inflow of gold, we have the phenomenal figures for November and December 1907, the totals of which we gave last week in our Financial Situation (page 133). Taking the last two months, November and December, together, the exports amounted to the enormous aggregate of $411,653,653, the net export balance reaching $208,821,966.

We venture to mention one other turn in the tide of affairs which, though working in a silent way, may end in a material change for the better in the forces operating to the disadvantage of our industries. We refer to the conservative court decisions reached recently from time to time by State courts and in our Federal circuit courts, disannulling statutes and provisions of United States laws interfering with business methods. Quite a wall of conservative rulings has been thus built up, which later may make for the stability of values. Two of that character of decisions have made the week notable and given to the idea a degree of interest. We refer to the Pennsylvania decision declaring the 2-cent fare bill void as applied to the Pennsylvania RR. because not allowing adequate remuneration, and the decision of the United States District Judge in Kansas City holding State legislation against railroads to be also equally unwarranted.

This week remarkable changes were made in discount conditions abroad and in the monetary situation at home. As the result of the concentration of money in domestic financial institutions, acute congestion developed here. The great foreign banks, which less than sixty days ago were apparently on the eve of raising rates of discount to a higher point, were this week seeking to adjust their official rates of discount to the changed conditions of open markets, as reflected in the extremely low rates for business at their respective centres. Almost every bank in Europe lowered its official figures with the sole exception of the Bank of Germany, following important reductions in recent weeks. It seems probable that in the immediate future even lower rates will be recorded.

Were there any urgency in European requirements for gold, either for the adjustment of balances or for profit, there might be reasonable expectations of a movement of the metal in the near future. Conditions abroad do not, however, indicate such urgency. The price of gold bars in the London bullion market is really below the normal, 77 shillings 9 pence per ounce; the Bank of England has since the beginning of the year accumulated large supplies of the metal by absorbing the greater part of the weekly offerings of Cape gold; this week it seems to have not only satisfied its requirements with about half of the metal that was offered, but to have permitted Continental buyers to secure the remainder. With the exception of a demand upon the Bank to meet requisitions from South America, and the ordinary movement of the metal incident to the Bank's relations with other countries, this institution will not be called upon to respond to any important inquiry for gold until February, when it will effect settlements with the Bank of France for the 15 millions which that Bank advanced to the Bank of England last November. Though the Reischsbank may require gold for the reinforcement of its reserve and may seek to recover part of the metal which was sent hither from Germany last November, there does not appear to be any European centre which is in such need. At London and at Paris discounts are low, and while they are higher at Berlin than at any other important Continental centre, the rate for exchange at the German capital on London is, at the moment, prohibitive of the withdrawal of gold from that centre or from New York as an arbitrage operation. With, therefore, no need for gold that cannot be satisfied, it would seem that we are practically immune from disturbance as the result of gold exports.

The monetary congestion we are now experiencing will probably soon be corrected by the withdrawal from local banks of public deposits and by the retirement or redemption of redundant bank-note currency. In response to the call by the Secretary of the Treasury in December for the surrender of 10% of the deposits of New York depositories, nearly 9 millions were surrendered; under the general requirement which was later issued by the Secretary, the surrenders by all depositories throughout the country were 12 millions. The Department is now recalling approximately 10 millions more from New York banks, and recalls from depositories in other cities will probably add another 10 millions, so that there may be a withdrawal of about 40 millions of the public deposits that are now contributing so greatly to monetary congestion. It was reported early this week that some of the larger banks were about to voluntarily surrender nearly 5 millions of their deposits. The above noted call by the Secretary may make unnecessary a resort to such voluntary surrenders; should the calls not be sufficient to make effective the Secretary's purpose, banks may co-operate with him in efforts to produce the desired result.

Among the favorable court decisions this week, there is one of wide bearing and of extended application. At Kansas City, Mo., in the U. S. District Court, Judge Smith McPherson on Monday of this week declared void and unconstitutional the statute passed by the Missouri Legislature last year forbidding foreign corporations—that is, corporations organized in other States—from transferring suits brought against them from the State to the Federal courts, upon penalty of forfeiture of their charters. Judge McPherson accordingly granted the application of the Rock Island, the Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe and the St. Louis Kansas City & Colorado, the Milwaukee & St. Paul and the Chicago & Alton for an injunction to prevent the Missouri Secretary of State from enforcing the law. This decision is of importance because quite a number of different States passed statutes last year, or the year before, seeking in one way or another to deny access to the Federal courts to foreign complainants, or attempting to prevent them from taking their cases out of the jurisdiction of the State courts. The Missouri statute provides that if any foreign or non-resident railway corporation created and existing under the laws of any other State, and doing a railway business from one point in the State to another point within the State, shall, without the written consent of the other party, remove a case from the State court to a United States court, or shall without such consent institute any suit against a citizen of the State in any Federal court, then the Secretary of State shall revoke the license to do business from one point within the State to any other point within the State, either in carrying passengers or freight; and doing such business shall subject the offender to a penalty of from $2,000 to $10,000 for each offense. The disability is to continue for five years.

In opposing this statute, the companies contended that the law impaired their contracts with the State and denied them the equal protection of the laws. These views are upheld by Judge McPherson. He finds the statute vulnerable on many grounds. He says it is void because it allows a resident company to sue in the Federal court if there is a Federal question involved and denies that right to a non-resident company. The law is also void because it seeks to take from a complainant his right to bring or remove a case to the United States court, a right given by the Constitution and by Act of Congress. Article VI of the Federal Constitution declares that instrument to be "the supreme law of the land, and the judges of every State shall be bound thereby, anything in the Constitution or laws of any State to the contrary notwithstanding." The statute is furthermore de-cleared to be void because it is an effort not only to impair but to repudiate the contract of the State made with the complaining company by which it was induced to come into the State, making investments in large sums, and was authorized to do a State business, but now declaring that it shall not do such business, thereby rendering it insolvent, and taking from the people along its line the use of a railroad for State business, unless the company will surrender, under coercion, rights given it by the National Constitution and valid enactments of Congress.

Judge McPherson said the cases involved more than the question of a license to do business in the State. Each of the companies invested millions of dollars, and they are now in the State and cannot move out. To prevent them from doing business means appropriating their property, or destroying it, without making any compensation therefor. The companies were invited to come into the State, and were told by the laws then in force that they should have the same and like standing as resident companies, with benefits as great and with burdens no greater. But now comes the State leaving to the resident corporations the right to sue or be sued in any court, State or Federal, if there is a Federal question, but penalizing the non-resident corporation if it avails of a right which belongs to it under the Constitution and the statutes, and of which it cannot in any event be deprived by the action of the State.

It is difficult to see why a State, anyway, should object to the transfer of cases from State courts to the Federal courts or to adjudication by the latter, if it feels convinced of the justice of its cause. The truth is, however, that the States are afraid lest the Federal courts shall not sustain them in their measures adverse to corporate interests, and they therefore seek to confine plaintiffs to the State courts in the hope that the latter will be more complaisant. On this account it is matter for gratification that the movement, which last year spread with such rapidity among a number of the States, is receiving a signal check at the hands of the Federal courts.

It may have escaped attention that there are two Public Service Commissions in this State, one covering the Metropolitan District and the other the rest of the State. The first Commission has been so busy stirring up things that many may have lost sight of the existence of the second body of the same kind. Besides this, Commission No. 2 has until lately been quiescent. Now, however, it is emerging conspicuously to view, giving intimations that it does not mean to be outdone by the Commission for the first District in bidding for public favor. Extracts from its annual report have this week been given out, and in these there is a discussion of the question of 2-cent fares for the railroads of this State. The Pennsylvania Supreme Court has just found that 2 cents a mile is not compensatory for the lines of the Pennsylvania Railroad running through unusually populous sections. The Public Service Commission, however, seems to think that a 2-cent rate for the roads of this State, most of which are not nearly so favorably situated as the lines of the Pennsylvania Railroad, would be all right.

It will be recalled that when the New York Legislature last year sought to fix a 2-cent rate by legislative enactment, Governor Hughes vetoed the bill and gave as one of his reasons for doing so that commissions especially created for determining questions of that kind were about to come into being, and to them should be left the matter of deciding whether a 2-cent rate should be put in force. The Public Service Commission for the Second District is now showing that it is equal to the occasion. Listen to what the Commission has to say on this point: "The Commission has come to the conclusion that the use of the rate of 2 cents a mile in the sale of mileage books affords reasonable presumption that the company sells such transportation at reasonable profit; that there is no such distinction between transportation under the mileage book and transportation under an ordinary ticket as to alone justify a conclusion that transportation by ticket cannot be afforded at the same price as by mileage book." If this be a valid argument, we do not see why the Commission should not go a step further and take commutation or excursion rates as the basis and seek to justify a 1-cent rate or even lower.

The Commission seems to have been aware that there was a flaw in its argument—that it would be comparatively easy to pick out instances where it would be palpably evident that a 2-cent rate would not pay—and therefore it goes on to say that "a fair return upon the amount invested in railroad property is not always a controlling factor as to the rate which should be charged." To illustrate its meaning, it adds that "the amount of traffic offered may not have justified construction of the road, and the general public should not be required to pay a fair return in every foolish, ill-considered or speculative railroad enterprise which promoters may enter upon." If this means anything, it means that it is better for a community without railroad facilities to continue without such facilities, relying upon wagon roads and primitive conveyances, rather than invite new roads to come in and allow them to charge paying rates for the service. In other words, it is telling the railroad builder that he must not proceed unless at the very start he is willing to transport passengers for rates as low as those which may prevail over roads having thickly settled communities to draw on for their sustenance. Reduced to that form, the proposition is seen to be an absurdity. The matter would furnish occasion for new disquietude except that the courts all over the country are showing that they will not give support to acts which contemplate appropriating property without proper compensation.

Tabulations have been made public furnishing a summary of the condition of the trust companies of this State under the call of the State Superintendent of Banking for Dec. 19. These aggregates, covering the entire State, have been awaited with no little interest in view of the strain to which these institutions were subjected during the panic in October and November. As expected, the effects of this strain are reflected in a large falling off in deposits and in aggregate resources. The loss is seen to have been of really extraordinary proportions. Under the call for Aug. 22 1907 the resources of all the trust companies in this State footed up $1,363,900,000. On the other hand, under the call of Dec. 19, the aggregate of re sources is found to be only $1,001,800,000, a shrinkage in the sum of no less than $362,100,000 in this period of four months. It is to be said, however, that three companies were obliged to suspend business in the interval—the Knickerbocker Trust Co., the Williamsburgh Trust Co. and the Jenkins Trust Co.—and therefore are missing from the December statement. Mr. Clark Williams, the State Superintendent, states that about $69,000,000 of the shrinkage in resources is due to the elimination of these three companies. This, however, would still leave a falling off of $293,000,000. We agree with Superintendent Williams in his statement that the shrinkage reflects credit upon the trust companies in so far as it evidenced their ability to meet such conditions and unusual demands.

In rendering a decision in the case of the County of Philadelphia, appellant, versus the Pennsylvania RR., appellee, this week, the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania did not pass upon the general constitutionality of the 2-cent fare law enacted by the last Legislature of the Keystone State. The principles laid down in the decision, however, while applied only to the case at bar, are so broad that the inference may fairly be drawn that the Act cannot be enforced against any railroad doing business within the State of Pennsylvania. The opinion calls attention to a clause in the State Constitution which provides that legislation shall do no injustice to the corporators of any company whose charter is thereby altered. The low-fare Act is, therefore, to be read as if there were incorporated in it a clause that "This Act shall not be enforced against any corporation if its provisions shall do injustice to the incorporators thereof." After discussing what constitutes injustice, the opinion holds: "The point of injustice is reached long before confiscation, and to make the word "confiscatory" really appropriate, it must be read, not in the sense of producing actual confiscation, but having an inevitable tendency thereto." The lower court considered passenger revenues entirely apart from the revenue from freight traffic, taking the ground that the passenger revenues standing alone should show a reasonable profit, and holding that the low maximum fare of two cents per mile would work an injustice to the incorporators of the Pennsylvania RR. The decision of the lower court is affirmed by four of the seven Justices of the Supreme Court, the other three delivering dissenting opinions.

Conditions affecting passenger traffic on the Pennsylvania RR. within the State of Pennsylvania are so like conditions on all of the railroads doing business within that State that it is believed the decision just rendered practically applies to all of the railroads of the State, thus making ineffective the 2-cent Act of 1907. The passenger traffic of the Philadelphia & Reading shows a greater density than that of the Pennsylvania, but the passenger business of the two railways, practically in the same territory, is so similar that the reasoning of the Court ought to apply with equal force to the Philadelphia & Reading.

Perhaps it is a truism to say that the most useful lives are the least adventurous and offer the slenderest material to the biographer who merely steps from one stirring incident to another and fails to look beneath the surface for what is most lasting in good influences, although least showy at the time. The occupations in which Morris K. Jesup engaged and the things that he did can be recounted in their bareness as mere incidents in a brief paragraph. After a few years of business training in a locomotive works he went into banking, which remained his exclusive private business until he retired. But the list of his benefactions is a long one, and it would hardly be possible to name any good work in any part of the globe or any public interest which did not find in him a sympathetic friend and active helper. He was administrative head of the Syrian Protestant College in Beirut; he was actively interested in foreign missionary work; he was the head and principal supporter of many exploring expeditions to desert and Arctic regions; every good cause sought him among the first, and none found him cold towards it.

This great city owes him much, for the explorations promoted by him were mainly on behalf of the American Museum of Natural History, which is one of his monuments, the new building of the Chamber of Commerce being another. He was President of the Chamber for eight years, and one of the most influential members from the beginning of his connection with it. He was an ex-officio member of the Rapid Transit Commission. He was President or trustee of a dozen local or national institutions, although the constructive work of his which is most visible, while not bearing visible marks of his own association with it, is probably the Museum of Natural History. But recounting the good works of a useful life by their places and titles is rather a barren form of tribute. Mr. Jesup was not a destroyer, except by the slow process of substituting fertility where there had been barrenness; he did not tear down; he was constructive. He was of the class in which William E. Dodge and Peter Cooper were prominent, although he leaves nothing which will so prominently keep his name in men's mouths as the Cooper Union keeps the name of its founder, although Mr. Jesup also wrought much for science and art.

It is proper—it is even necessary, in order to hold our courage and faith up to the line—that there should be examples now and then that business does not destroy manhood and wealth is not in itself predatory. It is possible to be much occupied and highly successful in business, and yet be full of altruistic and useful work. The popular thing for some years past has been attack, and the quickest response has seemed to come to denunciation of property; yet the idea that wealth is held in trust for mankind prevails more and more.

Immigration into the United States during December turns out, as we indicated a month ago, to have been of quite restricted volume as compared with the corresponding month of 1906, the number of aliens admitted through all ports of the country having been only 66,574, which compares with arrivals of 85,466 in the like period of the previous year. The official statement from which the above results are obtained presents no features calling for special comment, except that the arrivals from all countries from which the great bulk of our immigration is drawn were noticeably less than in either November of the same year or December of the year before. With the December figures at hand we are able to complete the compilation for the calendar year 1907, and it shows a record total of immigration, the twelve months' arrivals of aliens having been 1,334,166, against only 1,215,689 in the year 1906 and 1,055,781 in 1905. On its face, and with conditions normal, these unprecedented arrivals of intending new citizens would indicate a record gain in population in 1907 through immigration. But of late weeks, and in fact for a few months past, conditions have not been normal. For not only has there been recently a decided check in the tide of immigration, but for an even longer period there has been a strong trend of aliens out of the country, and for a number of weeks past the departures have exceeded the arrivals. This has been noticeably so in January, some of the large vessels coming from ports where immigrants largely embark bringing less than 50 all told in the steerage, whereas on the outward voyages there has been insufficient accommodations for all who desired to go. For the first twenty-three days of January the inflow of aliens through the port of New York has been only about 9,000, and future arrivals in the month will not appreciably increase the aggregate. This total looks extremely small compared with the 36,050 that came in in January 1907. During the same twenty-three days the outward movement of aliens from this port has been in the neighborhood of 35,000.

Returning again to a consideration of the results for 1907, it is proper to state that, while immigration exceeded all previous records, so did emigration, with the difference, however, that the proportionate increase in the latter was much the greater. This is indicated by returns we have secured from the Atlantic Passenger Conference, which shows that a total of approximately 560,000 steerage passengers was carried from the Eastern seaboard to foreign ports in the twelve months of 1907, against only 341,368 in the year 1906 and but 246,480 in 1905. Still another item has to be taken into account in determining what has been the relative effect of immigration upon population. We refer to the arrivals of what are classed as non-immigrant aliens. Of these there came in during 1907 an aggregate of 171,302, against 136,305 in 1906. Adding these to the totals of immigrant aliens given above, we have aggregates of 1,505,468 and 1,351,994 respectively, from which should be deducted the emigration already referred to, leaving a net gain in population through immigration of approximately 945,468 in 1907, against 1,010,626 in 1906.

The profitable nature of operations in the cotton-manufacturing industry of Great Britain in 1907 is clearly disclosed by the results cabled to us this week by our London correspondent, and given on a subsequent page in an article on "Cotton Supply and Consumption in Europe." The returns, which cover the calendar year and include 106 cotton-manufacturing companies, show that profits for the twelve months ended Dec. 31 1907 reached £1,323,945, every company from which a report was received sharing therein. The average profit per mill, at £12,490, greatly exceeded anything before recorded. The decidedly gratifying character of the 1907 exhibit of profits stands out most impressively when it is remembered that the financial result of the previous year's operations which were, by the way, considered wholly satisfactory, was but little more than half as great as that now recorded, having been for 104 establishments only £6,657. The best return heretofore made was in 1905 when the average profit accruing to 96 companies was £7,780. The year prior to that the average result was a profit of £275 and in 1903 an average loss of £658 was shown.

It can be accepted as a fact quite well substantiated in connection with the foregoing that the year's outcome in the weaving industry was much less satisfactory than with spinners. Had, therefore, weavers been excluded from the 106 companies referred to above, the average profit would without doubt have been much greater. Where both branches of the business have been carried on conjointly, the situation has been best. But with the margin between yarn and goods so narrow as it has ruled most of the season, the manufacturers who do not also spin—and they are in a large majority—are stated to have had a comparatively poor year, contrasting sharply with 1905-06, when conditions were reversed, the weaver reaping greatest profits.

The very satisfactory conditions that have prevailed in the cotton-goods industry of Lancashire of recent years have accrued largely to the benefit of the operatives, as, under a clause of the Brooklands agreement applying to the wage question, they have since 1899 secured advances approximating 18%. Yet at the moment, as pointed out in a cablegram to us ("Chronicle" Jan. 11, page 117), a serious lockout is threatened, to begin to-day, owing to an attempted breach of the agreement, which expressly stipulates that no demand for increased wages shall at any one time exceed 5%, nor be made within twelve months of the last previous adjustment. To enforce the demand for increases of from 12½ to 17½% in the wages of the cheaper female laborers on ring spindles (a class who had participated in all previous advances), a system of small strikes was inaugurated. But the owners, far from being coerced by that method of proceeding, have given notice that unless the strikes end by to-morrow, a lockout will be in force. Up to the time of going to press we have no advice indicating what is likely to be the outcome, although by cable yesterday evening it was reported that at a conference held earlier in the day no adjustment was reached and it was not known whether there would be further negotiations. Unless the trouble is adjusted by a withdrawal of the unwarranted demands, a prolonged and disastrous struggle, involving some 40,000,000 spindles and over a half million looms, is feared.

As stated above, there were quite general reductions in European bank rates this week. The Bank of England reduced its official rate of discount from 5%, to which it was lowered last week, to 4%. The Bank of France reduced its rate from 3½%, which was recorded last week, to 3%. The Bank of the Netherlands lowered its rate from 5% to 4%, the Bank of Denmark from 8% to 7% and the State Bank at St. Petersburg from 7½% to 7%; the rate at the Imperial Bank of Germany remains unchanged at 6½, to which it was reduced Jan. 13 from 7½%. It is announced, however, by cable that the Central Committee of the Bank will probably reduce the official rate of the institution to-day (Saturday) to 5½%. The most remarkable feature of last week's bank statement was the increase in surplus reserve to $22,635,475, the highest recorded since Jan. 28 1905. This increase was the result of a gain of $26,185,800 in cash, less an increase of $9,634,375 in reserve requirements; so that the surplus reserve was augmented $16,551,425. Loans were expanded $9,528,100 and deposits increased $38,537,500. It is expected that this week's statement will show a further important gain in cash and in surplus reserve. It was officially stated during the week that the Clearing House loan certificates, which at the end of December amounted to nearlp88½ millions, had been reduced to about 7 millions, and that cancellations thereof were proceeding so rapidly that it was confidently expected that all of such certificates would be retired within a fortnight.

Secretary Cortelyou announced on Thursday that he had begun to recall public funds from the depository banks, owing to the great improvement in financial conditions throughout the country. The first call, he said, had been made on the New York banks for approximately 10 millions, which sum is in addition to a like amount that was recalled after Dec. 26. The Secretary further announced that a general call for moderate amounts of deposits in banks at other cities will be made at an early date. It has been reported that some of the banks in this city had, with the object of contributing to the relief of monetary congestion, decided voluntarily to surrender part of their public deposits; the action of the Secretary in issuing a call for such deposits may make unnecessary these proposed voluntary surrenders.

The surprising increase in the surplus reserve of the New York banks, as shown by last week's statement, large disbursements by the Sub-Treasury on account of pensions and other obligations usual at this season, and evidences of still further receipts of cash by the local banks from their correspondents in the interior, seemed to contribute to an acutely congested condition of the money market this week. The decline in rates for money on call below 2%, which is the rate usually paid by banks on balances of trust companies, induced many of these companies to leave undisturbed such balances, which they could not remuneratively employ, thus augmenting the volume of money offered by the banks. The inquiry was not sufficient to absorb the offerings, stock speculators generally selling instead of buying, and the tendency of the market for call money was downward throughout the week. Though, coincidently with easy rates for money on call, there were comparatively free offerings of funds for fixed periods at material concessions, transactions were few; none were reported for short dates, borrowers being disposed to rely upon day-to-day offerings, and the business was chiefly in contracts of from four to six months. There was a good demand for commercial paper from local and country institutions, and also an inquiry for short-term corporation notes and for some of the recent issues of railroad bonds.

One feature of the week was the exercise by the Morgan syndicate of bankers of their option to take another installment of the 50 millions 6% New York City revenue bonds. As is known, the syndicate originally took 30 millions of the bonds with an option on 20 millions more. The latter option was extended prior to Jan. 1 to the 15th of February, and the remarkable improvement in the bond market ensuing after the new year opened prompted the syndicate to take up the above-noted extended option, and the bankers have now pvrchased altogether 48 millions out of the total of 50 millions, leaving only 2 millions still to take.

Money on call, representing bankers' balances, loaned at the Stock Exchange during the week at 3% and at 1½%, averaging about 2%; banks loaned at 1½% and trust companies at 2¼% as the minimum. On Monday loans were at 3% and at 2% with the bulk of the business at 3%. On Tuesday transactions were at 2½% and at 2% with the majority at 2¼%. On Wednesday loans were at 2½% and at 1¾% with the bulk of the business at 2%. On Thursday transactions were at 2¼% and at 1½% with the majority at 2%. On Friday loans were at 2% and at 1½% with the bulk of the business at 1¾%. Time loans on good mixed Stock Exchange collateral were quoted at 4% for thirty to sixty days with no business for the, reasons above noted; loans were made at 4½% for ninety days to four months, and some contracts on industrial security were placed for these periods at 4¾%; the rate for six months was 5%. Commercial paper was in good request at 5½% for sixty to ninety day endorsed bills receivable, 6@6½% for prime and 6½@7% for good four to six months' single names.

The Bank of England rate of discount was reduced this week from 5%, which was recorded last week, to 4%. The cable reports discounts of sixty to ninety day bank bills in London 3⅝%. The open market rate at Paris is 3% and at Berlin and Frankfort it is 4½@4¾%. According to our special cable from London, the Bank of England gained £1,541,537 bullion during the week and held £37,332,963 at the close of the week. Our correspondent further advises us that the gain was due mainly to receipts from the interior of Great Britain. The details of the movement into and out of the Bank were as follows: Imports, £559,000 .(of which £50,000 from Singapore, £24,000 from Turkey and £485,000 bar gold bought); exports, £195,000 (wholly to South America), and receipts of £1,178,000 net from the interior of Great Britain.

The foreign exchange market was strong this week, influenced by a good demand for remittance and by limited offerings of bankers' and commercial bills. The comparative scarcity of the latter caused some surprise in view of the fact that the record of exports of commodities and of merchandise from this port since the beginning of the year shows large increases, which should, it would seem, be reflected in corresponding gains in the volume of commercial exchange. One explanation offered for the small supply of such bills is that exports of commodities have been drawn against, in some cases, in advance of their actual shipment. It is interesting to note that, since the fast "turbine" European steamships have been put in commission, the foreign exchange market has been, at intervals, affected by preference being given by remitters to the faster boats that are scheduled to arrive at their destination, or to deliver their mails, somewhat in advance of the day on which the slower boats arrive, though they sail a day or two before the "turbines." This week, for example, buying of exchange for the mid-week steamers was deferred until Friday because remittance could be made by the Mauritania, which sailed on the following day and would arrive out as soon as would Thursday's vessel. The demand for exchange for remittance, which was more or less urgent this week, was largely due, as has been the case recently, to requirements for settlements, mercantile and otherwise, which had been deferred earlier in the year, when they matured, because of the monetary tension then prevailing. When such tension relaxed, and money became more abundant, these deferred settlements were effected, and now there appears to be quite general liquidation of such obligations, stimulating the inquiry for exchange. The sharp rise in sight bills this week to rates closely approaching those at which gold would be exported, under normal conditions, gave color to rumors that shipments of the metal to Europe might be made in the near future, though it was regarded as probable that the requirements for gold would be satisfied by the shipment of about 20 millions.

Exchange was quite strong on Saturday of last week, and, compared with the previous day, long was 40 points higher at 4 8275@4 83, short 40 points at 4 8670@4 8680 and cables 20 points at 4 8725@4 8730. On Monday long rose 15 points to 4 8310@4 8315, short 10 points to 4 8685@4 8690 and cables 20 points to 4 8745@4 8750. On Tuesday long advanced 10 points to 4 8320@4 8325, while short declined 5 points to 4 8680@4 8685 and cables 15 points to 4 8730@4 8735. On Wednesday long rose 10 points to 4 8325@4 8335, short 25 points to 4 8695@4 8710 and cables 20 points to 4 8745@4 8755. On Thursday the market was not especially influenced by the reduction in the rates of discount by the Bank of England and the Bank of France, these having been foreshadowed by the low unofficial rates; the tone was strong with an advance of 15 points for long to 4 8340@4 8355, of 5 points for short to 4 8690@4 8715 and of 5 points for cables to 4 8750@4 8760. The market was firm on Friday at an advance of 45 points for long, of 20 points for short and of 5 points for cables.

a The division (between gold and silver) given in our table of coin and bullion in the Bank of Germany and the Bank of Belgium is made from the best estimate we are able to obtain; in neither case is it claimed to be accurate, as those banks make no distinction in their weekly returns, merely reporting the total gold and silver; but we believe the division we make is a close approximation.

b The Austro-Hungarian Bank Statement is now issued in Kronen and Heller instead of Gulden and Kreutzer. The reduction of the former currency to sterling Pounds was by considering the Gulden to have the value of 50 cents. As the Kronen has really no greater value than 20 cents, our cable correspondent in London, in order to reduce Kronen to Pounds, has altered the basis of conversion by dividing the amount of Kronen by 24 instead of 20.

d The total of gold in the Bank of Russia includes the balance held abroad—that is, the amount held for Russian account in other Continental banks. The proportion so held, and consequently duplicated in the above statement, is about one-quarter of the total.

INTER-RELATION OF BANKING AND BUSINESS

All the threads of business are tied together in the bank. In this day a man no more thinks of doing business without keeping a bank account than he would think of doing so without a man in his employ. And not only is the bank the place of deposits but it is the place of loans. The business man leans on the strength of the bank for his power to carry on his business. Never is this fact more true than in time of panic.

We have learned some valuable lessons from the panic just passed. We have learned, first, that the bank is a great credit-making institution, capable of carrying on the business of the country with the use of very little cash. Clearing house receipts have taken the place of cash in the payment of balances between the banks. Cashiers' checks have served the bank with its customers instead of cash. And customers' checks have crossed and neutralized each other in the bank, have transferred book credits, and enabled individuals to pay for their domestic wants, and all without cash. In addition to this, there have been few regular loans called by the bank. Business has gone on, and all because of the good work done by the banks of the country—a work performed for months with no profit to themselves. There is no greater proof of the efficiency of the bank and its helpfulness than is to be found in the brief history of the last few months. The banks did not create the panic and they have survived it. Business should forever feel that the bank is its mainstay. There is no other institution ever devised by man that is able to perform this work. The bank stands alone in the nature and extent of its work and power.

How vast and complex is the business of the country. It uses the bank everywhere. True, it grants the bank the small balances, which, in ordinary times, serve the purpose of furnishing the cash necessary to pay remainder-debts between dealers. True, this is given without charge, in many of the small banks, and is sold in many of the larger banks. To buy the use of money is to put a new face on its acceptance as a deposit. The country banker, in the panic, does not stand on quite the same plane with the city banker. The latter has hired all the money he uses. He is not amenable to the charge of being favored. It is himself that grants the favor. But aside from this, the small balances furnish the fund on which credit issues and out of which payments are made. But how vast is the business of the country which uses this small foundation, a basis for that superstructure of credit which turns the wheels of trade everywhere. For most men who have to do with the bank as business men, most men who handle the commerce of the country, are borrowers. But we may pause even before this is reached and consider this depositor.

He puts his money in the bank in driblets and asks that it be taken care of, then asks that it be sent to the one he owes in some distant city, and his request is complied with by the writing of a draft which transfers his money to the place designated, no matter where, and in any amount. What a vast saving service this is to the business man. One can hardly think now—so common is this feature of the bank's work—one can hardly think of using money to pay bills with. If the bank performed no other function than this, it would have ample justification for the use of its depositors' money and for its own continued existence. But it has many other functions equally beneficent.

It loans money at any time and in any amount to those who need it, the business men of the country. The importer gets it in order to bring the foreign products to our shores. The wholesaler, that he may disperse these goods everywhere. And the retailer, that he may buy them as they are needed by the men and women who toil for their bread. And then the miner borrows on the strength of his indomitable courage and perseverance and his power to construct machinery to gather the ore from the dark depths of the earth. And the manufacturer uses this money to make the thousand and one articles which are in daily use and which have become a part of life. And yet, all this credit-making power is made by the peculiar nature of the business conducted by and through the bank. Credit is based on credit. And the business man who does not use the bank thus is not an economizer of his resources. For it is often better to borrow for a short time than to invest too much capital in an enterprise. Here stands the bank always ready to furnish money for legitimate business, always in the same place, always furnishing the money for the least market price, and saving the borrower from the toils of the usurer.

And after this vast and intricate net-work of interests is established, the bank, by its power of maintaining the man whose business meets with reverse from any cause in nature or in man, is able to sustain and save. It comes to the rescue of the unfortunate; it provides a way for the energetic. And business leans with confident security on the great banking system. It is for this reason that legislation must look before it leaps when it comes to making laws governing the operation of banks. There is no doubt that business will demand justice for these institutions once there is a heavy hand laid upon them.

But business may use the bank to the bank's disadvantage. And this is what we are observing now in the matter of the late panic. Business commands and the bank serves. It is impossible for the bank, often, to refuse. The bank cannot always ask what use is to be made of the credit granted. It is supposed to be for legitimate business enterprise. But men have often good securities which they are willing to pledge for a bad business. There is no way in which the bank can meet this condition. Again, when business is on the increase, one want begets another. The tide flows until it ebbs. And at the flood tide there is such a relation between business and banks that one cannot be affected without affecting the other. Thus, if men use their business ability to create new enterprises and foster old ones until they push them past the wants and needs of the people, there must come an inevitable halt. This is the time when over-expansion of business means also over-expansion of credit. The collapse of business must mean the curtailment of credit, and this in turn means a still greater curtailment of business. So that business and banking maintain the same level as to volume, and much the same level as to enterprise, and even the kind of enterprise, much as, in two unequal cisterns connected by a tube, the water will stand at the same gauge in each.

When, therefore, the American people trade too hard and too long and over-reach the wants and needs of their customers, there comes a re-action which makes for a lower level. Bank deposits decline with declining prices, and there is a general tie-up all along the line of industry and merchandising. The manufacturer and miner feel the effects early; and the farmer, though he finds the prices of his products decline rapidly, is seriously affected last and least of all.

It follows that business, in its character and extent, makes and unmakes the bank, as the bank in turn makes and unmakes the business. They are so inextricably interwoven that what affects one affects the other. And it is with this in view that legislation directed to either must look out for the other. If the banking system of the country is crippled by unwise legislative restrictions, it will in the same degree cripple general business. And the conduct of the business of the country by the citizenship thereof will cripple or sustain the banks. Therefore, with the reciprocal relation there arises a reciprocal duty. The bank as an integer is to be made to serve the business. It ought to have that flexibility that will enable it to do so. It is the means of carrying on the new and sustaining the old. And the general business of the country should have such laws placed around it that its paper representatives will be good to the bank for what they declare, and the conduct of the business should be such as that it will not impair that which is said to be value in these paper representatives. This means that the banks and the corporate stocks of the country are so mutually dependent on each other that one cannot be affected without affecting the other. It is all right to demand on the part of man-made law that the corporation shall do this and that, but unless the demand is in accordance with the life of the institution according to the natural law of service, there will be no good effect follow the law. To do this is a vast undertaking. It means that the natural laws of business are coming to be known as stronger than any artificial laws that Congress can make. These natural laws cannot be evaded. The others can. The natural law acts instantly though it may not be observed for years. The other law often serves as a shield to hide behind.

We are beginning to understand these principles. You may hammer a business to death by your inconsiderate talk, but when you cure one evil this way you make another far more harmful. Men are now talking of confidence. And it is the spiritual law of all business, if we may use the term. Confidence in the ability and honor of men, confidence that business is for service as well as profit, confidence in the continued tireless activity of those who plan and toil, confidence in the right of man to own that which he can honestly acquire in the vast marts of the world, that which fate sends to him in the mine, that which his own unaided genius brings into existence in the discovery and control of natural law. On this business is built; on this credit is founded. And he who shatters this makes for disorder no matter what his motive. It is all right to punish those who disobey the laws of the land. But they will meet their doom sooner or later under the operation of the natural law, which is as fixed as the laws of planetary motion, and business must wait on this. To hammer the railroads, as the States and nation have been doing, is but to invite a disaster that will recoil on all business. If there is watered stock, if there is the buyer who is willing to take his chances as a non-participating stockholder in something he does not understand and cannot control, then there will be personal loss to the end of time. But it is better that these few suffer in the natural way than that all others suffer by reason thereof. Business makes its own laws. They are immutable laws, founded in right and justice, as it is interwoven with the powers and destiny of man. And there is no other salvation. This is the end. The banker and the business man are woven together by the coils of a fate that lies in the constitution of things—helping and harming each other, as the case may be.

THE BATTERY TUNNEL AND SUBWAY POLICY.

The tube or tunnel under the East River, connecting Manhattan Island with the Borough of Brooklyn, has been open only two weeks and is already overtaxed at certain portions of the day. This is a capital illustration going to show how traffic in this city increases with the increase in the facilities to take care of the same. The tunnel is an extension of the subway system in this borough of the Interborough Rapid Transit Co., and by means of it passengers coming from the residential districts way up town are carried without change of cars and without a break of any kind to the Brooklyn City Hall; in the course of two or three months they will be carried still further to the Long Island RR. Station at Atlantic and Flatbush avenues in Brooklyn. In other words, the subway, spreading out under the surface of Manhattan Island, now has its terminus in Brooklyn.

That this new transit development is a great convenience is evident from the way its facilities are being availed of. The opening of the tunnel may truthfully be declared to be the greatest single event in the history of Brooklyn. It makes Brooklyn for the first time a part of Manhattan Island in the real sense of the word. There are two bridges now across the East River, connecting Manhattan with Brooklyn, and a third one is being built. But these bridges, notwithstanding the advantages they give in the way of transit facilities between the two boroughs, simply mark the dividing line between them. The Brooklyn trolley and the Brooklyn elevated lines run across the first one of these bridges, but they go no further than the New York end of that structure. Over the second, or Williamsburgh Bridge, no elevated trains have yet begun to run, but both the New York and the Brooklyn trolley lines travel across. In neither case, however, do the trolleys go further than the end of the bridge, the New York lines finishing their journey at the Brooklyn end and the Brooklyn lines at the New York end.

Through the new tunnel a great change is worked. The river no longer furnishes a dividing line. All physical barriers are removed and real through transit is furnished. Distance is practically annihilated. It is now possible to go from the City Hall in New York to the City Hall in Brooklyn in seven minutes, where before fifteen to twenty-five minutes was required—depending upon whether the bridge was used or the ferries. As another indication of the saving in time effected, it may be pointed out that, in connection with the subways of Manhattan Island, the journey from the Brooklyn City Hall to the Grand Central Depot at Forty-second St. can now be made in sixteen minutes. Before the subway was built, and when the elevated lines on this side, as well as on the other side, had to be used, forty to forty-five minutes had to be allowed for the journey if one wanted to be sure to catch his train on the Central, the Harlem or the New Haven road.

Most important of all, the journey can now be made or a single fare of five cents, where before it was absolutely necessary to pay two fares—and it is not so very long ago (that is, before the Brooklyn elevated roads absorbed the toll charge across the bridge) since an extra three-cent fare had to be paid to cross the bridge, making the cost altogether to get to the Grand Central thirteen cents. The Interborough Company charges only a single five cent fare for carrying passengers over any portion of its lines. A resident at Fordham, on the East Side, can come through the Borough of the Bronx, through the tunnel under the Harlem River, through Manhattan Borough the entire way, then through the new East River tunnel on to the Long Island RR. Station at Flatbush Ave. all for five cents. Similarly on the West Side a passenger on the payment of only five cents can travel from 230th St. in New York all the way to the Long Island RR. Station in Brooklyn. The distance in this last instance is no less than 16.6 miles.

We go thus at length into the details in order to show what a beneficent arrangement, from every standpoint, our underground system of railways is proving to be. One would suppose that with such a practical demonstration of its advantages and benefits —for though the tunnel extension has only just been opened, the utility of the Subway proper has been in evidence for some years—the whole community would have joined in encouraging the further construction of such roads. Far from it. Instead we have been throwing all sorts of obstacles in the way of the building of additional lines. Our legislators have vied with the sensational press in devising plans for imposing new and burdensome restrictions and limitations, rendering impossible the construction of more of these lines, or at least making capitalists unwilling to assume the risks incident to enterprises of that kind. As a consequence, when the city last year invited bids for certain new subway routes, laid out with great care and at much expense, its offerings failed to elicit a single proposal.

No doubt some objector will arise and declare that the existing Subways were created entirely with city money, the city having issued bonds in aid of the work. Even if this were a true statement, it could not avail as an argument, seeing that last year, in submitting new routes for acceptance, the city offered precisely the same kind of aid, and yet could tempt no one to come forward and assume financial responsibility for the undertakings. As a matter of fact, however, it is not true that the city provided the entire capital needful to make the underground roads going concerns. It issued bonds to pay for the bare cost of construction; the cost of electrical equipment and certain other items had to be provided by the company. Two years ago in a public statement the expenditure for electrical equipment up to that time was given as $25,000,000. This is entirely independent of the cost of the Brooklyn extension. In this last case the city's contribution defrays only a fraction of the mere cost of construction. This Brooklyn extension covers the whole of that portion of the line from the New York City Hall to the Long Island R. R. Depot. The contractors agreed to build this portion of the system with city aid of no more than $2,000,000, and that is all the city bonds that have been issued on this portion of the route. The company is entitled, however, to additional aid for some extra work it assumed in connection with four-tracking the lines in Fulton Street, Brooklyn; if the full claims in that respect are allowed, it will get another $2,000,000 from the city, making, however, only $4,000,000 of city aid for this Brooklyn extension, whereas the cost to Flatbush Avenue will aggregate $14,000,000, if not more.

Thus the situation, as far as this Brooklyn extension of the Subway is concerned, is that in the main it was built with private capital. Under the conditions prevailing to-day not only could the city not hope to have another tunnel extension built upon the same favorable terms, but it could hardly hope to have any set of capitalists engage in the work at all. There were three main considerations which induced the Interborough Company to enter into the contract for the present Flatbush Avenue extension on terms so extremely favorable to the city. (1) Faith in the success of such a tunnel and extension as a transit proposition; (2) the fact that only reasonable conditions and restrictions were imposed, or at least only such as would not militate against the financial success of the scheme, therefore allowing a reasonable compensation for the risks incurred and assuring a good return on the actual money investment; and (3) a belief that the promoters would receive decent treatment at the hands of the community whose welfare they were advancing. As regards the first of these three inducements, expectation has not been disappointed. As an efficient means of transit which the traveling public would patronize, the tunnel extension is an unqualified success, justifying the faith of its promoters. In that regard their judgment has not been mistaken. This consideration, too, remains as a valid argument in favor of further Subway routes of the same kind.

In the other two particulars, however, the situation has wholly changed. Instead of the promoters receiving credit for their enterprise and farsightedness, instead of gratification being expressed over the fact that their judgment had been vindicated and that they were receiving the rewards from a financial standpoint to which they were so justly entitled, they have been made the subject of unwarranted and unlimited abuse. We can recall no great enterprise where the men who put their money at stake in carrying it through have been so systematically villified. Up to this day a certain morning and evening paper never refers to the Belmont syndicate in its editorial columns except in the most offensive way. Yet before the Belmont people came forward and assumed the responsibility for carrying through the Subway system on Manhattan Island, no one could be got to undertake the work of building an underground road on any reasonable terms. The city authorities had been discussing the subject for twenty years without accomplishing anything. Even in the case of the very project which eventuated in the completed system of to-day there was no assurance up to the very last minute that the city would receive any bid having behind it the necessary financia responsibility and backing, and if John B. McDonald, the contractor, had not the day before the date for the opening of bids succeeded in enlisting the support of Mr. August Belmont, an underground system of transit might even now be still a thing of the future.

But the moment the underground system was installed and opened, and demonstrated an assured success, malevolent imps by the thousands arose and voiced all sorts of objections. We were told that it was the city's money which had built the roads and that the promoters had advanced no funds of their own —a statement which we have already shown to be false, the original $35,000,000 of bonds issued by the city covering merely the cost of building the Subway, and no portion of the $25,000,000 and more required for equipment. The men whom the community only a few years previously, when sorely in need of new transit facilities, had heralded as public-spirited citizens, now found themselves branded as public enemies, and their names held up to obloquy. Even a Supreme Court Justice in Brooklyn joined in the movement. All this, of course, had its effect. The Legislature passed new laws reducing the term for which franchises for rapid transit roads could be granted, and imposed other drawbacks and limitations. The city authorities, on their part, goaded on by public criticism, inserted in the proposed contract a host of other requirements, limitations and qualifications. The upshot was the complete failure of the offers last year, to which we have already referred, of various additional Subway routes in this city. The length to which opposition to the financiers who have done so much for the city in this respect has gone is well shown in the Subway route laid out for Brooklyn, and bids for which it is expected will shortly be invited. The Brooklyn extension just opened, as we have seen, carries the Interborough Rapid Transit system as far as the Long Island RR. Depot at Flatbush Ave. The natural thing to do would be to install a Subway system from that point down to Coney Island. A Subway through that part of Brooklyn could be built very cheaply, since digging would be almost entirely through a sandy soil and would not encounter rock or large structures of any kind. But it was argued that, under such a policy, this piece of new Subway might fall into the hands of the Belmont people —which must at all hazards be avoided. So an entirely new and independent Subway route was devised, extending all the way back to the Manhattan bridge, thereby greatly adding to aggregate cost; and the latest advices are that the sections of this new route lying between the Bridge and the Long Island RR. Depot and on to about 40th St. are to be built first, leaving the Coney Island end to be built last.

We know, of course, that the charge is that the Belmont people made large profits out of the construction and operation of the existing Subway routes. We have no information on that point. Nor is the matter of any consequence. But suppose they did make large profits, and are receiving good returns on their investments from the daily operation of the roads, is not the entire community of the two boroughs also receiving large profits and daily accruing dividends in reduced fares, reduced time in making the journey, and in better accommodations and facilities of travel than have ever previously existed?

Since the failure last year of the city to receive bids for its new Subway routes in Manhattan, there has been one other development of importance. Governor Hughes's Public Service Commission has come into being, adding another highly disturbing agency. This omnipotent little State Commission has this week transmitted its report to the Legislature covering the six months of its operations from July 1 to Dec. 31. The Commission, it transpires, did not have time to draw up this report itself, which is not strange, considering the numerous duties and functions imposed upon it, and therefore hired a special agent to do the work. This agent's bill of $100 a week for eight weeks Comptroller Metz now objects to paying. But let that pass. In this report the Commission, thus speaking by proxy, prides itself in having added to the capacity of the transportation companies under its control a total of 15,000,000 seats annually. We have no desire to dispute these figures. The Commission has issued numerous orders and we are sure these orders have as far as possible been complied with. By reference to the report of the New York State Railroad Commissioners for the year ending June 30 1906 (the figures for a year later, to June 30 1907, are not yet available), the aggregate of passengers carried in New York and Brooklyn by the surface railroads and the underground and elevated lines is seen to have been 1,518,672,807. The 15,000,000 additional seats which the Public Utilities Commission for this district claims to have added constitutes, therefore, an addition of only 1%—and this doubtless would have come anyway, if not a great deal more.

The Commission, however, does not refer to one other result of its activities and work—the putting of the entire system of street railway lines in New York City in receivers' hands. We do not mean to say that other causes have not contributed to the bankrupting of the street railway lines on Manhattan Island. If these lines had not been burdened with excessive fixed charges, the receivership doubtless might have been averted. But the creation of the Commission, with the assumption of work by it, constituted the finishing touch. We are among those who think that Mr. Belmont made a grievous mistake in joining his splendid rapid transit system with Thomas F. Ryan's unfortunate combination of street surface lines. But it is to be remembered that it was not reserved for the Utilities Commission to make the discovery that the Metropolitan Street Railway Co. was a water-logged concern. That fact was well known and well established before.

It is also to be remembered that, though the Metropolitan Street Railway was proving a great burden, the Belmont interests had been faithfully taking care of the same and were at the time the Utilities Commission was created proceeding loyally to make provision for the future needs of this system. In May of last year the Interborough-Metropolitan Co. (which holds control of the Interborough Rapid Transit Co., or Subway enterprise, and the New York City Railway, to which latter the Metropolitan Street Railway is leased) borrowed $3,000,000 on 6-months' notes and arranged for the issue of $15,000,000 3-year 5% collateral trust notes. Of this $15,000,000, $8,000,000 was to be for the Metropolitan Street Railway. A little later, however, there came the investigations of the Utilities Commission into the street railway and Subway undertakings, with special probing into the issue of collateral or short-term notes. In the critical times through which the country was at that moment passing it was difficult enough to float even high-grade, gilt-edged corporate securities, and the Interborough-Metropolitan $15,000,000 issue could not be floated at all. Suspension of dividends on Interborough-Metropolitan preferred stock and bankruptcy and receivership for the Metropolitan Street Railway lines followed as inevitable consequences. Receivership at first applied simply to the New York City Railway and its lessor company, the Metropolitan Street Railway. But the latter is made up of many sub-companies, and now these sub-companies are being placed one after another in the hands of separate receivers, and disruption of the entire system is threatened. The Third Avenue RR. is one of the lines for which separate receivers have been appointed, and the newspapers tell us that under these separate receiverships it is quite likely that free transfers between the main lines and the crosstown and connecting lines will be cut off.

Let the reader consider, therefore, whither all this is leading—let him look upon these two pictures: One, the Subway lines—conceived at a time when it was the policy to foster and promote the construction of rapid transit lines—carrying passengers for a five-cent fare all the way from 230th St., Manhattan, to the Long Island RR. Depot in Brooklyn, with an enormous saving in time, too. Then look upon the opposing picture and contemplate the result of the new policy, under which transit enterprises are hampered and harassed in every conceivable way, and where as a consequence we are not only getting no new transit facilities but, furthermore, stand in danger even of losing the privileges which we now enjoy in the shape of free transfers.

It is a great blessing, of course, to have the one tunnel to Brooklyn which we now enjoy. But two weeks' experience of the advantages and conveniences and saving in time made possible in that way shows that we ought to have many more. The old Rapid Transit Board laid out several of such tunnels. There would be no difficulty at all in getting the necessary capital for this purpose, and for the purpose of building additional Subway routes to connect with the same, both in Manhattan and in Brooklyn. The sum required may be $300,000,000 or $400,000,000, but the money will be forthcoming if only the terms are made sufficiently liberal and the promoters can feel that they will be treated fairly and not held up to public ignominy for investing their money in a perfectly legitimate way. We see the Public Service Commission in its report suggests amendments to the existing Rapid Transit laws to facilitate Subway construction. These should receive such consideration as they may merit. The important fact to remember, however, is that our whole policy must be changed. Half-way measures will not suffice. The Belmont interests have built still another tunnel under the East River—the one connecting Manhattan Island with Long Island City in Queens County—and this tunnel is ready for operation. Yet its opening is delayed pending the making of satisfactory terms with the city.

We hear much now-a-days about amending the State Constitution by enlarging the debt limit, so as to allow the city to provide the means itself for building the additional tunnels and Subways so much needed. This at best means long delay. A better plan would seem to be to pass a law allowing private capital to come in, making the inducements broad enough and liberal enough to attract it. Only a few points need to be safe-guarded. If the fare is right and the city is assured of some return at the end of a term of years in consideration of the value of the franchise, everything else can be yielded in order to get the new roads. The profits that the promoters may make, whether 10% or 50%, need give us no concern. The inestimable boon which these new routes would confer upon the communities served is the paramount consideration. The time, too, is particularly opportune. Business is prostrated. Large numbers of men are out of employment. Others are working part time. Building these additional roads would provide work for a portion, at least, of these idle men. Money market conditions also are unusually propitious. Our industries are so stagnant there is money enough and to spare for these tunnels and subways. Accordingly, our legislators and public officials should at once take steps to initiate the new policy.

AN ACCOUNTANT'S VIEW OF CORPORATE MANAGEMENT.

In an address Monday night of this week in Newark, at the banquet of the Society of Certified Public Accountants of the State of New Jersey, Elijah W. Sells of the accounting firm of Haskins & Sells and President of the American Association of Public Accountants, made some interesting and pertinent remarks bearing upon the management of railroad and other corporations and those who direct their affairs. He contrasted corporate management with Government management. By reason of his profession, Mr. Sells is well qualified to speak on this subject. He has had unusual opportunities for observation and for getting at the actual facts, on which alone a correct judgment can be based. Some years ago his firm was employed as experts to examine the books and accounting methods of the United States Government, and as the result of that investigation a new system of accounting for the Government was put in force.

Mr. Sells stated the truth when in his speech he asserted that his experience in the examination of books of account and affairs had covered a very extensive field, embracing the Federal Government, the State governments, and the finances and accounts of municipalities; also railway, street railway, light, power and other public service corporations; likewise industrial corporations, or so-called "trusts," and banks, trust companies and insurance companies. The conclusions, therefore, to which he is led, are invested with no little importance. These conclusions do not reflect a mere matter of opinion unsupported by facts, but rest upon the facts themselves. Theorizing plays no part in the same. It is the accountant who speaks, and he bases his judgment entirely upon what the records and books of accounts have disclosed to his ideas. It is well said that the position of a public accountant in respect to corporations and their management is an entirely independent one. Unlike the attorney, the accountant is not expected to make out a case. He is asked to ascertain the facts, and these facts exist for his examination in form so tangible and so subject to other scrutiny than his own that, even if he were willing to prostitute his calling, he would never dare to do so.

What, then, is the statement of this accountant with respect to the causes responsible for the great shrinkage in security values with the resulting business depression, from which the whole country is now suffering? He points out that the answers so generously provided are very wide of the mark. Usually they involve grave reflections upon corporate management. We are told that the corporation managers are dishonest; that they "exploit" the people and their utilities; that they put their own enrichment above their duty to the stockholding interest or to the public, and that before there can be a return of the splendid prosperity the country was recently enjoying, the corporation must be regulated, and the Government must step in with a sharp eye and a big stick.

In opposition to these views, Mr. Sells declares it the unassailable truth that almost any one of the men who stand at the head of our great business institutions is far more competent to run the government, and would run it more economically, more wisely, and more honestly, than any of those who are in the business of running governments. Continuing he says:

> I know as a matter of fact that the management of our great properties is generally intelligent and economical, and that the management of our Government bureaus is generally loose, irregular and frequently dishonest; and when I read the articles with which so many of our newspapers and magazines are filled now-a-days, reflecting on the men whose genius is developing the country's resources, and when I hear the proposal of politicians, from the most eminent to the least, for the passage of laws to hamper and restrict the energies of these men, on the theory that their integrity is open to suspicion, my mind inevitably brings up the contrast that I always observe between a corporation's way of doing things and a government's, as disclosed by respective records and books of account.

Mr. Sells then gives it as his deliberate judgment that, gauged by the highest standards prevailing in the best conducted corporations, there is less than 10% of incompetency and dishonesty among men in the management of corporations generally, and at least 90% of both among public office-holders—this conclusion being based upon Mr. Sell's experience as a public accountant. The men entrusted with the management of the corporations, he declares, are better fitted to administer the affairs of such corporations and to exercise judgment in matters concerning both the investor and the public, which takes their product or utilizes their franchises, than are those men who hold public offices qualified to fill even their own positions, much less to undertake administrative control over corporations. The facts that prove this, he points out, do not deal with the mere matter of honesty and efficiency. The organization of a public bureau is much less close, much less harmonious in its operation than the organization of a great railway or a great industrial corporation. The men at the head of such business organizations, in practically every case, Mr. Sells well says, are experts, working diligently, in harmony, and ready to labor to the limit of their endurance, with full and direct control of their subordinates. On the other hand, nothing can be more notorious (the results being ovbious to every accountant who investigates) than the fact that in nine cases out of ten the head of a public department spends most of his time promoting his political interests, and the employees generally, protected by the civil service regulations, are looking to see how little rather than how much work they can get into their appointed hours.

Mr. Sells also dwells on the inter-relation existing between the railways and agriculture, and he shows by means of figures that the effect of Government regulation has been not only to hamper the railway industry, but agriculture as well. Both record much smaller proportionate growth than other branches of human activity. He calls the railways and agriculture the two greatest business interests of the country, a fact which no one can dispute, and he lays down the further unassailable proposition that everything which tends to restrain capital from investing in railway enterprises, everything that retards the extension of railways into new and undeveloped country, checks the settlement of new farms and the production of new crops. Prior to the passage of the Inter-State Commerce Act in 1887 railway construction had progressed in line with the development of business generally, but since that time, notwithstanding the enormous increase of capital resources, the railway industry has fallen far below other lines of development, and with it, also, has fallen the agricultural interests.

From 1878 to 1887 the average number of miles of railways constructed per annum was 7,013, but in the ten years following the placing of that law on the statute books, the average was only 3,537 miles. Between the end of 1887 and the close of 1906 (19 years) the increase was, roughly, only 49%, whereas in the preceding nineteen years the increase had been 253%—this in face of the fact that huge undeveloped areas remain in the Western half of the United States. Mr. Sells presents statistics contrasting this slow growth in railway mileage (in the case of the additions to railway capitalization the results are yet more striking) with the development of businesses which have not been hampered by that sort of Government regulation that hinders their management and frightens the investor. Between 1888 and 1906 national and State bank deposits increased 299%; bank clearings increased 225%; iron production increased 289%, and Lake Superior ore shipments increased 324%.

Agriculture, so largely dependent for its success upon adequate transportation facilities, is the only other large industry which has not developed in proportion with the production of raw material, the growth of manufactures and the increase of banking resources. In the period from 1888 to 1906 the increase in the production of corn in the United States was from 1,987,790,000 bushels to 2,927,400,000 bushels, or only 47%; that of wheat from 415,868,000 to 735,260,000 bushels, or only 77%; and the production of cotton only 91%—and the fact that cotton did better than wheat or corn is accounted for by the reinvigoration of the South.

The prejudice aroused against those so prominently identified with the country's railroad systems and the great industrial organizations, Mr. Sells shows, is based upon two false assumptions: (1) That the men of great affairs are lacking in integrity and (2) that the men of small affairs are over-supplied with it. Mr. Sells demonstrates the fallacy of these assumptions in the following words:

I shall not say that the reverse is more nearly true, but I do say that almost every instance of great success in this country is an example of a combination, in the man who has accomplished it, of scrupulous honesty, great frugality of personal expenditure during the years of struggle, and unbounded industry, while as a commentary upon general good conduct of the masses as such, it is a pertinent remark that if, during the last few years, one of our largest street railway systems could have gathered into its treasury all the fares that were passed up to its conductors, together with all the fares for which it gave rides, but for which the passenger had contrived to omit to pay, it would not now be in the hands of receivers.

The loss to traction lines in all principal cities by the evasion and the dodging of passengers, and by the misconduct of conductors, is estimated at from 5% to 15% of their gross earnings. The aggregate loss to the shareholders of traction companies throughout the country must amount to a great many millions of dollars annually.

Altogether, Mr. Sells, it will be seen, has succeeded in crowding many facts and much solid truth into his remarks, and the address, coming from such a well-informed public accountant, must be considered as forming an important contribution to the discussions of the subject.

RECORD TOTALS IN OUR FOREIGN TRADE.

The foreign trade statement for the calendar year 1907, issued at Washington last week, furnishes conclusive evidence of a further considerable expansion in our external trade, and it is worthy of note that in the last two months (November and December), with general business in this country perceptibly less active than in earlier periods, the value of our exports of commodities reached totals surpassing all former records. Merchandise imports and exports for the year both exceeded materially the figures for the previous like period, which in turn had been in excess of 1905, as that year was of 1904, and 1904 of 1903. Speaking of the progressive expansion in our trade with foreign countries, we can think of no clearer way of illustrating it than by taking the figures of imports and exports combined. Doing this, we find that for 1907 the total trade reached $3,346,825,114, an augmentation of nearly 230 millions of dollars over the $3,118,745,006 aggregate of 1906. The corresponding figures for 1905 were $2,806,135,345 and for 1904 were $2,487,227,930. The expansion here indicated appears little if any short of marvelous. It is only necessary to go a little further back, however, for even more phenomenal results. In 1902 our total foreign trade, inward and outward, reached only 2,330 millions and a decade ago—in 1897—was but 1,842 millions. It is therefore easy of discernment that in the last five years the advance in the aggregate was 43% and for the ten-year period over 75%. Contrasting this latter with the gain of about 30% in the preceding decade—1887-1897—and of less than 29% in the ten-year interval between 1877 and 1887, we fully realize how rapid recent growth has been. An addedly favorable feature of that growth, as regards the outward movement, has been the better prices secured.

Imports of merchandise for the twelve months of 1907 were of a value of $1,423,326,680, which compares with $1,320,501,572 the previous year, $1,179,144,550 in 1905 and $1,035,909,190 in 1904—the year the 1,000 million mark was reached and passed. The expansion of 113 million dollars in 1907, moreover, was shared in to a greater or less extent by almost all the important units going to make up the inward movement of goods, increases being notably large in some items of manufactures or materials for manufacture. Certain special items classing as luxuries, however, such as diamonds, furs, &c., show decreases as a result of the monetary stress. The details regarding separate items of imports for the twelve months are not yet available, but from the figures for the eleven months to Nov. 30 we conclude that there must have been important gains in such items as copper, cotton manufactures, coffee, iron, steel, &c., paper and manufactures and sugar.

By reason of an augmentation in quantity, despite a moderate decrease in the average price, coffee imports show an increase over 1906, the value for the eleven months of 1907 having been $67,255,393, against $62,183,007 for 1906, $67,902,129 for 1905 and $77,341,993 for 1904. The quantity imported from all countries was 880,011,442 lbs. in 1907, compared with 727,251,829 lbs. in 1906, 805,369,171 lbs. in 1905 and 987,277,012 lbs. in 1904. Sugar importations for the eleven months, so far as quantity is concerned, were greater than in any year since 1904, the inward movement for 1907 having reached 3,731,108,923 lbs., against 3,623,221,944 lbs. in 1906, 3,566,058,529 lbs. in 1905 and 3,963,836,168 lbs. in 1904. As regards value, however, this year's total, although in excess of a year ago, falls behind either of the two preceding years, in consequence, in one instance (1905), of the higher price prevailing, and in the other of the larger quantity imported. The values were $80,733,380 in 1907, $73,834,027 in 1906, $99,306,338 in 1905 and $81,053,330 in 1904, and the average price per pound 2.16 cents in 1907, against against 2.04 cents, 2.78 cents and 2.05 cents respectively. Copper imports for the eleven months largely exceeded, both in quantity and value, those for the similar period of 1906, part of the greater value being due to increased prices. The details are 185,384,203 lbs. and $37,289,047 in 1907, against 161,558,612 lbs. and $27,626,399 in 1906 and 147,335,472 lbs. and $20,191,866 in 1905. Cotton manufactures showed a further gain of 10½ million dollars in value on top of the augmentation of 12½ millions exhibited by 1906 over 1905, and relatively as important gains are to be found in the importations of iron, steel, &c., flax and manufactures and fruits. Paper and manufactures has more than doubled in two years, and raw silk records a large increase in value of imports this year over last, owing to higher prices, the quantity that came in showing a decrease. Passing any further reference to special items, we would refer the reader to a table at the end of this article for greater details.

Agricultural products have all along furnished the greater portion of our export movement of commodities, and the same is as true of 1907 as of any preceding years. Of course, as our crops are small or abundant, prices high or low, and the demand from abroad great or small, so does the proportion of the value of our exports that agriculture furnishes fluctuate. But all the time the product of the farm takes precedence as a contributor to the total. As regards the grain crop situation in the United States in 1907, it was less favorable than in the preceding year, but in 1906 and 1905 the yield was large, leaving a considerable surplus, and this has enabled us to export a greater quantity than in the previous year and on much better price bases. Thus, the shipment of wheat and flour for the twelve months aggregated 160,000,000 bushels, against 127,209,434 bushels in 1906, only 71,788,579 bushels in 1905 and but 64,957,158 bushels in 1904. In 1903 and 1902 exports were greater than in the late year, having reached 161,367,104 bushels and 212,445,731 bushels respectively. The values of the wheat and flour exports in 1907 were relatively greater than in the earlier years, having been $150,500,000, against only $107,558,337 for 1906 and $67,101,166 in 1905. Furthermore, this year's value is but 15 million dollars less than in 1902, whereas the deficiency in quantity, as seen above, is 62 million bushels. Corn exports were materially less in 1907 than in either 1906 or 1905, and the outward movement of oats was extremely small as compared with free shipments in the two preceding years. The breadstuffs exports in the aggregate covered a value of $214,500,000, against $189,069,690 in 1906, $154,300,630 for 1905 and only $98,307,218 in 1904.

Cotton shipments were not only larger in quantity than in 1906 but higher prices secured for the staple made the value comparison even more favorable to 1907. It is to be noted, furthermore, that the same matter of price gave a much greater relative aggregate value to the 8,125,000 bales exported last year than to the 8,009,374 bales sent out in 1905. The average export price in 1907 was 11¼ cents, as against 10¾ cents in 1906 and only 9½ cents in 1905. The total value of the 1907 cotton exports was $470,000,000, against $413,137,936 in 1906 and $392,600,644 in 1905. During the last four months of 1907—the first four months of the cotton season of 1907-08, and the period when gold imports were upon an extensive scale—exports of the staple were noticeably less as regards quantity than in the corresponding interval of the previous year, but, owing to the higher prices, the decrease in value was but 2 millions of dollars.

Provisions exports, as a result primarily of the attacks made upon the packing houses, were moderately less than in the preceding year but slightly greater than in 1905. Petroleum exports for the twelve months reached a volume of 1,184 million gallons, valued at $90,000,000, against 1,181 million gallons, valued at $85,738,866 in 1906 and 1,165 million gallons and $79,640,929 in 1905. Not the least important of our products in the matter of expansion in value of exports of late years has been wood and its products.

From a total of shipments of $54,239,776 for the eleven months of 1905, there was an advance to $70,856,713 in 1906 and a further enhancement to $79,925,718 in 1907. Iron, steel, &c., also is becoming an increasingly prominent item of export as the years pass, the outward movement in the eleven months of the latest year having been $182,068,912, against $157,755,080 and $128,944,252 respectively for the like periods of 1906 and 1905. On the other hand, our foreign trade in cotton manufactures has returned disappointing results the last two years, but this, as we have stated on former occasions, has been due almost wholly to the falling off in the demand for China, due in part to large stocks of goods in that country, but explainable also in a measure by the retaliatory boycotting of American products. From the record total of shipments of cotton manufactures in 1905, there was a drop of 13½ million dollars in 1906 and a further decline of about 16 millions in 1907, reducing the latest year's aggregate to about one-half of what it was two years earlier.

The increased values of imports and exports are in considerable measure due to the fact that prices of nearly all articles, both at home and abroad, have been appreciably enhanced. This enhancement, moreover, is ascribable to several causes, among which we may mention irregularities in production of agricultural products—short crops—growth in population and in consumptive demand exceeding in ratio the output of certain classes of articles desired; demand for higher classes of goods and food, higher wages and consequently greater cost of production, and last, but not necessarily least, increases in tariff schedules.

The United States Department of Commerce and Labor has given much attention the past year to the subject of the increase in total value of imports and exports during recent years, and its investigations indicate that higher prices account for a considerable share of the growth in both imports and exports, although in many articles there has also been a material increase in quantity. Comparing the prices of articles imported and exported in 1907 with those of 1899, it finds increases to be general and often running above 100%. The price of pig tin imported in 1907, it states, was 126% higher than that for 1899, and in some cases imports as well as exports of manufacturers' materials show advances of over 100%. The average export price of raw cotton was greater by 93% in 1907 than it was eight years earlier. Among other articles of imports showing an increase of more than 100% in price per unit of quantity in the-8 years, the Department enumerates iron ore, nickel ore, jute, nitrate of soda, vegetable ivory, gum chicle and shellac, and of exports, sawed timber and rosin. In manufactured articles, it finds the advances in prices to have been proportionately less than in manufacturers' materials. The fact that prices per unit of quantity cannot be determined in all articles renders it impossible for the Department to determine the exact share of the increased totals which is due to advance in prices, so it merely states it to have been very considerable.

To indicate the changes from year to year in the export totals of the leading staples, and at the same time to point out the relation those principal items bear to the outward movement of merchandise as a whole, we append the following table, which covers the results for the last six years.

EXPORTS OF LEADING PRODUCTS FOR SIX CALENDAR YEARS.

| Exports. | 1907. | 1906. | 1905. | 1904. | 1903. | 1902. |
| | $ | $ | $ | $ | $ | $ |
| Cotton | 470,500,000 | 413,157,936 | 392,600,644 | 368,829,188 | 378,635,778 | 290,491,225 |
| Breadst'ffs | 214,500,000 | 189,069,690 | 154,300,630 | 98,307,218 | 200,012,362 | 195,711,992 |

| Total | 1006500000 | 935,978,852 | 860,117,841 | 757,581,228 | 871,686,075 | 763,276,525 |
| All other exports | 916,998,434 | 597,409,408 | 766,872,954 | 693,727,512 | 613,067,008 | 597,409,408 |

From the foregoing it will be seen that in 1907 the greatest gain was in the exports of the five leading staples, the value of the shipments having risen from $935,978,852 to $1,006,500,000, whereas in the like interval "all other exports" have increased but from $862,269,091 to $916,998,434. If, however, we make the comparison between the earliest and latest years in the table (1902 and 1907), it is found that the greatest augmentation has been in "all other exports."

The trade balance in favor of the United Sttaes for 1907, notwithstanding the important increase in imports, was the largest in any year since 1901, having reached $500,171,754, against $477,741,862 in 1906, $447,846,245 in 1905 and $415,409,550 in 1904. The favorable balance in 1901 was $584,955,953. The net imports of gold in 1907 were $88,182,385, against $108,870,222 in 1906 and only $3,498,938 in 1905. In 1904 there was a net export of $36,408,593. Combining the various net balances, we arrive at the following comparative results of the foreign trade as a whole.

YEARLY TRADE BALANCE.

It will be observed that, after allowing for gold imports and adding in the net export of silver, there remained an excess of exports of $427,603,246 in 1907, which compares with $385,600,890 in 1906 and $465,921,274 in 1905.

RAILROAD GROSS AND NET EARNINGS FOR NOVEMBER.

As was expected, our compilation of the gross and net earnings of United States railroads for the month of November is an unfavorable one. Traffic during that month still held up well except on special roads and in special sections of the country, and there was consequently no falling off in gross receipts (treating the roads as a whole), such as developed in December. On the other hand, plans at that time had not yet matured for curtailing expenditures, and therefore expenses continued to rise as they had in the month preceding. The outcome of all this is that our statement shows in the aggregate an increase of $4,794,859, or 3.60%, in gross earnings, but a loss of no less than $6,942,084, or 15.05%, in the net earnings. In other words, while the gross earnings, all things considered, remained satisfactory, even showing 4¾ million dollars improvement over 1906, this improvement was entirely overcome by an augmentation of 11¾ million dollars in expenses, thereby producing the poorest statement of net earnings yet revealed during any month of 1907. We say "yet revealed" because the few returns of net thus far received for December indicate that the result for that month is likely to prove even more unfavorable.

The part played by increasing expenses is further emphasized by the fact that even in the previous year expenses in November had already risen in such a way as to excite wide comment, the congestion of traffic which then prevailed (and which did not prevail in 1907) being assigned as one of the reasons for this. Stated in brief, the result for Nov. 1906 was that, with $9,573,502 gain in gross, $8,014,375 was consumed by increased expenses, leaving only $1,559,127 gain in the net. As a matter of fact, there have been few occasions in the more recent years when the November net results have been entirely satisfactory. The following carries the totals back to 1896:

Note.—In 1896 the number of roads included for the month of November was 127; in 1897, 134; in 1898, 130; in 1899, 122; in 1900, 122; in 1901, 109; in 1902, 107; in 1903, 106; in 1904, 102; in 1905, 96; in 1906, 97; in 1907, 87. From Jan. 1 to Nov. 30 1896 the number included was 117; in 1897, 123; in 1898, 100; in 1899, 113; in 1900, 122; in 1901, 99; in 1902, 104; in 1903, 98; in 1904, 98; in 1905, 91; in 1906 92; in 1907, 87. We no longer include the Mexican roads or the coal-mining operations of the anthracite coal roads in our totals.

In addition to the effect of the panic in checking business activity, the railroads in Nov. 1907 had some other adverse influences to contend with. For instance, there was a decided contraction in the grain movement in the West and a falling off in the cotton traffic in the South. Nevertheless, as already shown, there is no reason to find fault with the course of the gross receipts of the roads. This fact is brought out strikingly when the roads are arranged in classes or groups, showing that every one of the seven leading groups had better gross than in November of the previous year. On the other hand, such grouping likewise reveals that augmented expenses were an equally general feature, for out of the seven groups all but one record a falling off in net in face of the gain in the gross. The exception is the Anthracite Coal group, where there is a small increase in the net. The table we now present gives the gross and net earnings for the different groups.

In the case of the separate roads, the character of the returns is much the same. In the gross, relatively few companies appear with decreases, these generally coming from roads which suffered either a diminution of their cotton traffic or their grain traffic, while, on the other hand, in the net the decreases are very numerous and the increases comparatively few and rather slender in amounts. A few illustrations will suffice to indicate how the separate roads suffered through the higher operating cost. The Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe, though having added $69,853 to its gross is obliged to report a decrease of $1,184,224 in its net; the Southern Pacific with $539,429 gain in gross, suffered a loss of $1,381,821 in net, though in this instance some special circumstances contributed to swell the amount of loss; the Erie lost $341,996 in gross and at the same time increased its expenses, causing, hence, a loss of $969,172 in the net; similarly the Louisville & Nashville has $174,266 decrease in gross and $623,943 decrease in the net. In the following table we have brought together all changes for the separate roads for amounts in excess of $30,000, whether increases or increases, both in the case of the gross and in the case of the net.

The list comprises some large and important systems, like the New York Central, the Northern Pacific, the Great Northern, the Milwaukee & St. Paul, the Chicago North Western, &c. Starting with the total of the gross in the foregoing, we add on these other roads in the table we now insert.

In Nov. 1906 the increase, according to the same method of computation, was $10,971,289, or 6.24%, and in Nov. 1905 the increase was $15,571,442, or 10.35%.

COTTON SUPPLY AND CONSUMPTION IN EUROPE.

Mr. Ellison's "Annual Review of the Cotton Trade for the Year 1907" was issued in Liverpool on Wednesday of the current week, and by cable we have received all the results of interest given therein. Not only have the statistics of supply and consumption for the calendar year 1907 and the first three months of the new-crop season been cabled, but also such estimates as Mr. Ellison furnishes for the full season ending October 1 1908. The actual figures of spinners' takings, consumption and stock in Great Britain and on the Continent for 1907, in bales of 500 lbs., have been as follows:

SPINNERS' TAKINGS, CONSUMPTION AND STOCKS IN 1907.

| In 500-lb. Bales. | Gt. Britain. | Continent. | Total. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Stocks Jan. 1 1907 | 441,000 | 665,000 | 1,106,000 |
| Takings | 4,037,000 | 5,923,000 | 9,960,000 |
| Supply | 4,478,000 | 6,588,000 | 11,066,000 |
| Consumption | 3,944,000 | 5,473,000 | 9,417,000 |
| Stocks Jan. 1 1908 | 534,000 | 1,115,000 | 1,649,000 |
| Weekly consumption | 75,846 | 105,250 | 181,096 |

It will be observed that the average weekly consumption of the mills in Great Britain is appreciably greater than in any former year, having been 75,846 bales of 500 lbs. each in 1907, or a gain of 3,173 bales per week over 1906, and an increase of 4,731 bales per week over 1905. Continental consumption shows an augmentation over the 1906 rate of 3,250 bales, being at the rate of 105,250 bales per week. For the whole of Europe the 1907 average weekly rate, and consequently the total consumption, exhibits an important increase over 1906, and therefore a decided gain over earlier years. Surplus stocks at all European mills at the end of the year are placed at the high total of 1,649,000 bales, or 543,000 bales more than they stood at the opening.

In the above compilation the results for 1907 only are presented; to bring out clearly the relation the 1907 figures bear to those for previous years, we have prepared the following, which covers the period from 1898 to 1907, both years included:

| Bales of 500 lbs Each. | Spinners' Stock Jan. 1. | Takings. | Supply. | Consumption. | Spinners' Stock Dec. 31. | Weekly Consumption. |

Official returns from the mills of Great Britain made public since the close of 1907 indicate the phenomenally profitable nature of the year's operations. It is satisfactory to state, moreover, that all mills shared in the profits recorded. The showing made by the Oldham mills since 1898 has been as follows.

| Years— | Companies. | Profit (+) or Loss (—). | Profit or Loss per Mill. |

We have also received separately by cable the figures of takings, consumption, &c., for the last three months of the calendar year 1907. Those three months are the first quarter of the current season, beginning with October 1 1907. For those three months the spinners' takings in actual bales and pounds have been as follows:

| Oct. 1 to Jan. 1. | Gt. Britain. | Continent. | Total. |
|---|---|---|---|
| For 1907. | | | |
| Takings by spinners.....bales. | 1,167,000 | 1,442,000 | 2,609,000 |

| Takings in pounds | 577,720,000 | 736,960,000 | 1,314,680,000 |

CHICAGO STOCK EXCHANGE RECORD OF PRICES FOR 1907.

Continuing the practice begun by us three years ago, we furnish below a record of the highest and lowest prices for each month of 1907 for all the leading stocks and bonds dealt in at the Chicago Stock Exchange. In the compilation of the figures, which are based entirely on sale transactions, we have used the reports of the dealings as given in the Chicago Stock Exchange official list each day. The corresponding monthly record for the calendar year 1906 will be found in the "Chronicle" of January 19 1907, page 138; that for the calendar year 1905 in the issue of January 20 1906, page 135; and that for the calendar year 1904 in the issue of January 21 1905, page 198.

—The question as to the right of national banks to participate in the benefits of a law guaranteeing deposits in other banks, such as was recently passed in Oklahoma, has drawn forth from W. B. Ridgely, Comptroller of the Currency, the following letter to Governor Hoch of Kansas, in which State the enactment of a similar law is contemplated:

"I find that there seems to be some confusion as to the position taken by this office in regard to the right of a national bank to participate in the guaranty of deposits in other banks, on the plan provided for in the law recently passed for the State of Oklahoma.

"The principle has been well settled by judicial decisions that a national bank has no power to guarantee the obligations of a third party, except in connection with the sale or transfer of its own property. The courts have held in substance that a national bank cannot guarantee the payment of any obligation by a third party. The exception to the rule is that when a national bank actually owns promissory notes or other obligations, it may sell such promissory notes and may become an indorser thereon, thus guaranteeing payment by the makers of the notes.

—The Currency Commission of the American Bankers' Association met in Chicago last Saturday to consider the currency question, in response to the call of Chairman A. B. Hepburn. As a result of the conference a new measure similar to the joint plan of the Bankers' Association and the Currency Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, evolved at Washington in November 1906, has been drafted by the Commission, and is to be presented simultaneously in the House and Senate. In this, as in the previous plan, national banks having a surplus equal to 20% of their capital are authorized to issue credit notes to the amount of 40% of their bond-secured circulation, but not to exceed 25% of the capital. A tax on these at the rate of 2½% per annum, or 1¼% each six months, is provided for. An additional amount of notes to the extent of 12½% of the capital is allowed, these to be subject to a tax of 5% a year. Reserves must be maintained against the credit notes, the same as against deposits—25% by banks in reserve and central reserve cities and 15% by banks elsewhere; banks in reserve cities, however, may keep half the required reserve on deposit with banks in reserve or central reserve cities, and banks elsewhere may keep three-fifths of their reserve with such institutions. Facilities must also be provided for the redemption of the credit notes. The Commission notes that the difference between the original plan and the present one is to be found in the provision that the holder of a credit note, instead of being a general creditor, shall have a prior lien on the assets of the issuing bank and upon the double liability of the shareholders. "The notes thus issued," it states, "would be automatically adjusted in volume to the demands for currency. The security to the notes thus provided, by pledging the whole of the assets of a bank, would afford more desirable protection to a note holder than a portion of these assets in a segregated form; and such notes can be issued under provisions which will insure absolute safety to the noteholder, an ample supply of currency to the public, relief from the disturbed commercial conditions such as those through which we have recently passed, and, finally, the certain retirement of the notes when they have fulfilled their purpose in the hands of the public." The Commission expresses its disapproval of the Aldrich Bill, and considers the scheme embodied in that measure, namely, the issuance of notes based upon bonds other than United States bonds, to be "impracticable, unwise and financially unsound." This, it states, "may be the entering wedge to the acceptance of undesirable bonds as security for note issues." It also disapproves of the Fowler Bill, stating that "while it contains certain meritorious features, it introduces schemes so far reaching in their scope and touching so many collateral interests not germane to the real solution of our currency difficulties, that we believe its passage would untetsle rather than improve financial conditions."

—A New York Stock Exchange membership was reported transferred this week for $63,000.

—The New York Clearing House Association is rapidly retiring the Clearing House certificates which were issued to relieve the monetary strain following the upheaval in banking affairs last October. We are informed that at its highest the aggregate amount taken out by the banks was $88,420,000, but the maximum amount used by the banks at any one time was only $74,000,000, of which all but $7,000,000 had been retired up to yesterday, the 24th inst.

—The Boston Clearing House is reported to have retired the last of its certificates yesterday. A total of $12,595,000 was issued by the Clearing House, the first installment having been put out on October 28.

—The Atlanta (Ga.) Clearing-House Association on the 15th inst. adopted a resolution requesting all holders of Clearing-House certificates to present them for redemption. The Association also issued a statement notifying depositors that it would no longer be necessary to stamp checks and drafts as payable only through the Clearing House, the currency situation having again reached a normal condition. A similar notice has been issued by the Houston Clearing-House Association in which city restrictions on withdrawals have been removed.

The Valdosta (Ga.) Clearing-House Association has taken action towards retiring its issue of Clearing-House certificates.

The banks of Abilene, Texas, are reported to have called in all the cashiers' certificates issued two months ago, although, it is stated, there still are some restrictions as to the amount of cash payments.

In San Antonio all Clearing-House checks are also said to have been called in, and the banks are again operating on a cash basis.

Normal conditions are likewise reported at Tulsa, Okla., the Clearing-House and cashiers' checks having been retired a month ago.

—A complete resumption of business on the New Orleans Stock Exchange occurred on the 15th inst. From Oct. 29 to Dec. 2 there had been no dealings on the Exchange except in State, city and levee bonds; trading in bonds generally was resumed Dec. 2, and this has now been followed by the resumption of dealings in stocks.

—According to an announcement made by President John W. Crawford, the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange is to reopen for business on Monday next. The Exchange has remained closed since Oct. 23, having suspended operations at the request of the Pittsburgh Clearing House.

—At the request of President William R. Dunham, a temporary receiver was named on the 20th inst. to take charge of the affairs of the New England Trust Co. of Providence, R. I. The institution is one of those which on Oct. 25 decided to avail itself of the ninety-day notice of intention to withdraw. It now, however, finds itself unable to meet its demands, as is evidenced by the following statement issued by President Dunham:

"It was hoped that within that period the bank would be able to meet its demands in the ordinary course, but in this hope the management has been disappointed and the bank is unable to safely proceed with its business.

"We still have hope, however, that arrangements may be made whereby within a reasonably short time the bank can so arrange its affairs as to prevent a serious sacrifice of its securities.

"It has therefore been considered wisest, in order to best conserve the interests of all parties, to place the affairs of the bank in the hands of the court."

The company was incorporated in 1902; its authorized capital is $250,000, of which $140,000 is paid in. Its deposits on June 30 1907 were reported as $464,755 ($396,593 representing the deposits of the savings department), while its total liabilities were given as $642,883. John B. Hilton Treasurer of the company, has been appointed temporary receiver.

—The Norwalk Savings Bank Co. of Norwalk, Ohio, made an assignment on the 20th inst., having been the second institution in the city to close its doors within a week, the Ohio Trust Co. having assigned on the 15th inst. The Norwalk Savings Bank was established in 1889. It had a capital of $100,000.

—The Fairbanks Banking Company of Fairbanks, Alaska, which suspended on December 13 owing to a lack of currency, has since reopened; Clearing House certificates have been issued by this and the other banks of the city, and these are being used, it is stated, in place of currency.

—The Traders' & Mechanics' Bank of Pittsburgh and the Treasury Trust Co. were closed by order of State Commissioner of Banking on Tuesday. The two institutions are practically one; control of the trust company had been secured by interests in the bank in March 1906, and arrangements for the transfer of its business to the bank were completed in October; it is understood that the trust company has since been in process of liquidation. The bank, it is said, has had trouble in taking care of its clearances and in keeping up its reserves, and has also suffered from inability to realize on its assets. It was incorporated in 1872; it has a capital of $100,000 and deposits (Dec. 16 1907) of $749,844. The trust company had a capital of $250,000.

—Several small banking institutions in St. Paul have suspended within the week. The Bank of Hamline and the Midway Bank, two private institutions located in the suburbs and controlled by A. Z. Drew, closed their doors on the 17th inst. On the 20th inst. the State Bank of St. Paul, capital $25,000, and the Citizens' Savings Bank failed to open, having been taken charge of by State Bank Examiner Anton Shaefer. Mr. Drew, the owner of the first two banks, was also until recently connected with the other two, having been President of the State Bank of St. Paul and Vice-President of the Citizens' Savings Bank. According to the St. Paul "Pioneer Press," the State Bank was unable to receive the assistance asked for a week ago from the Clearing House, and consequently, as a matter of protection to both the stockholders and depositors, the bank was placed in the State Bank Examiner's hands. Mr. Shaefer is reported as stating that the Citizens' Savings Bank is solvent, and will resume business as soon as its affairs are straightened out. It is also believed that the State Bank will reopen shortly. Mr. Drew's resignation as President of the latter is said to have followed his inability to meet an assessment of 50% levied on its shareholders.

—The Capital State Bank of Boise, Idaho, temporarily suspended on Tuesday, the directors, it is stated, having decided upon this course owing to heavy withdrawals of deposits. Walter S. Bruce has been appointed receiver. The institution was organized in 1891; it had an authorized capital of $250,000, of which $200,000 was paid in. Its latest statement (Dec. 23) reported deposits of $1,076,722.

—The affairs of the Western Bank & Trust Co. of Dallas, Tex., were placed in charge of Henry D. Lindsley, as assignee, on the 16th inst. The company's difficulties, it is stated, resulted from the large withdrawals experienced since the recent financial disturbances. President Fleming estimates the amount withdrawn at over $900,000. The liabilities are placed at $1,779,600. The institution had a capital of $500,000 and operated under a special charter granted by the Legislature in 1873 prior to the adoption of the State's present Constitution. It was originally incorporated as the City Bank of Sherman, its name and place of business having been changed in 1902 by an amendment to its charter. The Commissioner of Insurance and Banking states that the institution has never been subject to the State Banking Law, and that his Department has had absolutely no right of supervision over it. Mr. Lindsley retired as assignee on the 20 h inst., with the appointment of L. C. McBride as receiver.

—The Sovereign Bank of Canada (head office Toronto) has retired from the banking field, the associated banks of Canada having decided on the 17th inst. to take over its business and assume its obligations. The reasons for this course are explained in the following statement, issued by Aemilius Jarvis, President of the Sovereign Bank:

For some time past there has been a constant strain upon the bank's resources, caused chiefly by the unnatural conditions which have obtained during the last three or four months, which have created a still greater drain upon the deposits and made it correspondingly difficult to liquidate the loans. These conditions, which in many ways have been far more stringent than have been experienced in the memory of this generation, could not possibly have been foreseen, and they were rapidly bringing about a state of affairs under which the business, if continued, would not have been sufficiently profitable.

When this conclusion was reached, we at once conferred with the leading bankers of the country and asked them to verify our statements. These bankers have expressed their opinion that the assets of the Sovereign Bank of Canada are sufficient to pay all the liabilities, and an agreement has been made with a number of banks by which nearly all of the branches of the bank will open this morning as branches of other banks. This arrangement will entail no loss of any kind to the bank's depositors or customers. They can withdraw their deposits if they please, or they can allow them to remain with the bank to which they have been transferred. The Sovereign Bank of Canada pass-books can be surrendered and the pass-books of the new banks obtained. Borrowing customers will of course have to make other banking arrangements as soon as possible.

AEMILIUS JARVIS, President.

The guaranteeing banks are the Bank of Montreal, the Canadian Bank of Commerce, the Bank of Nova Scotia, the Bank of Toronto, the Imperial Bank of Canada, the Dominion Bank, the Merchants' Bank of Canada, the Bank of British North America, the Royal Bank of Canada, the Standard Bank, the Bank of Ottawa and the Bank of Hamilton. While all the branches of the Sovereign Bank have been apportioned to the foregoing institutions, the affairs of its head office will be in charge of three trustees, representing the Bank of Montreal, the Bank of Nova Scotia and the Canadian Bank of Commerce. The Sovereign Bank began business in 1902 with an authorized capital of $2,000,000 and a paid-in capital of $1,000,000; in 1906 its authorized capital was increased to $4,000,000; it was then announced that the Dresdner Bank of Germany was the purchaser of 15,625 of the new shares, the purchase being effected at $2,031,250, or at $130 per $100 share. At the time of the election of Mr. Jarvis to the presidency last spring, it became known that an interest had also been obtained by J. P. Morgan & Co. It is stated that the bank is indebted to the Morgan interests in the sum of $2,241,000. The new administration at its annual meeting last June announced that a re-valuation of the bank's assets had been made, necessitating the writing off of some $2,240,000; the entire reserve fund (amounting to $1,255,950 on April 30 1907) was appropriated to this end, and the capital reduced from $4,000,000 to $3,000,000. The total deposits for December 31 1907 were given as $11,223,131, as against $14,119,702 on May 31 last, and the total assets at $19,218,933 compare with $22,522,078 in the previous statement.

—To the surprise of all his friends, John R. Walsh, formerly President of the Chicago National Bank of Chicago, Ill., was found guilty, on the 18th inst., by the jury which had been trying him on the charge of misapplying the funds of the bank. The jury convicted him on fifty-four out of the 150 counts in the indictment. A motion for a new trial will be argued on the 28th inst. We print as follows the statement concerning the verdict issued by Mr. Walsh's counsel last Saturday.

Referring to the verdict rendered to-day against John R. Walsh, the result of this trial is of course a disappointment to us. In our opinion, no case was made on this evidence against Mr. Walsh, and he was entitled to a verdict of "not guilty." The jury was made up of intelligent men, but they were farmers and altogether unfamiliar with transactions involving business of the character which was shown here. There was in the evidence no clear-cut issue presented as to distinct transactions. The indictment itself covered a large number of transactions, each transaction being set up in very many different counts, the transactions and counts being so many that it would be difficult for a jury to analyze and understand them even if the evidence had been confined to those transactions. But here, upon the theory of showing intent the jury was overwhelmed with a further mass of other unconnected transactions extending for a dozen years before as well as during the period of the transactions complained of in the indictment. Under this mass of evidence the issues of this case were buried. So many transactions, each substantially colorless in itself, and having no just bearing upon the case here, when admitted as tending to prove the evil intent in the transactions charged, obviously have, from their very mass influenced the jury to an unjust conclusion. It is noteworthy that as to all counts questioning or involving the securities of the Southern Indiana Railway Co. or their value, the jury brought in a verdict of "Not guilty."

We ask a suspension of public judgment upon this case. We feel sure that the public generally regard Mr. Walsh as innocent of these charges. In our judgment, there is nothing in this trial or its result to produce any change in that opinion.

Mr. Walsh, as heretofore, will continue to attend to his business affairs and that he will finally be vindicated we have no doubt.

The Chicago National Bank with its two affiliated institutions, the Equitable Trust Co. and the Home Savings Bank, suspended in December 1905. These institutions have since wiped out their entire indebtedness to the Clearing House, which at the time of their suspension pledged its assistance to the embarrassed institutions.

—Morris K. Jesup, ex-President of the New York Chamber of Commerce, and a noted philanthropist, died on the 22d inst. from heart trouble of two years' standing. Mr. Jesup was formerly very prominent as a banker, but of late years was more particularly known through his interest in and assistance to numerous charitable and educational projects. He was in his seventy-eighth year, having been born in Westport, Conn., in June 1830. After the death of his father, in 1837, the family removed to this city, and at an early age he entered the employ of Rogers, Ketchum & Grosvenor of the Paterson Locomotive works. In 1852, when but twenty-two years old, he formed the firm of Clark & Jesup, and four years later founded the banking house of M. K. Jesup & Co., whcih was later succeeded by Jesup, Paton & Co., John Paton & Co., and finally, Cuyler, Morgan & Co. Mr. Jesup was connected with the latter as special partner until he retired from the banking field. He had been identified with the Chamber of Commerce for over forty-five years, becoming a member in 1863; from 1899 to 1907 he served as its President, resigning at last year's annual meeting on account of impaired health. Mr. Jesup was one of the incorporators of the American Museum of Natural History, of which he became President in 1881, continuing in that capacity until his death. Out of respect to his memory the Museum will remain closed to-day. He was one of the founders of the Young Men's Christian Association, and was President of the Five Points House of Industry. He was also President of the Sailors' Snug Harbor, a director of the Metropolitan Trust Co., the Western Union Telegraph Co. and a trustee of the Atlantic Mutual Insurance Co. Graceful tributes were paid to Mr. Jesup's memory at a special meeting of the Chamber of Commerce on Thursday in speeches made by J. Edward Simmons, Joseph H. Choate, Gen. Horace Porter, Seth Low, A. Foster Higgins and John Bigelow. The members voted to attend in a body the funeral, which will take place to-day.

—Rumors of the severance of relations between August Belmont & Co. of this city and N. M. Rothschild & Sons of London, which have been prevalent this week, are denied by both of the banking houses concerned. The report is contradicted by Messrs. Belmont & Co. in the following statement:

"To set at rest the unfounded rumors concerning the relations between our firm and the Messrs. Rothschild, we are authorized by them to officially contradict the reports concerning the severance of their connection with our house. The various rumors circulated by the press and on the Street growing out of a certain real estate transaction are absolutely without foundation, the operation in question being a simple business matter which does not affect our position in any way."

The contradiction from Messrs. Rothschild has been received by Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co. and Lee, Higginson & Co. in the following cable:

"We shall be obliged if you will contradict the report that our relations with August Belmont & Co. are severed."

—The Trust Companies Association of the State of New York held its annual meeting on the 17th inst. in the National Park Bank. Waterbury, President of the Manhattan Trust Co., NewYork; Theodore F. Miller, President of the Brooklyn Trust Co. of Brooklyn, and James S. —Warner M. Van Norden, President of Van Norden Trust Co., Fifth Ave. and 60th St., this city, was presented with a large and handsome loving cup by the board of directors "as a testimonial of esteem and of their appreciation of the foresight, skill and devotion with which he conducted the company's affairs during the flurry of 1907." The cup is made of silver, is eighteen inches high, and bears the medallion of the Van Norden Trust Co.

—Edmund Clarence Stedman, the poet and former banker, died suddenly at his residence in this city on the 18th inst. Mr. Stedman entered the banking domain in the early sixties, organizing the firm of Stedman, Elwell & Co., which was dissolved in 1865, and later reorganized under the name of E. C. Stedman & Co. Mr. Stedman retired from membership in the New York Stock Exchange in March 1900, his associates in the Exchange on that occasion presenting him with a silver loving-cup. Among his many contributions to the literary field, Mr. Stedman's History of the New York Stock Exchange, published in 1905, will be remembered. In this Mr. Stedman treated at length of the various happenings on the Exchange through a period of over one hundred years, and of the leading financial and industrial events of the country as reflected in the business and dealings on the Exchange. Mr. Stedman was born in Hartford, Conn., in October 1833, and was consequently in his seventy-fifth year. He was identified with a number of societies, and was Vice-President of the Century Association.

—The Committees which are working for the rehabilitation of the Knickerbocker Trust Company of this city have been granted another extension of time in which to obtain further assents to the plan of reorganization. Justice Lester W. Clark of the Supreme Court, at St. George, Staten Island, on the 18th inst postponed until February 1 the hearing on the motion to make permanent the receivership, it having been shown that practically 85% of the depositors have consented to the plan, or an increase of 25% since January 4.

—Neilson Olcott has been elected Cashier of the National Bank of Commerce of this city to take the place of William C. Duvall, who resigned on account of ill health. Mr. Olcott has obtained his present position through gradual promotion. He was employed in various minor capacities with the old National Bank of Commerce, and was one of its Assistant Cashiers at the time of the consolidation, in 1903, with the Western National Bank; he has since served the enlarged institution in a similar capacity.

—Through a misunderstanding, the local newspapers have erroneously reported that G. E. DeCamp, President of the Caldwell National Bank, Caldwell, N. J., had succeeded C. S. Boyd as President of the European-American Bank of this city. The President of the institution has always been B. Sherwood-Dunn. Mr. Boyd was a director and a Vice-President. Mr. De Camp was chosen a director in place of Mr. Boyd, who was not re-elected Vice-President. The President, B. Sherwood-Dunn, was re-elected and Frank Zotti, was re-elected Vice-President. Erwin R. Graves and George W. Loft were likewise chosen Vice-Presidents, and F. Wm. Knolhoff, formerly Assistant Cashier, was made Cashier. The bank commenced business Sept. 18 1907 and its deposits have increased from $67,496 on Oct. 7th 1907 to $406,301 Jan. 7 1908. The capital is $100,000 and surplus $42,305.

—Adelbert H. Alden was this week elected Vice-President of the New York Produce Exchange Bank at 10 and 12 Broadway.

—William A. Nash, President of the Corn Exchange Bank of New York, was the happy recipient of a rare antique English silver loving-cup designed in 1774, from the directors of the bank, commemorating his faithful services and the twenty-fifth anniversary of his presidency. Under Mr. Nash's administration the bank has flourished and become one of the city's leading institutions. The board has declared a semi-annual dividend of 8%, increasing its disbursement 1%, thus placing the stock upon a 16% basis, instead of 14% as heretofore. The directorate has been reduced from eighteen to sixteen members, and now is as follows: David Bingham, Thomas T. Barr, William A. Nash, Howland Davis, Clarence H. Kelsey, Leonard J. Busby, Wm. Rhinelander Stewart, Wm. H. Nichols, Walter E. Frew, William F. Havemever, James McGovern, George H. Southard, Henry Schaefer, Myles Tierney, Anson R. Flower and Jacob Langeloth.

—The Lincoln Trust Co., at 208 Fifth Ave., will increase its capital stock the coming week from $1,000,000 to $1,500,000, the stockholders having the privilege to subscribe to the new issue, at par, to the extent of half of their present ownership of the stock. Considering the loyalty displayed by so many of its depositors during the late panic, it is the expectation of the management that the enlarged capital will cause the return of deposits that were temporarily withdrawn.

—Frederick Phillips, the newly elected Vice-President of the Night & Day Bank, corner Fifth Ave. and 44th Street, resigns as Secretary of the Lincoln Trust Co. to devote his entire time to his new office.

—The Hamilton Bank of this city, which had been closed since October 24, reopened for business on Monday under the plan of resumption heretofore mentioned. This arrangement provides for the payment to depositors of 10% in cash with the reopening, 15% each in ninety days and six months, and 60% in one year. It is stated that comparatively few of the depositors availed themselves of the privilege to withdraw the 10% permitted, although the bank had ample funds on hand to meet all calls upon it. Frank L. Grant, who was recently elected President of the bank, replacing William R. Montgomery, has resigned as Vice-President of the Carnegie Trust Company. Frederick D. Ives and Jesse Joy continue respectively as Vice-President and Cashier of the Hamilton Bank, the main office of which is at 215 West 125th Street. Its various branches are located at 1707 Amsterdam Avenue, 135th Street and 7th Avenue, 765 Tremont Avenue, 138th Street and Willis Avenue, 163d Street and Third Avenue, and 194 White Plains Avenue.

—The stockholders of the Second National Bank of this city on the 14th inst. approved the proposition, alluded to last month, to increase the capital from $500,000 to $1,000,000. The new capital will be provided for through the conversion of a part of the surplus; the increase from $300,000 to $500,000 a year ago was accomplished in a like manner.

—William H. Butler, capitalist, has been elected to the board of the Hungarian-American Bank of this city, to replace William Woodward, Vice-President of the Hanover National Bank.

—It is expected that the resignation of Leslie M. Shaw as President of the Carnegie Trust Co. of this city will occur on March 1. Mr. Shaw states that he has contracted to sell his holdings in the company to Charles C. Dickinson, its Vice-President and organizer, and that his resignation will take place with the final payment on the stock, due on the above-named date. Mr. Shaw became President a year ago.

—The bankers of New York City will assemble on Monday evening at the Waldorf-Astoria for their annual banquet. A reception will precede the dinner. The speakers will be David R. Forgan, Nicholas Murray Butler, Dr. Aked, Patrick Murphy and Alexander Gilbert, the toastmaster and Chairman of Group VIII.

—The directors of the Union Trust Company of New Jersey at Jersey City, on the 16th inst., re-elected Samuel Ludlow Jr. President and elected J. J. Gorman and Joseph E. Bernstein Vice-Presidents, besides re-electing James J. Hasking Vice-President and Treasurer. George E. Bailey was re-appointed Secretary. Mr. Gorman, one of the new Vice-Presidents, was a director of the old Second National Bank of Jersey City (to whose business the trust company succeeded last July) and has been a director of the company since its organization. He is well known in electrical circles through his management of the Manhattan Electrical Supply Co. of New York and Jersey City. Mr. Bernstein, the other new Vice-President, was formerly a director and Vice-President of the Second National Bank of Jersey City, and is identified with the Furst and Bernstein companies of that city. These changes place the institution under the direction of local people, although its board contains the names of several outside business men. The company states that it is one of the few institutions in the metropolitan section which was not obliged to suspend payments, even temporarily, during the recent panic.

—At the annual meeting of the Wilber National Bank of Oneonta, N. Y., on the 14th inst., it was decided to increase the surplus from $200,000 to $250,000. The bank has a capital of $100,000, and it lays claim to having the largest surplus in proportion to capital of any bank in Central New York. The deposits of the institution have increased from $1,992,243 in August to $2,101,835. The directors have re-elected officers as follows: George I. Wilber, President; E. A. Scramling, Vice-President and Cashier, and Samuel H. Potter Assistant Cashier.

—A material change in the personnel of the Industrial Trust Company of Providence occurred at Tuesday's annual meeting with the withdrawal as President of Col. Samuel P. Colt, who declined re-election owing to ill health. Col. Colt was elected Chairman of the board and Cyrus P. Brown, heretofore Treasurer, was chosen President. Four Vice-Presidents were named in place of one, Joshua M. Addeman having hitherto been the company's sole Vice-President. The complete official staff is now as follows: President, Cyrus P. Brown; Vice-Presidents, Arthur L. Kelley, H. Martin Brown, Otis Everett and Joshua M. Addeman; Treasurer, Waldo M. Place; Assistant Treasurer, Ward E. Smith; Secretary, Charles H. Manchester; Assistant Secretary, H. H. Pepper, and Auditor, Frederick B. Wilcox.

—A contest last week for control of the Third National Bank of Baltimore, between the existing administration and opposing interests friendly to John F. Sippel, who withdrew as Cashier of the institution last year, resulted in the victory of the management already in charge. A similar contest was engaged in a year ago, when President Robert M. Spedden, the successful contestant, was re-elected to the presidency and Mr. Sippel resigned from the Cashiership. Mr. Spedden has again been re-elected as head of the bank, Robert H. Smith continuing as Vice-President, A. B. Crouch as Cashier and T. Roland Thomas as Assistant Cashier.

—Alexander H. Patterson, Vice-President of the Duquesne National Bank of Pittsburgh, died suddenly on the 20th inst. Mr. Patterson was seventy-two years of age. He had been Cashier of the institution for thirty-five years, and was chosen Vice-President about two years ago.

New York City, Boston and Philadelphia Banks.—The New York City Clearing House has since the panic discontinued issuing its detailed statement showing the weekly averages of condition of the separate banks, both the member and the "non-member" institutions. The last statement issued, that for Oct. 26 1907, will be found in the "Chronicle" of Nov. 2, on page 1124.

The Philadelphia and Boston Clearing Houses have also adopted the course of not making public the returns of the individual banks.

Below is a summary of the weekly totals of the Clearing-House banks of New York City, Boston and Philadelphia. The New York figures do not include results for non-member banks.

The Money Market and Financial Situation.—A further reduction in Bank discount rates at home and abroad has been one of the important developments of the week. Notwithstanding the easier money market conditions, business at the Stock Exchange is considerably reduced in volume and security values, notably in the shares department, have suffered a rather conspicuous decline. It is true, however, that prices have been better maintained in the bond department.

The decline in stocks is due in part, no doubt, to a logical reaction following the advance which had been in progress since the first of the year, and also to accumulating evidences of the general business depression throughout the country.

The Bank of England has again reduced its minimum rate, this time from 5 to 4%, and the Bank of France rate is placed at 3%, where it had stood for several years previous to the advance in March last. The local bank statement of last Saturday showed an increase of over $26,000,000 in the reserve held, making the surplus nearly $23,000,000, and this has doubtless been augmented since the statement was issued. Although the New York City banks have been called upon for $10,000,000 of Government deposits, call loans have been made as low as 1½% during the week, and time money has been freely offered at reasonable rates.

The open market rates for call loans on the Stock Exchange during the week on stock and bond collaterals have ranged from 1½% to 3%. To-day's rates on call were 1½@2%. Prime commercial paper quoted at 5½% for 60- to 90-day endorsements and 6@6½% for best single names; but all transactions subject to special agreement.

The Bank of England's weekly statement on Thursday showed an increase in bullion of £1,541,537, and the percentage of reserve to liabilities was 54.87, against 52.69 last week.

The discount rate was reduced from 5%, as fixed Jan. 16, to 4% Jan. 23. The Bank of France shows an increase of 9,225,000 francs gold and a decrease of 1,325,000 francs silver.

The New York City Clearing-House banks in their statement of January 18 showed an increase of $26,185,800 in the reserve held and a surplus of $22,635,475 over the required reserve, against a surplus of $6,084,050 the previous week.

* $72,027,100 United States deposits included, against $73,172,700 last week and $16,537,300 the corresponding week last year. With these United States deposits eliminated, the surplus over the required reserve would have been 340,642,250 on Jan. 18 and $24,377,225 on Jan 11.

Foreign Exchange.—The market was strong this week, influenced by urgent demand for remittance and by a comparatively small supply of bankers' and commercial bills. The Bank of England reduced its official rate to 4% and the Bank of France to 3%.

To-day's (Friday's) nominal rates for sterling exchange were 4 84@4 84½ for sixty day and 4 87½@4 88 for sight. To-day's (Friday's) actual rates for sterling exchange were 4 8390@4 84 for long, 4 8710@4 8720 for short, and 4 8755@4 8765 for cables. State and Railroad Bonds.—Sales of State bonds at the Board are limited to $15,000 Virginia 6s deferred trust receipts at 22½ to 24½.

The market for railway and industrial bonds has, as noted above, been less active than for several weeks past. Prices have generally held steady to firm and in a few cases substantial advances have been recorded. The latter include Green Bay & Western "B" debenture certificates, which advanced from 8½ to 13¼. New York City 4½s, which advanced over 2 points, and some of the industrial issues. Atchison, Burlington & Quincy, Mexican Central, Northern Pacific and Reading bonds have also been strong. On the other hand, Rock Island, Brooklyn Rapid Transit and Interboro-Metropolitan issues have shown a tendency to weakness.

United States Bonds.—Sales of Government bonds at the Board include $3,000 4s coup. 1925 at 121½, $1,000 2s coup. 1930 at 104½ and $1,000 3s 1908-18 at 101¼. The following are the daily closing quotations; for yearly range see third page following.

Railroad and Miscellaneous Stocks.—The transactions in stocks have been on a more limited scale than for several weeks past, amounting on Thursday to less than 600,000 shares and to-day to only about 500,000. Prices have been more or less irregular, but the general tendency has been downward and several prominent railway issues are from 4 to 8 points lower than last week. Among the latter are: St. Paul, North Western, Great Northern, Louisville & Nashville and New York Central. Delaware & Hudson is exceptional in a decline of 12½ points and Reading closes 9½ points lower than last week.

Smelting & Refining dropped 11 points on the lowering of its dividend rate, New York Air Brake is down 9 points, and other industrial issues, including the United States Steel issues, are from 2 to 3 points lower.

Outside Market.—There was a much less active market for outside securities the past week, irregularity being the chief characteristic. Douglas Copper lost a point to 7. Greene Cananea, after an advance of half a point to 9½, dropped to 8 and recovered to 8⅜. A downward movement in Nevada Consolidated Copper carried the price from 12¼ to 10¼, the close to-day being at the low figure. Nevada Utah, after a fractional advance to 6, dropped to 4⅞, ending at 5. Trinity sold up from 17⅛ to 18, then down to 15⅝. United Copper common, after an advance from 7⅛ to 7¾, moved down to 6⅞. Goldfield Consolidated gained almost a point to 6 5-16 but reacted and ends the week at 5 15-16. Nipissing fluctuated between 7 and 7½. Trading in the specialties has been almost at a standstill. Standard Oil at first gained 9 points to 495, but moved down to 480, the final quotation being 480¼. Chicago Subway from 20⅛ ran down to 17¼ and closes to-day at 17½. ## RAILROAD GROSS EARNINGS.

The following table shows the gross earnings of every STEAM railroad from which regular weekly or monthly returns can be obtained. The first two columns of figures give the gross earnings for the latest week or month, and the last two columns the earnings for the period from July 1 to and including such latest week or month. We add a supplementary statement to show the fiscal year totals of those roads whose fiscal year does not begin with July, but covers some other period. The returns of the street railways are brought together separately on a subsequent page.

Net Earnings Monthly to Latest Dates.—The following shows the gross and net earnings to latest dates of all STEAM railroads furnishing monthly statements. The compilation includes every road from which we can get returns of this character, and in that form is given once a month. Early returns are published from week to week, as soon as issued, but for the convenience of our readers all the roads making returns are brought together here in the week in which we publish our monthly article on net earnings—say about the 20th of the month.

c Figures revised for previous year so as ot accord with the new classification of earnings and expenses now required by the Inter-State Commerce Commission.

d The company now includes the earnings of the Denver Enid & Gulf RR. Pecos Valley system and Santa Fe Prescott & Phoenix Ry. in both years. For period from July 1 to Nov. 30, taxes and rentals were $1,202,517 in 1907, against $865,807 in 1906.

Pres. Henry A. Everett, under date of Toledo, Jan. 16 1908, says in substance:

Acquisitions.—This report includes the property of The Toledo Gas, Electric & Heating Co., which came into our possession on June 1 1907, the purchase including all franchises, rights, electric light, power, hot-water-heating stations and artificial-gas plant. (V. 84, p. 1186, 1252; V. 81, p. 1046, 1497.) Said property, we believe, will be of great value to your company, which now owns and operates the entire street railway system of the city, furnishes electricity for light and power, owns and operates the only artificial-gas plant, furnishing gas for light and fuel, and furnishes hot-water heating.

In Jan. 1907 the company became the owner of the entire capital stock of the Toledo Ottawa Beach & Northern Ry. Co. (V. 83, p. 1525, 1172; V. 84, p. 52), and is now operating that road under contract. In March 1907 the company purchased the entire capital stock of The Toledo & Western RR. Co. (V. 84, p. 272, 750).

Companies Whose Entire Capital Stock Is Now Owned—Total, 125.71 Miles.

Capital Stock.—The capital stock has been increased from 120,000 shares to 150,000 shares, par value $100; 18,750 shares of the increased capital has been issued to the stockholders of The Toledo Gas, Electric & Heating Co. in payment for that property. The balance, 11,250 shares, are unissued.

Suspension of Dividends.—Owing to the financial conditions making it impossible to dispose of any of the treasury assets and the large expenditures for betterments, the directors decided to discontinue for the present the payment of dividends.

The earnings here include interest income, and operating expenses include taxes.

Improvements, &c.—Double-track rights were acquired from the City on Summit Ave., where we had a single track, from Ohio St. to Michigan Ave. The new track and the reconstruction was made with 9-inch 90-lb. rail. On Phillips Ave. from Detroit Ave. to Sylvania Ave., West Toledo, the company acquired an extension of its franchise for 25 years for a double track. About one-third of the work has been done with 9-inch. 90-lb. rail. On Detroit, Nebraska and Jefferson avenues there was constructed, with 9-inch 90-lb. rail, additional track, making the total of 9-inch 90-lb. construction, 1.61 miles; on Lagrange St., Nebraska and Stickney avenues, with 60-lb. rail, .19 miles; making the total new track construction 1.8 miles, all except 19 miles built on concrete or crushed stone foundation.

There has been reconstructed with 9-inch 90-lb. rail 7.13 miles and with 60-lb. T rail 1.6 miles, making a total re-constructed of 8.73 miles. The company paved with new material 1.95 miles, 14 feet wide; re-paved with old material 26,591 square yards.

There were built at the company's shops 6 cars of various kinds and 20 42-foot semi-convertible cars were purchased.

The gas plant acquired from the Toledo Gas, Electric & Heating Co. is equipped for the manufacture of both coal gas and carburetted water gas. The coal-gas plant was much deteriorated. Approximately one-half of the benches have been re-constructed and the remainder will be in service not later than Feb. 1 1908, when the cost of production will be considerably reduced. The water-gas plant was in good condition.

Capital Requirements.—Extensive betterments have been made on the electric, gas, heating and railway plants, so that the capital requirements for 1908 will be small. (The report describes at much length the additions made to the power and heating stations.)

Operating Rights.—The franchises of this company are being operated under something more than 100 hundred ordinances of the City of Toledo and proceedings of the Lucas County Commissioners, all favorable in their terms. Those for gas, electricity, power, light, heating and the underground conduit system are perpetual, subject only to the ordinary police regulations, and to the statutory requirements of Ohio that the prices to be charged shall be regulated at intervals of not exceeding ten years.

Our street railway rights in certain streets will expire Nov. 9 1910, but the larger part of the system is being operated under ordinances which expire in 1914, 1915 and 1916, and the demand for transfers from one part of the system to the other makes it practically certain that no considerable change in the present operation or in fares will be made until about 1914.

Stockholders.—The company now has 1,829 stockholders of record.

Outlook.—The net results of the year's operation are unsatisfactory, owing to an unexpected combination of circumstances which will probably never occur again. We look forward to a prosperous year in 1908, not so much from anticipated growth in gross earnings as from a reduction in expenditures for capital account and also operating charges.

GENERAL INVESTMENT NEWS.

RAILROADS, INCLUDING STREET ROADS

Anthracite Coal Roads.—No Prosecution Pending Decision of Supreme Court.—Attorney-General Bonaparte on Jan. 17 made the following announcement regarding the enforcement of the section of the Hepburn rate law intended to prevent railroads after May 1 next from carrying coal mined by coal companies controlled by them.

What is generally known as the "commodities clause" of the Hepburn bill, approved June 29 1906, reads as follows:

"From and after May 1 1908 it shall be unlawful for any railroad to transport from any State, Territory or the District of Columbia to any other State, Territory or the District of Columbia, or to any foreign country, any article or commodity, other than timber and the manufactured products thereof, manufactured, mined or produced by it, or under its authority, or which it may own in whole or in part, or in which it may have any interest, direct or indirect, except such articles or commodities as may be necessary or intended for its use in the conduct of its business as a common carrier."

It is clear that this clause, if valid, will make it impossible for many railroads which own coal mines to transport the coal to market after the date named, and it is understood that some of these railroads have been advised by their respective counsel that the above quoted provision of law is unexceptional. The Department of Justice contemplates the institution of proceedings as soon as possible after the date named whereby a prompt determination of this question by the Supreme Court of the United States may be obtained. It is expected that the railroads concerned will co-operate with the Government to this end, and if they do so in good faith and if they in good faith and immediately obey the decision of the Supreme Court when rendered, it is not the purpose of the Department of Justice to prosecute them for a failure to comply with the terms of the Act pending the decision of the Supreme Corut.—V. 85, p. 1268.

Baltimore & Ohio RR.—Salaries Reduced.—Because of the depression in business the company on Thursday announced a reduction of 10%, effective Feb. 1, in the pay of all officers and employees receiving more than $166 a month, and bringing down to $150 all monthly salaries between $150 and $166 a month. The reduction will apply to all officers from the President down. No change has been made as yet in the pay of employees receiving $150 or less a month. The reduction in most instances places salaries on the same basis as in 1905.—V. 85, p. 1645.

Boston Elevated Ry.—Sale of Bonds.—The company has sold the remaining portion ($2,300,000) of the $5,800,000 bonds authorized last June, placing them as 4½% 30-year bonds with the syndicate headed by R. L. Day & Co., which last June or July bought $1,000,000 of the issue as 4s. In October last $2,500,000 4½% 30-year bonds, included in the same authorization, were sold at public sale (V. 85, p. 863, 920). The present transaction, it is understood, provides for the company's capital requirements during the current year.—V. 86, p. 105.

Boston & Lowell RR.—Notes Sold.—See Boston & Maine RR. below.—V. 85, p. 39.

Boston & Maine RR.—Price of Bonds.—The Boston News Bureau of Jan. 18 said:

The syndicate composed of Kidder, Peabody & Co., Lee, Higginson & Co., R. L. Day & Co. and Estabrook & Co., which first offered in June 1906 $10,000,000 4% 20-year refunding bonds at 103 and interest, has made a third reduction in the price and has again placed the bonds on the market at about 96, at which they yield an income return of nearly 4.40%. Between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000 bonds were embraced in the reduced offer of about 96, which was first made the latter part of last week. Since that time about half of the bonds has been sold and the remainder are going out very rapidly. The original offering price of 103 was later reduced to par and still later to 98.

Notes Renewed.—The $2,000,000 of 5% one-year notes, of which $1,000,000 each mature on February 15 and March 15, respectively, have been renewed for one year at 6%, through R. L. Day and associates, who also arranged for the renewal of the $1,000,000 notes which fell due this month. Compare V. 86, p. 51.

Notes of Subsidiaries Sold.—The company has also arranged to sell to R. L. Day and associates $1,300,000 Boston & Lowell and $500,000 Fitchburg one-year 6% notes, the latter maturing Jan. 15 1909. The notes were received for advances to the leased lines named on account of construction V. 86, p. 51.

Camden & Trenton Ry.—Default.—See New York & Philadelphia Co. below.—V. 80, p. 162.

Chesapeake & Ohio Ry.—Payment of Bonds.—The $150,000 Passenger & Belt Ry. 5% bonds were paid off as of Jan. 1 1908.—V. 85, p. 1082.

Chicago Great Western Ry.—Circular from London Finance Committee.—A circular issued by Walter Cunliffe, on behalf of the London Finance Committee, says:

The company has outstanding $9,700,848 notes, which mature from 1908 to 1912 (compare V. 86, p. 167), besides $1,228,968 of car trusts, and, owing to the financial situation in America, is unable to pay them punctually as they mature. In these circumstances, the directors have been conferring with the London Finance Committee with a view to time being granted until fresh capital powers can be created and utilized. The London Finance Committee would have recommended this course if they had been sure of entire unanimity among noteholders; but under American law, any individual holder of a due note might obtain judgment, and thereby get an advantage over other noteholders. In order to prevent any such undue preference it has been decided to place the property temporarily under the protection of the Federal Court, sitting in equity, and the London Finance Committee have joined in an application to appoint receivers, so that the Court may apply the net revenue, as and when available, to the fixed charges, in the order of their priority. The London Finance Committee will proceed to recommend the creation of a mortgage upon the undertaking (which at present has no mortgage upon it), in order to provide for all the notes and such necessary capital expenditure as can be foreseen.

During the six months ended Dec. 31 1907 the company suffered from a strike at its repairing shops, crippling its engine power. The strike is now practically over, but it remains to restore the engine power to good condition. Moreover, general conditions are making for declining traffic, and the net revenue for the year 1907-08 is sure to be less than last year. For the past eight fiscal years ended June 30 1907 the net revenue, after deducting working expenses and taxes, has averaged over $2,100,000, and the last three fiscal years as follows: 1904-05, $2,038,619; 1905-06, $2,539,493; 1906-07, $2,539,279. Fixed charges for 1906-07 were: Rentals (for sundry running powers, &c.), $424,330; interest on notes, $455,939. The balance for 1906-07 was $1,459,010, and interest on 4% debenture stock for 1906-07 is $1,044,984, leaving a surplus of $414,026. Apart from the car trusts, amounting to $1,228,968, the notes constitute the only terminable debt of the Chicago Great Western Ry., which (excluding 741 miles of leased and proprietary lines) owns in fee 756 miles of line, together with terminals in cities and rolling stock, the latter item alone having cost about $10,000,000.—V. 86, p. 167, 107.

Chicago Railways.—Supreme Court Denies Application.—The United States Supreme Court on Thursday denied the application of stockholders of the West Chicago Street RR. owning less than one per cent of the stock of the underlying companies and of a holder of $10,000 of receiver's certificates to review the decision of Judge Grosscup approving the reorganization plan. The time to accept the ordinance of February last expires Feb. 1 and the decision leaves the way open to the completion of the reorganization.—V. 86, p. 167.

Chicago Rock Island & Pacific Ry.—Bonds Offered.—Speyer & Co. are offering by advertisement on another page at 85½ and interest, at which the yield to the investor is 5%, $6,000,000 "first and refunding" 4% gold bonds, due April 1 1934, but redeemable at the option of the company at 105 and interest on or prior to April 1 1911, on 60 days' notice. These bonds in 1905 sold at 98 and interest.

A circular says in part:

Bonds of this issue are already listed on the Stock Exchanges of New York, London, Amsterdam, Frankfort and Berlin. These bonds are a legal investment for trustees and savings banks in New York State, and as such are accepted by the Treasury Department at Washington as security for deposits of public money in national banks.

These bonds are part of an issue limited to $163,000,000, of which there have been issued (including the above $6,000,000 bonds) $67,926,000, viz.:

|---|---|---|---|
| For refunding purposes | $22,526,000 | Acquisitions of properties or securities | $20,400,000 |
| To reimburse treasury | 15,000,000 | Improvements | 10,000,000 |

Of the remaining $95,074,000 bonds authorized under the mortgage, $59,499,000 can only be issued against underlying bonds, $13,500,000 to pay for 75% of the purchase price of bonds of other companies, and the balance of $22,575,000 bonds for improvements and acquisitions of other properties or securities as prescribed in the mortgage.

The bonds are a direct obligation of the Chicago Rock Island & Pacific Railway Co., which was formed in 1880, from which time it has uninterruptedly paid dividends, and since 1899 at not less than 5% per annum.

The "first and refunding mortgage" 4% gold bonds are secured by a first lien (either directly or through pledge of the entire issue of first mortgage bonds) on terminal properties in St. Paul and Minneapolis; valuable equipment and shops at Moline, Ill., and on railway lines aggregating 1,148 miles, including the line from St. Louis to Kansas City; and are also secured by a lien (subject to existing mortgages) on all the lines of the railway company aggregating (exclusive of leased lines and trackage) 5,619 miles.

The above $6,000,000 "first and refunding bonds" have been issued for the following purposes:

|---|---|
| Refunding company's 4% gold bonds of 1902, Series E, maturing May 1 1907 | $1,494,000 |
| Refunding C. O. & G. equipment notes, Series B and C, maturing in 1906 and 1907 | 420,000 |
| Against deposit of an equal amount of C. R. I. & P. Ry. general mortgage 4% bonds issued under Sec. 4 of Art. 1 | 1,566,000 |
| For additions and improvements, issued Feb. 1 1907 | 2,500,000 |

* Includes improvements on leased lines.

The operating expenses for the five months ending Nov. 30 1907 contain $497,910 account depreciation of equipment, as per new ruling of the Inter State Commerce Commission. No similar charge was made in 1906. Hence to make an accurate comparison of the two years, charge for depreciation, $497,910, should be added to the balance of $7,918,021 net earnings for 1907, making some $8,415,931, as against $8,972,243 for 1906, a decrease of $556,312, which is largely due to increased wages and higher costs of materials and supplies.

Missouri Statute Forbidding Removal of Suits to Federal Courts Held Invalid.—Judge Smith McPherson in the United States District Court on Jan. 20 granted the applications of the Chicago R. I. & Pac., Atch. Top. & S. Fe, St. Louis K. C. & Col., Chic. Milw. & St. Paul and Chicago & Alton railways for injunctions restraining the Secretary of State of Missouri from forfeiting their charters because of the removal of suits against them from the State to the Federal courts, in violation of the Missouri statute passed in 1907. The law is held to be unconstitutional.

The Act provides that a non-resident railway corporation shall not remove a case from the State to the Federal court or institute one against a citizen of the State without the consent in writing of the other party thereto under penalty of a fine of $2,000 to $10,000 for each offense and disability to transact business for 5 years. The Court says: "The statute is void, because it allows a resident company to sue in the Federal court if there is a Federal question and denies the right to a non-resident company." The law is further held void because the right of removal is given by the United States Constitution and Acts of Congress and because it repudiates the contract by which a road was induced to come "into the State, making investments in large sums, and was authorized to do a State business, but now declaring that it shall not do business, thereby rendering it insolvent, and taking from the people along its line the use of a railway for State business, unless the company will surrender under coercion rights given it by the National Constitution and valid enactments of Congress."—V. 86, p. 107.

Colorado & Southern Railway Co.—Application to List.—An application to list $10,000,000 refunding and extension mortgage 4½% bonds, due in 1935, has been made to the New York Stock Exchange, making the total 4½s listed $20,000,000.—V. 85, p. 868.

Connecticut Railway & Lighting Co.—Earnings.—At the meeting of shareholders held in New Haven on Jan. 22, at which the amendments to the charter passed by the last Legislature were adopted without dissent, Chairman W. T. Hincks, it is reported, informed the shareholders that the company is showing actual earnings of about 4% upon its preferred and 2% upon its common stock.—V. 85, p. 921.

Delaware & Hudson Co.—New Loan.—Negotiations, it is understood, are pending for the sale of a new short-term loan amounting to $10,000,000, the proceeds to be used in part in paying off the $6,000,000 loan put out by the Quebec Montreal & Southern last year and guaranteed by the Delaware & Hudson (V. 84, p. 338). These notes mature early next month.—V. 85, p. 1645.

Duluth Missabe & Northern Ry.—Called Bonds.—First consolidated mortgage bonds dated Jan. 1 1893, to the amount of $117,000, have been drawn, and will be paid by the Central Trust Co. on Feb. 1 1908 at 105% and interest —say $1,055 per bond.—V. 84, p. 220.

Florida East Coast Ry.—Notes Offered.—Harvey Fisk & Sons, New York, are offering at 98 and interest, yielding the investor about 7% per annum, $750,000 6% coupon gold notes, dated Aug. 15 1907 and due Aug. 15 1910. Interest payable Feb. 15 and Aug. 15. United States Mortgage & Trust Co. of New York, trustee. Denomination $10,000. A circular says:

The issue of these notes is limited to the outstanding amount of $5,080,000, which were issued in two series, $3,500,000 dated Aug. 1 1907, and $1,580,000 dated Aug. 15 1907, all running for three years from date of issue and all equally secured by the deposit with the trustee of Florida East Coast Railway Co. first mortgage 5% bonds at 70% of their par value, $7,258,000 bonds being deposited as security for the $5,080,000 notes.

The notes are further secured, both as to principal and interest, by the personal endorsement of Henry M. Flagler.

The first mortgage bonds which are deposited to secure these notes constitute the entire amount of first mortgage bonds outstanding and are secured by an absolute first lien, at the rate of $18,000 per mile, on the main line of the company, extending from Jacksonville to Miami, Fla., 366 miles, and branches aggregating 37 miles, and in addition thereto are a first lien on all the rolling stock (conservatively estimated at $3,000,000) and other property of the company. From the last official report furnished us, the net earnings for the year ending June 30 1907 amounted to $704,485, or about twice the sum necessary to pay the interest charges on the first mortgage bonds.

The proceeds derived from the sale of these notes have been expended for the construction of the extension which the company is building to Key West, Fla., a distance of 156 miles, of which 110 miles are completed and in operation.

The "Railway & Engineering Review" of Chicago, in its issue of Jan. 18, has an illustrated article describing the Key West extension over which passenger trains are now running from Miami to Knight's Key (110 miles). This temporary terminal and the steamship connection established therefrom, brings Havana, Cuba, half a day nearer the main land than heretofore, the intervening stretch of water being only 115 miles, which is covered in six hours' time. "It is expected to have the road completed over the remaining 47 miles to Key West next year. Key West is 90 miles from Havana, and it is planned to join the two by a car ferry service which shall take the trains themselves straight through."—V. 86, p. 52.

Louisville & Nashville RR.—Special Dividend of 1% Declared Payable in Stock of "Louisville Property Co."—After the close of the market on Saturday, Jan. 18, an extra dividend of 1% was announced, payable on Feb. 10 in stock of the Louisville Property Co. to stockholders of record on Jan. 20. The 3% cash dividend declared Dec. 19 is payable at the same time. An official statement says:

The Louisville Property Co. has heretofore served as holding company for various real and personal properties, including some coal lands necessary for current and future operations, which it was not desired to subject to liens of the Louisville & Nashville RR. Co.'s mortgages, question having arisen under recently enacted law with respect to the property of the Louisville & Nashville RR. owning the entire capital stock of the Louisville Property Co., the conclusion was reached to distribute the latter to stockholders of the Louisville & Nashville RR. Co. Stock so distributed is full paid and represents par value, but as the revenue of the Louisville Property Co. is uncertain, being dependent upon the sale of property, and as it is largely indebted to the Louisville & Nashville RR. Co. for sums advanced, no assurances as to future earning power of the stock can be given. Complete exhibit of the Louisville Property Co.'s financial condition will be furnished stockholders in the next annual report. The stock of the Louisville Property Co. is divided into shares of $100 each and the fractional parts necessary to pay the aforesaid dividend are to be represented in non-interest bearing scrip, redeemable in Louisville Property Co. shares upon presentation of such scrip in amounts of $100 or multiples thereof.

The "Louisville Courier-Journal" of Jan. 2 1908 said:

The Louisville Property Co. was organized in 1908 with a capital stock of $50,000, and the last annual report of the Louisville & Nashville showed among the securities owned only $50,000 par value of Louisville Property Co., so the capital stock of the Property Co. must have been increased to $600,000 since the last annual report in order to make the present distribution (1% on $60,000,000).

The Louisville Property Co. is a holding company for the coal lands and other real estate of the Louisville & Nashville. Among its principal holdings are 150,000 to 160,000 acres of coal lands in Southeastern Kentucky and Northeastern Tennessee. Judge Moss, of the 26th Circuit Court District, recently decided in favor of the Louisville Property Co. a suit brought to escheat the coal lands in Eastern Kentucky to the State on the ground that the lands were not used for railroad purposes. The lands are said to be worth far more than the capital stock of the holding company. As to whether the Louisville & Nashville stockholders are any richer by owning the stock of the holding company direct or owning it indirectly remains to be seen.—V. 85, p. 1462.

Maine Central RR.—New General Manager.—Morris McDonald has been elected Vice-Pres. and General Manager, succeeding George F. Evans, deceased. George S. Hobbs, Comptroller, was elected Second Vice-President in charge of the traffic department.—V. 85, p. 921.

Meyersdale & Salisbury Street Ry.—Receivership.—Judge Ewing in the United States District Court on Jan. 22 appointed the South Side Trust Co. of Pittsburgh, on application of R. W. Marshall & Co. of New York, who hold a claim for cars and equipment furnished.

Judge Ewing also authorized the Metropolitan National Bank of Pittsburgh to sell at auction after two weeks' advertising, collateral consisting it is stated, of securities for the account of the bank placed in the bank by Whitney & Stephenson to secure a loan of $18,000. Of the bonds under the mortgage to the Real Estate Trust Co. of Phila. ($1,500,000 authorized issue), only $59,000, it is reported, have been sold, on which the June and Dec. coupons are in default.—V. 76, p. 1301.

Missouri Pacific Ry.—Convertible 6% Notes to Replace $6,000,000 5% Notes due Feb. 10.1908.—In order to provide for the retirement at maturity on Feb. 10 of the $6,000,000 5% notes issued in 1906 (V. 82, p. 100), the company has sold to Tailer & Co., bankers, of No. 27 Pine St., New York, a new issue of $6,000,000 2-year collateral trust convertible 6% gold notes, dated Feb. 10 1908 and due Feb. 10 1910. These notes are secured by deposit with the Equitable Trust Co. of New York, as trustee, of $12,000,000 first refunding mortgage 30-year 6% gold bonds of the Kansas & Colorado Pacific Ry., dated Feb. 1 1908. The new bonds are guaranteed, principal and interest, by endorsement by the Missouri Pacific Ry., and are secured by a lien on the 1,450 miles of railroad of the K. & C. P. Ry. Co., subject to the bonds of its constituent companies, the bond issue including these underlying bonds being limited to $30,000 per mile. The Kansas & Colorado Pacific Ry. was formed by consolidation in 1890-'91 and it owns the railroads connecting the Missouri Pacific and the Iron Mountain with the Denver & Rio Grande and it will thus form a link in the new route to the San Francisco via the Western Pacific Ry. The notes are convertible at the option of the holder at par into 6% refunding mortgage bonds of the K. & C. P. Ry. Co., guaranteed by the Missouri Pacific Ry., which on June 30 1907 owned $22,303,500 of that company's $25,498,100 capital stock.

The interest due Nov. 1 1907 on the $701,000 first mortgage bonds of the Camden & Trenton is also in default. There is no New York-Philadelphia Co. coupon that is unpaid. (See V. 86, p. 53.) A subscriber to the "Chronicle" writes:

The prevailing opinion, written by Chief Justice Mitchell, though lengthy, states as the main ground for the decision the injustice of the law to the company in directing it to do business at unremunerative rates. The general constitutionality of the Act is not passed upon. Compare V. 85, p. 655.—V. 85, p. 1397.

President C. F. Sise writes:

The company will have the right to operate lines over the Provence connecting Saskatchewan and Ontario, and also the right to connect with the Manitoba Government lines on through business.

As the Bell Telephone bonds constitute a lien or charge on a portion of the plant sold, such portion of the bonds received from the Provence as might be properly held to represent the collateral against which the Bell Telephone bonds were issued will be deposited in trust until they can be reinvested in similar plant.—V. 85, p. 36.

International Harvester Co.—Litigation.—Judge Dana in the Shawnee District Court on Jan. 20 fined the company $300 on each of 42 counts for violation of the State anti-trust laws, on its conviction on Dec. 5 last. Under the law a fine of $100 to $1,000 on each count might have been imposed. Pittsburgh Coal Co.—Tonnage of Controlled Company—Payment on Account of Preferred Stock—The semi-annual payment made this month ($257,004, or $4 94 per share), on account of the purchase of the $2,500,000 Monongahela River Consolidated Coal & Coke Co. preferred stock, shows that there was mined from the Monongahela properties during the six months ending Dec. 31 1907 4,116,741 tons of coal, the largest for any six months since the company was organized. In the fiscal year ended Oct. 31 1907 7,321,961 tons were mined; in 1905-06, 6,509,737; in 1904-05, 4,962,750; in 1903-04, 4,158,544. This payment leaves $15 35 of the purchase price of $45 per share (par $50) still due.—V. 85, p. 1466.

Public Service Corporation of Virginia.—Receivership.—Judge Waddill in the United States Court at Richmond, Va., on Jan. 20 appointed Walter Whetstone of Philadelphia and S. J. Dudley of Hampton, Va., receivers for this gas company on application made by Clarence H. Wildes of New York, representing bondholders and shareholders. The interest due Jan. 1 on the $150,000 first mortgage bonds was paid at maturity. The "Virginian" says:

Attorney S. Gordon Cumming of Hampton, representing the petitioning creditors, said that the earning capacity of the concern was not sufficient to carry the floating debt and satisfy the existing supply liens, but that the plant did earn enough to pay operating expenses and fixed charges. Compare V. 83, p. 628, 1233.

Publishers' Paper Co., Portsmouth, N. H.—Financial Status—January Interest Promptly Paid.—Numerous garbled reports have recently appeared relative to an alleged sale by the company of a large amount of stumpage and logs in order to provide for its financial requirements. Vice-President C. E. Mitchell states that he knows nothing about the Woodstock Lumber Co., which the press reports mention, and he assumes that the deal to which reference is made was that entered into with the Parker & Young Co. of Lisbon, N. H., an old and large concern. Mr. Mitchell, writing from the company's office, now 37 Wall St., N. Y., under date of Jan. 20, says:

Recent newspaper reports have indicated the conveyance of a large amount of property and logs by the Publishers' Paper Co. to a newly organized company, the conveyance relieving the Paper Co. from threatening financial embarrassments.

The deal in question was no larger than several other similar deals made by the Paper Co. in the past two years, and involved merely the revision of an already existing contract so that yearly deliveries of logs would thereafter be made on the stump instead of in a mill pond, as provided in the original contract. The deal in no way affects the security behind the bonds of the company.

The Publishers' Paper Co. has been financially embarrassed during the past months to no greater extent than hundreds of other concerns have been. With large payments to make on account of bond principal, bond interest and open accounts, and with no borrowing market, the company found it advisable to cut down its expenses and curtail its operations, and the deal above referred to was no more than a transfer of certain of its operations involving regular and large demands for cash. The company was able satisfactorily to care for its bond principal due Jan. 1 1908, paid its bond interest in full on Jan. 1 and has no overdue accounts payable at this time. Compare V. 82, p. 872.

Pullman Co.—Curtailment.—President Lincoln on Jan. 18 was quoted as saying:

Within the next three or four weeks the company will have filled all the orders for freight cars that it has on hand, and this department will be closed. Just how many men will be thrown out of work I am unable to say, but it will be only a small proportion of the 6,000 that we have employed. It will be undoubtedly considerably more than 1,000, however.

The railroads of the country have more freight cars now than they can use, and are not placing a single order. We have furnished some cars to roads, taking in exchange their securities. But the report that we have taken between $40,000,000 and $50,000,000 is exaggeration.

The passenger car department, it is said, is to continue to turn out a Pullman car a day, as well as to continue repair work.—V. 86, p. 173.

Rochester (N. Y.) Telephone Co.—New Stock.—This company has filed a certificate of increase of capital stock from $550,000 to $1,050,000. Compare United States Independent Telephone Co., etc., in V. 86, p. 173.

Rocky Mountain (Bell) Telephone Co.—Dividend Omitted.—This company has omitted the quarterly dividend of 1¼% usually paid in January. The directors say:

This action was taken on account of the stringency of the money market, which has effected to a greater or less extent business throughout the company's territory, and for the further reason that there are certain betterments and extensions needed in the plant, which must be provided for from earnings.

An illustrated pamphlet entitled "Story of the Rocky Mountain Bell Telephone Co., 1883-1907" was recently issued "to tell briefly what has been accomplished by a progressive Western company among progressive Western people; to tell of difficulties met and overcome, of a goal set high and the efforts made to reach it." This pamphlet shows on June 30 1907:

| Company's— | Idaho. | Montana. | Utah. | Wyoming. |

Solvay Process Co., Syracuse, N. Y.—New Stock, &c.—This New York corporation filed at Albany on Jan. 9 a certificate of increase in capital stock from $6,000,000 to $8,000,000.—V. 83, p. 277.

J. Spencer Turner Co.—Called Bonds.—This company, the sales department of the Consolidated Cotton Duck Co., has called for redemption at par and interest on Feb. 1 at its office 86 Worth St., N. Y. City, the first block, $75,000, of its $1,600,000 6% debentures.—V. 82, p. 755.

Standard Steel Works Co., Burnham, Mifflin County, Pa.—Bonds for Sale by Subsidiary of Baldwin Locomotive Works.—This company was incorporated under the laws of Pennsylvania on Dec. 23 1907 and purchased the entire property of the Standard Steel works established in 1871, including plants for the manufacture of steel tires, steel-tired wheels, rolled and forged steel wheels, steel castings, iron castings, railway springs, &c., The old company was controlled by the firm of Burnham, Williams & Co. of Philadelphia, the proprietors of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, and that firm owns the entire $3,000,000 capital stock of the new corporation.

A mortgage has been made covering all the property of the Steel Company, which is valued at over $7,000,000, to secure not exceeding $5,000,000 first mortgage 5% gold bonds, dated Jan. 1 1908 and due Jan. 1 1928, without option of earlier redemption. Denomination $1,000. Interest payable July 1 and Jan. 1 at office of Pennsylvania Company for Insurances on Lives & Granting Annuities of Philadelphia, the mortgage trustee; sinking fund 5% per annum. No prior liens remain outstanding. It is proposed to sell at the present time only $4,000,000 of the bonds, and these will be sold as opportunity offers.

The firm of Burnham, Williams & Co. consists of George Burnham, William P. Henzey. John H. Converse, William L. Austin, Samuel M. Vauclain and Alba B. Johnson. Mr. Johnson under date of Jan. 18 writes to the "Chronicle:"

Yours of Jan. 16 addressed to Mr. George Burnham has been referred to me, as Mr. George Burnham is of advanced age and no longer attends to business, whilst his son, George Burnham Jr. is no longer a partner in this firm.

We return herewith the blank with all of the information indicated. Although the Standard Steel Works, which was organized in 1871, has always been a corporation separate from this firm, we have for many years owned their entire stock. The capital stock of the Standard Steel Works was $100,000, and its mortgage indebtedness was $100,000. During many years all the profits have been turned back into the increase of the plant and development of the business, until at this time their net worth, exclusive of good will, exceeds $7,000,000. In order to make the capitalization conform more nearly to the actual net value of the property, it was decided to reorganize the concern as the Standard Steel Works Co., increasing its capital stock to $3,000,000, and providing for a present issue of $4,000,000 of bonds, with provision to increase the bonded indebtedness to $5,000,000, the additional $1,000,000, however, to be issued only to provide for further extensions of the plant, which extensions must have a value 33 1-3 greater than the bonds issued against them.

The firm of Burnham, Williams & Co. does not formally guarantee the bonds, but inasmuch as it is the sole owner of the stock, it assumes a moral responsibility for them. The bonds have not been sold, but will be disposed of as opportunity offers.

Union Electric Light & Power Co., St. Louis.—New Bond Issue.—This company, controlled by the North American Co., has filed a refunding and extension mortgage dated Dec. 1 1907 to the Bankers' Trust Co. of New York and the Mississippi Valley Trust Co. of St. Louis, as trustees, to secure not to exceed $50,000,000 bonds, to bear interest not exceeding 5%, of which $4,000,000 may be put out forthwith on account of improvements. (Compare V. 83, p. 269; V. 82, p. 104; V. 79, p. 275.—V. 85, p. 1522.)

United Box Board & Paper Co., Chicago.—Payment of Notes.—The $350,000 notes held by O. C. Barber were paid on Jan. 15 and Mr. Barber's relations with the United Box Board Co., it is stated, have therefore ceased.

Dividend Paid by Subsidiary.—The American Strawboard Co., some 90% of whose $6,000,000 stock is owned by the United Company, paid on Jan. 15 a dividend of 1%.

United Fruit Co.—$856,000 Bonds Already Converted into Stock.—Of the $1,054,000 convertible bonds outstanding Dec. 11 1907, all except $198,000 have been turned into stock. The right to convert the coupon bonds expired Jan. 15 (compare V. 85, p. 1522), but Treasurer Charles A. Hubbard writes:

The amount of our convertible bonds outstanding in the hands of the public at the close of business on the 15th inst. was $198,000. It should not be overlooked in this connection, however, that the right to convert such of the bonds as had been registered will not expire until the 31st inst., and the amount mentioned above is on that account likely to be further reduced. The capital stock as of Jan. 15 stood at $19,370,000. This is subject to increase by the amount of such registered bonds as may be offered for conversion during the balance of the current month.—V. 85, p. 1522 1337.

United Illuminating Co. of New Haven, Conn.—New Stock.—The company has filed a certificate of increase of capital stock from $1,000,000 to $1,500,000.—V. 85, p. 288.

Utah Copper Co.—New Securities.—At the annual meeting on Jan. 24 the shareholders voted to amend the certificate of incorporation, increasing the capital stock from $6,600,000 to $7,500,000, all to be common stock, and to authorize an issue of $1,500,000 convertible bonds, to be secured by a second mortgage on all the company's properties.

The bonds, it is stated, will bear 6% interest and be convertible at option of holder into stock at $20 per share, the issue to be offered to the shareholders and underwritten by a syndicate. Charles Hayden and W. B. Thompson have been elected to the board. The report for the year ending June 30 1907, it is said, shows: Total income, $305,665 (increase $58,879) deductions, $10,535; balance, surplus, $295,129. Gen. Mgr. Jackson, under date of Jan. 1, reports that the company is producing at the rate of 3,000,000 lbs. of copper per month at a cost of less than 8½c. per lb.—V. 85, p. 1467.

Washington & Potomac Steamboat Co.—Receivers Appointed.—Chief Justice Clabaugh of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia on Jan. 23, in the proceedings brought by Richard H. Lynn, appointed said complainant and the United States Trust Co. of Washington as receivers for the company. A judgment was obtained against the company on Jan. 20 for $15,722.—V. 83, p. 163.

Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co.—Payment of Coupons.—The receivers have been authorized to pay on Feb. 1 the interest then due on the $6,000,000 3-year 6% collateral trust notes and on the 13,750,000 francs ($2,750,000) 10-year 5% collateral notes (French loan).

Plan for Readjustment.—The committee consisting of—

James N. Jarvie, Chairman; A. G. Becker, Richard Delafield, Charles A. Moore, Neal Rantoul, F. H. Skelding and Albert H. Wiggin, with Albert Stickney Jr. as Secretary, 54 Wall St., N. Y., and Joline, Larkin & Rathbone and Strong & Cadwalader, as Counsel.

Depositaries: Bankers Trust Co., New York; First Trust & Savings Bank, Chicago; The First National Bank of Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh, and National Shawmut Bank, Boston, representing holders of a large amount of the debt of the company, have issued under date of Jan. 20 a plan for the readjustment of such debt.

This plan provides in brief: (1) for funding the unsecured debt, including the convertible bonds, &c., through an issue of $35,000,000 "first mortgage and collateral trust" 5% bonds; (2) for the exchange of the $8,750,000 collateral notes (the French loan notes only at option of holder) for new or modified notes, with same maturity and rate of interest as before, such new or modified notes to be retired at or before their maturity and to be entitled to share in respect to any deficiency of principal or interest (after sale of their collateral) in the lien of the $35,000,000 mortgage pro rata with the bonds issued thereunder; and (3) for an issue of $7,000,000 new stock, either "assenting" of present company or "preferred" of a new corporation, to provide new capital. The present stockholders, both assenting and preferred, are expected to subscribe for this new stock to the extent of 25% of their respective holdings, and the success of the plan will depend upon sufficient subscriptions being received to satisfy the committee. As a majority of the stock is held by bankers as collateral for loans, said bankers, it is believed, will see that the subscription (substantially an assessment) is paid.

The printed pamphlet has in substance the following:

| Ten-year 5% collateral notes (French loan), due Oct. 1 1917, about | 2,750,000 |

(2) Proposed Issue of "First Mortgage and Collateral Trust" 5% 25-Year Gold Bonds.

It is proposed to create an issue of $35,000,000 "first mortgage and collateral trust" 5% 25-year gold bonds secured by a first mortgage upon the principal manufacturing plants of the company and by the pledge of the greater part of its unpledged holdings of the stocks and bonds of subsidiary and other companies. The bonds are to be in denominations of $1,000 (c*), and are to bear interest from Jan. 1 1908, payable semi-annually.

Of said bonds an amount not exceeding $20,469,000, face value, are to be convertible at the option of the holder or registered owner, at any time after Jan. 1 1910 and up to thirty days prior to any date of redemption, into stock of the company upon such terms and conditions as shall be provided in the deed of trust.

"In case preferred stock be issued for the new capital hereinafter provided for, then the stock to be issued upon such conversion shall be "assenting stock," if the present corporation be retained, but if a new corporation be organized and preferred stock of such new corporation be issued for said new capital, then the stock to be issued upon such conversion shall be common stock, and in either case stock shall be issued upon such conversion at the rate of $1,000 par value of stock for every $1,000 bond. If, however, the stock to be issued for said new capital shall be "assenting stock" or common stock, as the case may be, then the stock to be issued upon such conversion shall be of the same character and shall be issued at the rate of 125% of par."

All bonds are to be subject to redemption at the option of the company at 105% and interest at such times and upon such terms as shall be provided in the deed of trust.

The deed of trust shall provide for sinking fund payments of $1,100 000 per year, payable on July 1 of each year, beginning with 1911, but only out of the net earnings, after deducting all interest charges, beginning with the earnings of the fiscal year ending April 1 1911. The sinking fund shall be cumulative so that any deficiency therein shall be a charge upon and payable out of the net earnings of the subsequent years. Such sinking fund payments shall be divided between the convertible and non-convertible bonds in the proportion of $500,000 for the convertible bonds and $600,000 for the non-convertible bonds. All bonds purchased or redeemed by the sinking fund shall be canceled.

"The deed of trust shall provide that the collateral notes shall be retired on or before maturity, and provision shall be made as hereinafter provided by which the holders of either issue of such notes may share pro rata with the holders of said bonds in the lien of said deed of trust for any deficiency of such collateral notes remaining after the collateral specifically pledged for their security is sold."

(3) Proposed Distribution of $35,000,000 First Mortgage and Collateral Trust Bonds.

| To be exchanged for existing convertible bonds, at par (these bonds to be convertible into stock) | $18,500,000 |
| To be issued in exchange for existing debenture certificates, at par (depositors of certificates to have the right of election as between convertible and non-convertible bonds) | 1,969,000 |
| To be issued for existing floating debt, at par, say | 14,531,000 |

(4) Provision for Collateral Notes.

Holders of 3-year 6% collateral notes of the issue of $6,000,000 maturing Aug. 1 1910, and also (if they shall so elect) the holders of the issue of 14,000,000 francs of 10-year 5% collateral notes due Oct. 1 1917, shall exchange them for new or modified notes of substantially the same tenor and having the same date of maturity and bearing the same rate of interest and secured in the case of the $6,000,000 issue by the same collateral as that now deposited as security for the existing notes and, in case of the 14,000,000 francs issue, by the collateral which shall remain as security therefor after deducting such of the collateral as the company or its receivers may withdraw or now be entitled to withdraw upon the surrender and cancellation of 6,000,000 francs of the original loan of 20,000,000 francs; provided, however, that the agreement securing such notes shall be modified so as to provide as follows:

(a) That the holders of the notes issued under the agreement shall, in respect of any deficiency of principal and interest remaining after the application to the payment of the notes of the net proceeds of the sale of the collateral specifically pledged for their security, share in the lien upon the property mortgaged and pledged under the trust deed hereinbefore provided, pro rata with the other obligations secured or to be secured thereunder.

(b) That the trustee under such agreement shall not have power to require the deposit of any collateral in addition to that above provided for.

(c) That any of the collateral deposited under the agreement may be sold at the request of the company at a price to be fixed by appraisal in such manner as shall be provided in the modified agreement, the proceeds of any such sale to be used in anticipating the payment of notes.

(5) Subscriptions to New Capital.

Unless otherwise determined by the committee, the consummation of the plan is to be conditioned upon subscriptions for the payment of $7,000,000 new capital into the treasury for stock. Any creditor may accept, for part or all of his claim, stock of the company at the same price at which it shall be issued for said new capital, and in such case a corresponding amount of bonds issued under said deed of trust shall be available for issue in the discretion of the board of directors of the company.

(6) Management.

The board of directors of the company are to be persons approved by the committee and provision satisfactory to the committee is to be made (by voting trust or otherwise) for the future election of directors.

(7) Provision for Modified or Substitute Plan.

If for any reason the committee shall determine it to be impracticable to carry out said plan, the committee may modify said plan, or substitute a new plan; provided, however, that unless such modified or substitute plan shall meet the requirements (1), (2) and (3) stated below, it shall not be consummated without notice to depositors, affording them an opportunity of withdrawal, as hereinafter stated. Such requirements are as follows, viz.:

(1) That any and all evidences of debt issued in exchange for existing convertible bonds, debenture certificates and floating debt shall be secured pro rata by first mortgage upon the principal manufacturing plants.

(2) That the principal of, and the rate of interest upon, and the dates of maturity of, the obligations representing respectively the 3-year 6% collateral loan and the 10-year 5% collateral loan shall not be changed, and that, except as in Article 4 hereof, provided, said obligations, respectively, shall continue to be secured by the collateral now pledged under the agreements under which said obligations were issued respectively, and that the holders of said notes shall be entitled to share in the security of the deed of trust as in Articles 2 and 4 hereof provided.

(3) That the holders of the convertible sinking fund 5% gold bonds, debenture certificates and floating debt of the company shall participate in the plan substantially pro rata excepting only that any privilege of conversion of obligations into stock shall be confined to the obligations issued in exchange for the existing convertible bonds and debenture certificates.

The receivers of the company and also the board of directors have approved the plan, which has also been submitted to Kuhn, Loeb & Co., who recommend to holders of 5% convertible bonds and 3-year 6% collateral trust notes, of which they represent large amounts, promptly to deposit their bonds and notes thereunder.

Deposits Called for.—The aforesaid committee, "representing a large amount of the debt," notifies the holders of convertible sinking fund 5% gold bonds, 5% gold debenture certificates, 3-year 6% collateral notes, 10-year 5% collateral notes and floating debt, that, to avoid the expense and loss incident to a long receivership and a forced liquidation of the assets, the obligations and claims held by them should be deposited without delay with one of the aforesaid depositories (see list with names of committee above). Deposits will be received "until March 1."—V. 86, p. 174, 55.

Western Electric (Manufacturing) Co., Chicago.—About One-Half of Minority Stock Deposited.—The holders of about one-half of the minority stock, it is announced, accepted the offer of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. to purchase their holdings on the terms stated in V. 85, p. 1522, 1649, the time for the deposits having expired Jan. 20. The American Telephone & Telegraph Co. consequently now owns about $12,000,000 of the $15,000,000 outstanding stock (compare v. 85, p. 1398). The $15,000,000 bonds authorized by the Western Electric shareholders last November (V. 85, p. 1217) are available for funding the floating debt when conditions are favorable for securing a good price for them.—V. 85, p. 1649.

Western Union Telegraph Co.—Convertible Bonds Listed.—The New York Stock Exchange has listed the $10,000,000 convertible 4% redeemable bonds, series "A", due 1936.

The statement to the New York Stock Exchange says:

The New York Telephone Co. owns and controls the telephone lines in Manhattan, the Bronx and in most of Westchester County, and part of Rockland County, and a small area in Connecticut. Its capital stock is $50,000,000, of which $30,000,000 is fully paid and $20,000,000 is half paid. The Western Union Telegraph Co. owns $9,733,100 of the fully-paid stock, which it has deposited as collateral, as above stated, and in addition it owns and holds in its treasury $6,488,700 of the half paid stock. This company is receiving, and has for a number of years been receiving, dividends equal to 7½% upon its paid-in stock.—

Syndicate Dissolved.—The syndicate headed by Kuhn, Loeb & Co., which late in 1906 underwrote the aforesaid $10,000,000 4% convertible bonds, has been dissolved. Compare V. 83, p. 1361, 629.

Decision.—Judge Newman in the United States District Court at Atlanta, Ga., on January 15 denied the application for an injunction retsraining William A. Wright, Comptroller General of Georgia, from levying an assessment on the company's franchises, assessed in 1907 at $950,000 under the law passed in 1902, in addition to the tangible property in Georgia, fixed at $796,000. The company contended that it was organized under an Act of Congress and therefore denied liability for franchise taxes.—V. 86, p. 112.

Worcester (Mass.) Electric Light Co.—Dividend Increased.—A quarterly dividend at the rate of 10% per annum, it is said, was recently declared on the $800,000 stock, comparing with 8% as paid each year since 1904.—V. 83, p. 499.

COMMERCIAL EPITOME.

Friday Night, Jan. 24th, 1908.

With easier monetary conditions and more seasonable weather, general trade has improved somewhat, although still confined within conservative bounds, and collections have improved. The lower money rates here and in Europe, the Bank of England and the Bank of France having both reduced their rates of discount, have caused a rather more confident feeling, though prices of some kinds of merchandise are somewhat lower.

LARD on the spot has been easier, though without marked change. Yet there has been a disposition to shade prices in the hope of stimulating trade, which, however, has continued extremely quiet. The receipts of hogs have been heavy and the future market at the West has been depressed at times, while the weakness in wheat has also had a certain effect. Western 7.87½c. and City 7⅝c. Refined lard has been easier, with trade quiet and confined to local jobbers. Refined Continent 8.30c., South American 9.10c. and Brazil in kegs 10.30c. Speculation in lard futures at the West has been fairly active, with the tone easier on the whole, though packers have given support at times in order to prevent any marked depression. The big receipts of hogs and the dulness of the cash market have discouraged buying for investment.

COFFEE on the spot has been moderately active and steady. Rio No. 7 6⅛@6¼c. West India growths have been in moderate demand and easier; fair to good Cucuta 9⅜@9¾c. Speculation in future contracts has been quiet. But owing largely to an absence of offerings, the tone has been somewhat firmer. Europe has been a small buyer here, principally of March. Local dealers and roasters have bought to some extent. It is still, in the main, however, a waiting market. The closing prices were as follows:

Rosin has been quiet and firmer; common to good strained $3 55.

TOBACCO.—More interest is reported in the domestic leaf market among buyers, owing to the improving financial and trade situation. It is still noticeable, however, that the purchases are confined, as a rule, to small lots. The belief, too, that lower prices are likely to be announced shortly tends to limit the buying to a hand-to-mouth character. Sumatra has been in fair request and firm.

COPPER has been quiet and easy; lake 13¾@13⅞c. and electrolytic 13⅝@13¾c. Lead has been quiet and steady at 3.70c. Spelter has been quiet and steady at 4.45@4.55c. Speculation in cotton for future delivery has been on a fair scale at declining prices. The fall was due largely to fears of a strike in Manchester, sharp "cuts" in cotton goods prices, both in Chicago and New York, the evident overcrowding of the long side and heavy liquidation by the so-called new pool which was credited with recently buying very large quantities of futures. Some fears at one time of a rather bearish ginners' report had also a certain effect, and latterly, too, bearish pressure has been noticeable, and very large spot interests are supposed to have sold heavily. Other Wall Street interests than those identified with the so-called pool have also sold with more or less freedom. The South and Liverpool have latterly disposed of a good deal of cotton and the speculation, from exhibiting a good deal of life at one time last week, has latterly shown a tendency to become somewhat narrower with the elimination of a scattered, but in the aggregate considerable, outside long interest. The smallness of the receipts both at the ports and the interior towns, on the other hand, has at times had a steadying influence, and the same may be said of the firmness of the spot markets at the South, which in not a few instances have remained on a level some 75 to 100 points above that of futures in New York. Rumors, too, which have been circulated from time to time that labor troubles had been settled in Lancashire have also had for the moment a more or less bracing effect. The weekly statistics have likewise encouraged the believers in better prices, the stock at New York is steadily decreasing, and the Census Bureau report on Thursday was very generally regarded as bullish. It stated the quantity ginned up to Jan. 16th as 10,337,607 bales, or 1,838,592 bales less than for the same time last season, and 347,973 more than during a similar period two years ago. The active ginneries were smaller in number than a year ago, but also less than two years ago, when the ginning, as we have seen, was smaller. Crop estimates based on the ginning figures ranged pretty generally from 11,500,000 to 12,000,000 bales, with, perhaps, a slight tendency to crystallize around such figures as 11,600,000 to 11,750,000 bales. The first effect of these ginning figures was to cause some advance, but a renewal of liquidation soon set in and prices dropped sharply. The decline in the stock market has not been without some effect, but in the main the strike rumors, heavy long liquidation and persistent bearish pressure have been the dominating features. To-day prices were irregular for a time but finally broke badly under rumors that the labor conference at Manchester had broken up in a disagreement and that indications pointed to a lockout. Further heavy selling for both sides of the account was also a salient feature. Before the close, however, there was a sharp rally on a report that the labor troubles had been settled. Spot cotton has been dull and weak. Middling upland closed at 11.75c.

BREADSTUFFS.

Prices for wheat flour have been somewhat easier during the week, but the changes as a rule have been slight. Yet the decline in wheat has encouraged buyers to continue to pursue a hand-to-mouth policy in making purchases in the hope of securing more advantageous terms. Mills have shaded quotations in some cases with the idea of stimulating trade, but have met with little success, though at some of the large Northwestern centres a few fair-sized lots have been sold, it appears, partly for export. Rye flour and corn meal have been dull and steady.

Wheat has been affected adversely by increasing Argentine offerings to the European markets and very evident weakness not only in England but also on the Continent. Larger world's shipments have also weighed upon prices. So have continued large receipts at the Northwestern markets, a further increase of some 600,000 bushels in the stock at Minneapolis and dulness of the export trade. The reports about the flour trade, too, have been anything but favorable. Some of the Russian crop reports have been more cheerful, the snow covering having increased. In this country the weather is reported favorable for growing wheat, although in some sections the snow covering is admittedly rather scanty. The speculation under such circumstances has been far from aggressive. On the contrary, there has been persistent liquidation of long accounts, which has had a very evident effect on prices, notwithstanding the fact that some leading operators in Chicago have announced themselves as bullish in their convictions. On Thursday, too, there was a better export demand, encouraged by easier money markets abroad, the Bank of England rate of discount having been reduced to 4%, and also by stronger rates for foreign exchange. Now and then reports of green bugs in Kansas have had some momentary effect. In the main, however, the influences of the week have been of a kind to force prices to a lower level. To-day prices declined early on weak cables, a large increase in the shipments from Argentine to Europe, continued liberal receipts in this country, liquidation and bearish pressure. Stop-loss orders were uncovered and the export trade was quiet. For a time support was lacking. Later on, however, unfavorable crop reports from the Southwest caused active buying for both sides of the account and a quick rally in prices. It is said that green bugs and other pests have been discovered in many parts of the winter-wheat belt of this country. There are also complaints of insufficient snow covering and that the plants have turned brown.

Indian corn futures have declined at times, owing to the depression in wheat. Moreover, the weather during much of the week has been clear and cold, and the movement of the crop has shown a noteworthy increase. A still further augmentation of the movement is expected. At times, however, there has been a fairly active cash demand, largely for export, and this has a tendency to bring about a rally of late. Moreover, there is believed to be a large short interest outstanding, much of it for account of Wall Street operators who took the short side some time ago on the theory that the price was unduly high. These interests have been covering during the week at every opportunity. There has also been more or less commission-house buying. To-day prices were easier at first on cold weather and the depression in wheat, but advanced later on indications of warmer weather and bull support.

Oats for future delivery in the Western market have declined, owing largely to the decline in wheat and scattered liquidation. Moreover, there has been a certain amount of short selling on the idea that prices are too high, though the trading has been very far from being active. Strong Chicago interests are friendly to the long side, and the fear of manipulation restricts trading. Receipts are moderate and contract supplies light. The cash market has been dull. The firmness of corn, however, has had a certain steadying effect on oats at times. To-day oats opened easy, but soon became firmer on a rally in corn and covering. The trading was dull and featureless.

THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

New York, Friday Night, Jan. 24 1908.

The expected reduction in the price of bleached goods was duly made during the early part of the week, and this, with a few minor revisions, has placed the whole market on a level more in keeping with the changed conditions. The question now is whether the bottom has been reached or whether additional circumstances will arise necessitating still further declines. Apart from a decline in the raw-material market, the developments towards the end of the week have been rather in favor of steadier values, and with an unusually large number of buyers in town the market has not only shown an improvement in tone, but has been more active than for some time past. There has been no heavy buying and operations have disclosed considerable cautiousness, but from the number of small orders for goods for early shipment, it is assumed that stocks throughout the country are getting low. Important reductions in prices have been made by New York and Chicago jobbers, and these have been followed by more activity in jobbing circles, orders for important quantities of goods, particularly bleached goods, having been received from the West and South. An encouraging feature of the situation is the improved demand for export, fair sales having been made both to South America and China during the week. As a rule buyers of men's wear woolen and worsted goods are ordering only 50% or less of the quantities taken by them last year, but there is some slight improvement noted in the market.

DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS.—The exports of cotton goods from this port for the week ending Jan. 18 were 3,712 packages, valued at $325,158:

| Other Countries | 747 | 965 | 69 | 2,156 |
| Total | 3,712 | 7,330 | 3,782 | 9,430 |

The value of these New York exports since Jan. 1 has been $557,693 in 1908, against $728,281 in 1907.

With "Fruit of the Loom" 4-4 at 9½c. and "Lonsdale" 4-4 at 9¼c., prominent lines of bleached goods are about 20% lower than the high figures of last year. The extent of the reductions was somewhat of a surprise, but lower lines have been even more radically cut, and the action of sellers has been generally commended. Following the announcement of the revision, business was on a distinctly heavier scale, and it is believed that it will continue to show improvement from now on. Heavy brown drills and sheetings are steadier than they were a week ago, although the volume of business has not been large. Light-weight sheetings have in some instances been lowered to bring them into line, and a fair demand has been noted. Sales to China have included some 2,000 bales of light-weight drills, and South American buyers have taken not only drills but some printed and bleached goods. Denims have been reduced, but other coarse, colored cotton goods are steadily held at the levels previously reported. Linings are slow and somewhat easier, but active efforts are being made to move goods. There has been some small buying of prints, but the spring business so far is considerably below that of last year. Staple ginghams are quiet but steady at the reductions made last week. Print-cloth regulars are ⅛c. lower than last week at 4⅛c., but wide goods are firmer and have been in fair request by both converters and cutters.

WOOLEN GOODS.—Practically all lines of men's wear heavy-weight woolen and worsted goods have now been opened, and with the showing of the better grades buyers are evincing greater interest in the market and are placing orders on a more generous scale. So far less than half the volume of business placed last year has been done this year, but there are indications that before the season is over total sales may prove to be more satisfactory than many had at one time thought possible. Prices generally are lower, but there is a good deal of irregularity, and in some instances the manufacturer has maintained the value of his goods, preferring to close his mill if buyers are not prepared to pay his price. The higher grades are being more firmly held than the lower, and it is reported that some who have made reductions are preparing to advance prices later on. Fair sales of overcoatings have again been recorded during the week, and the amount of business so far booked is regarded as comparatively satisfactory. There has not been much activity in dress goods, but the market is expected to brighten up shortly when a larger number of buyers will be in town. There has been some small buying of fall goods, principally broadcloths and staple worsteds, but the market can not yet be called active. Duplicate orders for spring have been [illegible].

FOREIGN DRY GOODS.—Imported woolen and worsted dress goods have been in fair demand. Silk goods are quiet, and there is little doing in ribbons. Linens hold firm [illegible] are in the between-seasons' period. Burlaps are steadier.

News Items.

New York City.—Real Estate Assessments for 1908.—On Jan. 13 the Department of Taxes and Assessment announced a probable increase of about $472,000,000 in the real estate values of New York City for 1908. The valuation given was $6,176,009,652. These figures, however, are only tentative and subject to reductions as the assessments of individual pieces of property are reduced on complaint. Taxpayers have until Mar. 31 in which to file objections. The figures do not include corporation franchises which are taxed as real estate. On the final rolls last year the assessment of real estate (exclusive of corporation real estate and franchise values) amounted to $5,704,009,652. The estimated figures show the following increases for 1908: $199,000,000 in Manhattan, $43,000,000 in the Bronx, $144,000,000 in Brooklyn, $74,000,000 in Queens and $12,000,000 in Richmond. The tax rate for 1908 is estimated as $16 (per $1,000) as against $14 84 (per $1,000) in 1907.

Bonds Listed.—On January 23 1908 the $35,000,000 4½% corporate stock (three issues) due in 1957, and the $5,000,000 4½% assessment bonds of 1917, sold on Sept. 10 1907 (V. 85, p. 678), were listed on the New York Stock Exchange. On the same day $9,033,000 4% corporate stock due 1957 was also admitted to the stock list. Additional amounts of this issue, together with certain 4% assessment bonds due 1917 will be added to the list on notice from the City Comptroller that the same have been sold and delivered, the total amount to be listed of said 4% corporate stock being $13,000,000 and of 4% assessment bonds $2,000,000.

Territorial Bonds Exempt from Taxation.—Shope, Zane, Busby & Weber, of Chicago, Ill., in response to an inquiry from parties in the West, have given an opinion, which we publish in full herewith, to the effect that bonds issued by municipal corporations in the Territories of Arizona, Oklahoma and Indian Territory (the latter two now forming the State of Oklahoma), pursuant to the Act of Congress of March 4 1898, are tax-exempt by the States or subdivisions thereof the same as United States bonds. The opinion takes the position that the Territories mentioned, being political subdivisions of the United States, bear much the same relation to the general Government as counties bear to States. In other words, a State has no more power to tax the bonds in question than any of those Territories or the United States Government has to tax bonds issued by State municipal corporations. We published in the "Chronicle" of Dec. 14 1907 a similar opinion given by Dillon & Hubbard of New York City in reply to an inquiry received by them regarding an issue of $44,000 bonds put out by Coalgate, formerly in the Indian Territory.

We have your request for an opinion on the right of States to tax bonds issued by municipal corporations in the Territories of Arizona, Oklahoma and Indian Territory, pursuant to the Act of Congress of March 4 1898, entitled "An Act to amend an Act to prohibit the passage of local or special laws in the Territories, to limit Territorial indebtedness, and so forth."

It is the settled law that the United States Government has no power under the Constitution to tax the property or revenue of the States or their municipalities, and likewise and for the same reason, no power to tax the bonds and interest thereon of the States or their municipal subdivisions. Pollock vs. Farmers' Loan & Trust Co., 157 U. S., 429, 584, 6, 601, 3.

The converse of this proposition is equally well established—that a State has no power, by taxation or otherwise, to retard, impede, burden or in any manner control the operations of a constitutional law enacted by Congress to carry into execution the powers vested in the General Government. McCullough vs. Maryland, 4 Wheat., 316; Osborn vs. Bank, 9 Wheat., 738.

The Territories mentioned are political subdivisions of the United States, and their relation to the General Government is much the same as that which counties bear to the State. National Bank vs. County of Yankton, 101 U. S., 129.

The Act of March 4 1898 was passed by Congress pursuant to its constitutional paramount dominion and control, national and municipal, over the Territories (Shively vs. Bowlby, 152 U. S., 1); and the municipal corporations acting thereunder are as much local agencies of the United States as the municipal corporations in a State are State agencies. It necessarily follows, therefore, that a State has no more power to tax the bonds under consideration than any of those Territories or the Government of the United States has to tax bonds issued by State municipal corporations. Grether vs. Wright, 75 Fed., 742.

We accordingly have to advise you that in our opinion the bonds referred to are not taxable by the States.

Very truly yours,
(Signed) SHOPE, ZANE, BUSBY & WEBER.

Texas.—Cash Payments by State.—It will be recalled that, following the panic in October and November, the Texas State Treasury for a time was obliged to suspend cash payments, owing to its inability to obtain cash remittances from the various State depositaries in which the State had its funds deposited. We recently wrote to Hon. Sam Sparks asking him the duration of the suspension, and have obtained from him certain facts which we summarize herewith.

On Oct. 28 1907 the State Treasury had something like $400,000 in Austin exchange, and the Austin banks temporarily suspended payment of the same.

On Nov. 9 1907 the State Treasury Department suspended payment of warrants for the reason that they could not realize on the $400,000 of exchange. At that time the State had $1,500,000 in the thirty-one depositaries in the State, or something like $50,000 in each depositary.

Immediately after the State suspended payment the Treasurer began to draw upon these thirty-one State depositaries, and on Nov. 29 1907 the State resumed cash payment of warrants and has been on a cash basis ever since.

The Treasurer drew drafts on each depositary and every draft was met promptly. The idea that the depositaries refused to meet these drafts is erroneous, it is stated, and neither the State or any individual has suffered from the fact that the State suspended payment for a time.

Washington.—Litigation.—According to the Seattle "Post-Intelligencer" of Jan. 4 the Attorney-General has commenced a friendly suit against the State Auditor to restrain the issuance of $30,000 warrants for repairs to the Capitol building, and $35,000 for the erection of a mansion for the Governor. These issues were authorized by the last Legislature, to be drawn against the Capitol land grant fund. Mr. Austin claimed that bonds were allotted to banks whose bids were considerably lower than the price offered by him. ## THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

Reports are rife of what are called improvements in trade prospects. We do not refer to the event of cold weather, which has no doubt resulted in a much more active dry goods retail trade, and which may also be reflected in the secondary and primary markets later. While we would rejoice as fully of course as the most sanguine over any more general evidences we are forced to say it is mainly when comparison is made with the panic period that we find warrant for them. Compared with the panic stoppage, a good many factories that were then idle are now at work, but by no means as a rule on full time. These changes and the monetary relief which is so complete have been sufficient to give an improved impulse to bond business. That is a fact notwithstanding railroad property is still under a cloud and likely to remain so. Bonds, however, are a purchase at present values, and were it not that the ruling powers seem to be bent on keeping our carriers in a state of bewilderment and unrest, the bond market would develop rapidly. A feature which it is claimed by some railroads may tend for a time to lessen declines in net earnings and declines in dividends is that the abundant earnings of the past three years have enabled the roads to put themselves in a situation physically which will make it possible to keep expenditures down materially for the time being —that is, many of the roads will find it possible to get along with fewer renewals and repairs than in the average of those years, and if let alone by the iconoclasts it is thought dividends may be better preserved than has been feared by many.

No more favorable forecast than is indicated in the foregoing can be safely assumed. Railroads are no doubt under greatly straitened circumstances, and the general outlook at the moment does not encourage a more hopeful promise. The anticipation has become much less bright since the institution by the Government of legal proceedings against Mr. Harriman to break up existing relations between the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific roads. We do not know whether this action is a piece of politics or how far the threats made use of at its start will be carried out. But if we must believe the evident meaning of the words used to express the object sought, nothing less than the segregation of the two properties named is the purpose, and that the principle involved is to be applied to all other systems similarly situated. If that is the correct interpretation of the proceeding, it will be seen at once that what has hitherto been done by Government officials in breaking up railroad interests and dislocating our carrying trade and business affairs is as nothing compared with the destructive work now determined upon. We cannot believe that any such idea is to be carried out. We are inclined rather to interpret the proceeding as a political strike to outclass Bryan and to be left to die like some other conspicuous proceedings the Government has heretofore started against individuals.

As if this were not disturbing enough and sufficiently threatening, the President yesterday sent a special message to Congress indicating in unmistakable language that he does not purpose moderating his course in any degree for the future. Instead of abandoning or modifying any of his theories and notions, he reaffirms them all and adds a number of new ones of such a nature that heretofore they have found advocacy only on the part of those classed as either bigoted or as avowed destructionists. He insists that Government must assume a measure of control over the physical operation of railroads and he would stop gambling by forbidding the use of mails, telegraphs and telephones for such purposes. He does not indicate how such restrictions could be applied, or how it would be possible to differentiate between speculative transactions and legitimate dealings. But it is not worth while going into details or taking up the different points of the message seriatim. It is evident that Mr. Roosevelt has learned nothing from recent lessons and experiences. In dealing with these the message is so intemperate and his utterances so radical and extreme—many of his statements being wholly untenable and without support either in reason or in facts-that they arouse mingled feelings of pity and contempt. It is certainly humiliating to every intelligent citizen that the occupant of the Presidential office should be a man capable of such outgivings and that he should glory in the distinction. One of the telegraphic dispatches yesterday afternoon said that in the House of Representatives the Democrats vigorously applauded the message as it was read. The Republicans, we are told, were silent. There are many others in this great country who will remain silent after reading the message—both in sorrow and in pain.

The past two or more weeks have been notable for conspicuous bank disasters in various parts of the country and also in Canada. These would seem to be almost an aftermath of weeds, the reapings of our panic. In the current week the troubles came nearest home, the Clearing-House institutions of New York being the centre of the disturbance. Sunday morning (Jan. 26) the daily press made public the fact that an intimation was sent out the previous day (Saturday) by the Clearing-House loan committee that the National Bank of North America must take up its loan certificates very shortly; that the Comptroller of the Currency would be in New York to attend a conference of the officers and directors of said bank to determine what action should be taken. Stated in brief, it appeared that the bank was indebted to the Clearing House in the sum of $2,200,000 for Clearing-House certificates, The officers of the Clearing House having made insistent demands for payment, and the bank, as said, not being able to raise the funds needed, the Comptroller assigned Charles A. Hanna, National Bank Examiner, receiver for liquidation. Similarly, three other Clearing-House banks were closed, the New Amsterdam National Bank by the Comptroller Wednesday evening; the Mechanics' & Traders' (State bank) on Thursday; and the Oriental on Friday (also a State bank) by the State Banking Department. It should be said that the officials of these three institutions claimed that there was no question of their solvency, and that the closing was due solely to insufficiency of cash.

The reduction of 1% Jan. 13 in the official rate of discount of the Imperial Bank of Germany and of ½ of 1% on Saturday of last week caused some comment in London and also here in New York when the action was taken by the directors. The earlier reduction in the rate was attributed to political motives. Count Kanitz, an Agrarian leader, interpellated the Chancellor in the Reichstag as to what steps the Government proposed to take to remedy the evils growing out of the high rate of discounts. This interpellation was disturbing because of the institution by the Government of an inquiry into the currency of the country, with the object of discovering defects in the same and suggesting remedies. Another reason was the desire to help the Prussian and Imperial loans; the failure of the former—of which only a third of the sum was subscribed—seeming to show that the German Government will have either to contract its naval program or, if it wishes to make further loans, to raise its rate of interest. A still further cause for the reductions in the discount rates probably was the rectification of the Bank's reserve position, and also the decidedly downward tendency of discounts throughout Europe.

An important statement was made in the Reischstag Jan. 14 by Herr Havenstein, the new President of the Reischsbank, regarding the reserve policy which he intended to pursue. He announced himself unequivocally as in favor of maintaining the policy of his predecessor in respect to the gold standard. The inability of the Bank to maintain a satisfactory gold stock, notwithstanding the relatively large amount of gold circulating in the country, he attributed to the extensive use of gold by the people. He said that the Bank had succeeded in placing in circulation the 75 million dollars of small notes authorized last year, and this, he said, had been a protection to the Bank's gold stock. The President announced at the first meeting of the Central Committee of the Bank at which he presided that proportion of the metal stock of the Bank which consisted of gold; it is believed that the Bank will hereafter publish this information at least monthly, instead of reserving it for the annual report. The amount of gold held at the end of December was, at stated, £24,877,000, out of a total metal stock of £35,200,000.

The threatened extensive lock-out of cotton mill operatives in Lancashire, England, scheduled to begin on Saturday last, was averted on that day by the withdrawal by the employees of their demands and the calling off of the scattered strikes instituted for the purpose of coercing the owners into granting those demands. The trouble now adjusted is not of recent origin, having its inception last summer, and involved the integrity of the Brooklands agreement. The owners all along maintained a consistent position, pointing out that the claims made for increased wages were violative of that agreement and therefore could not be conceded, finally announcing early in January that unless they were withdrawn and the strikes terminated by Jan. 25, a lockout would then be put in force. Up to a late hour on Friday, the 24th, according to cable advices, negotiations had been under way with a view to settling the difficulty which was apparently ended successfully, the operatives giving way; and all trouble was, for the time being at least, averted.

The Brooklands agreement referred to above, and under which labor matters in the cotton-spinning mills of Lancashire have been conducted for nearly fifteen years past, was entered into in 1893, after the close of the disastrous labor trouble of 1892-93, which extended over nearly half a year. The document is eminently fair in its provisions, conserving the interests of employer and employed equally well; and this is clearly attested by its efficacy in averting any serious labor troubles for so long a period. One of its clauses carries the stipulation that no advance or reduction in wages shall at any one time exceed 5%, and must not be made within twelve months of the last preceding revision. The recent friction between employer and employee had to do with that clause. Under it, with the spinning industry highly prosperous the last few years, claims for advances have been made whenever allowable, and since 1899 wages have thus been increased nearly 18%.

Likewise in all the advances the women employed on ring spindles had participated, and they were apparently satisfied. But the leaders of the Card-Room Amalgamation, deciding that the women were entitled to more wages, made demands last summer for increases for them of from 12½ to 17½%. These demands being made almost immediately after the 5% advance granted in June were in practical defiance of the 12-month provision of the Brooklands agreement, as well as exceeding the percentage of increase (5%) that could be asked at any one time. The masters promptly declined to accede to the demands, whereupon the leaders of the Card-Room Amalgamation attempted by a system of coercion to force acquiescence by organizing the scattered strikes already referred to. They were preparing to further extend their method of gaining the end sought when the Employers' Federation decided upon the lock-out as a means of bringing the matter to a head. That the trouble has reached a peaceful solution is cause for gratification; but that there should be any difficulty to adjust is, under the circumstances of the case, the mystery; an agreement drawn up in the interest of labor having been fully lived up to by the employer, every claim for advances, when warranted by conditions, having been granted.

There is very urgent and immediate need for the amendment of one provision of the insurance laws of this State. The law requires radical revision all through, as we show in an article on a subsequent page dealing with the matter quite at length. But there is one section of the law which at the moment is proving so extremely oppressive that the call is for very prompt action on the part of our legislators in order to ward off the very serious injury that must undoubtedly result to the life insurance companies if this particular part of the insurance laws is left in its present destructive and obstructive form. We use the words "destructive" and "obstructive" advisedly, for that is precisely the way in which this particular section is working in its operations. We have reference to Section 100, which controls and regulates the investments of the companies. The language is so stringent and so prohibitory in many respects that the companies are prevented from taking requisite action in protection of their investment holdings. A case has just arisen which illustrates in a striking way the effect of the harmful limitations and restrictions imposed by the statute regarding these investments. It is well known to our readers that the street railway lines on Manhattan Island are practically all in the hands of receivers. The insurance companies hold some of the underlying liens on these street railway properties. Default in interest payments has already occurred in some instances, and will doubtless occur in others. At such a time it is absolutely necessary for the bondholders to come together and unite for mutual protection. But the companies are prevented by Section 100 from entering into arrangements with other parties on joint account, and hence their hands are tied and they can do nothing but sit back and await the inevitable outcome—which may be disastrous.

The special case in point is the default Jan. 1 in the interest payment on the first consolidated mortgage bonds of the Third Avenue RR. Co. This issue was brought out by Kuhn, Loeb, & Co. and was considered a very superior obligation at the time. When, recently, it appeared that the interest due in January would not be met, this banking firm announced that it would itself pay the coupons to bondholders who co-operated with it in protection of the joint interests of all the holders. But by reason of the prohibition in the insurance law, the companies could not take advantage of this very liberal offer, nor could they join with that firm and other bondholders in steps for mutual protection. The Mutual Life holds $2,300,000 of these Third Avenue bonds, the New York Life about $2,600,000 and the Equitable about $1,000,000, and it is estimated that all the life companies combined hold in the aggregate between $7,000,000 and $8,000,000. There are $37,560,000 of the bonds outstanding and $21,272,000 have already been deposited with the committee that is looking after the bondholders' interests. The insurance companies are among those who remain outside, and unfortunately they will have to remain outside while the law continues in its present form; for Attorney-General Jackson has recently written an opinion to the effect that by the language of Section 100 life insurance companies are debarred from parting with their bonds to reorganization committees or from becoming parties in any way to such agreements. Should the law be left unchanged and should foreclosure ultimately follow, the insurance companies, by reason of their failure to join in the reorganization plan, would be unable to obtain any of the benefits resulting from the reorganization. They would have to accept simply their pro rata of whatever the road might bring at foreclosure—usually a mere fraction of the actual value. In the case of one railroad some fifteen years ago, certain first mortgage bondholders who had refused to join in a reorganization got eventually only 20 cents on the dollar. There is another defect in the law as it now exists: the insurance companies could not in case of a reorganization accept stock in part settlement, and yet settlement on such a basis might sometimes be necessary.

In view of this situation, certain of the insurance people have been at Albany recently to convince Governor Hughes and the Legislature that as a mere matter of fairness and justice, the law should be changed in this particular. Many things in the investment section challenge criticism and invite amendment, but in view of the urgency of the present situation it is purposed to limit the bill to the one point of reorganization agreements. In order to avoid raising any other question, it is intended merely to ask the Legislature to add to the section as it now stands a proviso to the effect that nothing in the section shall be construed as preventing a life insurance company from becoming a party to reorganization agreements or from depositing its securities with committees appointed under such agreements or with depositaries designated by such committees or from accepting corporate stocks or bonds which may be distributed pursuant to any plan of reorganization; the companies, however, being required to dispose of any stocks or other securities thus acquired, if not investments already permitted by law, within five years or such further time as may be fixed by the Superintendent of Insurance. This much, certainly, the Legislature and the Governor should grant, even if they are bent on maintaining other parts of the law intact. There seems reason to believe, too, that no obstacles will be thrown in the way of such an amendment, since we must assume there was no thought or purpose on the part of those who promoted the Armstrong Insurance legislation of preventing the companies from taking whatever steps are necessary to protect the interests of policyholders through reorganization agreements.

With the exception of reductions in official rates of discount by the Imperial Bank of Russia from 7% to 6½%, by the Swiss National Bank to 4½% and by the Imperial Bank of Germany from 6½% to 6%, there were no changes in rates this week by other European banks. One feature was a sharp rise in British consols at London, which was regarded as foreshadowing a further reduction in the Bank rate in the near future; the advance in consols was, however, doubtless responsive to an urgent demand for investment in choice securities, which inquiry was noticeable also in other first-class properties.

The Russian Government has authorized the issue of $81,500,000 four-year 4% notes to refund similar securities that were issued in 1903 and 1904. This announcement had a favorable influence on the St. Petersburg Bourse and there was good buying of Imperial 4s and 5s.

Reserves of the New York Associated Banks showed an increase last week of $14,429,025, to $37,064,500 surplus, as the result of a cash gain of $23,673,900, less an increase in reserve requirements of $9,244,875, the latter due to an augmentation of general deposits by $36,979,500; loans were expanded $8,892,000.

Comptroller Metz has decided to offer very soon an issue of 50 millions fifty-year 4½% New York City bonds. The Morgan syndicate of bankers have exercised their option to take all of the 65 millions 6% revenue bonds offered by the Comptroller, as was stated last week, and the time seems now to be propitious for the flotation of issues bearing a lower rate of interest and having a longer life; the Morgan syndicate will probably practically underwrite the issue. It is suggested that these bonds will find a ready market abroad and such disposition of them will probably have much influence on the international exchange situation.

The market for money on call continues to be congested, with the demand entirely insufficient to absorb offerings, and quotations show only fractional changes from day to day. The increasing supplies, as indicated by the bank statement, by the Treasury operations and by the receipts from the interior, contribute to augmented offerings of time money at concessions, though without materially stimulating the demand. With the prospect of continued ease in money on call borrowers are indisposed to make contracts for the shorter periods of maturity and the requirements of lenders for exceptionally good collateral on loans for longer maturities which, could they be effected at the rates offered, would be more desirable to the borrower, tend to restrict business in such loans. The inability of capitalists to place their money at reasonable rates in the loan market has stimulated a large investment demand for securities and corporation collateral notes and bond issues are promptly absorbed at comparatively high prices. Commercial paper is in good request and purchases thereof are reported to be large by banks and other institutions in this city and in the interior.

Money on call, representing bankers' balances, loaned at the Stock Exchange during the week at 2% and at 1½%, averaging about 1¾%; banks loaned at 1½% as the minimum, but trust companies were not in the market with offerings, even at the maximum, this rate being obtainable from the banks in which these companies deposit their balances. On Monday loans were at 2% and at 1½% with the bulk of the business at 2%. On Tuesday and on Wednesday transactions were at 2% and at 1½% with the majority at 1¾%. On Thursday loans were at 2% and at 1¾% with the bulk of the business at 1¾%. On Friday transactions were at 2% and at 1½% with the majority at 2%. Time loans on good mixed Stock Exchange collateral were quoted at 3@3½%, though no business was recorded. The rate for four months was 4½% with a few transactions; one feature was the placing of funds for six months, on exceptionally good collateral, at 4½%. Commercial paper was in good demand at 5½@6% for sixty to ninety day endorsed bills receivable, and for prime four to six months single names; good paper of this period of maturity was quoted at 6@6½%.

The Bank of England rate of discount remains unchanged at 4%. The cable reports discounts of sixty to ninety day bank bills in London 3½@3⅝%. The open market rate at Paris is 2⅞% and at Berlin and Frankfort it is 4½@4⅝%. According to our special cable from London, the Bank of England gained £1,175,187 bullion during the week and held £38,508,150 at the close of the week. Our correspondent further advises us that the gain was due mainly to receipts from the interior of Great Britain, although there were net imports of £258,000. The details of the movement into and out of the Bank were as follows: Imports, £712,000 (of which £300,000 from Egypt, £100,000 from Australia and £312,000 bar gold bought); exports, £454,000 (of which £240,000 to South America, £208,000 to Paris and £6,000 to Gibraltar), and receipts of £917,000 net from the interior of Great Britain.

The foreign exchange market was irregular and only moderately active this week; the partial inertia tended to a recession in rates after an advance early in the week. The market was dull on Saturday of last week, and, compared with the previous day, a shade easier for all classes of exchange. The supply of commercial bills was small on Monday, while bankers' drafts were not abundant. The demand for deferred mercantile settlements which, as then noted, was the feature in the previous week, continued, though there were indications that this inquiry was nearly satisfied. A rise in short sterling to 4 8725, as the result of the above demand and of the insufficiency of bills, and a coincident fall in exchange at Paris on London to 25 francs 16½ centimes, led to some expectations of an export of gold hence to Paris as an arbitration operation if there should be a further advance in our sight exchange rate to figures which would justify such movement. On Tuesday, however, the market became dull on account of a light inquiry for remittance and the tone was easier at the close. On Wednesday bankers were disposed to postpone purchases of bills until Friday, for Saturday's steamers, and the market fell off fractionally. It was somewhat affected by expectations that a New York City bond issue would be announced this week, in which case it was thought likely that there would be opportunity for speculative selling of exchange based upon the probability that part of the contemplated bond issue would be placed abroad. The market was firm on Thursday at a recovery and easier on Friday.

Compared with Friday of last week long sterling declined 25 points on Saturday to 4 8365@4 8375, short 10 points to 4 87@4 8710, and cables 5 points to 4 8755@4 8760. On Monday there was a recovery of 10 points in long to 4 8380@4 8385 and of 20 points in short to 4 8720@4 8725; cables were unchanged. On Tuesday long was 5 points lower at 4 8375@4 8380, short fell 5 points to 4 8710@4 8720 and cables 5 points to 4 8750@4 8755. On Wednesday long was unchanged, while short declined 10 points to 4 8705@4 8710 and cables 15 points to 4 8735@4 8740. On Thursday long rose 10 points to 4 8380@4 8390, short 10 points to 4 8715@4 8725, and cables 20 points to 4 8750@4 8760. On Friday long was 10 points higher and short 20 points and cables 15 points lower.

a The division (between gold and silver) given in our table of coin and bullion in the Bank of Germany and the Bank of Belgium is made from the best estimate we are able to obtain; in neither case is it claimed to be accurate, as those banks make no distinction in their weekly returns, merely reporting the total gold and silver; but we believe the division we make is a close approximation.

b The Austro-Hungarian Bank Statement is now issued in Kronen and Heller instead of Gulden and Kreutzer. The reduction of the former currency to sterling Pounds was by considering the Gulden to have the value of 80 cents. As the Kronen has really no greater value than 20 cents, our cable correspondent in London, in order to reduce Kronen to Pounds, has altered the basis of conversion by dividing the amount of Kronen by 24 instead of 20.

d The total of gold in the Bank of Russia includes the balance held abroad—that is, the amount held for Russian account in other Continental banks. The proportion so held, and consequently duplicated in the above statement, is about one-quarter of the total.

MR. BRYCE ON PRESENT-DAY LEGISLATION.

Speaking to the New York State Bar Association on Friday evening of last week, Mr. James Bryce, the English Ambassador, gave his views on methods and conditions of present-day legislation. The defects and impediments to good legislation were naturally pointed out, with especial reference to this country; but a recital of such shortcomings, which might have been unpleasant coming from any other quarter, were rendered palatable and welcome from the lips of so cordial a freind of American institutions as Mr. Bryce, and were, moreover, made less direct, as a matter of criticism, through the speaker's wealth of illustration derived from the practices of other countries. Mr. Bryce set forth his main contention in the following words:

"The immense increase in the volume of legislation during the last half century is one of the salient features of our time. Pessimists may ascribe it to the spread of new evils or the increase of old evils which the State is attempting by one expedient after another to repress. This is what Tacitus meant when he wrote 'Corruptissima republica plurimae leges.' Or the optimist may tell us that it is an evidence of that reforming zeal which is resolved to use the power of the State and the law for extirpating ancient faults and making every one happier."

As to this general survey of the matter, it may be said that both explanations of the phenomenon are in a measure true, but that they are certainly superseded in our own legislatures, and probably in those of other countries, by the growing disposition of legislators to tinker with everything. Democracy is by no means free from the faults of the old autocracy, under which penal and prohibitive laws in restriction of private privilege made life in the older civilization a continuous period of vexation. There is, no doubt, less tendency in a republic to declare what the people shall and must do; the so-called "sumptuary laws", regulating the daily habits and daily dress, are in their nature repugnant to a self-governing people; but the mass of laws prescribing what people shall not do is undoubtedly greater even than in the days when a despotism aimed at holding a helpless populace in check.

Mr. Bryce sets forth two fundamental porpositions which, in his judgment, must regulate any discussion of the question They are as follows:

"1. There is in all free countries a great demand for legislation on all sorts of subjects, mainly due to the changes in economic conditions and to the impatience of reformers to have all sorts of evils dealt with by law.

"2. The difficulty of framing good laws is enormous, because the work is in most countries no longer the comparatively easy task of repealing old laws which hampered and constrained the citizens—destruction is simple work—but the far harder task of creating a new set of laws which shall guide and help men to attaining the ends they are bent on."

In voicing his own ideas as to how these problems shall be met, the Ambassador made a series of suggestions which may be concisely summed up as follows: Some organized system for gathering and examining materials of legislation ought to be provided; some definite person or body of persons should be responsible in every legislature for the conduct of legislation; details of administration should be left to the executive departments, and bills of a local or personal nature should be differently dealt with from bills of general application; a drafting department should be organized in each legislature for putting all bills, when introduced, into proper legal form; some responsible body ought to be charged with the duty of watching the workings of bills of an experimental sort and reporting on the results; and, finally periodical revision and consolidation of the statute law ought to be carried out so that people may actually know what the existing law of the land actually is.

These, it will be confessed by every one, are drastic recommendations; they might to an extent be described as counsels of perfection. In a measure, all well-conducted legislatures have attempted to meet Mr. Bryce's requirements through their own organization. The committee system of our legislative bodies is in some respects a highly-developed form of such delegated powers. Without their machinery for winnowing out useful from useless propositions, Congress and every State Legislature would be simply swamped with the measures which come before them. So, in a measure, the Congressional habit of entrusting the conduct of debate and legislation, on a given bill, to the committeeman in whose charge it has been placed, goes some distance toward meeting others of Mr. Bryce's suggestions. But that Congress or any State Legislature would be willing distinctly to delegate the general conduct of legislation to any committee or any single member, beyond such power as the Speaker now enjoys, is in the highest degree improbable.

Still more unlikely is it, we think, that such a legislative body would consent to lodging the power of criticism on the working of an enacted bill, and of recalling for revision, with any single committee. If they were to do so, we may be sure that the recommendations of that committee would incur as much opposition and debate as would be occasioned by the introduction of a whole new bill. This assertion is sufficiently proved by the experience of Congress with repeal measures pure and simple. They have been among the most difficult bills to pass in the whole calendar of Congress. As for the separation of bills of local interest from those of general concern, efforts have frequently been made to attain such an end. Unfortunately, their result, while involving much economy of time, has been to ensure a minimum of attention to the minor bills placed in a separate hour of the legislative session. The pension legislation of Congress is a notorious example.

Yet, with all these doubtful considerations, the general principles set forth by Ambassador Bryce must be conceded by every thoughtful citizen. The Congress whose term expires in March 1908 had on its calendar, all told, 25,897 bills in the House of Representatives and 8,627 in the Senate; these exclusive of special resolutions and orders. It is needless to say that no legislature in the world could within the two years during which these measures were submitted give even passing consideration to every one of such a mass of proposed bills. The committee system, to which we have referred already, is the main recourse under such pressure; we are afraid that the neglect even of desirable bills, when they are not backed by strong interests in or out of Congress, is a still more frequent way of escape. The very familiar result has been that measures, sometimes of the first importance, have been unable to get even a preliminary hearing until the last days of a session, when the appropriation bills, which cannot be deferred, have the right of way.

For this situation we can see no remedy except through a determined movement, with or without special machinery, to exclude the unimportant bills from even the consideration of Congress and of the legislatures. In this regard, the British Parliament has an advantage over our own Congress which often impresses the American observer. In that body the Ministry itself prepares and arranges the program of legislative debate for a coming session, and the task of securing consideration for a measure not thus supported is extremely great. Something like this must in the course of time be the recourse of American legislatures. It seems to us that already, in spite of the enormous increase in the number of measures brought up originally for the consideration of Congress, the general tendency is more and more to converge the session's attention on the really important measures. The question remains, whether our present means of achieving this end do not admit of fundamental improvement.

THE POWERS OF CONGRESS REGARDING LABOR UNIONS.

Every one who is desirous of seeing those fundamental principles of freedom and liberty—upon which a republican form of government rests and through which alone it can be made to endure—maintained, must rejoice at this week's decision of the United States Supreme Court holding that Section 10 of what is known as the Erdmann law, and which seeks to prevent inter-State carriers from refusing to employ members of labor unions, is unconstitutional. Even those who believe in the utility and advantages of labor unions cannot fail to share in this conclusion, after considering the grounds upon which the determination of unconstitutionality is based. Next to life itself, the highest privilege possessed by the citizen is personal liberty, and the right of freedom of contract. If by Congressional enactment it is possible to restrict the employer in his right to employ whomsoever he likes and in whatsoever manner he likes, the converse would also hold good, namely that Congress might restrict the employee, the laboring man, in disposing of his labor or services and choosing his employer—preventing him from going whither he chooses, engaging with one employer or with another and acting with good reason, or bad reason, or no reason at all. The Supreme Court says these are inherent rights, guaranteed by the Constitution, and they cannot be taken away from either the employer or the employee by Congressional enactment.

The decision is very broad and comprehensive. In this respect it differs from the decision of three weeks ago with reference to the Employers' Liability law. In that case there appeared to be certain loop-holes in the prevailing opinion through which a new enactment, altered in phraseology but having the same purpose in view, might pass and possibly escape being declared unconstitutional. But in the present decision there are apparently no loop-holes through which a new measure possessing any degree of similarity with the old could escape. We have not yet been able to get a copy of the full text of the opinion, but from the excerpts given in the daily papers it would seem that the provision of the Erdmann law under consideration is repugnant to the Constitution on three distinct grounds: (1) It is an invasion of the personal liberty of the individual; (2) it is an interference with the freedom of contract, and (3) it is an attempt by Congress to exercise powers which do not belong to it, since there is no possible connection between membership or non-membership in a labor organization and the regulation of inter-State commerce, as a part of which function the law was sought to be justified.

The Erdmann law has been on the statute books for nearly ten years, having been approved June 1 1898. It is not a law devoted expressly to the matter which proved the subject of the present controversy. On the contrary, it is a measure for settling disputes between railroads and their employees through the medium of the Inter-State Commerce Commission and the Commissioner of Labor or through the creation of boards of arbitration. Section 10, which is held void, seems to be apart from the main purpose of the bill, or at least has no direct relation to or bearing upon the same. It provides that any employer subject to the Act, and any officer, agent or receiver of such employer who shall require any employee or any person seeking employment, as a condition to such employment, to enter into an agreement, written or verbal, not to become or remain a member of any labor corporation, association or organization; or shall threaten any employee with loss of employment, or shall unjustly discriminate against any employee because of his membership in such a labor corporation, &c. . . . or who shall, after having discharged an employee, attempt to conspire to prevent such employee from obtaining employment, or who shall, after the quitting of an employee, attempt to conspire, &c., shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and be subject to a fine of not less than $100 or more than $1,000. It may be recalled that, two years ago, an attempt was made to enforce a somewhat similar provision which had been inserted in the Penal Code of this State and that our Court of Appeals, with equal promptness, declared the provision invalid, and upon the same grounds—see "Chronicle" of June 30 1906, page 1473.

The present case arose over the discharge by William Adair, an agent of the Louisville & Nashville RR. at Covington, Ky., of O. B. Coppage, a fireman, because of his membership in the Order of Locomotive Firemen. Adair was arrested, and pleaded not guilty before United States Judge Cochran, but was nevertheless convicted and fined $100. The case reached the Supreme Court on appeal. The United States Government intervened and was active in seeking to uphold the legality of the law. This step was taken while Associate Justice Moody was Attorney-General in President Roosevelt's Cabinet. For that reason Justice Moody took no part in the case. Of the remaining eight Justices, six are found on the majority side, and only Justices McKenna and Holmes dissent.

The opinion was delivered by Justice Harlan and is concurred in by Chief Justice Fuller and Justices Brewer, White, Peckham and Day. Justice Harlan holds that Section 10 of the Erdmann Law contravenes the Fifth Amendment of the U. S. Constitution, which provides that no person shall be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law. He argues that Congress has no more right to prohibit inter-State carriers from discharging men because they are members of labor organizations than it has to require them to employ only members of labor organizations, or only those who are not members. It is the opinion of the Court that the Erdmann law in that respect is an invasion of personal liberty as well as of the right of property guaranteed by the Constitution. Such liberty and right embrace the right to make contracts for the purchase of the labor of others, and equally the right to make contracts for the sale of one's own labor; such right of course being subject to the fundemental condition that no contract can be sustained which the law, upon reasonable grounds, forbids as inconsistent with the public interest, or as hurtful to the public order, or as detrimental to the common good.

While, however, the rights of liberty and property guaranteed by the Constitution are subject to such reasonable restraints as the common good or the general wellfare may require, it is not within the functions of government says Justice Harlan—at least in the absence of contract between the parties—to compel any person in the course of his business and against his will to accept or retain the personal services of another, or to compel any person against his will to perform a personal service for another. The right of a person to sell his labor upon such terms as he deems proper is, in its essence, the same as the right of the purchaser of labor to prescribe the conditions upon which he will accept such labor from the person offering to sell it. Continuing, Justice Harlan says:

"So the right of the employee to quit the service of the employer for whatever reason is the same as the right of the employer, for whatever reason, to dispense with the services of such employee. It was the legal right of the defendant, Adair, however unwise such a course might have been, to dismiss Coppage because of his being a member of a labor organization, as it was the legal right of Coppage, if he saw fit to do so, however unwise such a course on his part might have been, to quit the service in which he was engaged because the defendant employed those who were not members of some labor organization. In all such particulars the employer and the employee have equality of rights, and any legislation that disturbs that equality is an arbitrary interference with the liberty of contract which no government can legally justify in a free land.

Of course, if the parties by contract fix the period of service and prescribe the conditions upon which the contract may be terminated, such contract would control the rights of the parties as between themselves, and for any violation of those provisions the party wronged would have his appropriate civil action. And it may be—but upon that point we express no opinion—that in the case of a labor contract between an employer engaged in inter-State commerce and his employees Congress could make it a crime for either party, without sufficient or just excuse, to disregard the terms of such contract or to refuse to perform it. In the absence, however, of a valid contract between the parties controlling their conduct toward each other, and fixing a period of service, it cannot be that an employer is under any legal obligation against his will to retain an employee in his personal service any more than an employee can be compelled against his will to remain in the personal service of another.

It had been urged that authority to make it a crime for an agent of an inter-State carrier to discharge an employee because of membersbip in a labor organization existed in the power of Congress to regulate inter-State commerce without regard to any question of personal liberty or right of property arising under the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution. This suggestion Justice Harlan says can have no bearing in the present controversy unless the statute is a regulation of commerce and the Court could not see that it was. What possible legal or logical connection, he asks, is there between an employee's membership in a labor organization and the carrying on of inter-State commerce? Such relation to a labor organization can not in itself have any bearing upon the commerce with which the employee is connected by his labor and services. One who engages in the service of carrier will, it must be assumed, faithfully perform his duty, whether he be a member or not a member of a labor organization. His fitness for the position in which he labors and his diligence in the discharge of his duties cannot in law or sound reason depend in any degree upon his being or not being a member of a labor organization. It is the employee as a man and not as a member of a labor organization who labors in the service of an inter-State carrier.

Accordingly the Court holds that there is no such connection between inter-State commerce and membership in a labor organization as to authorize Congress to make it a crime for an agent to discharge an employee because of such membership. If such power exists, it is difficult to perceive, argues Justice Harlan, why Congress might not by absolute regulation require inter-State carriers to employ only members of labor organizations or only those who are not members of labor organizations—a power which could not, he said, be recognized as existing under the Constitution. Such a rule of criminal liability could not in any sense, he declares, be regarded as a regulation of inter-State commerce. Furthermore, the power to regulate commerce cannot be exerted in violation of any fundamental right secured by other provisions of the Constitution. All this bears out what was said above, namely that this particular provision of the Erdmann law is in conflict with the Constitution in so many respects that it is difficult to see how it can be revived in any form—the desires of President Roosevelt to the contrary notwithstanding.

THE GOVERNMENT'S SUIT AGAINST THE UNION PACIFIC.

The authorities at Washington, acting through Attorney-General Bonaparte, have instituted a suit against the Union Pacific Railroad Co. intended to deprive that company of its control of certain properties forming an integral part of the Union Pacific system, and also to divest it of its interest in certain other and outside lines not forming part of the Union Pacific system or in any way connected with it. The wisdom and propriety of this step would be open to grave doubt even if confidence in the stability and the future of railroad properties in the United States had not already been severely shaken, and if traffic conditions still continued favorable. As it is, with railroad traffic and railroad revenues in all directions undergoing extraordinary shrinkage, with confidence in the value of the securities of our carrying system seriously impaired by reason of the results of adverse legislation and inimical Government action of various kinds, jeopardizing the very solvency of many of the companies, the effect of the step now taken by the Government cannot prove otherwise than disturbing and furnish additional cause for distrust. For the Union Pacific cannot be regarded as an isolated instance of the kind. If the acts of that company and its management in fortifying and solidifying the Union Pacific system are a transgression of the law, then there are hosts of offenders of the same kind. And if the Union Pacific system is to be disrupted for such cause, then a similar fate awaits many other large railroad systems.

From the decision and action of the Government there is of course no appeal, and we must hence abide the action of the courts, trusting that these, viewing the matter in its proper light, will find no occasion for condemning the acts complained of. In the meantime, however, it will be well to pause and see whither we are drifting and what are the merits of the case against this important company, dominated by the Harriman interests, against which the Government's action appears to be particularly directed. In its bill of equity the Government seeks to set aside the control by the Union Pacific and its subsidiary corporations of the Southern Pacific and of the San Pedro Los Angeles & Salt Lake RR.; also to have declared illegal the ownership of stock in the Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe Ry. and the Great Northern and the Northern Pacific Ry. The suit is brought under the Sherman Anti-Trust Law of 1890, which by Section 3 declares illegal "every contract, combination in form of trust or otherwise, or conspiracy, in restraint of trade or commerce." As we proceed we shall see that the elements of a "combination in form of trust or otherwise" appear to be completely lacking, but the Government contends that a combination was formed for the purpose of obtaining a "monopoly of the transportation business of the country between the Missouri River on the east and the entire Pacific Coast south of Portland on the west,"—which is absurd on its face.

The Government builds anticipations of success in this instance on the decision of the U. S. Supreme Court in dissolving the Northern Securities combination. We cannot of course tell what view of the matter the Supreme Court may take, and we are not unmindful of the fact that in the Northern Securities case the Court laid down the rule that if the mere effect of an Act is to restrain competition, it comes within the condemnation of the statute; but nevertheless there would seem to be little analogy between the circumstances and state of things in the Northern Securities litigation and the situation in the present Union Pacific suit. In the Northern Securities case the company had been formed expressly to hold two existing systems of large size, and these two systems were not only competing carriers, but they served substantially the same territory, and, moreover, they were parallel systems their entire length from the Twin Cities and Lake Superior all the way to the North Pacific Coast. Nothing of the kind exists with reference to the Union Pacific and the lines of which it is sought to deprive it. These acquired properties cannot be said to serve the same territory. The most that can be affirmed is that they lie in the same geographical division. They do not traverse the same or even contiguous territory, and the area between them is of enormous extent. Moreover, these lines, instead of being parallel lines, as were the Northern Pacific and the Great Northern when the legality of the Northern Securities merger came up, are lines needed to round out and complete the Union Pacific system. Both the Northern Pacific and the Great Northern are complete systems in themselves. On the other hand, neither the Union Pacific nor the Southern Pacific is complete in itself. Quite the contrary, one supplements the other, and either would be seriously crippled if by any chance physical connection between the two should be severed.

The Government's suit is of importance only so far as it attacks possession of the Southern Pacific and possibly the San Pedro Los Angeles & Salt Lake RR. As far as the other acquisitions of which it is sought to deprive the Union Pacific are concerned, the outcome of the suit matters little. The Union Pacific exercises no voice at all in the management of either the Northern Pacific or the Great Northern, and the amount of stock owned in either or both is very small. How, under such circumstances, the Government can set up these stockholdings (amounting for the two companies in December 1907 to less than 200,000 shares, whereas the combined capitalization of the two companies, including new stock subscriptions, aggregates 4,500,000 shares) as part of its case for establishing a monopoly of the transportation business, passes our comprehension. The same remark is to be made with reference to the attack on the ownership of shares in the Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe Ry. The Government charges that, as a result of such ownership, two Union Pacific directors have a place on the Atchison board, but the Atchison board altogether consists of fifteen members, and how these two could dominate the board so as to make the Atchison serve Mr. Harriman's alleged purpose of establishing a monopoly, or a combination, or a conspiracy, or anything else in restraint of trade, is extremely difficult to understand unless we assume that the two Union Pacific men possess hypnotic powers, and of this there appears to be no allegation in the bill of complaint. The Union Pacific (or, more accurately, the Oregon Short Line, which the Union Pacific owns and controls) in December 1907 owned just 100,000 shares of Atchison stock, out of the Atchison's entire share capital of 2,171,302 shares.

As far as these various share holdings (except the Southern Pacific and the San Pedro) are concerned, therefore, the matter simply resolves itself into a question whether the Union Pacific has the right and the power, under its charter, to acquire the same; and as the Union Pacific was organized under State laws (the State of Utah), this may be a question beyond the power of the Federal Court to pass on. We notice that the Government does not attack the company's other shareholdings, such as those in the Illinois Central, the Baltimore & Ohio, the New York Central, the Milwaukee & St. Paul, the Chicago & North Western, &c., showing, apparently, that it intends to rest its case on its allegations of an attempt to establish a monopoly in transportation business in the territory west of the Missouri River. As far as this part of the case is concerned, bearing in mind, as just shown, that the Atchison, the Northern Pacific and the Great Northern all exist as independent systems, free from the domination of the Union Pacific or Mr. Harriman, and recalling also that the Milwaukee & St. Paul is building a line to the Pacific Coast, and that the Missouri Pacific, through its Western Pacific, is doing the same thing, the Government's claim seems almost farcical.

This brings us back, therefore, to the possession of the Southern Pacific as the crucial point in the Government's case, and also the crucial matter as far as the integrity of the Union Pacific system is concerned. The Union Pacific could yield up its ownership of the other stocks without suffering in the slightest degree. On the other hand, loss of its hold on the Southern Pacific would almost certainly result in its being crippled in efficiency and strength. The Union Pacific does not own an absolute majority of Southern Pacific stock. Its interest in that property, however, is so large as to allow it to dominate its affairs. The reason why the Southern Pacific is essential to the Union Pacific, and vice versa, will appear when we say that the Central Pacific is included in the Southern Pacific, and the Union Pacific and the Central Pacific together make up what was the first and original trans-continental line to the Pacific Coast. Without the Central Pacific, the Union Pacific would extend only from Omaha, Neb., to Ogden, Utah—in effect it would begin nowhere and end nowhere. The Central Pacific carries the line to San Francisco, for it begins at Ogden, where the Union Pacific leaves off, and runs thence to the Golden Gate.

It may truthfully be declared that, as far as this Central Pacific portion of the Southern Pacific is concerned, acquisition of the Southern Pacific was an act of self-preservation on the part of the Union Pacific and its management. The Southern Pacific purchase was made in 1901. Mr. C. P. Huntington had died a short time previously, and the property was for sale. Even during Mr. Huntington's life-time Union Pacific interests had not felt entirely safe. The Central Pacific and the Union Pacific being interdependent, it was for the manifest advantage of both to co-operate; but suppose Mr. Huntington should take it into his head to make an alliance with some other of the systems that were creeping West and on toward Ogden? What then would be the position of the Union Pacific? Obviously, it would be completely bottled up. The danger was a real one over twenty-five years ago, when the Adams management was in control, and it was this that induced the building of the Oregon Short Line and the acquisition of the Oregon Railway & Navigation Co., thereby giving the Union Pacific a Pacific Coast terminus at Portland. This answered as some measure of protection, but it became increasingly apparent with the lapse of time that it furnished no adequate substitute for a terminus at San Francisco, and no full compensation for a possible loss of the San Francisco connection.

When, in 1901, Mr. Harriman, as the dominant interest in Union Pacific, was confronted by the same danger, the possibility of loss and damage to the Union Pacific through deprivation of its San Francisco connection was infinitely greater. Opposing systems had grown in magnitude, in number and in strength. It was the day of large combinations. It was the time when the railroads were in the heyday of their prosperity, when prices on the Stock Exchange were rising in a phenomenal way, when no amount of money seemed too large to raise, and when a railroad property might be gobbled up over night, and, furthermore, when it actually happened that some large roads were bought up in order to compel those to whom they were absolutely necessary to buy back at a higher price. Suppose Mr. Harriman had not taken over the Southern Pacific, suppose it had passed to one of the rival systems, or suppose it had passed into the hands of a set of speculators and been used to the detriment of the Union Pacific? That was obviously a contingency that those responsible for Union Pacific affairs could not afford to let arise. A similar danger in another direction, though not half so serious, led the Union Pacific interests a short time subsequently to endeavor to get control of Northern Pacific. They did not want Northern Pacific on its own account, but because, jointly with the Great Northern, it had just acquired control of the Chicago Burlington & Quincy, and the Union Pacific people felt that, through such a change in the ownership of the Burlington & Quincy, the Union Pacific might lose an important part of the large business it had for so many years interchanged with the Burlington & Quincy.

The prime motive, therefore, in acquiring the Southern Pacific was to protect the Union Pacific in its San Francisco outlet. Is doing this establishing a monopoly or a combination in restraint of trade, or is it an act done to perpetuate and promote trade? It is undeniable that the Central Pacific forms only a part of the Southern Pacific system—that in addition the Southern Pacific has a line running through Southern California, through New Mexico and Arizona, and on through Texas to Galveston and to New Orleans. It is also true that this latter may in a very remote sense be regarded as a sort of competing route to that made up of the Central Pacific and the Union Pacific. But it is to be said as to this that control of the Central Pacific necessarily carried control of the rest of the Southern Pacific system, and, furthermore, that holding Central Pacific and Southern Pacific in a common fold was the work of Mr. Huntington and not the work of Mr. Harriman or those identified with the Union Pacific. Furthermore it is important to note that the notion that the Southern Pacific's southern route and its central route are in any true sense competitive is a myth. There is some little through trans-continental business destined for the Atlantic Seaboard for which the two might compete actively, supposing them wholly separate, but such traffic is of very small consequence in the aggregate. The two routes lie so wide apart that they serve wholly distinct territories, and, besides, the Southern Pacific lines in Arizona, New Mexico and Texas were built for the express purpose of providing an outlet for special traffic that could not have been developed in any other way. It is inconceivable that Mr. Huntington, the controlling spirit in the Central Pacific, would have built and created the Southern route through New Mexico and Texas if the effect was to be to damage the route via Ogden and Omaha or to divert business from it. This being so, it is entirely accurate to say that the Southern Pacific's through route by way of New Orleans and the other route via Ogden and the Union Pacific are competitive only in very slight degree. The truth is, Mr. Huntington undertook, by means of the lines he built to Galveston and New Orleans, to develop the fruit trade of Southern California and other local productions, and also to promote the carriage of bulky freights, water transportation from the Gulf ports rendering this a cheaper route for shipments than the all-rail through route.

We thus see that in the Union Pacific's acquisition of the Southern Pacific there is little to sustain the charge of an attempt to set up an unlawful combination, considering the matter on its merits. And even from a legal standpoint, and having regard not to the necessities of the Union Pacific but to the consequences and effects of its acquisition of the Southern Pacific, it may with entire accuracy be said that, far from the results of the union of the two properties acting in "restraint of trade or commerce," the precise opposite was the case. For the moment Union Pacific's interests got control, Mr. Harriman proceeded to make the Southern Pacific a physically effective means of transportation, and poured millions upon millions into the property in the same lavish way in which he did into the Union Pacific. Service was thereby improved and cost cheapened, and not only were the communities directly served benefited, but the whole consuming public gained in the same way.

A very strong argument in support of the San Pedro Los Angeles & Salt Lake RR. can also be made. Self-preservation cannot be urged as the motive that dictated that step. But it, too, operated to increase transportation facilities and to promote rather than to restrain trade. The line was projected to extend no further east than Salt Lake City, and yet the task of providing the funds to build it proved an Herculean one and far beyond even Mr. Clark's vast resources. By using several hundred miles of road already built and in the possession of the Union Pacific, the amount of money that had to be provided was substantially reduced, and at the same time it was made an object for the Union Pacific to extend the necessary aid and carry the project to completion. Had Mr. Clark not secured the co-operation of the Union Pacific, the project must have failed.

So the most that can be said is that the Union Pacific has come into the possession of a possible competitor which its own act alone called into being. With its Pacific Coast terminus at San Pedro and the eastern terminus at Salt Lake City, the line could not in any event have become a very formidable competitor, even if it had been possible to raise the money to build it, and the chances are that it would have failed to pay interest on its cost. However, that is not a matter of any consequence from a legal standpoint. The question is simply whether, in taking over Senator Clark's project and providing, itself, the means to carry it to completion (the Union Pacific's investment in it to date reaching $20,000,000), the company committed an act in restraint of trade. To the layman it most assuredly does not look that way.

PROPOSED CHANGES IN THE LIFE INSURANCE LAWS.

The Armstrong laws have now had a year of full and 18 months of partial operation, and their results are apparent, quite justifying the criticisms of the "Chronicle" on them while pending. The figures for 1907 show that, roughly speaking, the progress of life insurance has been put back to that of about fifteen years ago. The companies of this State wrote about 455½ millions in 1907, against 1,100½ millions in 1904; their net loss during 1907 in insurance outstanding was over 107 millions, and they have now 52½ millions less outstanding than at the end of 1904. The position of the outside companies doing business here is in marked contrast, for those companies wrote 568½ millions in 1907 and made a gain in the year of 244½ millions in outstanding insurance; they have also about 874 millions more outstanding now than at the end of 1904.

This result is in part due to the disturbance of the investigation itself, which fell directly on the New York companies; and, next, to the partial disintegration of the agency force; yet much of it is due to the constrictive effect of certain sections in the law which do not apply to companies under other jurisdictions. This State is now in the strange and probably unprecedented position of discriminating against corporations of its own creation. Bad as these laws are, and unfair as between home and outside companies, it is not expedient at present to attempt shaking them off entirely; but it is time to attempt repeal or modification of some of the worst portions, and several of those have been selected against which a movement is expected to be made during the present session of the Legislature. One of these (Section 83) has substantially put an end to writing insurance on impaired lives, sometimes called sub-standard. The reader will readily understand the difficulty of dealing with applicants who do not come up to the usual standard upon medical examination; yet it has always seemed hard to exclude persons who showed (or at least realized) most plainly the need of insurance. There are several ways of dealing with such persons without excluding them outright—to arbitrarily assume that they are older than they really are, or to charge them a higher rate, or to keep account of them in a class by themselves and equalize their cases through "dividends" as time passes upon them. The presumption is that their longevity will be less than the average; then let them await the result, and in the end they will have been treated equitably accordingly to what develops in course of time but could not be foreseen in advance. This is the merest outline, to show the principle, and under it a very considerable business has been done—successful, useful and encouraging. This class of business is not mentioned in the new laws and was never thought of by the framers; but Section 83, aimed at "deferred dividend," which had become an undeserved object of attack by "reformers," "substantially put an end to the issue of insurance on impaired lives," since the reader can perceive how a requirement to make dividends annual interferes with taking a class of such lives and keeping their case in abeyance until time has determined them, as just explained.

So, inasmuch as the sentiment which has been aroused against deferred dividends has not yet had time to abate, the Legislature will be asked to amend by excepting sub-standard risks from the requirement that all policies shall be on the annual dividend basis.

Repeal of Section 96 will be sought, for this sets an arbitrary limit to the new business which may be done in any year. No word need be said now of life insurance as to social betterment, but it is well said that "as one of the forces in society which foster self-respect, cultivate providence, prudence and responsibility, it ought, in common with all kindred movements, to be allowed unlimited opportunity, under full publicity." For a parallel illustration, we suppose nobody would, even now, desire to set a limit to the total volume of savings deposits or to the amount which may be received by the banks, or even by any one bank, in a year. It is still assumed, even in this day of aggressive paternalism, that the individual may be left to decide how much he can and will put by in savings deposits, and it might be assumed that he is the best judge how much life insurance he wants and in what company he will place it. Yet, even if the law tried to meet an imagined danger by limiting the total new deposits receivable in any year by any savings bank, the interference would not be comparable in mischief to the actual limit set up against the insurance company, because the deposits come voluntarily while the insurance must be sought. The New York Life has stopped 15 millions short of the 150 millions granted to it for 1907, but in several months of the summer and early autumn it went beyond that pro rata, and how it managed to slow up and avoid hitting the absurd "dead-line" is a study. What sections of the globe and which agents, and at what times in the year, must be warned from headquarters to go more slowly, and for how long must they stand idle in order to avoid the danger of going over the line. Applications are not obtainable by once asking; business has to be worked up, studied out and planned in advance; perseveringly followed up; and agents have their rights, one of the first being that of judging, as well as the uncertainties of life permit, where they stand and what their prospects are. We will not pursue this line of argument, for it is unnecessary; but if the reader will pause a moment here and imagine himself at the head of a business of similar extent, complexity and character, and then fettered in this manner, he will catch the idea.

As to any business which is legitimate at all, the assumption is that the more it can do, under open competition, the better all around. There is no other business, not even generally-attacked transportation, which has such a condition applied to it; indeed, we think this limiting section stands without parallel in the world.

Section 97, also mentioned for re-discussion, seeks to regulate the cost of new insurance. As this involves somewhat technical matters and the injustice done to agents does not appeal sharply (even though it should) to the general public, we pass this by with the remark that it meddles with administrative details, and while attempting to prevent supposed extravagance has the result of preventing growth.

Section 87, under the Quixotic delusion that policy holders were robbed by accumulation, set a sliding-scale limit on surplus, so-called. We pointed out at the time how contrary this is to the ideas and customs of business, which regard surplus as protective instead of dangerous, and nothing more need be said on this; but recent events have given a very striking comment which was not then foreseen, and the shrinkage in market values of securities during the past year represents a fluctuation almost double the margin which this section allowed the companies for contingencies. Devised to protect policyholders from ill treatment and reduce opportunities for mishandling of funds, this limitation is plainly unsafe and tends towards a technical insolvency. The proper course is to repeal it entirely, for events have proved that this surplus accumulation, which is itself mere unapportioned dividend, and is not true surplus at all according to the common understanding of that term, stands between the companies and a technical insolvency as defined in the statute.

Unwise and unjust taxation of life insurance did not begin with the Armstrong laws and has obtained in practically all the States. Whatever be said of income tax, a fundamental idea of justice forbids selecting one class for application of such a tax and also treating as taxable income that which is not income at all. Taxing life insurance premiums in gross is discriminatory, and it is levying an income tax on gross receipts. The difference between gross receipts and income or profit in business is so palpable that such a tax in life insurance has no word to be said for it, besides its objections on economic and social grounds. It has been maintained for many years, but it must come to the bar of public opinion and be judged.

The foregoing are the features against which life insurance sentiment is especially turned at present, and a complete presentation of the badness of the Armstrong laws would exhaust the reader's patience; yet we cannot refrain from referring to the stock-holding prohibition, which we considered carefully at the time (March 3 and 24 1906). The stocks owned by the Equitable and Mutual were just under 102 millions at book value at the close of 1905 and were reduced only 7 millions in 1906. The reduction in 1907 we are unable to state, but some persons are of opinion that the prospect of enforced sale of the holdings of stocks by the close of 1911 and their non-availability as collateral after that year has had some depressing tendency on prices already. The discrimination which the Armstrong report and laws sought to make between stocks and bonds is most childish. The chances that ownership of stocks might experience disaster or even be obliged to nurse the property or abandon it were treated as if they were certainties which must be met in due course; while bonds were treated as "adequate security to which, upon default, the corporation may resort." At that very date, as we showed, the stocks held were gilt-edged, standing in lump at a considerable per cent over par, while the bonds held were in a lump hardly at par. Long experience has shown that stocks have done quite as well as bonds in the hands of insurance and other financial corporations. The insurance investigation itself showed that the so-called syndicate participations occurred in connection with purchases of bonds, not of stocks, and it is plain to all who have a real acquaintance with such subjects that bonds will always offer as much opportunity for manipulation in purchasing as will stocks.

This ban upon stocks was a sop to the hostile feeling against Wall Street, a feeling which does exist, y t is liable to be over-estimated. As the section stands, stocks must be cleared off in about four years more. The section should be repealed, and the ban on loaning on stock collateral taken off; as for ownership in subsidiary corporations, to simply forbid any company from holding more than say 40% of the total stock of any corporation would suffice, and would also conform to the rule against concentration of investments.

When the Armstrong investigation and report had been completed the real work of public service had been done. Abuses had been stopped; attention had been focused; policy-holders had received warning that they should be less neglectful; publicity had been obtained, and insurance stood in a fierce glow of light. Very little new statute was needed, and that should have been attempted in a cautious and deliberate manner, the aim being to see how little further restriction was clearly necessary. On the contrary, the subject was taken up with a rush as a party one. Persons wholly unfamiliar with the subject framed the bills, all those who had experience being repulsed or listened to only coldly, and for the sake of appearances. Instead of seeking to construct as little new statute as possible, the aim was apparently to construct as much. Every department of life insurance was wound about with withes, practically nothing being left unregulated except the premium rates. Short of a deliberate intention to obstruct and injure life insurance, it is hard to conceive how the framers of these laws could have done worse.

Yet, under the unfortunate influence of a public bad example, several States have followed it, and have in some respects done worse. As the most conspicuous cases, Texas has driven out most of the companies by a law at once intolerable and incomprehensible, and Wisconsin has more recently done the same. The laws of the last few years against railroads have been enacted without foreseeing, or even taking the trouble to inquire, what their effects would be; but we think there has been no particular obscurity about their meaning. Yet the Texas law is unexplained, and some of the best companies have withdrawn because they could neither understand nor get any authority to interpret what it required of them. So of Wisconsin, perhaps more emphatically. The President of the Connecticut Mutual—a company which has always been virtuous, if any company has been—in leaving Wisconsin, after fifty years there, says this in part explanation:

"No one—not even the men who drafted them—knew what these laws signified, and they do not know to this day. Some of them did not know what they contained at the time of their enactment, and are still in ignorance of that vital fact. The officials charged with their enforcement (perhaps with a wise hesitation) admit their ignorance of their real intent, decline to interpret them, or to give any assurances as to how the laws may be construed, or what may be their effect on the companies. The laws themselves are impracticable and unworkable."

The "contained" in the second sentence of the foregoing supplements and intensifies the "signified" in the first, and it is all applicable to the Armstrong laws which set the pace for other States. The wave of misunderstanding and false sentiment which has swept over the country seems to be now on the point of subsidence. The signs are that Americans are beginning to regain their senses and to realize that loudness and rashness of appeal do not make safe leadership.

ANTHRACITE COAL PRODUCTION IN 1907.

The shipments of hard coal from the Pennsylvania mines in 1907 were the heaviest ever recorded in any calendar year, and the increase over the previous year is very large. This increase, however, furnishes no measure of the normal growth of the trade. According to the official statistics, the shipments to market over the different routes during the twelve months of 1907 reached an aggregate of 67,109,393 tons. This compares with corresponding shipments for 1906 of only 55,698,595 tons. On that basis the gain is, roughly, 11½ million tons, or over 20%. When it is borne in mind, though, that comparison is with a year of small totals, the output during 1906 having been reduced by exceptional causes, the large addition here disclosed loses much of its significance.

It will be recalled that in the early part of 1906 the mine workers were engaged in an effort to obtain a further advance in wages. Their agreement with the operators, entered into after the great miners' strike in 1902 (and which was based on the award made early in 1903 by the Anthracite Strike Commission appointed by President Roosevelt), expired April 1 1906, and they were unwilling to enter into a new agreement on the same terms. To be in better position to enforce their demands, Mr. John Mitchell and the United Mine Workers ordered a complete suspension of mining in the Pennsylvania anthracite fields, and this suspension lasted through the whole of April and the first ten days of May. In the end the miners gained nothing, agreeing on May 7 to accept the terms originally proposed by the operators and continue the award made by the Strike Commission (with only slight and insignificant modifications) for another period of three years, to April 1 1909. In the meantime, however, the suspension of mining had worked a great decrease in the output—so much so that for April and May combined shipments to market in that year reached only 3,742,433 tons, as against 11,283,199 tons in the corresponding two months of 1905. This large loss during those months in 1906 was never subsequently recovered, and aggregate shipments for 1906 fell 5¾ million tons below what they had been in the calendar year 1905, when the total reached 61,410,201 tons.

Comparing 1907 with 1905, instead of with 1906, the increase is less than 6,000,000 tons, giving not quite 10% growth for the two years combined. This feature of relatively small growth is additionally emphasized when comparison is extended further back. In 1902, to be sure, the output of anthracite was only 31,200,890 tons, and, contrasted with that figure, the shipments of 67,109,393 tons for 1907 would seem to indicate enormous expansion; but 1902 was the year of the great strike, when, for a period of nearly six months very little coal was mined. The year before (1901) the shipments to market were 53,568,604 tons, and compared with that total the aggregate of 67,109,393 tons for 1907 indicates an addition of a little over 13½ million tons, or 25% roughly for the six years, an average of only a little over 4% a year. The reason for this relatively moderate growth in anthracite at a time when there has been such tremendous expansion in other industries is found, no doubt, in the circumstance that anthracite coal is not employed to any very large extent as fuel for manufacturing—soft coal mainly filling the requirement in that respect—but goes chiefly into domestic and family consumption. Doubtless, also, electricity and gas are to a large extent supplanting coal even for family uses. The 1907 shipments were distributed more evenly among the different months of the year than is ordinarily the case, as will appear from the following table, giving the figures for each month of the last six years.

As concerns the shipments over the different routes, there is an increase of course in every instance over 1906 and also an increase in every case with one exception over 1905. In the ratios, however, there are larger or smaller variations, indicating that no hard-and-fast rule exists for the division of traffic among the different companies, although a good understanding between them is undoubtedly being maintained. The Reading appears to be faring best, its percentage of the total having appreciably increased in the more recent years; for 1907 its ratio was 20.89% as against 19.36% in 1903. The Lehigh Valley, whose figures now include the Coxe Bros' line, namely the Delaware Susquehanna & Schuykill RR., shows some diminution from the percentage reached in 1906. The Central of New Jersey, like the Reading by which it is controlled, has managed to increase its percentage again, bringing it back to about the figures reached in 1905, when it was, roughly, 13%. The Erie is adding a little to its percentage year by year and so is the Pennsylvania RR., but the Ontario & Western has been falling behind. The following furnishes a comparison for the last four years of the shipments over the various routes:

It is of interest to know how tidewater stocks of coal stand. The weather was mild at the close of 1907 and from this one would expect some addition to stocks. This is what we find, tidewater stocks Dec. 31 1907 being reported 731,623 tons against 583,125 tons in 1906; 714,143 tons in 1905; 715,715 tons in 1904 and 714,276 tons in 1903. These figures of course furnish no clue to the quantity of unsold coal that may remain in the hands of dealers and others. On that point there is no information. We add the following table to show the yearly shipments of anthracite for each year back to 1873. It should be understood that these shipments do not include coal used at the mines nor coal sold locally, nor yet the consumption by the anthracite carriers themselves. Probably, to get at the total output it would be necessary to add from 10 to 15% to the figures of shipments.

With respect to prices, there is nothing to say beyond making the statement that quotations were the same as in the years immediately preceding and that the price changes too, as in other years, were in accordance with pre-arranged plans. The custom is to have a fixed schedule, at least as far as family sizes of coal are concerned (on the basis of $5 a ton for egg, stove and chestnut and $4 75 for broken or lump coal), but to allow a rebate from these figures during the spring and summer months, beginning with the 1st of April. The rebate is 50 cents a ton the first month, then drops to 40 cents, 30 cents, 20 cents and 10 cents with each successive month thereafter, until in September the rebate disappears altogether and the full winter schedule goes into effect. During 1907 this custom or rule was rigidly adhered to.

ITEMS ABOUT BANKS, BANKERS AND TRUST CO.'S.

—Spokane, Wash., was designated a reserve city on Jan. 23, under the Act of March 3 1887, as amended by the act of March 3 1903.

—The closing of four local financial institutions, namely, the National Bank of North America, the New Amsterdam National Bank, the Mechanics' & Traders' Bank and the Oriental Bank, marked the course of events this week. The two first-named are to liquidate, but the closing of the Mechanics' & Traders' and Oriental, it is thought, will be only temporary. All of these banks were among the few still indebted to the Clearing House, and their suspension followed closely the notification issued by the Clearing House Loan Committee last Saturday to the effect that the retirement of all Clearing House certificates would be required shortly, it being the intention of the Association, it was understood, to resume the publication of the detailed bank statement on Feb. 8. It was decided, however, at a meeting of the Clearing House committee on Tuesday—after the National Bank of North America had been forced to suspend—to allow the banks more time in which to cancel their certificates, and as a result of this decision, the appearance of the bank statement is expected to be delayed until the 15th inst.

The determination to place the National Bank of North America in liquidation was reached at a conference on Sunday last between William B. Ridgely, Comptroller of the Currency, W. F. Havemeyer, President of the institution, and Bronson Winthrop, counsel for the bank. President Havemeyer had earlier in the day been in session with the directors, discussing the affairs of the bank; the institution had been called upon to meet heavy withdrawals on Saturday, and it was decided that it was not in a position to withstand similar heavy withdrawals to which it was likely to be subjected with the opening on Monday. It was therefore agreed that the best plan to pursue would be to liquidate its business, and the Comptroller was asked to act in accordance with this decision. Mr. Ridgely thereupon issued the following statement:

At the request of the board of directors of the National Bank of North America, the Comptroller of the Currency has ordered the bank to be closed for liquidation, and has appointed National Bank Examiner Charles A. Hanna as receiver. This action of the board of directors was not taken because they considered the bank insolvent, but on account of the difficulty of realizing on the assets of the bank rapidly enough to meet the heavy demands of depositors in the last few days, and probable further large withdrawals feared. The receiver will proceed at once with the liquidation of the bank and the payment of its creditors. It is estimated that all the depositors will be paid in full.

An announcement concerning the decision to wind up the bank was later made by President Havemeyer as follows:

The directors of the National Bank of North America have decided to request the Comptroller of the Currency to assume charge of the affairs of the bank. There had been persistent rumors afloat for the past ten days that the bank would be obliged to liquidate or else go into the hands of a receiver. These rumors, coming apparently from unknown sources, have been so insidious that it was impossible to meet them. They have resulted in a continuous drain on our resources. On Saturday there was a still heavier withdrawal of funds, indicating that on Monday the demand would be increased so that we would not have enough cash in our vaults to meet it. As the committee of the Clearing House announced their intention to issue no more Clearing House certificates, the directors thought it advisable to request the Comptroller to put some one in charge, at least temporarily, so that all our depositors would be treated alike.

I accepted the presidency of the bank temporarily with reluctance at the urgent request of prominent financiers last October at the time when Mr. Charles W. Morse retired as Vice-President. During the panic the bank lost over $10,000,000 in deposits. Its deposits now amount to a little over $3,000,000.

I had hoped to get back a large number of our depositors and so rehabilitate the bank, but the state of our cash reserve and the difficulty on our part of lending money to those who might have returned to us put it out of our power to offer them a sufficient reason for resuming banking relations with us.

In my opinion, the bank is perfectly solvent, and there is every indication that the stockholders will receive par for their stock with a careful and conservative liquidator.

A statement of the condition of the bank on Saturday last showed that it held Clearing House certificates to the amount of $2,200,000. On Wednesday it was said that the indebtedness had been reduced to $1,600,000. Under the call of December 3 the bank reported surplus and profits of $2,075,500. It is stated, however, that this item was reduced about $1,500,000 a few days later under orders from the Comptroller of the Currency, bringing it down to the present figure of $536,345. Its total assets in the statement of a week ago are given as $8,737,829.

The attitude of the Clearing House with regard to the retirement of the loan certificates was set out in the following statement given out on Sunday by William A. Nash, Acting Chairman of the Clearing House Committee:

The National Bank of North America has decided to withdraw from the Clearing House Association and to liquidate under the authority of the Comptroller of the Currency. This retirement of the bank is regarded as the simplest method of liquidation. The exchanges of the bank will not be made at the Clearing House to-morrow morning. While the Clearing House committee regards growing surpluses and improved conditions of the banks as highly favorable to a complete retirement of loan certificates, the statement contained in a morning newspaper that the banks are being forced to retire the certificates has no foundation in fact.

The National Bank of North America is one of the institutions which claimed attention last October; Charles W. Morse was at that time forced to withdraw as its Vice-President and Alfred H. Curtis was replaced as President by William F. Havemeyer, Mr. Curtis becoming Vice-President. The latter, however, withdrew entirely from the management at the recent annual meeting. The bank was founded in 1851, and in Feb. 1901 celebrated its semi-centennial with a dinner at the Metropolitan Club; it was then noted that its deposits had passed the $25,000,000 mark. Mr. Morse came into control of the institution in Dec. 1901, and in 1902 a consolidation of the Bank of the State of New York and the National Bank of North America was effected, the latter's capital being increased from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000, and R. L. Edwards then succeeding Warner Van Norden as President. Mr. Edwards resigned in March 1905, Mr. Curtis thereupon being chosen to the presidency.

—The New Amsterdam National Bank, with whose management Mr. Morse had also been identified up to last October, closed its doors on Wednesday, after experiencing heavy withdrawals since Monday. The unusual calls upon the bank have been attributed by the management to the suspension of the National Bank of North America, this having again directed attention to Mr. Morse's former connection with it. With the continuance of the run on the New Amsterdam up to the close of business on Wednesday, President Frank W. Kinsman Jr. and his attorney, after banking hours, consulted the Clearing House Committee, explaining that it would be impossible for the bank to continue unless assistance was rendered. The Clearing House (which found it necessary to aid the bank in October) was willing, it is said, to give additional time for the cancellation of certificates, but would not permit the payment of debits at the Clearing House by new certificates in lieu of cash. The formal notice of the bank's suspension was posted on its doors on Wednesday night, this stating that it had been closed by the Comptroller at the request of the President, and that the institution had been placed in charge of Bank Examiner Charles A. Hanna. The Comptroller's announcement was as follows:

William B. Ridgely, Comptroller of the Currency, at the request of its President, ordered the New Amsterdam National Bank closed this afternoon and instructed national banking examiners of this city to take charge pending the appointment of receivers. President Kinsman informed the Comptroller's representatives that half of the bank's cash reserve had been depleted by withdrawals and payments in the course of the day It was feared that further heavy demands of depositors would be made to-morrow which the bank would be in no position to meet.

President Kinsman also issued a statement which we quote herewith:

A year ago I was invited, in an effort to rehabilitate the bank, to assume the presidency of the New Amsterdam National Bank, which, as was well known, had suffered a decline in business. From that time the policy of the bank has been a conservative one, not fostering nor influenced by special interests, and of a character not coming in the slightest degree within recent criticism of banking methods.

The stress culminating in the October panic was naturally severely felt. The bank had recovered fully from the effects of the panic and had retired its Clearing-House certificates from $1,705,000 down to $300,000, and the bank was on an upward and successful movement. But the closing of the National Bank of North America attracted renewed attention to the interests which had previously dominated both institutions in their past administrations and started fresh reports of an exaggerated and sensational nature, which necessitated the liquidation of the bank. No loss will be sustained by the depositors and there will be a substantial dividend for stockholders.

Mr. Kinsman has also made public a statement of the condition of the bank, giving its deposits as $2,065,272 and its total assets as $4,482,018; of the last-named, $2,425,441 represents the loans and discounts; prior to the troubles of last October its loans were double this amount. The bank, it is reported, has $650,000 invested in the Saranac Hotel. The capital of the institution is $1,000,000, it having been increased in May 1906 from $500,000 through the declaration of a dividend out of surplus and profits. The holdings of Mr. Morse, who retired as Vice-President in October, were disposed of recently to F. M. Peet, President of the National Deposit Bank of Philadelphia. These holdings, however, amounted only to about 2,000 shares. The New Amsterdam National was organized in 1889 by Frank Tilford and George G. Haven. Mr. Tilford, who for a time served as its President, severed his connection with the institution in 1901, about which time Mr. Morse became identified with it.

—The closing of the Mechanics' & Traders' Bank was also decided upon on Wednesday night. A series of conferences had been held on that day between the management of the institution and members of the Clearing House; as the bank, however, was unable to get the promise of further assistance, and its cash resources appeared insufficient for its needs, it took action placing itself temporarily in charge of the Banking Department. In its announcement regarding the matter, given below, the bank states that its indebtedness to the Clearing House is about $1,900,000, secured by $6,000,000 collateral.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Mechanics' & Traders' Bank, held at the banking office, 565 Broadway, on the evening of Jan. 29 1908, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

"Whereas, the Clearing-House Committee informed the officers of this bank at 5 o'clock this afternoon that the Clearing House had determined to afford no further assistance to any bank, although the Clearing House holds some $6,000,000 of approved collateral of this bank, against which we owe them only $1,900,000; and,

"Whereas, although this bank is absolutely solvent, the cash resources in the possession of the bank make it appear inadvisable for the bank to continue business without such present aid; and,

"Whereas, it is for the best interests of the depositors under the circumstances to avoid any preferential payments to any depositors, all of whom should be treated alike; it is

"Resolved, That this bank do not open its doors to-morrow, and that we communicate with the Banking Department forthwith.

"Further, that it is the intention of the directors to reopen the bank at the earliest possible date."

The bank is reported to have been called upon to meet large withdrawals when banking troubles were at an acute stage, three months ago, and these withdrawals are alleged to have been resumed during the past week. E. R. and

O. F. Thomas were formerly interested in the management, but the resignation of E. R. Thomas as Vice-President and O. F. Thomas as director was announced by President Sullivan in October. Mr. Sullivan, who was President of the Union Bank of Brooklyn, was chosen to the presidency of the Mechanics & Traders' a year ago, and in March last the Union Bank was taken over by the Mechanics' & Traders', which then increased its capital from $700,000 to $1,000,000. At last month's annual meeting Edward M. Grout, formerly City Comptroller, was elected First Vice-President of the bank, and six new directors were elected to the board to take the place of retiring members. Mr. Sullivan stated on Thursday that he will devote all his time to the work of rehabilitating the bank and bringing about a resumption of business, and after this has been accomplished will retire from the management. State funds amounting to $50,000 are deposited with the bank.

—The Oriental Bank of this city failed to open for business yesterday, after an all-day run on Thursday. Bank Examiner G. S. Leonard is in charge of the institution. Although the bank had been offered aid to the extent of $1,000,000 from several other banking institutions, it was decided at a directors' meeting yesterday to temporarily place its affairs in the hands of the Banking Department. An announcement from one of the directors stated that the $1,000,000 offer had been declined "on account of conditions." It is understood that the loan was offered on condition that it be individually guaranteed by the directors of the Oriental, who were also asked to deposit collateral for its security. Some of the directors, it is said, found themselves unable to acquiesce in the plan, being hampered by partnership agreements. The bank is one of the institutions which still held Clearing House certificates. Its statement issued under date of Dec. 31 showed its holdings of such certificates to be $2,411,224; since that date, however, the amount had been reduced, and was reported at about $1,400,000 on Thursday. The capital of the institution is $750,000 and its surplus fund was given as $912,000 on Dec. 31, besides which it reported undivided profits of $290,327. The total assets were then $10,645,561. Hugh Kelly was elected to the presidency in November last, to succeed R. W. Jones, who resigned, following the disclosure of a loan of $250,000 made by the Oriental to the President of the Borough Bank of Brooklyn without the proper authorization, as alleged, of the latter's directors. The headquarters of the bank were formerly located in Grand Street; since the removal of the head office to Broadway and John Street in 1903, the Grand Street office has been operated as a branch. The State Treasurer announced yesterday that the State has on deposit with the institution $100,000 credited to the general State fund and $175,000 to credit of the Canal Fund, both of which are amply secured.

—The petition for the receivership of the several Chicago roads, namely, the Chicago & Milwaukee Electric RR. and the Chicago & Electric RR. of Wisconsin, brought before Judge Grosscup this week, also included the corporation of A. C. Frost & Co., which financed all of President Frost's railway ventures. George M. Seward was named as receiver for the firm. Judge Grosscup issued an injunction restraining the creditors of A. C. Frost & Co. from disposing of their securities.

—The Citizens' Savings & Trust Co. of Long Beach, Cal., suspended this week. The institution has a capital of $250,000. It is said that the bank three months ago availed of the 30-day requirement regarding withdrawal of deposits, and since the expiration of that time unusual demands have been made upon it.

—The Pittsburgh Stock Exchange reopened for business on Monday last, the 27th ult., after a three months' period of suspension, having been closed since Oct. 23. It is stated that there was no tendency to unload stocks with the reopening, and but 281½ shares were the total of the first day's sales.

—In his report submitted to the Senate this week Secretary of the Treasury George B. Cortelyou justifies his action of last November in adopting measures of relief through the issuance of Treasury certificates and Panama Canal bonds. The report was made in response to a resolution of the Senate, and is a very lengthy document. Among other things, the Secretary says:

> The issue of new securities by the Treasury Department was influenced by the conclusion that it was advisable to take some strong and resolute step which would convince the public both at home and abroad that the Government was thoroughly alive to the situation and determined to give its aid in every possible legal and proper form. The most potent weapon at such times in bringing a crisis to an end is often as much one of moral effect as of the definite action taken.
> It was with this view of the situation that the Secretary of the Treasury, in proposing to the President an announcement of an issue of $50,000,000 in 2% bonds for the construction of the Panama Canal and $100,000,000 in 3% Treasury certificates for one year, made the qualification that these amounts should be issued only "if necessary."
> While the pressure upon the banks was not allayed at once by this measure, confidence was so far restored that the premium on currency fell immediately, and bids were received in such volume for both classes of issues that it was not considered necessary to allot even half of the total amount of the two issues.

—In an address delivered at Columbia University last week, James G. Cannon, Chairman of the Clearing-House Committee and Vice-President of the Fourth National Bank of this city, made some excellent suggestions regarding the issue of an emergency currency. During the course of his remarks, Mr. Cannon said:

> I am one of the growing number of bankers who believe that in the adaptation of the Clearing House loan certificates we have the solution of the problem. We do not need more fixed currency in this country, but we need flexibility to meet emergencies such as we have been passing through. This class of currency should be retired immediately as soon as its usefulness is ended.
> The reserve balances of the country banks are, as a rule, kept in the large money centres, and upon these centres they depend for their excess supply of currency. I would, therefore, have in every large city where there is a Sub-Treasury the Clearing House incorporated, recognized by law, and prepared to do business with the United States Government. I would have a "United States emergency currency" printed in large quantities and held under proper safeguards in each Sub Treasury. I would permit the Treasurer of the United States, on proper application, to receive Clearing House loan certificates of the associated banks in any of these cities as collateral security, and advance 50% of the amount of such certificates deposited in emergency circulation to such associations. Such circulation should bear 6% interest so that it would be retired at once when not needed.
> This circulation would cost the banks 12%, as they would be obliged to pay 6% on the full face value of the Clearing House loan certificates taken out. The Clearing House could make rules and regulations for apportioning this currency among its members, and I would have the "United States emergency currency" retired by the deposit of lawful money with the Treasurer of the United States the same as the national bank note circulation is now retired —At a special meeting on Tuesday the directors of the Merchants' Association unanimously accepted and approved the report of the committee on bankruptcy and commercial law in condemnation of the Aldrich Currency Bill now before Congress.

—The Aldrich Currency Bill was reported to the Senate on Thursday. The bill provides that any national banking association having circulating notes outstanding secured by the deposit of United States bonds to an amount of not les than 50% of its capital, and which has a surplus of not less than 20%, may issue additional circulating notes to be secured by the deposit of bonds other than bonds of the United States. In its original draft it contained the provision that the Comptroller of the Currency was to have authority to approve such application, to determine the time of issue and fix the amount of such additional circulating notes. This portion, however, has been stricken out, and a new provision inserted conferring this authority upon the Secretary of the Treasury. A further provision has been added as follows:

> In order that the distribution of notes to be issued under the provisions of this Act shall be made as equitable as practicable between the various sections of the country, the Secretary of the Treasury shall not approve applications from associations in any State in excess of the amount to which such State would be entitled of the additional notes herein authorized, on the basis of the proportion which the unimpaired capital and surplus of the national banking associations in such States bears to the total amount of unimpaired capital and surplus of the national banking associations of the United States. Provided however, that in case the applications from associations in any State shall not be equal to the amount which the associations of such State would be entitled to under this method of distribution, the Secretary of the Treasury may in his discretion, to meet an emergency, assign the amount not thus applied for to any applying association or associations in States in the same section of the country.

The bill has also been amended as regards the amount of notes to be issued against bonds; 75% of the market value is retained as the limit of railroad bonds, but for State and city bonds so deposited the amount has been increased from 75 to 90% of the market value.

There is likewise a change in the clause fixing the limit of circulating notes to be issued; originally $250,000,000, the amount has now been changed to $500,000,000. Where before it was provided that bonds or other interest-bearing obligations of any State, city or county of the United States would be accepted as security for the additional circulating notes, this section has been amended so as to include also bonds of towns or other legally constituted municipalities or districts of the United States. The limit of time within which default in payment of interest or principal may not have occurred is reduced from 15 to 10 years and the limit as to population is entirely removed. The wording as to the permissible list of railroad bonds has been changed so as to read "the first mortgage bonds of any railroad company which in compliance with existing laws reports regularly to the Inter-State Commerce Commission a statement of its condition and earnings, and which has paid dividends of not less than 4% per annum regularly and continuously on its entire capital stock for a period of not less than five years previous to the deposit of the bonds."

A clause has also been inserted stipulating that "it shall be the duty of the Secretary of the Treasury to obtain information with reference to the value and character of the municipal and railroad securities authorized to be accepted under the provisions of this section, and he shall from time to time furnish information to National Banking Associations as to such bonds as would be acceptable as security under the provisions of this Act."

On circulating notes secured by U. S. bonds bearing 2%, the banks are to be required to pay a tax of one-fourth of 1% each half year, the same as now; in cases where the notes are secured by United States bonds bearing a higher rate of interest, the existing provision of a tax of one-half of 1% each half-year is also retained. A change is to be noted in Section 8; this had contained a clause whereby national banks located outside of reserve or central reserve cities, which are now required to keep a reserve of 15% would be obliged to hold at least two-thirds of such reserve in lawful money. This entire portion of the clause is now stricken out of the bill.

—Bills were this week introduced in the New York Legislature relating to the reserves of banking institutions, the proposed changes being in accordance with the suggestion of State Superintendent of Banks, Clark Williams. The new measures require the maintenance of a 25% reserve by State banks in cities having a population of over $800,000 and a reserve of 15% in such institutions located elsewhere in the State; at present the reserve requirement is 15% and 10% respectively. The proposed law fixes the trust company reserve at 15% in New York City. In calculating this reserve, however, deductions are to be allowed from the deposits for "moneys held by it (the company) in trust, which are not made payable under the conditions of the trust within thirty days," and also "time deposits not payable within thirty days and represented by certificates showing the amount of the deposit, the date of issue and the date when due." It is provided that the whole of the reserve must consist of lawful money, gold or silver certificates, or notes or bills. While the law at present requires a reserve of 15%, only one-third need be cash on hand. Outside of New York, trust companies are to be required to keep a reserve of 10%, of which at least 50% must consist of lawful money, the remainder to be money on deposit, subject to call, in a bank approved by the Superintendent. These companies are now required to keep 10% reserve—3% of which must be in cash.

—A. C. Tisdelle, a small Chicago private banker, at 94 La Salle St., made an assignment on Jan. 22 to Charles A. Root, his Cashier. —An interesting comparison of the statements of trust companies in the boroughs of Manhattan, Brooklyn and Queens, as of Jan. 1 1908 and Aug. 22 1907, is made in a cardboard folder just published by Moffat & White, bankers, 5 Nassau St., this city. The amount of the deposits of each of the trust companies at the dates of the two statements, with the changes and percentages of changes, are shown, as well as the book values of the various stocks and the per cent changes in the latter item. The figures, as a whole, present a valuable comparison in very compact form. The bankers are distributing this folder to all applicants.

—The annual banquet of Group VIII. last Monday night at the Waldorf-Astoria was a notable occasion and brought an assemblage of five hundred New York City bankers together for the first time since the October disturbances. The representation of the city's leading institutions and its big financial interests was larger than in other years, while many out-of-town bankers were attracted there. The ladies crowded the two tiers of boxes above the banquet floor. Seated with the Chairman, Alexander Gilbert, at the guests' table were: J. Pierpont Morgan, George F. Baker, Patrick F. Murphy, Nicholas Murray Butler, LLD., Charles F. Aked' DD., William A. Nash, David R. Forgan, Edward Townsend, Charles H. Treat, J. Powers, William Sherer, John T. P. Knight, Hamilton Fish, Comptroller William B. Ridgely, Major-General Frederick Dent Grant, U. S. A., and Dumont Clarke.

Mr. Gilbert, after reviewing the causes of the late panic, advocated an emergency currency based on bank assets. Mr. Gilbert's speech was followed with earnest attention and frequently applauded, particularly his reference to Mr. Morgan's able assistance in the late panic. President Butler of Columbia University spoke on "Bills Payable," and Rev. Charles F. Aked preached a humorous sermon to the text "Overdrafts." Then Patrick F. Murphy, President of the Mark Cross Co., the London leather concern, delivered one of the wittiest after-dinner speeches heard at any of the bankers' feasts recently. David R. Forgan gave "Chicago's View"—an able presentation of his views of recent events and conditions.

It is also agreed that the payment of the claim of Ladd & Tilton (amounting to $607,000) is to be deferred until all depositors as above are paid in full. Mr. Ladd is said to have been prompted to this course on account of his former association with the bank, and because of the further fact that many still believed him to be connected with it.

New York City, Boston and Philadelphia Banks.—The New York City Clearing House has since the panic discontinued issuing its detailed statement showing the weekly averages of condition of the separate banks, both the member and the "non-member" institutions. The last statement issued, that for Oct. 26 1907, will be found in the "Chronicle" of Nov. 2, on page 1124.

The Philadelphia and Boston Clearing Houses also adopted the course of not making public the returns of the individual banks. The publication of the Boston statement, however, was re-commenced on January 25.

Wall Street, Friday Night, Jan. 31 1908.

The Money Market and Financial Situation.—One of the noteworthy developments of the early part of the week in Wall Street was a largely increased activity in bonds, especially of railway and industrial issues, and a corresponding advance in prices. On Monday the recorded transactions at the Exchange were over $6,000,000, par value, as against a recent average of less than $1,000,000, and several issues have sold at from 3 to 5 points higher than last week. This demand for bonds, which continues, although now less conspicuous, shows that the low prices now prevailing for this class of securities are attracting the attention of investors and capitalists. Since Wednesday there has been a reduction in the volume of business done, due in part to the closing of four local banks within the week, and also, perhaps, to a feeling of uncertainty as to the probable recommendations in the President's special message to Congress, sent in to-day.

The Bank of England made another favorable weekly report, and the local money market continues in about the same easy condition as was reported last week.

The open market rates for call loans on the Stock Exchange during the week on stock and bond collaterals have ranged from 1½% to 2%. To-day's rates on call were 1½@2%. Prime commercial paper quoted at 5½@6% for 60 to 90-day endorsements and 5½@6% for best single names; but all transactions subject to special agreement.

The Bank of England's weekly statement on Thursday showed an increase in bullion of £1,175,187, and the percentage of reserve to liabilities was 56.68, against 54.87 last week.

The discount rate remains at 4% as fixed Jan. 23. The Bank of France shows an increase of 3,050,000 francs gold and a decrease of 5,975,000 francs silver.

State and Railroad Bonds.—Sales of State bonds at the Board are limited to $126,000 Virginia 6s deferred trust receipts at 25 to 26.

The market for railway and industrial bonds has been more active and prices have advanced. The transactions have diminished since the early part of the week, when they were on a larger scale than for many months past, and although prices have receded somewhat from the highest figures then reached, a considerable list of active issues shows a net gain of from 1 to 4 points.

Brooklyn Rapid Transit 4s are exceptional in an advance of 4½ points, and the Mexican Central issues are from 3 to over 4 points higher. Interboro-Metropolitan 4½s are up 3 points, and the American Tobacco issues have been notably strong.

On the other hand, New York City 4½s of 1957 have lost a part of the advance noted last week, and a few other less prominent bonds have been barely steady.

United States Bonds.—No sales of Government bonds have been reported at the Board this week. The following are the daily closing quotations; for yearly range see third page following.

Railroad and Miscellaneous Stocks.—In the stock market business has been still further reduced in volume, prices, although generally irregular, have fluctuated within a narrower range than usual, and in most cases net changes are to a fractionally higher level. The general character of the market has been practically the same from day to day, and few exceptional features are noted.

Reading has been by far the most active stock, the transactions in it amounting to over 200,000 shares on at least one day, and after covering a range of over 5 points it closes with a net gain of 3. Brooklyn Rapid Transit advanced nearly 4 points and retains a large part of the gain. St. Paul and Canadian Pacific are each 2 points higher than last week.

Smelting & Refining recovered over 5 points of its recent decline and closes near the highest. Air Brake is 5 points higher; Amalgamated Copper nearly 3 points, Steel preferred 1½ points and other industrial issues show a fractional net gain.

Outside Market.—After a period of activity and improving prices in the beginning of the week, trading in "curb" securities diminished and the market became dull and narrow. The tendency of prices in the later dealings was towards lower levels. Business to a great extent was given over to trading in mining shares. Boston Consolidated Copper from 15¼ rose to 16¾, fell back to 15½ and closed to-day at 16¼. Butte Coalition moved up from 18¾ to 20, then back to 19⅜. Cumberland-Ely from 7½ reached 8¼ but eased off subsequently to 8. Davis-Daly Estates sold up from 5 to 5¾ but later declined to 4¾. Greene Cananea advanced from 8¼ to 9⅜ and ends the week at 9. Nevada Consolidated Copper was strong and made a gain of about a point to 11½, the close to-day being at 11. An improvement in Nevada-Utah from 4¾ to 5⅛ was subsequently lost in a drop to 4⅞. Trinity Copper sold up from 15¾ to 16⅝. United Copper common was comparatively heavy, the price, after advancing from 6¾ to 7⅜, dropping back to 6⅜. Giroux fell from 4¼ to 3½ but sold up again to 4¼. Nipissing ranged between 7¼ and 6⅞, and Goldfield Consolidated between 5 15-16 and 5⅜. Trading in the specialties was limited to few issues. Standard Oil advanced from 4 80¼ to 4 88, then sold off to 482. A recovery to 495 followed, the close to-day being at 494½. Bay State Gas was active and sold between ¾ and 1. Chicago Subway advanced from 17½ to 18¼. Activity in Consolidated Steamship 4s was a feature, the price, after an advance from 10 to 10¼, weakening to 9⅛ attributed to the application for a receiver for the company. To-day the bonds sold up to 9½.

RAILROAD GROSS EARNINGS.

The following table shows the gross earnings of every STEAM railroad from which regular weekly or monthly returns can be obtained. The first two columns of figures give the gross earnings for the latest week or month, and the last two columns the earnings for the period from July 1 to and including such latest week or month. We add a supplementary statement to show the fiscal year totals of those roads whose fiscal year does not begin with July, but covers some other period. The returns of the street railways are brought together separately on a subsequent page.

a Net earnings here given are after deducting taxes

b Net earnings here given are before deducting taxes

c Figures revised for previous year so as to accord with the new classification of earnings and expenses now required by the Inter State Commerce Commission.

d The company now includes the earnings of the Denver Enid & Gulf RR., Pecos Valley system and Santa Fe Prescott & Phoenix Ry. in both years. For December, taxes and rentals amounted to $215,970, against $189,883 in 1906; after deducting which, net for December 1907 was $2,286,014, against $2,620,144 last year. For period from July 1 to Dec. 31, taxes and rentals were $1,418,486 in 1907, against $1,155,691 in 1906.

f Figures here are on the old basis of accounting—not the new, or Inter-State Commerce Commission method, as the latter admits of no comparison with previous year.

h For December 1907 additional income shows a deficit of $4 774, against a deficit of $1,735 in 1906, and for period from July 1 to Dec. 31 was $32,819 in 1907, against $22,071 last year.

k For December 1907 additional income was $16,421, against $23,680 in 1906, and for period from July 1 to Dec. 31 was $86,341 in 1907, against $134,092 last year

z Includes $97 other income for Dec. 1907, against $438 in 1906, and for period from Juy 1 to Dec. 31 includes $596 in 1907, against $2,804 last year; beginning July 1, the earnings of the Dublin & Southwestern RR. are included in both years.

Delaware & Hudson Co.

(Preliminary Statement for Year ending Dec. 31 1907.)

The company has issued a preliminary statement for 1907. The statement says:

The expenses of the coal department include a liberal allowance for sinking fund to cover reduction in the quantity of unmined coal due to coal mined during the year. In accordance with past practice, very liberal charges against operating expenses of the coal department were made to cover the cost of construction, betterments and improvements at the mines, the general policy of the company being to charge such sums to operating expenses rather than to capital account.

During the year the company paid off accrued car trust certificates of 1899 amounting to $150,000 and equipment debentures of 1900 amounting to $200,000, or a total of $350,000, which is not included in the above statement. Similar payments were made and handled in like manner in 1906.

No payments under the frst lien equipment trust of July 1 1907 are due prior to July 1 1908. These payments amount to $650,000 annually; therefore $325,000 has accrued up to Dec. 31 1907.

If these amounts be added to the above "deductions from income," they will give a total of $4,672,819 98, leaving a surplus applicable for dividends of $5,791,173 42 The dividend declared—9% on $42,400,000 stock outstanding—calls for a disbursement of $3,816,000, leaving a balance of $1,975,173 42.

Milwaukee (Wis.) Electric Railway & Light Co.

(Financial Statement.)

Spencer Trask & Co. and N. W. Harris & Co., both of New York, are offering for sale each a block of $100,000 "refunding and extension mortgage" 4½% gold bonds, dated Jan. 1 1906 and due Jan. 1 1931, but redeemable at 108 and interest on and after Jan. 1 1916. A circular says (compare V. 81, p. 1724):

Bonded Debt of the Company.

|---|---|---|
| "Refunding and extension mortgage" 4½% bonds outstanding | | $4,200,000 |
| Reserved to refund the following bonds (all closed mortgages) — | | |
| Milwaukee City RR. Co. 1st 5s due July 1 1908 | $1,000,000 | |
| West Side RR. Co. 1st 5s due Dec. 1 1909 | 500,000 | |
| Milwaukee Elec. Ry. & Lt. Co. cons. 5s due Feb. 1 '26 | 6,500,000 | 8,000,000 |
| Total bonds outstanding | | $12,200,000 |
| In escrow, to be issued after Jan. 1 1908 at not exceeding $1,000,000 per year, for extensions, improvements, acquisitions, &c. | | 7,800,000 |
| Total mortgage bonds authorized | | $20,000,000 |

The company pays regular dividends upon the $4.500,000 6% preferred stock. The $9,000,000 common stock receives dividends at the rate of 6% per annum.

Property.—The company owns and operates the entire street railway and central station electric light and power business of Milwaukee, the total street railway mileage (measured as single track) of the company being about 119 miles.

In addition to the properties in Milwaukee, the company guarantees as to principal and interest the Milwaukee Light, Heat & Traction Co's $5,000,000 bonds, $1,737,000 of which are held in the treasury of the Milwaukee Electric Railway & Light Co. The Traction Company operates the interurban and suburban mileage, owning approximately 180 miles (measured as single track), and connecting Milwaukee with the principal near-by cities, viz.: Wauwatosa, Waukesha, South Milwaukee, Racine and Kenosha, thus making the total street railway mileage of the entire system approximately 299 miles. The Traction Company also owns the street railway and electric lighting and gas systems of Racine and the electric-lighting plants at Wauwatosa, West Allis and South Milwaukee. In 1907 the Traction Company authorized $30,000,000 "refunding and extension mortgage" bonds, dated April 1 1907 due June 1 1937. Of these bonds, $13,000,000 will bear interest at the rate of 5% per annum; the rate on the remainder to be fixed by the directors, but not higher than 5%. Of the $13,000,000 5% bonds, $5,500,000 are reserved to retire the first mortgage 5s at 110 and interest..

It has been the policy of the company for some years to put an arbitrary 10% of gross earnings into a "depreciation reserve fund," and it is believed that the physical condition of the property compares favorably with that of any other street railway and electric-lighting system in the country. The company has accumulated a fire insurance reserve fund of $450,000 and an injuries and damage reserve fund of $350,000, both of which funds are invested in 5% bonds, and are being steadily increased.

The franchises of the Milwaukee Electric Railway & Light Co. for the generation and sale of electricity for light, heat and power purposes are perpetual and cover the entire city. The street railway franchises extend to Dec. 31 1934, and we regard their provisions as fair and reasonable.

The present estimated population of the city is about 330,000, and of the outlying territory tributary to the system, approximately 75,000, thus making a total tributary population of over 400,000. —V. 85, p. 160.

Consolidated Gas Company, New York.

(Statement for Fiscal Year ending Dec. 31 1907.)

No financial statements were made public at the stockholders' meeting on Jan. 27, but Mr. Addicks, the acting President, read the following report of Chairman H. E. Gawtry:

During the past year judicial decisions have been made that affect the Consolidated Gas Co. of New York and likewise the companies whose stock and securities the Consolidated Gas Co. has invested. The Court of Appeals has finally decided in favor of the East River Gas Co. of Long Island City as to its right to construct a tunnel from Astoria under the East River. The United States Circuit Court and Special Master have each decided that the New York City 75-cent gas bill the 80-cent gas bill and the 80-cent order of the former Gas Commission are unconstitutional, and that the law limiting the pressure of gas supplied in service mains to between 1 inch and 2 inches of water is also unconstitutional.

The United States Circuit Court and Special Master have found the reproductive value of the company devoted to public use, the reproductive value of property not immediately so devoted, and the total value of its gas property as follows:

| | By U. S. Circuit Court. | By Special Master. |
|---|---|---|
| Found that devoted to public service | $47,005,845 | $51,357,000 |
| Total value | $54,957,535 | $54,957,535 |

As to the value of the franchise and to the Astoria investment, they were respectively found to be as follows:

| | By U. S. Circuit Court. | By Special Master. |
|---|---|---|
| Franchise | $12,000,000 | $30,000,000 |
| Astoria investment | 12,000,000 | 12,000,000 |

The total value of the Consolidated Gas Co.'s property being $54,957,535, the value of the franchise $12,000,000 and the value of the Astoria investment $12,000,000, all as found by the United States Circuit Court, do not include the value of the securities and stock of other companies owned by the Consolidated Gas Co., which add many millions to the value of the company, considered in its entirety.

On Dec. 31 1907 there had been deposited by the Gas company with the Special Master appointed by the United States Circuit Court the sum of $6,337,340, this amount representing the difference between 80 cents and $1 on all gas sold since the 80 cent gas law went into effect.

There was due the company by the City of New York on Dec. 31 1907 for gas and electricity, without calculating interest, $6,184,341. The plants including Astoria, now being operated in all its departments, together with their respective distribution systems, are in excellent physical condition, equipped to respond to immediate needs, and plans are made of plants to care for future demands of the business.—V. 86, p. 231, 171.

This change reduces by approximately $200,000 per month the earnings reported, as compared with the former method, and correspondingly reduces the charges shown as deductions from earnings for fund reservations. The balance of earnings, after deducting fund reserves, are not affected by the change in method. See annual report, V. 84, p. 634.—V. 85, p. 1466.

Consolidated Steamship Lines.

(Report of Public Accountants).

Gunn, Richards & Co., New York, public accountants, have prepared for the bondholders' protective committee Alvin W. Krech, Chairman, a report on the finances of the Consolidated Steamship Lines and its controlled companies. This report is not yet in final shape, and its conclusions, the committee say, are subject to revision; but pending such revision the following particulars from the report have found their way into print and are reproduced here:

The profits of the controlled companies (after deducting their fixed charges), partly estimated, for different periods ranging from 8 to 12½ months, were found to be sums aggregating $2,144,100. From these results the accountants estimate the net annual profits of said companies by reducing the actual and estimated earnings to a monthly proportion and figuring the 12 months therefrom to be as follows:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Clyde Steamship Co | $658,800 | N. Y. & Porto Rico S.S. Co | $483,000 |
| Mallory Steamship Co | 457,900 | Metropolitan S.S. Co | loss100,000 |
| N. Y. & Cuba Mail S.S.Co. | 734,100 | Eastern Steamship Co | 130,000 |
| Total annual net profits as determined on above basis | | | $2,363,800 |

RAILROADS, INCLUDING STREET ROADS.

Albany & Susquehanna RR.—Referee's Favorable Report Confirmed.—President George P. Butler has made the following statement regarding the suit against the Delaware & Hudson, in which the report of the referee appointed last September (V. 85, p. 721) was recently confirmed by the United States Circuit Court.

Final judgment was entered on Jan. 24 against the Delaware & Hudson Co., requiring the payment of $1,107,923 to the Albany & Susquehanna for arrears of rent. This establishes the construction of the lease in favor of the contention of the Susquehanna stockholders and compels the Delaware Co. to increase its rental payments in the future by the sum of $120,750 a year.

The result of this litigation, therefore, counting interest on arrears, and increased rental for the future, makes a difference in favor of the Albany & Susquehanna Co. of nearly $500 a day.

Entry of final decree at this time makes it likely that the case will be heard and finally disposed of in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals during the coming spring.—V. 85, p. 1004.

Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe Ry.—Ownership of Stock Claimed to be Illegal—Government Suit.—See Union Pacific below.—V. 85, p. 1576.

Calumet Electric Street Ry.—Consolidation Outlook.—As is well known, the officials of these companies some time since agreed upon a tentative plan of consolidation. The "Chicago Inter-Ocean" of Jan. 23 says:

Plans for consolidating the Calumet Electric Street Railway and the South Chicago City Railway companies will not be completed for some thirty days. Appraisers are now at work on both properties. When they report, the general plan for the consolidation will be laid before the transportation committee of the City Council, and these arrangements will be made the basis for a new franchise ordinance which has previously been considered by that body.

Chicago City Railway.—Extra Dividend.—An extra dividend of 2¼% has been declared on the $18,000,000 capital stock, payable Feb. 10 on stock of record Feb. 4. In 1907 the dividend payments were: 2¼% in March, 1½% in June, 1½% in Sept. and 1½% in Dec.

Chicago & Milwaukee Electric RR.—Again in Receivers' Hands.—Owing to the difficulty in selling $250,000 bonds to complete the Milwaukee division, in the face of impaired credit and the failure of the Sovereign Bank of Canada, which was to have placed the bonds, it was decided on Jan. 28 to place the enterprise in receivers' hands. Accordingly, Judge Grosscup in the United States Circuit Court at Chicago appointed the following receivers:

For the railway: W. Irving Osborne, Vice President of the Central Trust Co. of Chicago; D. B. Hanna, Vice President of the Canadian Northern Ry., Toronto, Can., and Albert C. Frost, President of the Chicago & Milwaukee Electric RR. Objection was raised by certain interests to the appointment of Mr. Frost, and on Friday he withdrew. H. A. Haugan, President of the State Bank of Chicago, being suggested as his successor.

As receiver for A. C. Frost & Co., the Court appointed George M. Seward, a broker who formerly was Secretary of the Railway Company.

Four suits were filed by creditors, one at law and three in equity, the receivership of the railroad being based on allegations of insolvency growing out of a judgment taken by Otto R. Hansen of Milwaukee against the railroad on a note for $10,000.

President Frost gave out this statement:

"The direct cause of the receivership is the fact that the credit of the company and the market for its securities were injured by the receivership instituted on New Year's eve, and as a result it became impossible to consummate the sales of bonds which had been substantially completed.

"After conferences between the principal holders of the company's obligations it was decided that a receivership would be the best means of conserving the property and the interests of the bondholders, creditors and stockholders.

"There is only about eight miles of the road to be completed, and more than 50% of this work has been done. The total cost to complete the road will not exceed $250,000."

[There is said to be a floating debt of $500,000, including the $250,000 claim of James H. Gilbert, President of the Metropolitan Trust & Savings Bank, for money loaned. A receivership suit was also brought against the Republic Construction Co., which, it is stated, received $10,000,000 Wisconsin division bonds for $8,500,000 and contracted to build said division, but has failed to complete the work and owes the railroad $300,000.—Ed.). Compare V. 86, p. 107 5].

Chicago Railways.—Purchase of Roads at Foreclosure Sale—Possession Taken—New Mortgage Filed.—Louis C. Krauthoff, George Wickersham and John C. Hately on Jan. 25, representing the protective committee, the only bidder, purchased the properties of the North and West Side lines at foreclosure sale (V. 86, p. 52). They made separate bids amounting to $2,090,000 and also $2,000,000 for the property as an entirety. The 20-year leases to the new company, running to Feb. 1 1927, were signed on Jan. 29 by the receivers of the old companies, thus enabling the former to accept the franchise voted Feb. 11 1907 (V. 84, p. 1123) and take possession. The lease is a formality and will be terminated as soon as the sale is confirmed (V. 85, p. 1645; V. 86, p. 51.)

Mortgage.—The new consolidated mortgage for $37,500,000 to the Merchants' Loan & Trust Co., as trustee, covering all the properties, was executed this week.

First Mortgage Bonds Purchased.—It was announced yesterday that N. W. Harris & Co. and the National City Bank of this city have arranged to purchase $12,000,000 first mortgage bonds provided for in the reorganization plan (V. 85, p. 1269) for the complete rehabilitation of the properties formerly owned by the companies composing the North and West Chicago street railway systems, as well as any additional funds which may be necessary for the further improvement, betterment, extension and equipment of the property. Allen B. Forbes of N. W. Harris & Co. made the following statement:

The bankers will receive for the funds advanced, first mortgage bonds covering the entire system of 300 miles of track, serving without surface competition the north and west sides of the city, embracing territory having a population of 1,580,000.

Under the terms of the new ordinance from the city (V. 84, p. 1123), the city of Chicago has stipulated a value junior to the first mortgage bonds of approximately $39,500,000. This amount enables the Chicago Railways to fully and adequately carry out the provisions of the plan of reorganization, allotting consolidated mortgage bonds in amounts specified in the plan to all holders of bonds deposited under the plan heretofore issued by the companies whose properties constituted the system.

Deposits Under Plan.—Up to Thursday $24,148,000 out of the $25,390,000 various issues of the Chicago Union Traction bonds had been deposited under the reorganization agreement; also $4,383,000 of the $4,390,000 receivers' certificates. Under the terms of the ordinance, the time to make deposits expired Jan. 20 (V. 86, p. 167).—

Officers.—John M. Roach, formerly President of the Union Traction Co., has been elected President and a director. Henry A. Blair is also a director of the new company. —V. 86, p. 228, 167.

Citizens Electric Co., Eureka Springs, Ark.—Receivership.—Henry C. Brent, Vice-President of the Kansas City Trust & Fidelity Co. of Kansas City, Mo., was recently appointed receiver of this company on application by the Kansas City Trust & Fidelity Co., as holder, it is said, of $107,000 of the Citizens' Co.'s bonds, said to be the property of the defunct Citizens' Bank of Eureka Springs. William M. Duncan, formerly President of the Electric Co., was also Presidentof the Citizens' Bank. Compare V. 78, p. 1274; V. 85, p. 1209.

Cleveland Cincinnati Chicago & St. Louis Railway Co.—Annual Statement.—See "Annual Reports."

Dividend Reduced.—The directors on Tuesday declared a semi-annual dividend of 1% on the $47,056,300 common stock, payable March 2 to holders of record Feb. 7. This reduces the annual rate from 4%, as maintained from 1902 to 1907, inclusive, to 2%. Of the common stock $30,207,700 is owned by the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Ry.

Cleveland Lorain & Wheeling Ry.—First Dividend on Common Stock.—This company, operated by the Baltimore & Ohio RR., which owns about 75% of the capital stock (namely, $6,760,700 of the $8,000,000 common and $3,012,700 of the $5,000,000 5% preferred) has declared a first dividend on the common shares, 2½%, payable March 2 to stockholders of record Feb. 1st. The transfer books will not close. The dividend does not cover any stated period.—V. 85, p. 1395.

Columbus (O.) Railway & Light Co.—New Stock for Controlled Company.—See Columbus Edison Co. under "Industrials" below.—V. 85, p. 864.

Consolidated Traction Co., Pittsburgh, Pa.—Offering of 6% Equipment Trusts.—Robert Glendinning & Co., Philadelphia, has purchased and are offering at par and interest (netting the investor 6%) $280,000 6% equipment trust certificates, dated Feb. 1 1908 and maturing in 10 annual installments on Feb. 1 from 1909 to 1918, both inclusive. Trustee, Colonial Trust Co. of Pittsburgh. Secured by 50 new double-truck convertible motor cars, built by the St. Louis Car Co., costing $7,000 each. Cost of equipment, $350,000; cash equity, $70,000. A circular says:

The Consolidated Traction Co. of Pittsburgh is the most valuable street railway property in Greater Pittsburgh. Dividends of 6% are paid on $12,000,000 Consolidated Traction preferred and 1% on $15,000,000 common stock, while the company has no bonded debt of its own. The Philadelphia Co. of Pittsburgh owns a large majority of both the common and preferred shares and has deposited them as security for the Philadelphia Co. consolidated mortgage and collateral trust 5s, of which $15,138,000 are outstanding.—V. 79, p. 627.

Delaware & Hudson Co.—Loan.—The company has negotiated a loan of $6,000,000 with Kuhn, Loeb & Co. and the First National Bank of New York. The loan is in the form of notes in denominations of $10,000 to $50,000, dated Feb. 6 and maturing Aug. 6 1908, carrying 4½% interest. The proceeds will be used to take up a loan for the same amount obtained a year ago for the Quebec Montreal & Southern, guaranteed by the D. & H., which matures on the 6th and 9th of this month. Permanent financing, involving the issuance of a somewhat larger amount of securities, is generally expected to follow at a later day, when general conditions are favorable.

Annual Statement—Reply to Criticism.—In reply to the suggestion that the present dividend rate is not justified, the management has made public the statement of earnings for the calendar year 1907 and 1906, which is given on a preceding page under heading "Annual Reports." An official says:

This statement does not look as though we had had to borrow money to pay dividends with, and this statement would look even better a week from now when one or two dividends of subsidiary lines which are to be declared have been added. If this attack is on the level why do those who make it hide behind these attorneys? Why don't they come out in the open? We believe it to be a stock market attack. A similar attack was started last summer while our President was sick. That was a market attack and failed.

Move by Holders of Convertible Bonds.—Ward, Mellen & Woodbridge, attorneys, of 32 Liberty St., New York, gave notice on Jan. 29 that they have been retained to protect the interests of "the holders of a large amount of the convertible bonds of the Delaware & Hudson Co. and of the Albany & Susquehanna RR." The identity of the bondholders in question is not disclosed.

In a letter addressed to the Public Service Commission for the Second District of New York the attorneys express the belief that the company is paying excessive dividends, that its issues of new securities in recent years has been unduly large, that late acquisitions have been unwise and have been made at extravagant prices, and that one or more of the officials have profited thereby. It is also asserted that the company has a floating debt of $12,000,000. What authority, if any, there exists for these assertions does not appear, but the attorneys desire opportunity to be heard before the Commission gives its approval to any new issues of securities. (See full statement in "New York Sun" of Jan. 30.—(V. 86, p. 228.

Grand Trunk Pacific Ry.—Offering of Debenture Stock in London.—Under date of Jan. 14 the company offered by advertisement in London at 94% of par value a block of £1,000,000 4% debenture stock (ranking pari passu with £1,000,000 of such stock already issued), subject to redemption at £105% by the company at any time after March 1 1936 on giving one year's notice. Interest payable March 1 and Sept. 1. A full half-year's interest on the stock so offered will be paid on Sept. 1 1908. Interest guaranteed by the Grand Trunk Railway Co. of Canada, subject to the terms of an agreement (see terms in V. 84, p. 570). Subscriptions payable £10 per £100 stock on application, £15 on allotment, £20 April 1 1908, £25 May 1 1908 and £24 June 1 1908; or in full on allotment, or on the date for the payment of any installment, under discount at the rate of 4% per annum. An advertisement says:

The proceeds will be applied in the purchase of additional rolling stock for the equipment of the railway. Under arrangements made with the Grand Trunk Company the rolling stock will be used by that company until it is required by the Grand Trunk Pacific Ry., of which it is expected about 800 miles will be ready for traffic during the autumn of this year. This stock forms part of a sum of $25,000,000 in Canadian currency, or its equivalent in sterling, authorized by Chapter 100 of the Statutes of Canada, 1906, of which the directors are empowered to issue £3,000,000 in 4% debenture stock in the terms of a by-law which has been duly passed as required by the Act. (See further particulars in V. 84, p. 570.)—V. 84, p. 1052.

Great Northern Ry.—Ownership of Stock Claimed to be Illegal—Government Suit.—See Union Pacific below.—V. 86, p. 229, 168.

Gulf & Ship Island RR.—Offering of 5% Car Trust Bonds.—Cramp, Mitchell & Shober, Philadelphia, have purchased, and are offering at prices to yield the investor 6¼% per annum, an issue of $460,000 5% car trust coupon bonds dated Feb. 15 1908 and maturing $23,000 semi-annually from Aug. 15 1908 to Feb. 15 1918, both inclusive. Pennsylvania Co. for Insurances on Lives & Granting Annuities, trustee. Tax free in Pennsylvania. A circular says:

These car trust bonds in all amount to $460,000, secured by equipment, as follows: 500 freight cars at $774 each, $387,000; 3 passenger coaches at $6,900 each, $20,700; 1 chair passenger coach at $12,740; 1 combination baggage coach at $5,195; 1 baggage car at $4,755; 2 passenger locomotives at $15,500 each, $31,000; 6 freight locomotives at $15,250 each, $91,500: making total cost of $552,890; the excess, amounting to about 17%, is paid by the railroad company. The company owns and operates 307 miles of standard-gauge road, extending from a connection with the Illinois Central RR. at Jackson, the capital of Mississippi, to Gulfport, Miss., which is one of the most important ports on the Gulf of Mexico. The company has paid 4% dividends for the past five years, and its first mortgage bonds are a legal investment for savings banks of New Hampshire.—Compare V. 85, p. 860.

Houston (Tex.) Belt & Terminal Co.—Houston Terminals.—This company, it is announced, will take over the tracks and other property at Houston now owned by the Gulf Colorado & Santa Fe (Atchison system) as the nucleus of the important terminals to be built, at a cost of several millions of dollars.

The Atchison, St. Louis & San Francisco, Trinity & Brazos Valley and the St. Louis Brownsville & Mexico are all interested. Work on the new buildings is to begin at once. See V. 85, p. 345.

Illinois Central RR.—Financial Plans.—At the directors' meeting on Jan. 29 plans for financing the company's capital requirements were discussed, but action was postponed for a subsequent meeting. If current gossip is correct, an issue of perhaps $10,000,000 or more, either stock, bonds or notes, may be decided upon.—V. 85, p. 1576.

Interurban Railway & Terminal Co., Cincinnati.—New Bond Issue.—This company on Dec. 31 1907 filed a mortgage to the Cincinnati Trust Co., as trustee, to secure an issue of $1,650,000 5% 20-year bonds dated Jan. 1 1908; interest payable July 1 and Jan. 1. The company recently reduced the amount of bonds outstanding under its mortgage dated Jan. 1 1903 from $2,500,000 to $1,650,000, through exchange for $1,000,000 6% non-cumulative preferred stock. The new issue, it is stated, will be used to take up the remainder of the bonds outstanding under the old mortgage. The "Cincinnati Inquirer" of Jan. 24 says that a deal has about been completed by which all except possibly $50,000 of the bonds pass into the hands of George H. Worthington and associates of Cleveland, the common stock remaining practically in possession of the parties who originally owned it.—V. 85, p. 469.

Kansas City Railway & Light Co.—Offering of 5-Year 6% Convertible Collateral Notes.—Kuhn, Loeb & Co. and Blair & Co., both of New York, are offering, by advertisement on another page, at 96% and interest, yielding the investor about 7% per annum, the unsold portion of $4,125,000 6% 5-year convertible collateral gold notes, series "A," due Sept. 1 1912, part of an issue of $5,500,000. The remaining portion of the issue are designated as series "B." and are non-convertible.

The notes are secured by the pledge with The New York Trust Co., as trustee, of at least and of such securities of the subsidiary companies of the Kansas City Railway & Light Co. as are pledged under the indenture of May 15 1903, securing, the first lien refunding gold bonds subject to the prior lien of said indenture

The series "A" notes are convertible on and after Sept. 1 of this year into 6½ shares of the common stock and 7 shares of the preferred stock. The notes are also redeemable at the option of the company at par and interest on eight weeks' notice on any interest date beginning March 1 1909. Dividends on the preferred stock at the rate of 5% per annum have been paid since June 1 1904, the surplus thereafter from the operations of the fiscal year ending May 31 1907 having been $573,668. The earnings, gross and net, show an increase for the current fiscal year. See further particulars in V. 85, p. 284, 339, 469.—V. 85, p. 600.

Louisville Bridge Co.—Decision—Fund Available for Dividend.—The Kentucky Court of Appeals, the court of last resort in the State, reversing the lower court, on Jan. 14 held that the Pittsburgh Cincinnati Chicago & St. Louis is liable to the bridge company for the item of $144,329 claimed by the latter.

This item was reserved in the settlement made on Dec. 12 1903, in the suit brought by the minority stockholders, as the only controversy between the parties, the question being as to the respective liabilities of the Louisville & Nashville and Pitts. Cin. Chic. & St. Louis. The judgment directed to be entered against the Pitts. Cin. Chic. & St. Louis is for $144,329, with interest from Jan. 11 1904. This judgment, when collected, we are informed, will be paid entirely to the bridge company and distributed among its stockholders as a back dividend under the settlement of Dec. 12 1903. No part of it goes to the L. & N. or to any other railroad company except as such railroad company may be the owner of stock in the bridge company. Compare V. 79, p. 2747.

(The) Hudson Companies (Tunnel Railroad), New York City.—Notes Offered.—Harvey Fisk & Sons, New York, are offering at par and interest a block of this company's 6% secured gold notes dated Feb. 1 1908 and due Aug. 1 1910, but subject to call as below stated; interest payable Feb. 1 and Aug. 1. Standard Trust Co., New York, trustee. Issue limited to $15,000,000, secured by deposit of $22,500,000 first mortgage 4½% bonds of the Hudson & Manhattan RR. (V. 82, p. 804), being part of the $51,000,000 of such bonds issued and issuable on account of the company's large terminal building in lower New York (V. 83, p. 1461) and the extensive system of tunnel railways which, except for the portion between 23d and 33d streets, New York, is expected to be completed and in operation about the end of the present calendar year, connecting Jersey City and Hoboken with New York City, as shown by map on page 71 of our "Railway and Industrial" section. An additional block of the first mortgage 4½s is reserved to retire $5,000,000 New York & Jersey RR. first mortgage 30-year 5% bonds due Feb. 1 1932, but subject to call at 110, which are still outstanding.

A circular says in substance:

The Hudson Companies, the construction company formed to build and equip the tunnels, railroads, terminal buildings and power houses of the Hudson & Manhattan RR. Co., has a paid-up capital of $21,000,000, of which $16,000,000, its preferred stock, has been paid in in cash. Of this sum $5,000,000 has been invested in New York City real estate, situated largely at 6th Ave. and 32d and 33d streets, in excess of that covered by the Hudson & Manhattan RR. Co. mortgage, except that such mortgage will cover the railroad company's perpetual right to its underground terminal station to be located on such property.

The notes are secured by the pledge of Hudson & Manhattan RR. Co.'s first mortgage 4½% convertible gold bonds (tax-exempt in the State of New York) at the rate of $1,500 par value of the bonds for each $1,000 note outstanding, that is, $22,500,000 bonds for the entire issue of notes, the bonds themselves being a part of the bonds coming to the Hudson Companies on account of work in process of completion, as hereinafter described.

The notes are subject to redemption on any interest date upon 30 days' notice at par and interest plus a premium of 1% per annum upon the principal from date of redemption to maturity, and the privilege is given to the holder of any note upon redemption or at maturity to receive, in lieu of the money payable thereon, said bonds for the same principal amount as said notes.

The tunnels from Hoboken (including the Hoboken terminal) to 14th St in the City of New York are practically completed. Trial trains have already been run, and the regular service between those points will be opened in a few weeks. A section of the subway between Jersey City and Hoboken remains to be finished; and the downtown tunnels from Jersey City to the Church Street terminal in New York are completed, with the exception of about 1,500 feet, the distance from the New York pier line to the terminal.

The Terminal buildings at Church, Cortlandt, Dey and Fulton streets are rapidly nearing completion, and we are assured that they will be ready for occupancy prior to May 1 next.

Provision has been made in the buildings for appropriate ticket offices, baggage rooms and other facilities for the passenger traffic of the Pennsylvania, the Erie, the Delaware Lackawanna & Western, Lehigh Valley and New York Susquehanna & Western railroad companies, and other railroad companies whose lines terminate at the New Jersey water front.

These buildings are already largely rented upon long leases to a most desirable list of tenants, including the Carnegie Steel Co., American Bridge Co., American Steel & Wire Co., United States Steel Products Export Co., National Tube Co., General Electric Co., American Locomotive Co., Railway Steel Spring Co., American Brake Shoe & Foundry Co., Erie Railroad Co. and Southern Railway Co.

The power house in Jersey City is also nearing completion.

There has been expended by the Hudson Companies to Dec. 31 1907 upon the Hudson & Manhattan system, including tunnels, stations, power houses, terminal buildings, equipment, electrical and other machinery, and expenses incident thereto, the sum of $34,190,164.

The proceeds of the proposed issue of notes, with present available resources, will, according to present careful estimates, complete the terminal buildings, power houses and storage yard, and provide for passenger, baggage and express transportation by a tunnel and subway system from the terminal stations of the railroads mentioned, terminating in Jersey City and Hoboken, and from the territory served by the trolley system of the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey to the Church St. terminal in downtown New York, and by way of Morton, Christopher and Greenwich streets and 6th Ave. to 23d St. in uptown New York. The system, thus described, will, as now planned, be ready for operation about the end of the present calendar year.

The opening of the section on 6th Ave. from 23d St. to 33d St. will await the preparation of the 33d St. terminal.

From the rentals on leases already made, and from a very conservative estimate of the earnings of the tunnel railroad when completed, a net revenue of $4,000,000 per annum can safely be anticipated—an amount largely in excess of all fixed charges.—V. 85, p. 1005.

Missouri Pacific Ry.—Notes Offered.—The unsold portion of the issue of $6,000,000 two-year collateral 6% convertible gold notes referred to at length in our last issue is being offered at 99 and interest by Tailer & Co. as per advertisement on another page. These notes are secured by deposit with the Equitable Trust Co. of New York, as trustee, of $12,000,000 first refunding mortgage 30-year 6% gold bonds of the Kansas & Colorado Pacific Ry., dated Feb. 1 1908, guaranteed, principal and interest, by endorsement by the Missouri Pacific Ry. The notes are convertible at par, at option of the holder into these bonds. The bankers have prepared a map showing the location of the lines of the Kansas & Colorado Pacific Railway, which make a connecting link between the Missouri Pacific system and the Denver & Rio, Grande and, through that system, via the Western Pacific Railroad, will form part of the through line from Buffalo, Pittsburgh, Chicago and St. Louis, via Kansas City, to San Francisco. This map will be found in our advertising columns in connection with the advertisement.

The new mortgage securing the Kansas & Colorado Pacific Ry. first refunding 6% bonds due Feb 1 1928, into which the new notes will be convertible, will provide for the refunding of its present outstanding bonds which are now held by the trustees of the Missouri Pacific Ry. collateral trust 5s 1917 and 1920; also to provide for advances made by the Missouri Pacific Ry. Co., and also for the construction or acquisition of new railroad and also for improvements. (Compare V. 86, p. 629.)

New York City Ry.—Suit Against Metropolitan Securities Co.—Judge Lacombe in the United States Circuit Court on Jan. 27 granted to Receivers Joline and Robinson permission to sue the Metropolitan Securities Co. and eleven former directors of the two companies to recover $2,797,200 and any other sums illegally diverted from the New York City Ry. in connection with the sale of its 10-year debenture notes to the Metropolitan Securities Co. at 70 and the redemption shortly thereafter of the larger part of the notes at their face value or otherwise.

Counsel for the defendants have issued a statement saying there can be no recovery against the directors personally and that the suit involves only an adjustment of accounts between the two companies, the stock of one of which (New York City Ry.) being all owned by the other. The transactions on which the suit is brought are the same, it is stated, as were investigated by the State Railroad Commission in 1906, with the result that the charges based thereon were dismissed.

Judge Lacombe says that the conclusion of the receivers that there should, nevertheless, be a judicial determination of the important questions involved is a proper one, in view of the subsequent insolvency of the road, and that it is manifestly to the interest of all concerned that whatever defence is to be made or explanation offered in respect of transactions which have been the subject of considerable criticism should be presented in a judicial proceeding where the fullest investigation can be made and the rights and equities of all parties in interest adequately protected.—V. 86, p. 169, 108.

New York & Ottawa Ry.—Lease.—The lease to the New York Central & Hudson River RR. Co. in effect since Feb. 1905 has been renewed for one year from Feb. 1908. Compare V. 82, p. 934.—V. 81, p. 265.

Norfolk & Western Ry.—Offering of Convertible Bonds.—Brown Bros. & Co., New York, have issued a circular recommending the purchase of this company's 4% convertible gold bonds, dated June 1 1907. Authorized issue, $34,000,000; outstanding, $14,500,000. (Compare V. 83, p. 1471; V. 85, p. 60.) The circular says:

These bonds are not secured by mortgage, but are a debenture obligation of the railway company. In the indenture it is provided that on any default in interest or principal continuing for 90 days the trustee shall, on the request of the holders of 25% of the total amount of bonds outstanding, declare the principal of the entire issue to be due and payable immediately.

|---|---|
| Construction of branches and subsidiary lines | $5,321,000 |
| Construction of second track, passing sidings, yards and miscellaneous expenditures | 5,266,000 |
| New additions to the quota of equipment | 3,880,000 |

These expenditures are a part of the grand plan of scientific improvements undertaken by the company about six years ago and now drawing near its conclusion. In consequence of the enlargement of yards, reduction of grades, strengthening of line, double tracking, and increase in amount and capacity of equipment, Norfolk & Western has been able to increase its traffic 100% in six years, and to handle it more economically than any other railroad in the world, with one or two possible (and minor) exceptions.—V. 86, p. 109.

Pennsylvania RR.—Increase in Passenger Rates.—In view of the recent decision of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court on the 2-cent fare law, the company announced on Jan. 25 that on Feb. 1 all its passenger rates and ticket forms will be put back on the basis in effect prior to Oct. 1 1907, when the Act became operative. A press dispatch from Philadelphia said:

This means that one-way rates will be lifted again to 2½ cents a mile on all those lines in the Pennsylvania RR. system which come within the scope of the court's decision. The company announced also that the cases of the Northern Central Ry. and the Philadelphia Baltimore & Washington RR. now pending in the Common Pleas Court, will be tried out, and that until a final decision is reached the three-cent maximum rate will apply on these lines.

Semi-officially it was stated for the Philadelphia & Reading Ry. that the company will not now advance its one-way or other fare more than the two-cents-a-mile rate. It is intimated that no action will be taken until the Reading's case is heard and settled.

Both companies announce that all forms of commutation tickets issued prior to Oct. 1 will be sold on Feb. 1 on the same terms, and that after March 1 clerical tickets at half rates will be issued again. Compare V. 86, p. 230.

Union Pacific RR.—Government Suit to Set Aside Control of Southern Pacific and Stock Holdings in Other Roads.—Attorney-General Bonaparte on Saturday last issued the following statement in regard to the Government suit about to be filed.

Defendant Railroads.—The Attorney-General has directed that a bill in equity be filed to set aside the control by the Union Pacific RR. Co. and its subsidiary corporations of the Southern Pacific and the San Pedro Los Angeles & Salt Lake road; also to have declared illegal the ownership by the Union Pacific or the Oregon Short Line of stock in the Santa Fe, the Great Northern and Northern Pacific, all of said lines being competitors of the Union Pacific.

Investigation—Alleged Monopoly.—The Inter State Commerce Commission some time ago conducted an extended investigation into the relations existing between the various lines of roads engaged in trans-continental traffic The conclusions of the Commission after such investigation were summed up in a report which, with the testimony, was submitted to the Department of Justice for its consideration. From the evidence so adduced and from independent investigation, the Department has arrived at the conclusion that the stockholding of the Union Pacific and its subsidiary company in the other corporations mentioned above is in direct violation of the Sherman Act.

The Department regards the suit as of the first importance, as it is sought by means thereof to break up a substantial monopoly of the transportation business of the country between the Missouri River on the east and the entire Pacific Coast south of Portland on the west.

Other Defendants.—Aside from the railway companies above named, the other defendants in the suit are the Farmers' Loan & Trust Co. of New York, which is the depositary of all the stock of the San Pedro road under a contract by which it is required to give proxies to such persons as may be named by Mr. Harriman and Mr. Clark for a period of years. There are also the following individual defendants, who are alleged to have conceived and carried out the conspiracy complained of, to wit: E. H. Harriman, Jacob H. Schiff, Otto H. Kahn, James Stillman, Henry C. Frick, Henry H. Rogers and William A. Clark.

Relations with Southern Pacific.—It appears by the testimony in the possession of the Department that a combination was formed about the beginning of the year 1901 by E. H. Harriman of New York, the President and Chairman of the executive board of the Union Pacific, and certain of his associates, for the purpose of obtaining a monopoly of all trans-continental transportation business. The first move made was the acquisition of sufficient stock of the Southern Pacific Co. to insure its control. That company owned a line of railroad extending from New Orleans and points in Texas on tidewater through California to Portland, Ore.; also another line from Ogden, Utah, to San Francisco. The Southern Pacific had been for years one of the principal competitors of the Union Pacific. As the result of such control by stock ownership the management of the two companies has been amalgamated, and since 1902 a majority of the board of directors of the Southern Pacific have been members of the board of directors of the Union Pacific. Competition between the two companies has been substantially eliminated.

Relations with San Pedro Los Angeles & Salt Lake.—The San Pedro Los Angeles & Salt Lake Road was projected as an independent line by W. A. Clark and his associates to run from San Pedro, on tidewater in California through Los Angeles to Salt Lake City, having connection at that point with the Union Pacific and with the Gould system. After the work of construction was in progress the parties in control of the Union Pacific, by means of harassing litigation designed to prevent the acquisition of necessary rights of way, and by threats of paralleling the line, if constructed, so as to render the same unprofitable, and by other means, induced Clark and his associates to abandon the scheme of an independent road and to join with the Oregon Short Line, taking over certain track owned or controlled by that company in Southern Utah and Eastern Nevada, and giving to the Oregon Short Line an equal stock interest in the San Pedro Los Angeles & Salt Lake Road with that held by Clark and his associates. In addition, traffic agreements and other contracts were made between the San Pedro and various corporations included in the Harriman system, so called, which deprives the San Pedro of its independence and makes it in effect a part of the same system.

Relations with Other Roads.—As to the Santa Fe, which is a competing line with both the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific, it appears that Mr. Harriman and his associates acquired sufficient interest in the Santa Fe so that two members of the Union Pacific board—to wit, Messrs. Frick and Rogers—became and still are directors of the Santa Fe, and the Union Pacific, as a corporation, purchased and still holds a large block of Santa Fe stock. As the result of the close union between these lines competition has to a large extent been destroyed. The Oregon Short Line is also a holder of large amounts of stock of the Northern Pacific and Great Northern railway companies.

In pursuance of the plans of Mr. Harriman and his associates for acquiring control of trans-continental traffic, the Union Pacific in 1901 secured a majority of the stock of the Northern Pacific Ry. Co., which was later turned over to the Nortnern Securities Co. When it was held by the Supreme Court of the United States that it was illegal for the latter corporation to hold the stocks of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific, a distribution was made among its shareholders, as a result of which the Oregon Short Line received from the Northern Securities Co. stocks of both the Great Northern and Northern Pacific. The latter companies are joint owners of the Chicago Burlington & Quincy RR. Co., which is an active competitor of the Union Pacific through a large territory, and the Northern Pacific and Great Northern are likewise competitors of the Union Pacific.

Special Counsel.—The Attorney-General has engaged as special assistants for the purposes of this litigation Frank B. Kellogg and Cordenio A. Severance of St. Paul, who acted as Counsel for the Inter-State Commerce Commission in the investigation referred to.

Mr. Vanderlip Temporarily Replaces Mr. Stillman as a Director.—Frank A. Vanderlip, Vice-President of the National City Bank of this city, has been elected a director of the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific and also a member of the executive committees of the two companies to serve in the next few months during the absence in Europe of President James Stillman.—V. 85, p. 916, 922.

West End Street Ry., Boston.—New Bonds.—The Massachusetts Railroad Commission on Jan. 30 authorized the issuance of $700,000 15-year bonds, bearing not over 5% interest, on account of additions already made.—V. 86, p. 109,53.

INDUSTRIAL, GAS AND MISCELLANEOUS.

American Agricultural Chemical Co.—Maturing Notes Provided for.—The company confirms the statement that it has arranged to take care of the $2,500,000 4½% notes which mature March 1, but will not immediately fund them, believing it wiser to borrow funds temporarily in the expectation that six months later long-term securities will command a much better price.

The gross sales for the half-year which ended Dec. 31 1907 showed a normal increase and the officials state that the financial disturbance has had no apparent effect on the company, collections even during the panic period having exceeded the estimates made early in 1907.—V. 85, p. 724, 403.

American Ice Co.—New Directors.—At the annual meeting on Jan. 30 the following changes were made in the board:

Elected.—Henry C. Ide, Ashbel H. Barney, John Greenough and Charles E. Bedford.
Retired.—W. N. Bavier, Miles O'Brien and L. P. Allen.—V. 86,p. 51,

American Nursery Co., New York.—Purchase.—This New York corporation has acquired all the real estate, property, business and good-will of the well-known F. & F. Nurseries, Springfield, N. J.; the Bloodgood Nurseries, Flushing, L. I. (established 1790); Frederick W. Kelsey, New York City, and the New Jersey & Long Island Nurseries. The capital stock, $100,000, is, it is stated, very small considering the property, resources and earnings. An official says:

These old established and successful concerns will hereafter be conducted as branches of the company under the same local management as heretofore. The company, with its extended nurseries and direct importations of specimen trees, bay trees, boxwood, trained fruit trees, &c., is in position to furnish in wholesale or retail quantities every requisite for the complete planting and decoration of country estates, parks, municipal street planting, forestry departments, orchards, lawns and gardens. The officers are: Frederick W. Kelsey, President; William Flemer, Vice-President and Treasurer; Theodore Foulk, Vice-President; P. H. Goodsell, Secretary.

Arnold Print Works, North Adams, Mass.—Creditors' Committee for all Four Allied Companies.—The following committee has been formed to represent the creditors of the Arnold Print Works and its allied concerns, the North Pownal Manufacturing Co., the Williamstown Manufacturing Co. and Gallup & Houghton.

Charles W. Jones, President of the New England National Bank; Daniel G. Wing, President of the First National Bank, and Simeon B. Chase, Treasurer of the King Philip Mills, Fall River. Robert F. Herrick of Fish, Richardson, Herrick & Neave, 84 State St., Boston, is counsel.

Application to become a party to the agreement should be mailed to the Creditors' Committee, Room 1115, 84 State St., Boston.

All creditors of the four companies are desired to become parties to the agreement prepared by the committee for mutual protection. A consolidated statement of assets and liabilities of all four companies, excluding as assets accounts due from officers of the companies and as liabilities or assets amounts due from the companies to each other, shows:

Total liabilities, approximately $9,000,000; total quick assets, approximately $11,000,000. In addition, the buildings and machinery, exclusive of lands, foundations and tenements, have been appraised by an expert appraiser at a total of approximately $5,000,000, so that the total assets figure in excess of $16,000,000.—V. 86, p. 110.

Association of Licensed Cement Manufacturers.—New Organization Representing "Nearly 70% of the Country's Output."—An exchange has the following:

The Association of Licensed Cement Manufacturers was organized in New York on Jan. 9 by the North American Portland Cement Co., the Atlas, Alpha, American, Lehigh, Lawrence and Vulcanite Portland Cement companies, and various other important companies in the East and West, including the Dexter, Edison, Nazareth, Pennsylvania, Penn Allen and Catskill, all of which have secured licenses under the Hurry & Seaman, Edison, Carpenter and other patents controlled by the North American Co. Other applications for membership have been presented and are under consideration. The officers of the Association are: President, A. F. Gerstell, Vice-President and General Manager of the Alpha Portland Cement Co.; Vice-President, Conrad Miller, President of the Dexter Portland Cement Co.; Secretary and General Manager, Alfonso De Navarro, Vice-President of the Atlas Portland Cement Co.

The purposes of the Association include the general betterment of the mechanical and chemical processes used in making cement, the improvement of the quality of cement, dealing with matters of traffic and shipment, and the establishment of an association laboratory for technical tests and experiments. It is understood that all existing and properly equipped cement plants will be granted licenses and admitted to membership. Infringers of the patents above referred to will be vigorously prosecuted.

Nearly 70% of the output of the Portland cement industry in this country is already represented by the Association.

The North American Portland Cement Co. was organized in the latter part of 1906 (V. 83, p. 1416; V. 84, p. 163; V. 85, p. 287) with a capital stock of $10,000,000, having among its purposes the taking over from the Atlas Company of the Hurry & Seaman and other patents, and the licensing thereunder of Portland cement manufacturers. During the past year the North American Company has been extremely active in prosecuting infringers of its patents and in acquiring other patents for the protection of its licenses.

Another marked advance in the cement industry was due to Thomas A. Edison, who devised new burning kilns, together with several unique methods of fuel consumption. In particular, he designed and had patented a rotary kiln 150 feet long and 7 to 8 feet in diameter, having a daily capacity of from 700 to 1,000 barrels of cement. Until that time the largest kilns in use were 60 to 80 feet long, 5 and 6 feet in diameter, with a capacity of about 200 barrels a day.

The adoption of the long kiln by the Portland cement industry in general, and the consequent infringement of the exclusive patents held by Edison covering it, proved to be a fertile source of litigation, which was only recently terminated by the acquisition by the North American Company of the patents for long kilns, burners and similar apparatus owned by Mr. Edison. (Compare Edison Portland Cement Co. in V. 84, p. 273; V. 78, p. 1277, 105; V. 76, p. 385.)

The Association of Licensed Cement Manufacturers, with its facilities for tests and experiments, its investigation of mechanical and chemical problems, its establishment of standards of quality and its assistance in obtaining proper shipping facilities and rates is expected to be of great service to its members.

Bay State Gas Co.—Purchase of Outstanding Income Bonds.—Receiver George Wharton Pepper, Philadelphia, is now purchasing the $507,000 income bonds at $1,070 each, as authorized by the recent decree of the United States Circuit Court. Compare V. 86, p. 110.

British Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co.—Issue of Debentures.—This company, which early last year (V. 84, p. 223) reduced its share capital from £3,250,000 (£2,500,000 being 6% preferred) to £1,875,000, consisting of £1,500,000 10% preferred and £375,000 ordinary shares, has authorized an issue of £300,000 prior lien debentures to rank ahead of the £1,462,500 4% mortgage debenture stock (£1,241,363 outstanding), of which £675,000 is owned by the Westinghouse Electric & Mfg. Co. See that company below. An editorial in the London "Statist" of Jan. 11, quoting a circular, says in substance:

"At a meeting of the debenture stockholders held on Dec. 18 1907 an issue of £300,000 of such (prior lien) debentures was authorized. In order that the whole of this amount might be available for present and future needs, the American companies agreed to accept in liquidation of the £186,374 owed to them Traction & Power Securities Co. shares (and assets of the company) at par." The issue of £300,000 of prior lien debentures is required for the purpose of repaying advances from bankers, expected to be reduced by February and March to £100,000, to meet the accounts now due to the extent of £110,000, and to meet additional requirements on account of the expansion of business to the extent of £90,000 The directors have decided to change from July 31 to Dec. 31 the termination of the financial year. Consequently, the next accounts to be presented will cover two periods—one from Aug. 1 1906 to Dec 31 1906 and another from Jan. 1 1907 to Dec. 31 1907. The eleven months ending Nov. 30 1907 show a trading profit of £76,000 and a net profit of £17,780, after providing for interest on loans and debenture interest. This compares with a trading profit of £7,630 and a net loss of £44,745, respectively, for the twelve months to July 31 1906. Compare last annual report in V. 85, p. 156.—V. 85, p. 1578.

Columbus (O.) Edison Co.—New Stock.—The shareholders will meet on March 2 to vote on authorizing additional common and preferred stock, the amount to be determined at the meeting of stockholders.

A block of $100 000 preferred stock was recently offered to the shareholders at par, the subscription books closing Jan. 24, over $50,000 thereof, it is stated, having been subscribed for. The authorized capital stock is now, it appears, $450,000 common and $550,000 6% cumulative preferred. An officer of the company was quoted on Jan. 18 as saying: "The $100,000 of preferred stock now being offered to stockholders will be used to reimburse the Columbus Railway & Light Co. for money expended on our plants. The proposed increase will be for the same purpose."—V. 76, p. 1145.

Consolidated Gas Co., New York.—Annual Statement.—See "Annual Reports" on a preceding page.

New Trustees.—The following new trustees were chosen at the annual meeting on Sept. 27: Samuel Sloan, to succeed the late Samuel Sloan Sr.; Moses Taylor, to succeed Moses Taylor Pyne; W. R. Addicks, to succeed J. Augustus Schermerhorn. The remaining ten trustees were re-elected.—V. 86, p. 231, 171.

Consolidated Steamship Lines.—Application for Receiver.—With the approval of the protective committee representing the 4% collateral trust bonds of the Consolidated Steamship Lines, a bill in equity was filed on Thursday in the United States Circuit Court of Portland, Me., and ancillary bills in Massachusetts and New York, applying for the appointment of receivers for the Metropolitan and the Eastern Steamship companies and the Consolidated Steamship Lines of Maine. Pending the hearing of the application on Feb. 4, injunctions were granted to preserve the status quo of the companies mentioned.

The proceedings in all three cities were brought by William A. Muller of Arlington, Mass., and petitions for an injunction were also filed by counsel for Mr Muller and for the Berwind White Coal Co. The immediate cause of the receivership petition was the failure of the Eastern Steamship Co. to pay a demand note to Mr. Muller for $10,000.

Mr. Muller declares it his belief that the Eastern Steamship Co. has a total floating debt of $1,350,000 and that the Metropolitan Co. has a floating debt of $1,860,000, with unpaid bills of $250,000 and interest on outstanding bonds of $1,200,000.

Financial Statement.—See "Annual Reports" on a preceding page.

Circular.—The bondholders protective committee, Alvin W. Krech, Chairman, in a circular addressed to the holders of the 4% collateral trust bonds, under date of Jan. 25, say:

The position of the company is exceedingly critical, and unless prompt action is taken a serious depreciation in the value of the securities underlying the mortgage may result. The caring for the immediate financial requirements of the underlying companies, the providing of additional working capital, the securing of efficient management, and the conservation of valuable equities and properties are among the most pressing necessities. To what extent the protective committee may prevent the disintegration of the properties will depend largely upon the co-operation of the bondholders, by the deposit of bonds. After the committee formulates a plan, each depositing bondholder will be notified by mail and will have two weeks in which to withdraw his bonds under the terms of the deposit agreement. Those bondholders who have not yet deposited are requested to do so as soon as possible with the Equitable Trust Co. of New York, 15 Nassau Street, New York City, or Old Colony Trust Co., Boston. A large portion of the bonds has been already deposited.—V. 86, p. 111, 54.

General Asphalt Co., Philadelphia.—Official Statement.—An official statement dated Jan. 17 1908 says:

The fiscal year of the company ends on Jan. 31. The estimate of earnings for the ten months ending Nov. 30 1907, shows net profits of approximately $1,000,000, from which must be deducted a sum estimated at over $200,000 for excess cost of maintenance of pavements inherited by this company from its predecessors, and also the usual end-of-the-year adjustments.

No consideration has been given to the question of future dividends, and no inference, except of the most conservative character, should be drawn from the increased earnings of the current year. Those increased earnings result largely from an expansion and diversification of the company's output, to secure which large capital expenditures have been made. Although substantial additions have been made to the company's working capital during the current year, further working capital is still required. Such additional capital can come only from surplus earnings.—V. 85, p. 534.

Georgia Telephone & Telegraph Co., Savannah.—Sold.—See Southern (Bell) Telephone & Telegraph Co.—V. 76, p. 385.

The company has no bonded or mortgage debt. Officers: President, F. Wayland Ayer; Vice-President, Albert G. Bradford; Treasurer, Sidney M. Weatherly; Secretary, Alfred N. Redding.

Compare V. 86, p. 232, 54.

See V. 86, p. 112.

National Gas Electric Light & Power Co. (Holding Company), Philadelphia.—Notes Extended.—The $300,000 5% convertible gold notes which fell due Jan. 1 have been extended for one year, with the option of retiring them July 1 at par. The interest to July 1 has been paid in advance.

These notes are convertible upon demand into the 6% preferred stock o the company, which recently had outstanding preferred stock $947,500 and common stock $1,209,600. The notes are secured by deposit with the Merchants' Trust Co. of Philadelphia, trustee, of all of the $400,000 Rome (N. Y.) Gas, Electric Light & Power Co. stock, all of the $250,000 Port Huron (Mich.) Gas Co. stock, all of the $300,000 of Joplin (Mo.) Gas Co. stock and all of the $60,000 Goshen (Ind.) Gas Co. stock. The total current liabilities of these four corporations whose stocks are pledged as above shall not exceed $50,000 during the life of these notes.

For the year ending May 31 1907 the National Gas, Electric Light & Power Co. reported: Earnings of constituent companies (there are seven of these), $97,988; other earnings; $29,705; total, $127,693; operating expenses, $22,780; net earnings, $104,913; interest and commission on 5% convertible notes, $23,166; other interest, $4,601; net profits, $77,146. The net earnings of three of the operating companies for the calendar year 1905 were: Rome (N. Y.) Gas Electric Light & Power Co., $29,363; Port Huron (Mich.) Gas Co., $21,515; Goshen (Ind.) Gas Co., $7,960; total, $58,838. The Joplin Gas Co's earnings for 1905 were unfavorable by reason of the fact that the manufacture of artificial gas was discontinued under a contract providing for the introduction of natural gas at a rate of 25c. per 1,000 feet.—V. 82, p. 1382, 1500; V. 83, p. 382.

Pennsylvania Salt Manufacturing Co.—New Stock Listed in Philadelphia.—The Philadelphia Stock Exchange has listed $750,000 additional capital stock, making the total listed $4,750,000. Compare V. 84, p. 225; V. 85, p. 867.

Philadelphia Electric Co.—Declaration of Dividend of $1 per Share (10% on Amount Paid in), Applicable to Payment on Assessment of $3 50 a Share.—The directors on Tuesday declared a "stock" dividend of "$1 per share from the surplus of the company, payable March 2 1908, to stockholders of record at the close of business of Feb. 20 1908. This dividend will amount to $1,000,000, or 10%, of the paid-in capital of the company." The total surplus as of Dec. 31 1907 is estimated in Philadelphia as about $2,200,000.

The board also called "an assessment of $3 50 per share on the stock, payable in installments of $2 25 and $1 25 on March 2 and June 1 1908, respectively. The dividend declared may be applied upon the payment of the first installment of the assessment, so that the stockholders will have to pay but $1 25 per share in cash on March 2 1908." There are 1,000,000 shares of $25 each, on which 40% ($10 per share) has already been paid in in cash.

President McCall makes the following statement:

This is the first call made upon the stockholders for additional capital since April 1904. Since that time large sums have been expended upon permanent improvements and extensions, including 520 duct miles of underground conduit laid; also 322.7 miles of underground cable; 133 miles of overhead pole line erected; increase of large central station at Christian St. wharf, Schuylkill River, to three times its previous capacity; real estate purchased and three new sub-stations erected at Marshall and Noble streets, 1113 Arch St. and 40th and Market streets; also [a handsome new] office building at the southwest corner of 10th and Chestnut streets.

These expenditures have been largely met out of earnings and from loans and have been made necessary by the increased demand for electricity for light and power. The money derived from the present call will pay all the floating debt (understood to be between $600,000 and $800,000.—Ed.), and will leave a considerable balance in the treasury for the company's requirements.

While these bonds remain unpaid, no mortgage can be placed upon the property in addition to the first mortgage bonds already authorized. The company has just completed a thoroughly modern gas plant with a generating capacity of over 2,000,000 cubic feet of gas per day, one of the best in the country. The company recently sold a tract of real estate in the centre of Seattle for approximately $1,000,000, and this money has been deposited with the trustees under the mortgage of the company to be expended for permanent betterments and improvements to the plants and properties, on account of which no bonds will be issued.

Union Ferry Co., New York.—Reduction in Service.—Owing to the heavy loss of passengers, amounting, according to one account, to 25%, occasioned by the opening on Jan. 9 of the tunnel between New York and Brooklyn (see Interborough Rapid Transit Co. in V. 86, p. 108), this company on Saturday last changed the day schedule on all lines, save the Catharine St. and the Hamilton Ave., from a 10-minute to a 15-minute headway, and beginning last night discontinued the operation of night boats as follows:

Fulton ferry between 9.50 p. m. and 5 a. m., Catherine St. between 9 p. m. and 5 a. m. and Atlantic ferry between 10.15 p. m. and 5 a. m. The Wall St. boats, which formerly ran until 9 p.m., now stop at 7.00 p.m. and do not begin service again until 7 a. m.

A bill permitting the city to condemn ferry property other than that owned by railroad companies was introduced in the Legislature at Albany on Jan. 24 by Senator Mullaney and Assemblyman A. E. Smith.—V. 81, p. 901.

Utah Consolidated Mining Co.—Contract for Treatment of Ore.—Secretary F. P. Addicks gave out the following on Jan. 28:

The company has entered into a contract with the American Smelting & Refining Co. for the treatment of 300,000 tons of ore per year. The contract is for one year, the Utah Company having the option of making it two years. Before the expiration of two years the mining company can erect a new smelter of its own if desired. Our mines are in excellent condition and have over 1,000,000 tons of ore in reserve. During the next six months development work will be pushed in the lower levels where ore of good quality has been found.—V. 86, p. 55.

Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co.—Exchange Authorized.—Upon petition by the receivers Judge Nathaniel Ewing of the United States District Court at Pittsburgh on Jan. 11 authorized the exchange of a claim of $874,883 against the British Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co. for shares in the Traction & Power Securities Co., Ltd., equal at par to the same amount and interest, provided the British Westinghouse Electric & Mfg. Co. secures bona fide subscriptions to a bond issue of £250,000. The following has been published:

The receivers declare that the Westinghouse Electric & Mfg. Co. owns £675,000 par value first mortgage 4% debenture stock in the British Westinghouse Electric & Mfg. Co., out of an issue of £1,241,353, and 178,704 shares preference stock at £3 par out of 500,000 shares issued and 38,046 shares out of 75,000 shares £5 common stock. Of the $874,883 indebtedness to the American company, $180,245 is upon an open account and the remainder in notes

The British company wishes to issue preference shares which would have priority over the debenture stock, and bankers have agreed to raise this if the American company would accept shares in the Traction & Power Securities Co. in lieu of their account. The British Westinghouse Co. owns 25,000 shares of stock at a par value of £10 in the Securities company out of 84,510 shares.

The Traction & Power Securities Co is a holding company and owns £620,000 in 4% debentures out of £684,983 of the Mersey RR. Co., which operates an underground railroad between Liverpool and Birkenhead, England. It also owns £344,740 par value stock of the Clyde Valley Electrical Power Co., a corporation generating electrical power near Glasgow, Scotland. The receivers declare that the stock has a value of about 87, which is much more than would be realized if the claim against the British company were brought to a forced settlement.

Compare British Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co. above. Compare V. 85, p. 1458, 1644.—V. 86, p. 233.

The net rate of interest earned on invested assets (par value) was 4.61% in 1905, 4.65% in 1906, 4.69% in 1907. The full report will be mailed upon application to the home office or to any agent.

THE NORTH AMERICAN COMPANY.

EIGHTEENTH ANNUAL REPORT—FOR THE FISCAL YEAR ENDING DECEMBER 31 1907.

To the Stockholders of The North American Company:

On behalf of the Board of Directors, I submit the following report of the affairs of the Company for the fiscal year ending December 31 1907, together with the financial statements of the Treasurer.

TREASURER'S STATEMENTS.

The books, vouchers, securities and cash of the Company have been examined and verified by its auditors, Messrs. Dickinson, Wilmot & Sterrett, Certified Public Accountants, and their certificate is appended.

BALANCE SHEET.

Assets.

Valuations.—In accordance with established precedent, the securities and assets of the Company have been revalued as of December 31 1907.

Stocks.—During the year the Company has sold to the Milwaukee Light, Heat & Traction Company the entire common capital stock of the Milwaukee Electric Railway & Light Company ($9,000,000 par value), and has received in payment therefor the capital stock and refunding and extension mortgage bonds of the Traction Company, the sale or exchange having been made in the belief that the future development of these properties can be more effectively provided for through the instrumentality of the Traction Company as the controlling company.

Bonds.—These are $5,000,000, par value, Milwaukee Light, Heat & Traction Company refunding and extension mortgage 5 per cent 30-year gold bonds. (Accrued interest, $20,833 33.)

Loans.—These are loans to constituent companies for construction purposes.

Liabilities.

Collateral Trust Notes.—During the year the Company has authorized the issue of $5,000,000, par value, of its 5-year 5 per cent collateral trust coupon notes, dated May 1 1907, maturing May 1 1912, secured by the pledge of shares of the common stock of The Laclede Gas Light Company and of stock of the Union Electric Light & Power Company. $2,500,000, par value, of the said notes were sold to bankers in May last, and the remaining $2,500,000 are in the treasury of the Company available for sale.

The issue was created in order to enable the Company to aid its constituent companies in providing for their commitments for construction and development and the purchase of new properties, which under normal market conditions would have been met by the sale of their own mortgage bonds.

INCOME ACCOUNT.

|---|---|
| The net cash income of the Company for the year was | $1,404,642 88 |
| The dividends paid were | 1,117,211 25 |

UNDIVIDED PROFITS ACCOUNT.

Decrease in the Value of Assets as Readjusted December 31 1907.—In re-valuing the assets of the Company as of December 31 1907, the sum of $2,290,365 73 has been written off from its undivided profits. To the making of this revaluation the Board of Directors have given their most careful consideration, and the valuations assigned are believed to be conservative.

Dividends Paid.—Three quarterly dividends of 1¼ per cent upon the capital stock of the Company were paid during the year (on March 1, June 1 and September 1). The quarterly dividend customarily payable on December 1 was not declared. The reasons for not declaring this dividend were set forth in a circular letter addressed to all the stockholders of the Company under date of November 8 1907, from which I quote the following passages:

"The loans which the Company has made to the various companies in which it is principally interested for extensions and additions chargeable to their capital account amount, as of November 7 1907, to $3,612,938 01. Repayment on account of these advances has been depended upon by The North American Company as required to pay its own dividends. At the moment these companies are unable to comply with this requirement because of their inability to sell, except at great sacrifice, their own mortgage bonds, which have been issued and are available to reimburse their treasuries for capital expenditures heretofore made, or to make loans on reasonable terms.

"In order to pay a dividend on December 1, The North American Company would either be obliged to require these companies to make payment to it on account of their loans (which, as stated above, could only be done at great sacrifice), or would itself be obliged to borrow money for the purpose. For these reasons, after full consideration, it was deemed unwise to pay the dividend at the customary time, December 1.

"All of the companies in which The North American Company is interested are in better physical condition than ever before in their history. The earnings for the year 1907 have increased largely over those of 1906, and the increase still continues.

"The securities available for the repayment of their loans are largely of established issues in the highest credit, which will be readily salable as soon as normal market conditions are restored."

Credit Balance.—As of December 31 1907, there remains to the credit of Undivided Profits Account the sum of $1,996,613 92. All dividends paid are charged to this account. Lest it be supposed that the credit balances, from time to time appearing in this account in the annual reports of the Company, have been created by the increase in the value of its assets, as readjusted by the Board of Directors at the close of each fiscal year, or be inferred that dividends have, to some extent at least, been based upon such increment in book values, the following statement of the cash receipts and cash disbursements of the Company, pertaining to its income and undivided profits account, and of the composition and application of its undivided profits, is made.

Following the reduction of the capital stock of the Company to $12,000,000, and on the occasion of an application for the listing of its reduced stock, a balance sheet was filed with the New York Stock Exchange as of February 1 1901, upon which as a starting point the subsequent accounting of the Company has been based.

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Receipts. | | |
| Interest Received and Accrued | | $839,586 20 |
| Dividends Received | | 4,864,586 08 |
| Commissions, Profits and Compensation for Services | | 2,245,552 70 |
| Premium on Capital Stock | | 12,459 86 |
| Total | | $7,962,184 84 |
| Disbursements. | | |

| | $10,068,475 91 |

PURCHASE OF PROPERTIES.

During the year the Union Electric Light & Power Company has purchased all the assets, property and franchises of the Laclede Power Company of St. Louis (including the Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Carondelet, owned by the Laclede Power Company), which company owned a central electric generating station situated on the river-side adjoining the main station of the Union Company, having a rated capacity of 7,000 kilowatts, an extensive distributing system, and an established business of about $500,000 a year.

By the acquisition of this property, the Union Company will be enabled to avoid wasteful duplication of investment, especially in the development of its sub-station and distribution systems, and to reduce certain expenses of operation incident to competition. The increased efficiency of the combined system and the resulting economies in capital investment and operating expenses must tend to the advantage of the public, as well as of the Company.

DEVELOPMENT.

During the past year the Milwaukee Light, Heat & Traction Company has completed and opened for traffic extensions of its railway system from Pewaukee Lake to Oconomowoc, approximately 13 miles in length, and from Muskego Center to East Troy, approximately 7 miles in length, and has engaged in the construction of lines from St. Martins to Waterford, and from Oconomowoc to Watertown, which it is expected will be completed and opened for traffic during the present year. The additions and extensions which have been made by the other public service corporations, in which The North American Company is interested, to their equipment, generating stations and distribution systems, have been such as are incident to the growth of business, and do not call for specific mention. Because of the adverse financial conditions which have prevailed, their capital expenditures during the past year have been limited to such as were deemed to be imperatively required to meet present demands, or as were unavoidable because of engagements previously entered into.

GROWTH OF BUSINESS.

The following tabulation of the consolidated or aggregate gross earnings, operating expenses, taxes, depreciation reserves, interest charges and net income, dividends and surplus of the principal gas, electric and street railway properties in which The North American Company is interested for the year 1907, as compared with the year 1906, illustrates the growth of their business:

| | $ | $ | $ | |
| Gross Earnings | 22,821,849 49 | 19,907,433 31 | 2,914,416 18 | 14.63 |
| Operating Expenses | 11,693,280 09 | 9,981,299 92 | 1,711,980 17 | 17.15 |
| Net Earnings from Operation | 11,128,569 40 | 9,926,133 39 | 1,202,436 01 | 12.11 |
| Taxes and Annual Charges | 1,439,164 41 | 1,226,758 74 | 212,405 67 | 17.31 |
| *Depreciation and Reconstruction Res'ves | 1,217,353 11 | 869,002 74 | 348,350 37 | 40.08 |
| Income from Opera'n | 8,472,051 88 | 7,830,371 91 | 641,679 97 | 8.19 |
| Miscellaneous Income | 810,459 52 | 302,190 07 | 508,269 45 | 168.19 |
| Total Net Income | 9,282,511 40 | 8,132,561 98 | 1,149,949 42 | 14.14 |
| Interest paid and accrued | 5,893,446 29 | 4,828,335 79 | 1,065,110 50 | 22.05 |
| *Surplus applicable to Dividends | 3,389,065 11 | 3,304,226 19 | 84,838 92 | 2.56 |
| Preferred Stock Dividends paid | 1,044,160 00 | 1,044,160 00 | ------ | ------ |
| Surplus available for Common Stock | 2,344,905 11 | 2,260,066 19 | 84,838 92 | 3 75 |

* The amount set aside for depreciation has been increased over that of the year 1906 by 40.08 per cent. In addition to this reserve, reserves are created for injuries and damages, legal expenses and insurance, by monthly charges made to ordinary operating expenses, the intent of the accounting system pursued being to provide by reserves for every reasonable contingency that may occur in the operation of the properties, so that the full amount of the surplus applicable to dividends, as reported, shall actually be available for the payment of dividends.

BUSINESS POLICY AND GOVENRMENT REGULATION.

In many of the States of the United States (including Wisconsin and Missouri) laws have been enacted providing for the supervision and regulation of public service corporations, either by State commission or by municipal authority, and similar laws will undoubtedly be enacted by the other States. While varying in many particulars, the general objects of these laws may be summarized as being—

(a) To enforce proper and uniform accounting and publicity of rates and accounts;

(b) To compel the furnishing of standard facilities adequate for the public requirements;

(c) To prescribe and enforce just and reasonable rates and practices.

The management of the public service corporations in which The North American Company is interested may claim credit for having adopted many years ago, for business reasons uninfluenced by fear of impending legislation, the essential principles which these statutes seek to enforce.

In the annual report for the year 1905 it was said:

"The management of your Company believes that the policy which should govern the administration of public utilities, if they are to be stable and uniformly profitable investments, is to develop their facilities so that they may be adequate not only to meet the present demands of the communities in which they operate with service of the highest standard, but also to respond immediately to the growth of such communities and their business, however rapid it may be.

"Obvious as the wisdom of such a policy may be, it involves a marked departure from the methods of management formerly prevalent.

"In pursuance of this policy from time to time as the management of the public service corporations in which the investments of the Company are so largely concentrated has been taken over, plans for their comprehensive and scientific development have been laid at the earliest practicable moment."

And again in the same report:

"The North American Company stands in a protective relation to these properties. It is not seeking to exploit them for present large profits. It holds their securities as permanent investments, and seeks to establish them in the favor and confidence of the public by just methods and efficient administration, and to maintain their finances on the most conservative basis."

And in the report for the year 1906 it was said, reciting the passage of the previous report first quoted:

"The criticism which, especially of late, has become so generally prevalent in this country upon the management of railroads and other public service corporations, freshly emphasizes the wisdom and importance of the policy thus outlined."

In January 1905 we took occasion publicly to declare, in a letter addressed to the Common Council of the City of Detroit, the business policy which would govern the administration of the electric-lighting properties there, which I quote as illustrating the policy in force in the management of all the public service corporations in which The North American Company is interested. This declaration was as follows:

"The business policy which will govern our administration will be:

"(a) To give service of the highest quality and reliability;

"(b) To charge prices which are not only reasonable but lower than would be possible with or under the customary and ordinary facilities and methods of electric companies now or heretofore existing or prevailing;

"(c) To share with consumers the benefits of economies resulting from improved methods and machinery and future discoveries and inventions;

"(d) Actively to promote and develop all present uses of electricity and the invention of new uses and methods of application, with the confident expectation of bringing the benefits of its use within the reach of the entire community;

"(e) To displace individiual electric plants and the use of steam power stations for all industries of whatever degree of size or importance;

"(f) Especially to develop the smaller manufactories and industries, which either now require the use of power or may be benefited or promoted by such use.

"(g) To educate consumers in the economical, as well as effective, use of electrical energy;

"(h) To enforce at all times the courteous and considerate treatment of customers."

Having anticipated the ends sought to be obtained by the legislation under discussion, we do not feel that it will have an adverse effect upon the interests of The North American Company, but, on the contrary, that its tendency will be to strengthen the position of the operating companies affected and ultimately to enhance the investment value of their securities.

Concerning the accounting methods in force, striking testimony is available in a report made on August 31 1907 by eminent certified public accountants, who were retained on behalf of the City of Milwaukee in a proceeding brought by the City against The Milwaukee Electric Railway & Light Company before the Railroad Commission of the State of Wisconsin, and who investigated the accounts of that company for a period of ten years beginning January 1 1897 and ending December 31 1906, from which report I quote the following passages:

"We found the books and records of the company to have been kept with unusual skill and accuracy, and we were accorded at the hands of the Accounting Department every courtesy which would facilitate our work, and are pleased to give here an expression of our appreciation of the consideration shown us. The attitude of the management in this respect is especially creditable, in view of the fact that our visitation was not at the instance of the company, nor was our work presumed to be for its benefit."

* * * * * * * * * *

"It is proper at this point in our report to observe that from the standpoint of the stockholder the books disclose results which mark the management of this company as being of uncommon capacity. From the same standpoint there is left little to be desired, since in addition to the payment of good dividends, the property has been so well kept up that it is probably in better condition at the end of each year than ever before, while ample reserves have been accumulated with which to meet every contingency which may reasonably be expected to arise in the conduct of the business.

I dwell thus at length upon the policies and methods in force in the administration of the public service corporations in which The North American Company is interested, because a just understanding of these policies and methods on the part of its stockholders should tend to allay the distrust as to their future which may have been created by the wave of denunciation of corporate methods now passing over the country.

By order of the Board of Directors,

C. W. WETMORE,
President.

COMMERCIAL EPITOME.

Friday Night, Jan. 31 1908.

That general trade is confined within moderate limits is still very evident, the more so that the financial situation though easier than some time back, is still occasionally disturbed, as, for instance, by the bank failures which occurred here during the week. Changes in prices, however, are not marked, and with money rates comparatively easy the tone is in the main hopeful, though caution and vigilance are still everywhere observable.

LARD on the spot has declined on depression in the future market at the West, weakness in grain prices, larger offerings from packers and the dulness of trade. Western 7.75@7.85c. and City 7½c. Refined lard has also declined. Trade has been quiet and confined to local jobbers. Refined Continent 8.20c., South America 9c. and Brazil in kegs 10.25c. Speculation in lard futures at the West has been active. Prices have been weaker in the main, owing to the depression in the grain markets, the dulness of the spot trade and selling by packers, large and small. The continued liberal movement of hogs has also been a factor in the speculation. The buying has been principally to cover shorts.

Speculation in future contracts has been more active but there have been no marked changes in prices. Speculation in cotton for future delivery has been only moderately active, and though net price changes for the week are comparatively slight, the trend of late has been somewhat towards a lower level. Fluctuations at times, however, have taken quite a wide sweep under the impulse of news for or against values. On Wednesday there was a sharp advance, attributed largely to buying by a prominent operator who bought March with sufficient freedom to put it to a premium of a couple of points over May. The premium on the following day at one time reached 7 points. But the same interest, it was understood, was selling May and July, and quick re-actions followed upward turns, partly owing to the fact that the financial situation again seemed rather disturbed by the suspension of several of the smaller banks here. Moreover, the speculation has been of a narrow and purely professional sort, the outside public holding aloof. Certain speculative interests which recently bought aggressively seem to have sold their holdings last week and have since been merely watching events, while some other large operators in Wall Street and uptown have evidently been selling, or at least this is the very general opinion. It will be seen, then, that the fluctuations of the week have turned to no small extent on the transactions of individual operators and the interests which they represent. Some increase in the receipts has at times also had a momentary effect and would have had more, no doubt, but for the fact that such increases were succeeded by a sudden falling off in the movement. At times, too, there have been reports that Southern spot prices were giving way, and these have not been altogether without their influence, although it must be said that on the whole the Southern spot markets have presented a pretty firm front, despite some admitted falling off in the demand. The settlement of the Lancashire labor troubles did not prevent prices from declining for reports were immediately put in circulation that English mills are likely to go on short-time this spring and that some of the German mills were already curtailing operations. These reports had more or less effect, although the talk in regard to English mills would seem to have been largely of the nature of pure conjecture, while as to the German mills it appears that only in isolated instances have they reduced their working hours. But selling, both here and in Liverpool, attributed to well-known spot interests, was also a factor which weighed on prices for several days, these interests only within a day or two, it appears, taking the buying side. On the whole, speculation has been small, and prices somewhat lower, partly by reason of the bank suspensions and some weakness at times in the stock market. Meantime, the stock here is steadily decreasing and some improvement is reported in the dry goods trade. To-day prices were irregular, closing lower on disappointing cables, a bank suspension here, President Roosevelt's message inveighing against trading in stocks and commodities, bear pressure and liquidation. Spot cotton has been quiet and easier. Middling upland closed at 11.65c.

BREADSTUFFS.

Prices for wheat flour have declined, reflecting to some extent the depression in wheat. There have been no very sharp reductions in quotations, however, despite the fact that trade has continued on an exceedingly small scale, buyers still adhering to the policy of purchasing only sufficient to meet immediate needs. Export trade has continued stagnant. Some of the large mills at Minneapolis, it is stated, have within a day accepted bids for large lots at considerably under current quotations. The output of the mills in the spring-wheat section has increased of late. Rye flour and corn meal have been quiet and steady.

Wheat has declined sharply with very large Argentine shipments the most depressing factor on both sides of the Atlantic. These shipments for the past week, amounting to 5,408,000 bushels, are the largest on record for January, and had a very perceptible effect not only in New York and Chicago but also in Liverpool and Berlin, if not in other Continental markets. Reports about the Argentine crop are favorable, threshing results are good, and Argentine wheat is pressing on European markets. Meantime our Northwestern receipts are liberal and stocks at the Northwest are increasing. Of late, too, the indications have pointed to snow at the West, the winter wheat seems to have suffered no serious injury and American clearances have been so small as to bring out in rather striking light the seeming indifference of exporters to American wheat, while Argentine wheat is occupying so large a share of the world's attention. The total world's shipments last week were large. The suspension of four banks in this city and some decline in the stock market have been factors not calculated to brace up prices. Also, it appears that very prominent bull operators at the West have been selling freely, finding it useless to try to cope against the various adverse influences which have been dominating the situation, whether it be viewed from the commercial or the speculative standpoint. In a word, Europe seems to have got over its fright about prospective supplies and to be in an independent mood, especially as recent rains in India give promise of much better grain crops in that country than at one time seemed possible. Meantime, too, speculation, as may easily be inferred, has fallen off. Indeed, it has shrunk to comparatively moderate proportions, transactions only increasing from time to time when liquidation has been in progress. Liquidation has at times been on a large scale, and has naturally reduced the outstanding interest on both sides of the market, so that now it would seem to be in a more evened-up condition than it has been for some time past. To-day prices declined sharply on large Argentine shipments, weak foreign markets, bear hammering and heavy liquidation.

Indian corn futures have declined owing mainly to the break in wheat. Contributing factors, however, have been favorable weather during most of the week, larger receipts at times and dulness of the cash trade. The crop is drying out more rapidly in some sections, owing to cold weather. Commission houses have sold for long account. Leading bulls are supposed to have sold freely at times and there has been a lack of support except what came from the covering of shorts. To-day prices declined, owing to sympathy with the weakness in wheat. Bears sold more aggressively and uncovered stop-loss orders.

Oats for future delivery in the Western market have declined in company with wheat and corn. The speculation has been more active, owing to pressure of liquidation. The cash trade has been dull and there has been little disposition to buy. Cash interests have sold at times. The crop movement to the interior markets has been on a liberal scale To-day prices declined on the fall in wheat and corn and general selling. Support was lacking. The cash market was dull and the receipts are expected to increase shortly. Cash and elevator concerns were selling.

THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

New York, Friday Night, Jan. 31 1908.

Further price revisions have been made in the cotton goods market during the past week, but they have so far failed to stimulate buying to any great extent and the volume of business passing has continued light. Numerous small orders have been placed for goods for delivery during the next sixty days, but future buying has practically been at a standstill. The recent spell of cold weather, however, has resulted in a much more active retail trade, and it is believed that this will be reflected in the secondary and primary markets before very long. Jobbers have been moderately busy during the week, and in those cases where they are offering goods below agents, prices quite a large business has been transacted with other jobbing houses. Agents at the present time are in many instances insisting that customers now take goods the delivery of which was delayed by request some time ago, and in doing so they are meeting with a good deal of opposition and difficulty. These goods were invariably purchased at considerably higher prices than those prevailing to-day, and there is a disposition on the part of the buyer to make some kind of settlement with the seller and start anew rather than accept the delivery. These settlements are delaying the placing of new orders and are in many ways hampering business. More activity is noted in the export department, and further inquiries have been received from China; but the figures named have mostly been lower than manufacturers are willing to accept. In the men's wear woolen and worsted goods market, further lines of heavy-weight goods have been opened at lower prices. Dress goods continue quiet.

DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS.—The exports of cotton goods from this port for the week ending Jan. 25 were 2,403 packages, valued at $178,949, their destination being to the points specified in the table below:

| New York to Jan. 25. | 1908 Week. | 1908 Since Jan 1. | 1907 Week. | 1907 Since Jan. 1. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Great Britain | 3 | 38 | 47 | 198 |

| West Indies | 475 | 1,608 | 400 | 1,998 |

| Central America | 183 | 1,003 | 603 | 1,736 |
| South America | 511 | 2,792 | 2,397 | 4,378 |
| Other Countries | 666 | 1,631 | 511 | 2,667 |
| Total | 2,403 | 9,733 | 7,312 | 16,742 |

The value of these New York exports since Jan. 1 has been $736,642 in 1908, against $1,131,309 in 1907.

There was a further reduction in the price of wide sheetings during the week, and following this the volume of business in bleached goods increased materially; sheets and pillowcases were in good request, and both jobbers and retailers have been replenishing their supplies of these. Narrow bleached goods remain unchanged, with purchases confined for the most part to goods for immediate delivery. Heavy brown drills and sheetings retain the steadiness noted last week, but business has not been active, particularly with the home trade. Medium-weight sheetings are slightly easier, but manufacturers are not inclined to accept the low offers made for goods for shipment to China. Coarse colored cotton goods hold steady, and have been in moderately good demand for early shipment. Linings also have met with a better call, particularly where spot supplies are available. Napped goods for fall are slow, and the demand is disappointing. The movement of staple prints has been light, and a further curtailment of production is expected during the coming month. Staple ginghams have been in only moderate request, but fine dress ginghams have sold well. Converters have been moderate buyers of print cloths in small lots, and prices remain unchanged from a week ago.

WOOLEN GOODS.—The tendency of the men's wear woolen and worsted heavy-weight market is still downwards, and during the week several lines of worsted have been opened at substantial reductions. In these instances, where the quality of the goods has not been lowered, a fair business has been transacted; but on the whole the buying up to date has been very disappointing. A number of big buyers have already left the market, and the volume of their orders has been very small compared with the past two years. In some cases sellers announce that they are perfectly satisfied with their sales, but these are the exceptions, and only go to show the spotty condition of the market. It is generally felt, however, that what business has been done will stand, and as it has been of such small proportions it is hoped that duplicate ordering will be on a heavier scale. Most of the orders now being given are for fancies, which have superseded staples in popular favor. In the dress goods market business is almost entirely confined to the purchasing of supplies needed for current requirements, as there is practically nothing doing as yet for fall. There has been a gradual improvement, and the outlook is considered brighter, particularly by suit makers, who are looking forward to an active demand in the near future. There has been no change in the character of the buying, the goods which have been the most popular in the recent past still accounting for a majority of the business.

FOREIGN DRY GOODS.—There has been some greater pressure to sell imported woolen and worsted dress goods. Silks are slow and ribbons remain quiet. Buyers of linens are refusing to operate unless reductions are made to bring these into line with cotton goods. Burlaps show signs of improvement.
